Kress Here Today To Test Bulldogs

Tahoka Bulldogs are still undefeated, but they face another stern test tonight at 8:00 when they take the field against the Kress Kangaroos, also undefeated and reputed to be possibly as strong or stronger than Post.

This will be the first meeting between the two schools. A pre-season Plains Class A favorite, Kress was 1965 3-A champion and bi-district winner, and this year has won four games but was tied 0-0 by Ralls in the second game of the season. The Kangaroos have won handily over other opponents.

Tahoka upset Class AA Post last Friday 6 to 3, for the fifth straight victory.

Next week the Bulldogs open 3-A conference play with Coahoma, another team Tahoka has never played before, as the feature of Homecoming.

After four hard games in a row and a top performance against Post, Coach Don Smith and assistants are trying to keep their boys from a let-down. The Bulldogs will not be at top strength, though, since three of four reserves are out this week because of low grades they must make up to return to play.

Coach Smith will go with virtually the same line-up he has started in most games.

Scouts say Kress has an offense a lot like Tahoka's, and a defense that is very tough. They like to run outside tackle and sweep the ends, but can go up the middle. Their passing attack has not been too dangerous in the past, but they have not needed a passing attack most of the time.

All starters by one, a sophomore, are juniors and seniors, and most of the boys are big and strong. There are 14 returning lettermen, nine of them starters last year.

Head Coach Leo Fields from ACC has an outstanding quarterback in Dickie Jones, 185, senior, who runs real well. The team is strong at fullback, where there are two good boys, Phil Bohner, 180, junior, grandson of the Wilmer Smiths of New Home, and James Jackson, 205, a big, strong colored boy. Running at halfbacks are Danny Clark, 140, senior, another very good runner, and Joe Reed, 145, junior. There are about five other backs who may see action including Charles Harris, 145, quarterback and linebacker, and Ronald Lockridge, 165, halfback and linebacker.

Offensive center is Oliver Martinez, 170, senior, who was outstanding last year; guards are William Ebelling, 165, and John Murray, 180, both seniors. Tackles are Tommy Curry, 212, senior, all-conference two years and rated one of the best on the Plains, grandson of Mrs. Wiley Curry of Tahoka; and Jimmy Rich, 195, a junior. Ends are Tommy Armstrong, 175, and Melvin Young, 155, both seniors.

Also seeing action on defense will be Leonard Yarbrough, 170, middle linebacker; and Wayne Lones, 205, guard.

Many Bulldog fans feel if the team can take this one they have a chance to go a long way in conference play, barring injuries to key players.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Tomlinson and three daughters, Vangie, Kathy, and Manessa, arrived in the United States October 3 after having lived in Evreux, France for almost three years while serving with the U. S. Air Force.

The family flew from France to the States and then made the trip from New Jersey to Tahoka by car. While enroute to Tahoka they toured Washington, D. C. and Virginia, arriving in Tahoka Monday afternoon of this week.

The three girls were enrolled in the Tahoka schools Tuesday morning. Vangie, who is nine years of age, is a third grade student, Kathy, 7, is in the second grade, and Manessa, 6, is in the first grade.

Cotton Boll Pins Available Again

Tahoka Young Farmers have received another 100 of those popular cotton boll lapel pins for sale to people wishing to advertise cotton and Tahoka.

The pins are $1.50 each and may be bought from any local Young Farmer or from Guy Witt at Witt Butane. The YFs sold 100 of these pins last spring.

C. W. "Chick" Conway and family of Littlefield were among the visitors here last Friday when Tahoka and Post played football.

Absentee voting in the November 8 general election is scheduled to get underway next Wednesday, Oct. 19, County Clerk C. W. Roberts announces.

Only major contest in this year's election seems to be that between Waggoner Carr, Democratic candidate and now Attorney General of Texas, and Senator John Tower, Republican, for the office of U. S. Senator.

However, there are 16 proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution on which voters must take action, some of them very important and some of little importance to local voters.

Space problems prevent The News from giving a complete discussion of each amendment, but most of the daily newspapers are running a series of articles which all voters should read.

Warning Given On Defoliants

Application of harvest aid chemicals should not be applied to cotton until the crop is 80 percent open, County Agent Bill Griffin advises. Most defoliants and desiccants will have the same effect in relation to production and quality of cotton if applied too early.

Harvest aid chemicals will not hasten maturity of the cotton and in some cases will delay the opening of cotton if applied too early. Proper use of harvest aid chemicals is to apply when cotton is 80 percent open to have crop ready to harvest about normal frost time on early cotton.

