William Tells

I SUPPOSE Monday's hail storm is just about the biggest news story to hit Tahoka since I've been here and there's certainly been enough talk about it around town.

In fact, you can hear the strangest stories if you just extend your ear in the right spots.

There's the one about the local car dealer who left his brick home to take refuge in a tent during the peak of the storm. And, I think he even took his wife along with him!

When I asked his reasoning on the subject, he gave me a "cock and bull" story about wanting to know what it would be like if he ever got caught in it up in the mountains!

I think he found out. Perhaps the strangest sight I've seen since the hail is a man with a hammer standing over a garbage pail full of large bits of glass as he pounds away at them.

I finally decided he was trying to make more space in the barrel by compressing the glass, but also decided to clear the scene rather than find out for sure as splinters were flying everywhere!

And, I thought I wanted to go into the glass business for a couple of weeks. No thanks, though... I bled quite easily!

Other strange sights are the men you can see crawling all over the roofs in town and the adjusters methodically going over every inch of a car with their lights and a rag.

And then there's the occasional insurance agent you see sitting on the curb with a wet towel in his hand!

Hootenanny Is Saturday Night

The monthly Hootenanny will be held Saturday evening in Tahoka Community Center, with entertainment beginning at 7:30 p.m. and continuing through the evening.

Tahoka Jaycees are sponsoring the event this month, and everyone is invited to attend.

Hail Batters Tahoka

A brief but battering hail storm struck Tahoka about 5:30 a.m. Monday, leaving a trail of beaten houses, cars and other property which, when the final totals are in, may point close to half-million dollars worth of damage.

Lasting only about 15 minutes in duration throughout its swath across the town, hardly any exposed cars, south windows or rooftops escaped damage.

Coming with the hail was driving rain which measured .66 on the official government gauge, but dropped an inch or more in other areas of the city, especially in south eastern parts of the town.

Although damage everywhere in town was considerable, the First Baptist Church, First Methodist Church, House of Flowers, and Wayne Waters Ford perhaps sustained the most spectacular and costly single amounts of damage.

At the Baptist church, an entire south wall of stained glass windows were smashed as were countless others of regular glass.

At the Methodist church, stained glass windows which were extremely intricate and perhaps "irreplaceable" bore the brunt of the damage.

At the House of Flowers, hardly a pane of glass was left intact in the firm's greenhouse with the falling panses chopping plants inside into pieces.

At Wayne Waters Ford, 33 new pickups and cars sustained pock-marked bodies and broken glass with an estimated total damage of well over $100,000. Other Tahoka dealers did not have as many exposed units as Waters, thus having much less total damage.

Although rain amounts over portions of the county were larger than in Tahoka, only scattered reports of hail came in from outlying areas.

Heaviest rain in the county came in the areas to the south and east of town amounts up to three inches were reported, washing out cotton which had just been planted.

Mitchell Williams To Join Texarkana Law Firm July 1

Mitchell Williams, well-known Tahoka and Lynn County attorney, will be relinquishing his practice here effective July 1.

Williams, who began his law practice in Lynn County seventeen years ago, will be moving to Texarkana where he will be associated with the firm of Wheeler, Hubbard, Patton and Peek, one of that city's largest and oldest law firms. Serving four years each as county attorney and district attorney here, Williams began his present private practice on January 1, 1959. Although Williams will become associated with the Texarkana firm July 1, he will return to Tahoka periodically until such time as his business interests are completed and his family is moved. Mrs. Williams and the couple's sons, Mitchell and Stuart will remain in Tahoka until the family home is sold.

According to Williams, he has sold his law library and business equipment to Cleatus Pielan, present county attorney, who has been associated with Williams in law practice since February 1 of this year.

A letter from Williams to the People of Lynn County is printed elsewhere in this edition.

More Information Given Concerning Highway Work

The Texas Highway Department has announced a Highway 87 from 1.7 miles north of Tahoka to 1.3 miles south of Tahoka.

The construction will consist of a 4-lane divided highway and frontage roads, grade separations at F. M. 400, at approximately 0.5 miles north of Tahoka, at the intersection of U. S. 380 and Avenue G, and at the Cemetery Road.

The Texas Highway Department and contractors, Boswell and Grafton, Inc., Ben Sira and Company, and Sira and Payne, Inc., states that the construction will begin about June 14 and will be completed about June 15, 1968.

Traffic will be routed along specially constructed

Red Raider Day Slated June 29

By Tahoka Club

Tahoka's Red Raider Club will hold their annual "Red Raider Roundup" Thursday, June 29, with a program which includes golf at the T-Bar Country Club, a barbecue dinner and a program featuring Texas Tech coaches and staff with film highlights of the last season.

Tickets for the barbecue are $3 and are available from the club members, at the Chamber of Commerce office and at the First National Bank. Anyone may attend, but must purchase a ticket in advance.

City Tax Rate Will Stay At $1.50 Mark

The Tahoka City Council met in regular monthly session June 5, handling only payment of bills and setting of the city tax rate at $1.50 per $100 evaluation.

The tax rate is the same figure which has been used as a basis for city taxes for the past several years.

