City Asks Bond Vote For Sealcoat Program

COLLISION RESULT -- Mrs. Ruby Perryman of Hamlin was driving this 1979 Chevrolet when it was involved in a collision with another car here Monday afternoon. Drivers of both cars (LYNN COUNTY NEWS PHOTO) were slightly injured.

ALTHOUGH I'M not guite ready to tackle the job yet, I did get out my federal income tax forms packet and look at it briefly the other day. After about 30 minutes of browsing through it, I shut it back up in its envelope and secured it with filament tape, because I don't want it to get out until the last minute. After thinking about this and about sales taxes on vehicles, I have decided that there are some things wrong with our tax systems. I know most folks think taxes are great things to have, but some rules just don't seem quite right. For example, you buy a brand new Underslung 8 car in 1960. You paid 4 per cent tax on it at the time. You sell it in 1964 and the next guy pays tax on that sale, although tax already has been paid on that car. And so on, every time it is sold. But that state levy is not as weird as the federal income tax. The reason some people make money figuring other people's taxes every year is that most of the other people can't make any sense out of the forms. The federal government is always trying, they say, to simplify the forms, but they don't get much simpler. The tax form packet they send out is about 40 pages. The instructions are confusing, mainly because the rules themselves are complicated. By the time you could read through the whole packet, April 15 would have passed already. There's one line on the front of the forms which says "If you have any suggestions for improvement of our forms or instructions, please write to us." Well, I have some: We need to change the whole income tax system. It would be quite simple, with only three rules: anyone who makes less than $5,000 per year on a salary would pay no tax. Anyone who makes more than that would pay 10 per cent of whatever they make, whether it is $5,001 or 50 zillion dollars. Anyone self-employed would pay only 5 per cent on total gross.

There has been no citywide sealcoat program since 1973, councilmen said, and pointed out that even then, the program did not cover every street that had cracks and potholes. In 1975 several more streets were given the sealcoat-repair treatment.

paid from the budget. But now, say the city officials, an

Eloise Griffin Retires From Poka-Lambro Co-Op

A retirement party was held for Eloise Griffin on Friday, Jan. 30, to mark the end of 30 years of employment with Poka-Lambro. Eloise has worked for Poka-Lambro since February of 1951, functioning in nearly all departments at various capacities, including office manager, bookkeeper and executive secretary.

Her husband, Bill, was instrumental as County Agent in getting Poka-Lambro formed back in the early 50s. In February of 1951 Poka-Lambro served 17 subscribers and as Eloise retired in February of 1981 ., the Co-op was serving approximately 3300 subscribers through 15 different exchanges.

Along with all the employees and their spouses from the Co-op, Mrs. Ellie Glenn Burkhalter, Mr. and Mrs. Hamlin, was driving a 1979 LeRoy Nettles, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin "Skeeter" Nettles

Lynn County Water Levels Measured

The High Plains Underground Water Conservation District has completed its annual program of measuring depth to water levels in the 37 wells in Lynn County. These wells are a part of a larger network of more than 900 observation wells scattered throughout the District's 15-County service area. Obbie Goolsby was able to complete 36 measurements of 'static' water levels in irrigation wells and tag them with the District's red identification sticker for owner information. "I visited with several irrigators in the field who wanted to know what their water's doing." said Obbie. "We have the initial results LOW for the County, but tabulated 35 data on the entire ob-23 servation network readings is 25 not expected to be complete 20 15 until mid-year." Lynn County's 1980-81 depth-to-water table below surface minimum reading was at 34.67 feet, and the maximum level read was at 156.79 feet. This year's average change in decline in the county was 1.60 feet, which compares with a 1979-80 county reading of +1.25 feet. Comparing the rate of change calculated this year for these wells shows a minimum decline change of overall sealcoat project is badly needed, and the estimated $175,000 cost over a three-year period of work cannot be paid for out of the budget.