These chemicals have been subject to regulation under Public Law 518 since March 6, 1960.

Chlorates, chlorides, Tributylphosphorotrithioate, DEF, ortho phosphate defoliant, de green cotton defoliant are trade names. Folax Niagara deleaf, defoliant pennisal flox should not be used within seven days of harvest. Arsenic acid should not be applied within four days of harvest.

Vets Land Sale Set For Nov. 15

Austin (Spl.) — Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler announced that a Veterans' Land Board Forfeited Land Sale would be held on November 15, 1966, in the General Land Office. He pointed out that the Program has exceeded all expectations in its success and value to the people of Texas.

Sadler said that the delinquencies on veteran contract payments are lower today than at any time in the history of the Program. Land prices are higher and the Program is making a $2½ million profit per year for the taxpayers of Texas, in addition to helping veterans own a tract of land that they fought to preserve.

We have purchased some three million acres of land for 35,300 Texas veterans and placed some $243 million in circulation to boost the economy of this State. Although new purchases under the Program are no longer possible, a vast amount of work remains to be done in servicing veterans' contracts. Carving out homesites, issuing fractional severance deeds and paid-in-full deeds, approving oil and gas leases, and issuing easements have to be performed throughout the life of a veteran contract.

The Confederates won three games from Petty Gin with Freddie Kieth leading the winners with a big 218 game and 558 series. For the gin crew, Orville Ray Phifer rolled high series of 490 while his wife, Beth, had high game of 186.

The Show-Offs took 3½ games from The Doctors. E. R. Blakney had high game of 188 for the winners and Nell Blakney collected a three-game series of 483. For The Doctors, Don Sharp had a real good night as he rolled a 194 game and 527 series. Joe Mac had a fair night but could only manage 124 for his second game.

Milton and Adrian Evans led the Lane Raiders three games past U&H as they bowled 546 series and 221 game, respectively. Luke Halford led U&H with a 175 game and 468 series.

Tech Man Speaks To O'Donnell YF

Dr. W. F. Williams, head of the Agriculture Economics Department at Texas Tech, was the guest speaker at the O'Donnell Young Farmers monthly meeting Thursday night.

Marketing margins (the difference between farm prices and retail prices for agriculture products) was the subject. Dr. Williams assured the members that the different phases of marketing, processing, distributing, storing and others are not receiving above normal returns. He explained that the main reason for the increased margin is because of the consumers demand for more services such as packaging, grading, nice store facilities and uniformity, among other things, has caused higher retail prices.

Dr. Williams said today agriculture is in a treadmill because of the advanced technology taking place. New ideas and techniques are used to cut costs and increased production takes place causing over production and hence lower prices. He feels the best way to help farm prices is for the farmers to band together to push research and promotion of agriculture products.

A business session followed the program with 25 members attending. Refreshments were served by O'Donnell Young Homemakers.

Diversion terraces are an important part of a complete terracing system when there is a large amount of outside water coming on a farm, says Fred Graff of the Soil Conservation Service.

A properly designed diversion terrace has many uses. It can be used as a top terrace in the terracing system to catch and store outside water, it can be used to pick up outside water and distribute it over a flat area giving the crops additional water, and it can be used to divert outside water into safe outlets such as waterways or lakes, Graff says.

A diversion terrace was constructed on the Andy Jordan farm at Wells to catch outside water from the bar-ditch and distribute it out over the cropland. This also stops a large amount of water from coming to his house when he receives heavy rains.

On the Roper farm east of Gordon, a diversion terrace was constructed to transfer outside water into a waterway. As the water goes down the waterway, he has planned parallel terraces to pick up this water and distribute it between each terrace interval. This will give him a dryland irrigated farm.

The size of the diversion needed is designed according to the number of acres draining to it and according to the slope of the land. The cost for construction is approximately .10 per cubic yard.

Two Wilson Farmers Have Farm Projects Under FHA

Farms operated by Gary Houchin and B. C. Corley, both north of Wilson near the Lubbock county line, were visited by a group of people Friday on a short tour sponsored by Bill Stewart and Truman Murdock of the local Farmers Home administration office.

Both project visits were designed to illustrate the fact that a young farmer can get a start on a small farm with FHA assistance.

Gary Houchin leases 100 acres, but this past year he was granted an FHA farm ownership loan to purchase the adjoining 94 acres, which has a 400-gallon irrigation well.