Meeting again on June 7 in a special session, the councilmen leased an unused water well to Boswell and Crafton, Inc., a construction company which will be working in Tahoka during additions and changes to U. S. 87 through town.

Under the lease, the company will pay the city $1,650 for use of the well which has been inactive since right-of-way was cleared for the highway. The construction project will probably take a year or more, it was noted.

Meeting with the council in the special session was J. O. Boswell, one of the owners of the Lubbock construction firm.

Elected as president of the new league in their organizational meeting May 25 was Aubrey Smith with James Farr as secretary. Both are from New Home.

City Wells Pump 17 Million Gallons

According to city officials early this week, Tahoka's water supply is holding up "just fine" and will probably be more than sufficient, especially with recent rains, until Canadian River water usage starts on January 1, 1968.

City wells supplied 17,500,000 gallons of water for Tahokans during the month of May, an average of about 550,000 gallons per day. Highest output for a single day was 874,000 gallons, but many of the month's days ran in the vicinity of the 300,000 mark.

The city also pointed out that if for some reason more water was needed than city wells could produce, the Canadian water could be turned on earlier as all is near readiness.

Lunchroom Prices To Be Higher By A Nickel For '67-'68 Term

The Tahoka School lunchroom program, forthcoming tax equalization board meeting, and assorted reports were main items of business June 8 when the Tahoka Independent School District Board of Trustees convened for their regular monthly session.

After approving routine matters of minutes and bills, board members discussed the school's lunchroom program, making several changes for the coming year.

Financial reports of the cafeteria for the past school year showed a loss of $935.52.

Under changes by the board, lunchroom prices will be increased for the 1967-68 school year from 35c to 40c for students and from 40c to 45c for adults.

An appropriate salary increase for the cafeteria employees was also approved.

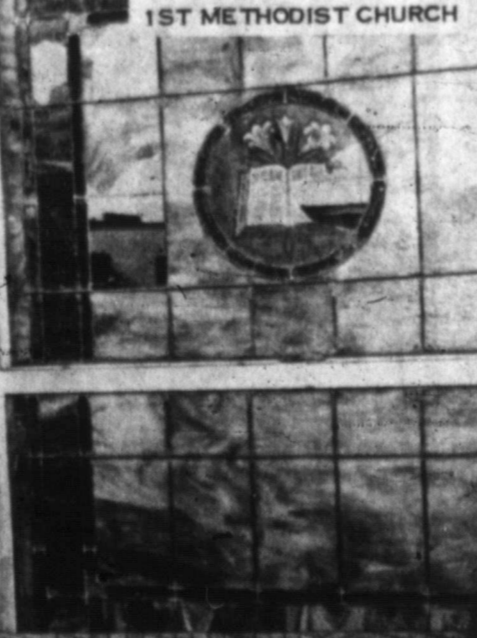

Action and changes in the cafeteria operation were made after a summary of a survey of surrounding school's cafeteria operations were studied by the board.

Jack Fenton, W. T. Kidwell and Clint Sikes were approved as members of the school district's Board of Equalization which will meet June 27 beginning at Friends and neighbors were hostesses Sunday for an open house honoring the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Leland White, four miles West and one-half South of New Home.

One hundred fifteen guests called during the afternoon reception where serving pieces were in amber glass. Black wrought iron candelabra with green, gold and orange candles centered the table with green ivy intertwined.

The White family recently finished their Spanish style home and all friends and neighbors were invited to the reception. Community gift to the family was a Spanish style game table with matching chairs.

Guests were registered from Morton, Grady, N. M., Lubbock and Tahoka. Debbie White was also celebrating her eleventh birthday, and later in the afternoon, left for two weeks of camping at Camp Rio Blanco.

The Draw H. D. Club met June 13 in the home of Mrs. Clyde Childress, when Mrs. E. B. Gaither brought a program on wise shopping, which was an eye opener for the ladies. After the program, Mrs. A. Z. Sewell was honored on her birthday. Eight members and six visitors were present.

SANDHILLS PHILOSOPHER

The Answer? No Taxes

(Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm gets off on taxes this week, his letter reveals.)

Dear editor:
I was sitting out here on this Johnson grass farm trying as a public service to think up some new sources of tax revenue which wouldn't affect me — as I understand it, there's nothing this country or any part of it, state, city or school district, can't do if it could only get more money, which fits my situation too, although I can't help mentioning that while politicians are always hunting for new tax revenue, you don't see much thought given to new methods of enabling a taxpayer to raise the money for the taxes he's already paying — at any rate, to get on with this, I pulled out a copy of The Dallas Morning News I'd been saving to rest my mind on, and the first article I noticed was talking about taxes.

According to it, a lot of states are demanding that Washington return to them a part of the income taxes they pay.

Under the proposal, Washington would return say 5 or 10 per cent of all the Federal income taxes a state's citizens pay, and the state could use it as it sees fit, maybe to raise school teachers' salaries or policemen's salaries or, failing that, at least to enlarge the penitentiary.

I got to thinking about this and I'm afraid it has some hitch.

In the first place, since Washington isn't making ends meet as it is, the same as me, if it handed back 10 per cent of its revenue to the states, wouldn't Congress then just add 10 per cent more in its take?