Approval of the bond election by citizens Feb. 28 would mean a tax increase of about 7 cents per $100 valuation, according to City Manager Carl Reynolds and Joe Smith of Abilene, representing the First Southwest Company, bonding agents retained by the city Monday night to organize the procedures.

Example Given

This would mean an annual tax increase of $14, for example, to a person whose property is valued at $20,000. Present tax rate in the city is 42 cents per $100 valuation, and the city presently has no bonded indebtedness. The 7-cent increase would be put into an interest and sinking fund to pay off the bonds in 10 years. The recent water-sewer improvement bonds passed by the citizens are revenue bonds, meaning they are to from taxes. "Some of the paved streets in Tahoka are in bad shape, and there's no way that a comprehensive sealcoating

systems bring in, rather than program can be paid out of the operating budget," said Mayor Mel Leslie. Reynolds said the project would put every paved street in the city in good shape, once the three year sealcoat program was completed. \

12 PAGES IN ONE SECTION PLUS INSERT

Paving of streets in the city must be paid for by owners of property next to the streets, except for projects such as the one recently carried out in Tahoka, where the federal government awards a grant for paving of streets in areas of a city designated as predominantly low-income. Such programs will not pay for spot paving of blocks inside area of a city considered by the federal government as mostly middle or higher income.

Because of this problem and the difficulty of getting everyone along a street signed up for new paving. there is only one north-south street (Ave. L) paved all the way from downtown to the northernmost streets such as N. 7th and N. 8th.

All city councilmen were present for the meeting. Councilmen also discussed plans currently underway for installing culverts at the west end of several streets where they reach Country Club Road.

The council then went into a closed session for the announced purpose of dis-cussing personnel. No action was recorded on any matters after the executive session.

This would apply whether you had no children or 15 of them. There would be no deductions such as medical expenses, gasoline, etc.

Of course, this would never pass. Lots of folks would scream that the poor were being penalized, or that a guy making a salary of $4,999 would pay no tax, while a guy who spent $65,000 to operate a business which paid him $68,000 during the year would have to pay more tax than he would profit.

I would suggest that if one's business is not profitable enough to pay the taxes, then he should get into some other kind of business.

This plan may not be too good, but it probably would work as well as the current system.

Bob Hope once said he received a simplified tax return form from the government. It read: How much money did you make last year? How much do you have left? Send it in.

Charles Bryson put in %1 points, Mark Hudlin 16, Tracy Bryson 15 and Randall Stotts and Rickie Graves 14 each. Leading rebounder was C. Bryson while Stotts and Graves had 4 steals each. The Frenship Tigerettes slipped by the varsity girls 39-32 after 3 of the Dogettes fouled out. Tahoka was whistled down for 29 fouls to Frenships' 15. Leading scorers were Lani Brown with 10 points, Cathy Meeks and Lynia Payne with 8 each. Denise White led the team in rebounding.

The JV girls won their game with Frenship.

Whenever I talk to anyone about life insurance I invariably get caught in the "how much can I afford" as opposed to "how much can I afford not to have" squeeze. Is there a simple rule of thumb for determining what I can afford in terms of life insurance? There are several. First, what are your goals and priorities? Are they future or present-oriented? Second - and, probably most important, how much will you be able to stick with to pay on a continuing basis? This is a question you should ask yourself, as honestly and accurately as possible, no matter how much you plan to buy or what type of plan. The simple fact is permitting a life insurance policy to lapse or cashing it in before maturity can be very costly in the lorg run.

Did You Know

... That we are told to sing with an instrument in New Testament? Ephesians 5:18-19 says, "And do not get drunk with wine, for that is dissipation, but be filled with the Spirit, speaking to one another in psalms and hyms and spiritual songs, singing and making melody with your heart to the Lord;" this passage shows us two things, first, that we should not get high with wine, but that we should get spiritually high with sing-Second, that we should get high by singing with an instrument. That instrument is mentioned in this text, it is the instrument of the spiritual heart. How do we know that the TERRACE MAINTENANCE--Terraces are man made. Man must therefore look after his terraces and see that they are kept in good condition to hold our annual rainfall. Many area farmers plow their terraces with a breaking plow or moldboard plow. This does a good job and the Soil Conservation Service highly recommends the practice. If your terraces are in need of some maintenance, one might consider this method. There is plenty of time left before planting. When it does rain your terraces should be ready to hold water.