Due to the cropping system, Houchin found it impossible to water the 94 acres with open ditches. FHA advanced adequate funds to install 4,750 feet of 8-inch underground pipe, which will enable him to water all this tract with the available water.

B. C. Corley has an FHA operating loan and is doing an outstanding job on 260 acres he rents, 66 acres of irrigated cotton and 150 acres irrigated maize and hybrid sudan.

On April 1, 1964, Corley had equipment valued at $4,500, but by last February had increased his investment to $15,130, but he increased his income from $13,450 in 1964 to an anticipated $18,500 or more this year.

This has been accomplished, he says, through the use of fertilizer, chemical weed control, diversification, and use of supplemental enterprises. He has materially improved his farming equipment. Double cropping of land and use of lake bottom for grazing purposes have enabled Corley to maintain a number of stocker cattle the year around.

Also, he and his son, a senior in Wilson High School, have a profitable hog program going. There are now six sows with pigs, some subject to registration, and he has a very high quality registered boar.

A third project visited was a house under construction in Tahoka under a Farmers Home Administration loan. Such loans are available in town or country where a person is not able to get rates and terms elsewhere according to the borrower's ability to pay.

Stewart is proud of the fact that local FHA collections to date are 98.4 percent of all maturities, these collections totaling $1,456,707, with outstanding principal not due of $2,245,125.

From July 1, 1965, to October 1, 1966, the local FHA office has made such loans totaling $1,545,830, which include operating loans totaling $260,970, farm ownership loans of $385,850, rural housing loans of $159,840, Economic Opportunity loans of $750, and emergency loans of $1,545,830.

One-fourth of the gasoline tax is used for public education, the balance for roads.

About one-half of annual cotton consumption goes into the production of clothing.

Help Offered On Zip Code Lists

Along with over 100 million postal patrons throughout the United States, residents of the Tahoka area are offered an opportunity to ZIP Code their mailing lists by means of "no postage cards" which were delivered this week by local post office clerks and rural carriers to all city and rural mail boxes.

The cards have blanks for addresses used most often but for which individuals do not know the proper ZIP Code. Only addresses, not names of correspondents, should be listed on the cards, because ZIP Codes represent delivery areas for the postal service, not individuals.

With Christmas swiftly approaching, this is a good time to ZIP Code mailing lists for that occasion as well as those for regular correspondents. This Christmas, ZIP Codes will be as important as shopping and mailing early for the efficient and on-time delivery of the record-breaking avalanche of mail expected in the pre-holiday weeks.

After filling in the street number, city and state, the cards are to be mailed back to the post office from which they were received. Post office personnel will add the proper ZIP Codes and return the cards to the sender, whose name and address, also, should appear on the card.

This free and important service is part of the Post Office Department's emphasis on observing the period of October 10-15, which was proclaimed by President Johnson as being "ZIP Code Week."

talks on the Citizenship Seminar held at Baylor University in August.

Ronnie Dulin reported on youth work, including the queen contest, Young Homemakers and Young Farmer organizations.

J. D. Atwell made the office report, revealed that Lynn county had the top record in Texas during September in life insurance production, and that Alfred Clary of Wilson is a new agent. Others are Milton Evans and Buddy Aaron.

Howard Moore reported current membership is 852, of which 139 are new members this year.

Arlis Askew read minutes of last year's meeting, and Robert Abbe gave the financial report.

KLBK-TV Horace McQueen's color slides and narration of the Farm Bureau sponsored trip to Europe was a high-light of the program. On the trip were Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Unfred of New Home.

Condensed, the following 19 resolutions were passed, some after considerable discussion:

1. Requiring annual voter registration.
2. Favoring barrow ditches have a vegetative cover and be controlled by shredding or mowing.
3. Asking that Highway Dept. paint a stripe on each side of outside edge of pavement to help prevent accidents.
4. Recommending more emphasis on teaching Spanish in public schools.
5. Calling for battery program similar to tire program.
6. Encouraging producers banding together in growing, ginning and identifying one-variety cotton for uniformity and better market as a better appeal to mills.
7. Recommending expansion of PCG program of research, promotion and technical assistance to mills on spinning quality of Plains cotton, locally and abroad.
8. Favoring a more reasonable provision of ASCS for farmers measuring and plotting crops, calculating acreage, and adjustment of plow-up.
9. Give farmers chance to destroy overplanted cotton and grain without penalty if error is found after certification.
10. Favor government bearing all expense in measuring crops under allotment.
11. Requesting related industries to contribute to cotton research and promotion programs.
12. Favoring state sales tax on all goods sold at retail level if state must have increased tax funds for future expenses.
13. Opposing present Federal Government finance policy of continually increasing national debt limit and recommending a balanced budget.
14. In view of decreasing farm income and increasing farm expenses, oppose any proposal requiring producers to pay for classing and grading cotton.
15. Opposing any cut in Federal funds from budget for agricultural research.
16. Favoring increased research on long-range weather forecasts and increased study of weather modification.
17. Favoring cotton research and promotion program.
18. Favoring that part of Texas Water Development Board program which would include West Texas in transportation of surplus surface water to this region on same basis as to other regions of Texas. Favoring financial assistance in recharge and plays lake modification on High Plains. Favoring cooperation with other Plains organizations in formulation of water plans.
19. Requesting permission of farmers to use any three out of five preceding years in determining projected yields.