Furthermore, if a state got back 10 per cent, wouldn't every county and city in that state start demanding a refund on the taxes they pay to the state?

In turn, wouldn't the state, which is having about as much trouble as me and Washington in making ends meet, then have to add 10 per cent more on the taxes it's collecting?

Thus the net result would be a 10 per cent increase in taxes, all up and down the line, which wasn't the aim at all.

Instead of handing refunds back down the line, from Washington to the smallest town and taxing district, has anybody ever thought of just letting us keep the money in the first place?

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

9 a.m. in the school tax office.

Among reports approved by the school's governing body were the athletic budget for 1967-68, financial statement, May cafeteria report, tax assessor-collector's report and summer maintenance.

A comparison of average membership and average daily attendance for the 1965-66 and 1966-67 school years was also presented by Superintendent Harold Reynolds.

Under the report, membership at the school is down about 24 students while ADA is down only eight based on the year's average. Reason for the difference in the year's drop is a 93.76 per cent attendance in '65-66 compared to a 95.28 per cent attendance this year.

Junior-Senior High membership and ADA compares to about the same total for the past two terms with North Elementary slightly higher in both categories. Drop in the two figures show up strongest at South Elementary where membership dropped from 389.48 to 362.45 and ADA dropped from 358.19 to 338.15.

Also noted was the resignation of a teacher, Mrs. Charlene Stevenson, who had been hired the last of May to fill a vacancy in the commercial subject instructor in high school, once again leaving that position open.

Motorists, however, should be extremely cautious in passing through the area as it will be heavily traveled by large highway construction equipment, according to A. W. The construction area will be zoned for a maximum speed of 45 miles per hour in rural areas for the protection of motorists and workman alike, he continued. The length will be patrolled to minimize inconveniences to motorists. Cooperation of the public is requested in obeying all traffic signals, warning signs, and speed zones.

WHY ALL THIS FUSS ABOUT "CHANGED" CHECKS AND CUSTOMERS' DRAFTS?

HERB'S WHY:

- Somewhere in the check collection process, your check will probably be handled by a machine that can only read the special characters in the lower left-hand corner that are printed in magnetic ink. A "changed" check will have the wrong number and a customer's draft will have no number.
- The machine will probably route the "changed" check to the wrong bank (if the number is not punched out) and the customer's draft will be rejected by the machine for special handling because it has no number. The special handling required of these checks results in additional expense which may ultimately be passed on to you.
- Beginning September 1, 1967, the Federal Reserve Banks will require these special magnetically encoded characters on all checks if they are to be handled through the usual check collection channels.

Our counter checks and personalized checks meet all of the above requirements.

Wm. Overaker

MONTGOMERY, Ala.-Major William E. Overaker, whose wife, Reba, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Phillips, Tahoka, was graduated from the U. S. Air Staff College at Maxwell AFB, Ala., June 9.

The graduation ceremonies for Major Overaker and fellow officers marked the end of more than nine months of professional military education.

The Air Command and Staff College is part of the Air University's professional education system which prepares officers for higher command staff positions.

The graduation class numbered more than 500 Air Force officers in grades of captain, major and lieutenant colonel. Also in the class were some 50 officers from the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air National Guard, and Air Force civilian employees.

Major Overaker is being reassigned to Southeast Asia along with about 75 percent of the Air Force officers in the class. Approximately 15 percent of the Air Force students have already served in Southeast Asia.

The major, a graduate of Snelling High School at Griffin, Ga., received his A. B. degree in 1955 from Emory University at Atlanta, Ga. and was commissioned there upon completion of the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corp. program.

Larry Kizziar

Larry Kizziar, serving in Viet Nam with the U. S. Marines, writes friends he has made it successfully through half his scheduled tour of duty in the war.

"I'm 10 miles north of Da Nang, located on Hill 55," he writes. "We're sitting on top, which is overlooking a valley completely around us. Our hill is supposed to be famous. It was where two companies of French were surrounded & lost. Much time passed before the hill was regained. Several men lost their lives for the hill."

Bill Griffin,
County Agent Says.....

There are four points of pesticide safety to remember each time you consider the use of a pesticide-chemical on your farm or ranch, says Bill Griffin, county agricultural agent. Just as you are responsible for the decisions on the use of pesticides in your agricultural enterprise, you also assume the responsibility of their safe use. Pesticide safety, then, depends on you and your actions.

You can "practice pesticide safety" by remembering the following points: (1) take appropriate protective measures, as called for on the label, each time you use the product. (2) always strive for accurate application, to hit the right pest in the right place at the right time. (3) remember to protect those around you with locked proper storage, and (4) never neglect correct disposal of the left-over chemicals or empty pesticide containers.

Pertinent information about the first three points of safety will be found on the label of the pesticides you buy, reminds Griffin. This points out the importance of reading and re-reading labels on the products you buy.

Don't rely on your memory when you buy or use pesticides, comments the agent. New pesticides in different chemical strengths are constantly appearing on the market.

The correct disposal of the left-over chemical, or empty container, is not always covered in the label information. Different types of containers also call for different kinds of disposal, says Griffin.