Propst said, "We can either choose a cotton program that allows producers the freedom to respond to market signals in making their planting decisions, or we can choose one that puts planting decisions in the hands of government and lets government determine our acreage and our market price.' Weiler Renamed: Carl Weiler, Laveen, Ariz., was re-elcted chairman of the National Cotton Council's Producer Steering Committee during the Council's 43rd annual meeting at Atlanta. Sam Leake, Newellton, La., was named vice chairman and Frank B. Jones Lamesa, secretary. Block Hits Rules: Newly confirmed Agriculture Secretary John Block told National Cotton Council Request for an extension of delegates that excessive time has been made by government spending is approval has not been given 'Number One on the President's hit list." He said Administration economies will affect every department of government with acrossthe-board cuts, even though some program reductions may be opposed by those who "want cuts in someone else's area." Among costly USDA agencies and programs Block singled out as targets for economies were the Farmers Home Administration, Rural Electrification Administration, and food stamps. The Secretary also said President Reagan's Administration has targeted "senseless regulations" as a prime area for change.

Mexican Foods For Microwave Cooking

Now that the festive and holiday season for 1980 has drawn to a close, don't let the early months of 1981 be drab. Instead, dream up some good Mexican foods to serve on cold and invigorating days. You may enjoy the change and you're sure to please anxious eaters. Don't forget the many energy tips that will help you save energy while preparing selected foods or dishes. Many Mexican foods lend themselves perfectly to microwave cooking, and you save time and energy with a microwave oven. Know that the energy you use depends on more than the type or kind of appliance used. It is affected by the kind and amount of food you're cooking. Counter top microwave ovens operate on standard household electric circuits and foods may provide up to 75% energy savings over conventional cooking. If you would like to know, more about the energy costs comparison on different cooking appliances used in the kitchen including electric skillets, portable toaster ovens and others, write for your copy or call your local utility office. Ask for energy savings costs on appliances. Here are two energy saving recipes. For additional recipes or other information write: Vivian Liner, Home Service Advisor, Box 631, Lubbock, Texas 79408. has launched a new effort to try and curb the large number of errors in advertising, relevant to the Truth in Lending Act. The BBB has been contacted by Juretta Smith, Regional Federal Trade Commission in Dallas, and informed it that the FTC plans a crackdown on abuses of this law. The greatest errors locally is the failure of business to reveal all the terms of a loan offer when they use one of the "kicker" terms in an ad. Other problems include the quoting of add-on rates and the use of the abreviation, APR, for annual percentage rate.

The BBB hopes to inform local business through direct contact of their oversights and hopefully keep local businesses from getting into trouble with the FTC who sometimes do more than just issue a warning.

All business advertising will be monitored for obvious errors. The BBB will also inform member businesses of minor infractions. Businesses having trouble with the Truth in' Lending Law, should contact the BBB office.

COLLEGE STATION --The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (TAES) has begun operation of a new alcohol distilation unit that will be valuable in research for producing liquid fuels from biomass

"The unit will be used to provide research data and demonstration information for farmers and people in industry across Texas," said Dr. Edward Hiler, head of the Agricultural Engineering Department at Texas A&M.

This energy program is oriented toward the development of energy resources both for and from agriculture - a similar version of the demonstration program is to move Texas agriculture towards ener-gy independence," he con-tinued. Officials of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, are reminding cotton producers that the difference that has always existed between the Federal minimum wage for agriculture and non-agriculture has vanished. As of January 1 this year the minimum wage for agricultural employees advanced from $3.10 per hour to the new high of $3.35, the same as industrial workers.