Bulldogs Upset Favored Post Antelopes 6-3

Tahoka Bulldogs, with time running out and trailing 0-3, came up with a series of big plays here Friday night to upset the favored and previously undefeated Post Antelopes 6 to 3 before an overflow crowd at Kelley Field.

The game was so full of key plays that almost any boy on the Bulldog team might be given the honor of hero, but it was really a great team effort, composure, refusal to give up and bulldog determination that pulled the game out of the fire.

With only 2:06 left on the scoreboard clock, Quarterback Mitchell Williams spotted End Chris Roberts on the five-yard line, rifled a perfect pass to him, caught by Roberts with two Antelopes hanging on, and Roberts somehow managed to jerk away and dash into the end zone.

Post had taken a 3-0 lead in the second quarter on a perfect field goal kick by FB Paul Walker, possibly the outstanding boy on the field Friday night.

Tahoka's remarkable come-back scoring drive started on its own 13, after a Post drive had been stopped there. Williams, who played his greatest game under pressure, passed to End Wayne Thurman for 14 yards. Post drew a 15 yard roughing penalty, Thomas circled left end for 15, then WB Doyle Schneider took a 12-yard pass off the grass. WB John Tyler next made a sensational finger-tip catch for 18, and then Roberts made his 17-yard scoring catch.

Many Key Plays
For Tahoka, there were many key plays that could be pointed out, in addition to the six in the scoring drive. Milton Edwards stopped QB Duke Altman on a pass attempt in Tahoka territory, goal-line stand by the line, Jodie Edwards' rushing the passer on a critical down, a key block by Tommy Kidwell, a jarring tackle by Mike Chandler and a fumble recovery by Chris Roberts, at least two timely tackles by Cliff Thomas, and finally Roberts' interception of a pass in the fading moments.

Post Came To Play
Nothing should be taken away from a great effort by the Post team, which kept HB Cliff Thomas, until Friday the Plains leading scorer, from making only 68 net yards rushing, kept the Bulldogs in the hole much of the time, and a fine team effort where the Antelopes were rushing through Tahoka's line on defense to mess up plays.

Walker was the big gun for Post on offense and gave the Bulldogs trouble as he rushed for 112 yards. Donnie Windham, linebacker for Post, and Jackie Huff, center and tackle, were great on defense and were in Tahoka's backfield all night.

First Quarter Stand-Off
Post received the opening kickoff, and with HB Davis Heaton and Walker carrying moved to the Tahoka 39, but Gary Brooks tackled Altman for a five yard loss, Tommy Kidwell and Thurman stopped Walker, and Heaton got off a short 7-yard punt.

Thomas circled right end on a key block from Richard White, and Tahoka moved to the Post 24 on a mild scoring threat, but lost the ball on downs at the 26.

Tahoka held again, and Post had to punt, but Thomas lost 5, two passes were incomplete, and Thomas punted 48 yards out of danger.

Post moved for one first down then bogged down and returned the favor on a 48-yard punt, but on John Tyler's runback Tahoka was guilty of clipping and was set back to its 12-yard line. Three plays lost to the 5, and Thomas had to kick standing in the end zone and his punt went only 19 yards to the 24.

Post Gets on Scoreboard
Post now had its scoring chance. Walker made 2, Heaton 4, then Walker broke through the line for 14 to the Tahoka 4 and a first down. The Bulldog defense now proved its metal. Heaton was stopped at the line for no gain, Walker for no gain on a pitchout, Walker made only two up the middle, and it was fourth down on the Tahoka 2-yard line.

The Antelopes chose to go for the field goal, and Walker's kick, with End Dick Kennedy holding, was perfect. Post led 3-0 with 6:47 remaining in the half.

After the kickoff, brought by Thomas to the 36, he made it a first on the Post 49 in two carries, but three passes were incomplete as Antelopes rushed Williams unmercifully, and Thomas' kick was only 23 yards this time.

Post couldn't move, though, got off a 45-yard punt to Roberts on the 22. Here, Williams found Schneider with a 19 yard pass, then a 23 yard pass, to the Post 38, but then Williams' long pass was intercepted on the Post 12 by Altman, and with 1:35 left, Tahoka sacrificed rushing yardage to protect against the bomb and Post rushed for 37 yards in five running plays.

Fumble Stops Drive
Opening the second half, Tyler brought the kickoff to the 33, Thomas and Chandler moved up to the 47, a pass was incomplete, and Thomas punted 53 yards just barely over the goal line.

Post couldn't move, punted 46 yards; Tahoka couldn't either, punted 49 yards, but now Post got another drive underway.

The Lopes moved upfield on four first downs on running plays and a 15-yard pass to Windham to the Tahoka 14, and it seemed the Bulldogs couldn't stop them this time. But Walker was hit hard by Thomas and Thurman, and Chris Roberts nabbed the fumbled ball on the Tahoka 8.

Post Threatens Again
Tahoka was completely throttled, lost back to its own 3-yard line, and on fourth down from the 5, Thomas punted 39 yards out to the 44.

Post started its move again with Walker grinding out yardage moved to the Tahoka 21, but again the Bulldogs rose up to stop the drive on fourth down at the 13.

Bulldogs Break Loose
Williams was now getting better pass protection. A pass to Schneider missed the mark, but on the next the QB spotted Thurman.

O'Donnell Eagles At Seagraves

It will be the battle of the Eagles tonight when the O'Donnell Eagles tangle with the Eagles of Seagraves at the latter city in the first 5-A conference game for each team.

O'Donnell, with a young team trying to build up, will be the underdog after having won two of five starts, over Ropes 28 to 0 and Lorenzo 6 to 0. Seagraves has won over Eunice 32-12, Frenship 35-14, Stanton 30-0, lost to Sudan 8-12, and won over Farwell 30-26.

Friday night, O'Donnell Eagles dropped a 38 to 7 decision to the powerful Jal, New Mexico, Panthers in a game played at O'Donnell.

The Eagles' lone tally came in the fourth period on a 30-yard pass play from Quarterback Steve Gary to end Kenneth Vestal, following which Joe Lopez converted.

Jal's scoring was on a 2-point safety, a 35-yard run by fullback Steve Fuller, a 20-yard run by halfback Kenneth Parrish, and a 2-point conversion by James Stone, all in the first quarter for a 16-0 lead.

In the third, Parrish went 40 yards to score; and in the fourth, Fuller scored on a 15-yard run and Ricky Ferguson on a 25-yard pass from David Ratliff. Fuller and Stone ran the conversions.

Amherst Plays At New Home

New Home Leopards run up against another toughie tonight when they entertain the Amherst boys, a team that has lost only two games in non-conference play, Springlake by 0-6 and Sudan 0-9.

The young and inexperienced Leopards, trying to build back with some very promising boys, dropped a 27-0 game at Ropesville Friday night.

First half, however, was close, but the Eagles' Gary Don Rucker intercepted a pass in the second quarter and raced 53 yards for Ropesville's first score. Conversion failed and Ropes led 6-0 at the half.

In the third, Ropes got a scoring drive going and Ronnie Hule bucked over from one yard out for the tally. Ted Lowrie kicked the conversion.

In the fourth, Ropes scored on a 14-yard pass Lowrie to Rucker and a 12-yard run by Hule. Both conversion kicks by Lowrie were good.

Appreciate Tahoka
 Dear Editor:
 I have lived in Tahoka all my life, but would now like to speak of Tahoka in a different way—from the viewpoint of one who is not there each day. As I returned home this past weekend, it placed within me a feeling of loyalty. This loyalty is not that which is acquired through self-effort, but a loyalty that has grown as I have grown. It is the common desire among high school students to break away, to leave the auspices of home and parents and take their crack at conquering the world. It has been said that our hindsight is always better than our foresight, but if we could only see a small bit through foresight, we could discover that our hometown is really one of our most valued possessions.