Agriculture does, however, still enjoy its overtime exemption, and the minimum still does not apply to smaller farm enterprises.

An agricultural employer is subject to the minimum wage if during any one calendar quarter of 1980 he us-ed more than 500 man days of agricultural labor. Those who used less than 500 man days in all quarters of 1980 are exempt from the minimum wage in 1981.

A "man day" is defined by the U.S. Department of Labor (USDL) as any day during which an employee performs agricultural labor for not less than one hour.

Although ginning employees are normally classified as agricultural labor, cotton gins operate under a different set of rules. Cotton gins are entitled to a 14 workweek period during which employees must receive overtime pay only for employment in excess of 10 hours in a day and 48 hours in a workweek. During the remainder of the year, ginning employees must be paid overtime for hours worked in excess of 40 per week.

A workweek, according to the USDL, is any period of seven consecutive days in which an individual has been engaged in any agricultural labor on one or more days, provided he worked at least one hour on some day during that period.

Farmers should also keep in mind, PCG points out, that the social security tax rate as of January 1 increased from 6.13 percent to 6.65 percent. Under current law the rate will rise to 6.7 percent for 1982 through 1984, then escalate to 7.05 percent for 1985 and 7.15 percent for 1986. Without further legislation the rate will top out at 7.65 percent in 1990.

The employer is required to deduct social security from the employee's wages, match the amount deducted and submit the total to the Internal Revenue Service.

Although it may have a minimal impact on its cotton producer and agribusiness members, PCG also notes that the minimum wage and overtime requirements in 1981 apply to domestic service employees such as maids, cooks, gardeners, yardmen and even babysit-ters if they are employed on a regular basis.

Many Mexican foods lend themselves perfectly to microwave cooking, and you save time and energy with a microwave oven. Know that the energy you use depends on more than the type or kind of appliance used. It is affected by the kind and amount of food you're cooking. Counter top microwave ovens operate on standard household electric circuits and foods may provide up to 75% energy savings over conventional cooking.

If you would like to know. more about the energy costs comparison on different cooking appliances used in the kitchen including electric skillets, portable toaster ovens and others, write for your copy or call your local utility office. Better Business has launched a new effort to try and curb the large number of errors in advertising, relevant to the Truth in Lending Act. The BBB has been contacted by Juretta Smith, Regional Federal Trade Commission in Dallas. and informed it that the FTC plans a crackdown on abuses of this law. The greatest errors locally is the failure of business to reveal all the terms of a loan offer when they use one of the "kicker" terms in an ad. Other problems include the quoting of add-on rates and the use of the abreviation, APR, for annual percentage rate. The BBB hopes to inform local business through direct contact of their oversights and hopefully keep local businesses from getting into trouble with the FTC who sometimes do more than just issue a warning.

Bureau The BBB of the South Plains

All business advertising will be monitored for obvious errors. The BBB will also inform member businesses of minor infractions. Businesses having trouble with the Truth in Lending Law, should contact the BBB office.

Texas A&M still becomes operational

COLLEGE STATION The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (TAES) has begun operation of a new alcohol distilation unit that will be valuable in research for producing liquid fuels from biomass.

"The unit will be used to provide research data and demonstration information for farmers and people in industry across Texas," said Dr. Edward Hiler, head of the Agricultural Engineering Department at Texas A&M. This energy program is oriented toward the develop-

Officials of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, are reminding cotton producers that the difference that has always existed between the Federal minimum wage for agriculture and non-agriculture has vanished. As of January 1 this year the minimum wage for agricultural employees advanced from $3.10 per hour to the new high of $3.35, the same as industrial workers.

Agriculture doss, however, still enjoy its overtime exemption, and the minimum still does not apply to smaller farm enterprises.

An agricultural employer is subject to the minimum wage if during any one calendar quarter of 1980 he used more than 500 man days of agricultural labor. Those who used less than 500 man days in all quarters of 1980 are exempt from the minimum wage in 1981. A "man day" is defined by the U.S. Department of Labor (USDL) as any day during which an employee performs agricultural labor for not less than one hour.