Yes, I am just a Freshman and I just left home. Perhaps I'm not representative of most college students, but I feel a definite obligation to my hometown. It has given me treasures of basic education, lifetime friends, and outstanding opportunities. Its churches have made God very real to me. These are things which I can never repay. The capabilities of Tahoka as a township should never be underestimated. Presently Tahoka is represented in Harvard, Yale, and many other reputable colleges and universities. It is represented in the Peace Corps in Nigeria, and in the armed services. It has fostered doctors, lawyers, and many fine and successful businessmen. All this success is due to our parents—the citizens of Tahoka, Texas.

Here at Baylor, very few people have heard of Tahoka, but you can be assured that they are hearing about it now. Tahoka is not a place to be forgotten. It is a place of fond memories and to be away makes me appreciative of what it has done for me.

I write all these things not because I am homesick, for I am just about over that now. And I do not see it through rose colored glasses, because eighteen years in one place is not all rosy. I write because I now realize a true appreciation of Tahoka citizens, and out of this appreciation has grown pride that I was able to spend the most vital years of my life in such a place. Tahoka is your home town. Support its churches, its businesses, its schools, and its organizations. Your time spent will not be in vain.

Sincerely,
 Paul Kenley,

While out with a group Friday visiting some Farm Home Administration projects, Joe D. Unfred, salesman and public relations man for Gifford-Hill-Western, took us by Lubbock to visit the new manufacturing plant complex being developed by his firm on 70 acres on the north outskirts of that city, an almost fantastic operation. We had already visited on another occasion the concrete pipe plant, and this visit was to the aluminum and plastic pipe plants, where both pipe and connections and appliances are made.

Methods of making both aluminum and plastic pipe appear similar to the layman. We were amazed at the apparent simplicity of the processes, although we're sure a lot of technical know-how and research goes into the processes. For one thing, we learned a company man had developed a means of welding plastic pipe, and a job once believed to be impossible was being done simply.

Incidentally, Horace Lindley, an old Lynn county boy, is one of the "private office wheels" in the Gifford-Hill Tubing division.

Joe D. also took us by to see a farm in the edge of Lubbock county where a farmer is making use of a lake pit, similar to a recharge pit, to collect surplus water from hard rains and from narrow ditch flow. A small lake pump is then used to pump the surplus water over his crops. Dirt-work, pump, and pipe cost this farmer about $5,000, but he is said to have more than paid for the installation in two years by increased production. There are many dryland farms near Tahoka which this operation would ideally fit.

Gifford-Hill has a brochure being distributed nationally in which there are 15 full page and one double-page pictures, and all but two of the pictures were taken by Joe D. on his farm just north of Petty.

We've seen a lot of football games in our day, but we have never seen a better one than that with Post here Friday night.

When Kress Kangaroos play Tahoka here this Friday, there will be two boys on the team with local family connections. Tommy Curry, 212-pound right tackle, No. 75, is the son of the Cecil Currys of Kress, grandson of Mrs. Wiley Curry, and will have a host of local kinfolks in the grandstand. The fullback and linebacker, No. 33, Phil Bohner, 180-pounds, is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Smith of New Home. Kress has a top team, is undefeated, and may be even better than the Post team played here last week.

The following verse hatched up by Dick West of UPI may be out of season but was humorous to us although written last Christmas:

'Twas the night before Christmas
 And up in the sleigh
 In place of Old Santa
 Rode old LBJ.
 And hitched to the reins
 No. Wait just a minute
 Those aren't reindeer he's driving
 It's the House and Senate.
 "On, Mansfield! On, Dirksen!
 "On, Fulbright and Fong!
 "On, McCormick! On, Muskie!
 "On, Talmadge and Long!
 "Piled high in the back
 "Of this wonderful sleigh
 "Is a sack full of goodies
 "For the whole U.S.A.

"On, Sparkman! On, Javits!
 "On, Jackson and Pell!
 "On, Douglas! On, Proxmire!
 "On, Bass, Boggs and Bell!"

Equal job rights for mommy,
 A tax cut for dad,
 Medicare for old granny,
 And there's more to be had.

"On, Hartke! On, Hayden!
 "On, Dodd and McGee!
 "On, Cotton! On, Cooper!
 "On, Bob Kennedy!"

For that isn't all
 He has planned for the tree.
 Next year—Congress willing—
 He'll repeal 14(B).

"On, Smathers! On, Aiken!
 "On, L. Saltonstall!
 "Now dash away! Dash away!
 Dash away, y'all!"

Someone told Mrs. Florence Davies of New Home we had a killing freeze on October 4, 1925. We can't get to our old weather record or newspaper files very quickly, but we'll look this up. We're pretty sure this is incorrect.

Ed Hamilton Completes Story On Recent Trip To Holy Land, Europe

(By Ed Hamilton)

We arrived in Tel Aviv, Israel, after a very eventful day. We had gone over Mt. Carmel, near the city of Haifa. Going up the mountain, I noticed a cave on its side and was told that it was the cave that Elijah was living in when he was fed by the ravens, according to the Bible story.

Tel Aviv is a relatively new town, having been built mostly in the past 50 years. Store buildings are as modern as ours. There are rows on top of rows of apartment buildings that have been built the last 20 years. The U. S. is responsible for most of them. Seeing a country that has progressed this much makes one think that all our Foreign Aid has not been going down the drain.

During the drive we viewed Mt. Tabor from a distance. We had a day to ourselves in Tel Aviv, and about four of the bunch rented a taxi and went down the coast five or ten miles and visited old Jaffa. This is the old seaport of King Solomon, where material was shipped to him to build the Temple, or part of it. There is not much there now, only maybe an old rock dock, nobody knows. But just being there gave us a very good feeling.

The city of Jerusalem is some 50 miles east. Old Jaffa is reported to be the old home of Jonah, the Bible character who got tangled up with the whale for three days or so.

About the time we got to Tel Aviv, the airline employees went on strike. We were supposed to leave early morning and did not get off until about 10 p. m. We boarded what was called a Flying Tiger, which was the finest plane

I have ever ridden.

The plane belonged to a government official and he let us ride from Tel Aviv to Athens, Greece. About 140 tourists were stranded with us. I timed the take-off, and we were 25 seconds from starting to getting airborne, traveled 600-plus mph. at approximately 39,000 feet.

We were served a very nice meal aboard by a crew of U. S. girls that were over there working. Believe me, you sure do appreciate the American girls after some of the service we had received. The old men, especially the ones who served us in Egypt who wore long dresses, are not too easy to eat after.

We arrived in Greece about 2:00 a. m. and had a nice hotel in which to stay. I was up early and out looking. I was amazed at the women who were out cleaning the streets the next morning. They could do as much work as any man.

We had a nice tour of the city, visiting the Acropolis, Coliseum, and other points of interest. Between the Greeks and Romans, they had done lots of building in their days.

In the evening, we went west of Athens to Corinth, which is some 50 miles west. Going over, we crossed a canal that was dug back in 1802 and finished in 1896, connecting the Ionian and Aegean seas, seven miles long, 200 feet deep to the water and then 26 feet of water in the bottom, approximately 70 feet wide. With the rock they dug up, they could easily have made another island and probably did. Anyway, the canal saved the ships several hundred miles.

At old Corinth, mostly ruins, some time before Christ there was a very good civilization. In a museum, they had old cloth, pottery, a set of operating tools for a doctor, and other antiques. One was a man's skeleton in a cement casket which I believe dated some 1500 B.C.

This country, although on the sea, was irrigated. In Greece, the soil is so scarce they farm every available foot. Where there is no soil, or nearly none, they plant olive trees by the million.

While going to Corinth we came closer to an accident than at any other time. The bus slipped off the road for a ways but we ran into a tree that helped us back upon the road—so, away we went.

The Greeks as a whole are a very nice bunch of people. They seem educated and cultured.

Up next morning and off to Rome, where we changed planes for Paris. We had a nice view of Italy while crossing it—lots of mountains—as well as some flat land.

In Paris, we visited Vendome Square, Tuileries Gardens, the Pantheon, Louvre Art Gallery, Luxembourg Gardens, Notre Dame Cathedral, Bastille Square, the Palais Royal, and the Eiffel Tower.

On Saturday night, several of us visited about three night clubs. The acts we saw were very similar to acts you see in America—some very entertaining, some for the birds.

The Palace of Versailles, the Gallery of Mirrors, and the flower gardens were very interesting. We spent two days in London, one in London city and the other going and coming to Stratford on Avon, the birthplace of Wm. Shakespeare.

The day in London, we took a bus and visited Oxford Street, Marble Arch, Piccadilly Circus, St. James Palace, Buckingham Palace, where we witnessed the changing of the guard, and Westminster Abbey.

On our trip to Stratford on Avon, we saw some of the prettiest country I have ever seen. The fields were very green and are divided up into small fields with lots of hedge rows in between. As you pass through the small towns, you can find out where the expression of "A quaint little village" originated.