Although ginning employees are normally classified as agricultural labor, cotton gins operate under a dif-ferent set of rules. Cotton gins are entitled to a 14 workweek period during which employees must receive overtime pay only for employment in excess of 10 hours in a day and 48 hours in a workweek. During the remainder of the year, ginning employees must be paid overtime for hours worked in excess of 40 per week.

A workweek, according to the USDL, is any period of seven consecutive days in which an individual has been engaged in any agricultural labor on one or more days, provided he worked at least one hour on some day during that period.

Farmers should also keep in mind, PCG points out, that the social security tax rate as of January 1 increased from 6.13 percent to 6.65 percent. Under current law the rate will rise to 6.7 percent for 1982 through 1984, then escalate to 7.05 percent for 1985 and 7.15 percent for 1986. Without further legislation the rate will top out at 7.65 percent in 1990.

The employer is required to deduct social security from the employee's wages, match the amount deducted and submit the total to the Internal Revenue Service.

Although it may have a minimal impact on its cotton producer and agribusiness members, PCG also notes that the minimum wage and overtime requirements in 1981 apply to domestic service employees such as maids, cooks, gardeners, yardmen and even babysit-ters if they are employed on a regular basis.

moderate. Most gins were closed for the season. A few remained open. Lubbock's Marketing Services office graded 11,000 samples during the week ended Jan. 29. The season's total neared 1,418,000. This compares with 1.245,000 graded by the same date last season

IDEAS FOR TEXAS TOWNS AND BUSINESSES artnership CETA Program Cuts Red Tape,

Nets Profits Imagine a federal job program that promised: (1) no red tape,(2) only a bare minimum of paperwork and (3) quick reimbursement to participating employers. A private employer might believe that all his complaints about working with the federal government had been resolved. And he would be absolutely correct.

"We've had to listen," explains Sid Wieser, executive director of the Texas Department of Community Affairs (TDCA). "We want Texas employers to train and hire the economically unemployed and underemployed. This program will achieve that goal."

The federal program in Texas is the Private Sector Initiative Program, under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA).

Listening to Business

Bud Harris, director of Manpower Services for TDCA, describes how CETA works on the local level in over 100 counties of the state:

"Private business people are asked to join local task forces, which determine training needs and design appropriate training programs. Then a private business employer trains and teaches CETA applicants the skills they need."

Wieser re-emphasizes the basic underlying concept of the government-business partnership:

"Under this Private Sector program, we don't tell the employer who to hire. Or how he should train the new worker. We just send him qualified trainees to interview. And we will pay the employer up to 50 percent of the worker's training wages."

Desire to Work

There are also other important aspects of the CETA concept in Texas-job fairs held across the state, where employers can directly interview and hire new employees; the Minority Management Intern Program, which places minority trainees in financial institutions; and on the purely local level, CETA-sponsored classroom and on-the-job vocational instruction.

Harris makes one final remark about the effort to involve private employers:

"We have far too many disadvantaged men and women in Texas who want very badly to go to work. Private employers should realize that this desire often makes these people the best employees. Both the employer and the worker win in this program!"

"Workin' Partnership" is a public service series, bringing stories and information about how CETA/Manpower programs are working for businesses and for the good of communi ties across the state of Texas. If you are an employer and want to find out how CETA can work for your place of business, call the Texas Department of Community Affairs, toll-free 1/800/ 252-9447. They will direct you to your local CETA office.

Things would have gone differently today.

This is the aftermath of a hurricane that left 400 dead in Corpus Christi in 1919. Red Cross was called in after the damage was done.

When Hurricane Allen hit Corpus Christi in 1980, Red Cross was there before the disaster struck-to help people prepare and evacuate. We were there during the crisis to help provide relief. And, afterwards, we were there to help the victums minimize their pain. Hurricane Allen claimed two lives in Corpus Christi.

One hundred years of experience with disaster has taught us that being prepared for it is half the battle.