One interesting sight was the thatched roofs on houses. Looks like they went out and gathered grass and made roofs of it. I guess it was successful as some fine homes have that kind of a roof.

At Stratford on the Avon we had lunch in an old hotel that Shakespeare had lived in, built before Columbus discovered America. We went through the old home of Ann Hathaway, wife of Shakespeare. The furniture was that, or very similar, to that used in Shakespeare's time.

Back at London, we were up next day at 5:00 a. m., breakfast, off to airport at 6:00 a. m. (we are 7 hours ahead of West Texas time—or 10 p. m. Tahoka time), crossed the Channel and landed at Paris.

At Paris, we caught a large jet and flew right back over London, on up over Scotland, just missed Iceland, crossed over Greenland, where I took a very good picture of about 50 icebergs. We were flying about 7 miles high at some 600 mph. The part of Greenland I saw I don't believe even an Eskimo could live.

We came on over St. John's Argencia, Maine, Connecticut, Rhode Island, and on to New York, where we waited some six hours before we were airborne about sundown and I guess we had some daylight for two hours as we were traveling very fast coming to Dallas.

We were going to be too late to catch our plane in Dallas, so they radioed ahead and had the plane held up for us. We jumped off one plane and onto another for Lubbock. In about 50 minutes, we landed in Lubbock and Opal and my No. 2 grandson, Larry Whitfield, were waiting for me. We went around for my suitcase, but it had missed the ride, so the next day it made it safe and sound.

I saw nine countries but I still think we have the best one. At least, most any of the people we saw over there would give their right arm to be here.

I hope I have at least made this trip interesting to some one. It was something I shall never forget.

Post Game . . .

(Continued from Page 1, Sec. 2) man cutting across the middle and threw him a perfect pass 14 yards to the 27. A Post player was charged with grabbing the face mask, and that added 15 more to the Tahoka 42.

Thomas took a pitch-out around left end and almost got clear as Jodie Edwards threw a key block. Williams lost a yard, then saw Schneider down the middle, threw, and Doyle scooped in the ball barely off the grass top 12 yards down field on the Post 32.

Thomas went around left end for 6, but Schneider lost 7. Then came John Tyler's sensational catch. The ball was a bit too long, but Tyler made a desperation leap goalward and caught the ball although a defender was almost on him.

Cliff was thrown for a 2-yard loss, then came the touchdown as Williams threaded the needle to Chris Roberts, who had cut across the middle, caught the ball in a desperation effort between two defenders on the 5, tore away from the two would-be tacklers, and crossed the goal line. Thomas' place-kick was blocked, but Tahoka led 6-3 with only 2:06 left on the clock, and Tahoka fans went wild.

Hectic Two Minutes
Thomas kicked-off a grounder downed by Post on its 37. Back into a spread formation with Altman back, the first pass was broken up by Brooks, Windham caught the next for 23 yards with Tyler making the tackle. A pass to Kennedy missed the mark.

Then, with Bulldog defenders rushing the passer, Altman heaved a looper down field, and here came Chris Roberts to intercept the ball on about the 20 and carry his "baby" up to the 27.

Trying to run out the clock with a minute left, Williams made 2 on a keeper, Thomas 5, Tahoka drew a penalty for too much time. Thomas kept for no gain, then had to punt with 20 seconds left. But Post had time for only one play, a pass incomplete—and that was the end of a great ball game for Tahoka.

But, it was a sad one for Post players and fans. They had been undefeated in four previous games, were rated the top Class AA team on the Plains, even above perennial favorite Denver City, and were ranked high in the state.

Thomas had 30 unassisted and assisted tackles, White 18, Kidwell 16, Jodie Edwards 14, Milton Edwards 12, Chandler 11.

Record Crowd At Bulldog Boosters

Biggest crowd of the year, 85, attended the Bulldogs Boosters meeting Monday night, saw films of the Post game, heard a scouting report on Kress from Coach Robert Ryan, and a talk from Head Coach Don Smith.

Ryan said the Kress Kangaroos are big and strong, have some good ball carriers, and may possibly be a better team than Post.

Coach Smith had nothing but praise for his boys, asked continued cooperation of parents, and expressed appreciation for support of the public and the help from his assistants, Jim Littlefield, Ryan and Cecil Robinson, whom he declared are the best he could expect to find anywhere.

W. T. Kidwell, club president, announced cushions will be on sale at the game Friday, paid for by advertising on them, and the profits from their sale will go to team equipment. The club voted to sell the cushions for $2.00 each.
