I DIDN'T WANT TO WRITE this. I wanted to go eat. Here it was after 7 p.m. Monday and we (the wife and I) were still at the office. She was working on somebody's ad copy and I was needing to write my column for this week.

I read about the big sinkhole mess in Florida and I thought maybe I would write about holes. So I pondered what I know about holes. My first thought was that if I didn't write some kind of column, there would be a big hole in the newspaper.

But when I sat down to write, all I could think of was the hole in the middle of my middle. I was hungry. But when I suggested we go eat, she said she was too busy to eat and sort of intimated that I ought to be. So back I came to think about holes.

A mole can dig a tunnel 300 feet long in one night, according to some material we have in the office.

The Florida sinkhole is one of many, but worse than most, and is caused by the ground shrinking up after the water is gone, for whatever reason.

The Kermit sinkhole quit growing some time ago, and is no longer the attraction for tourists that it once was.

In Dallas some years back, there was a big cave-in on Elm Street, causing lots of damage and rerouting of traffic. Some wag put up a sign outside town reading "See the great Elm Street Cave."

Some of the interesting holes I have visited include Carlsbad Caverns and the catacombs in Italy. And I hope to visit Jackson Hole, Wyo. this summer.

A hole is nothing, surrounded by something.

Most people try to avoid going in the hole on most of their projects in life, but eventually we all wind up in one.

If it takes two men two days to dig a hole, how long will it take four men to dig half a hole?

The answer to that, of course, is that it can't be done. Anyway that should pretty well cover the ground on the subject of holes. (Holey ground?).

I think I'll go eat and forget the hole thing.

HAY THERE--This dryland wheat has been baled for hay by Carl and Bill Griffin on the north edge of Tahoka, and a bit further north Jake Dunlap also has some bales, all of which make a rather unusual scene for this cotton country. The Griffins seeded wheat last fall for horses to graze, and with good winter moisture they were still able to grow some for hay. This 10-acre field will be seeded to sudan after seedbed preparation, according to the Soil Conservation Service, and grazed when it is tall enough. (LYNN COUNTY NEWS)

Thefts, Accidents Reported In City

Two vehicle accidents and a pair of thefts of tools from pickups parked in the city were investigated by Tahoka Police Dept. during the last week.

On May 4, Bobby Martin reported a tool box and tools stolen from a pickup parked by his home at 2514 N. 3rd, and the same type of loss was reported by Milton Ehlers, 2313 Lockwood, on May 5.

Last Friday at N. 5th and Ave. N a 1973 pickup driven by Joe Rosalez of Tahoka and a 1967 Chevrolet driven by Opal Hines of Tahoka collided. Rosalez and his wife were treated and released at Lynn County Hospital.

On Sunday a 1978 Chevrolet pickup driven by Edward Saldana, headed east on N. 5th, struck a parked 1978 Chevrolet flatbed truck owned by AMS Blacksmith in the 1800-block of N. 5th. Saldana and a passenger, Kenny Smith, were treated at Lynn County Hospital.

Deputies found an abandoned 1977 Olds on U.S. 87 about five miles south of Tahoka, and the driver apparently had driven through a fence at T-Bar Ranch.

drove around in a pasture, then driven back out. There was some damage to the fence, posts and the car. The driver was identified, but no charges were filed.

Deputy Carlos McCleskey last week completed 32 hours of classroom instruction on the latest procedures on arrest, search and seizure. The SPAG course was taught at South Plains College.

A $500 reward has been offered for information leading to the arrest of anyone involved in a burglary of the Buel Draper home northwest of Tahoka, reported April 3. Anyone with information may contact the sheriff's office.

Tahoka Businessman Has Problem Leaving Lebanon

With Lebanon currently the political hot spot in the world, posing a major threat to world peace, travel in and out of that nation has been virtually shut down. And Riad (Ray) Aridi, owner of Tahoka Dept. Store, found it was easier to get in than get out.

A native of Lebanon, Aridi returned to his home country in late March for what was supposed to be a two-week visit to his mother and other relatives and to check on his property, as he owns a home there.

Several major factions in Lebanon have been warring for some time and stepped up fighting while Aridi was in the country. Airports were bombed by one faction or the other, Aridi says, and all air traffic in and out of Lebanon ceased.

"Even if all the bombing and sniping stopped right now, it would take a long time to put the airports back into usable condition," he said, noting that the runways have huge holes in them from the bombs. The bombing was not by air, he added, but hand-thrown or placed.

When Aridi was ready to return to Texas, there was no way to get out by air.

He said he needed to go to Beirut, "but it's impossible to get into Beirut and accomplish anything, with all the snipers everywhere and the fighting going on."

He finally did get out of the country and into Syria by private vehicle and from there was able to get a flight home on Air France, arriving in New York last Friday.

While he was away, the store was kept open by Mrs. Ronald Roberts, who really hadn't expected to run it that long.

Aridi returned to his business operations here Monday, with the comment, "I am very happy to be back in Tahoka."

MUSICAL MEDALISTS--These Tahoka band members won medals for individual performances at a band festival for 6th, 7th and 8th grade musicians in Petersburg last weekend. They are Mitchell Hammonds, Jody Woodard, Bobby Moore, Jim Patterson, Lisa Carter and Sara Gutierrez. Not shown are two other winners, Katie Hays and Patricia Davis. (LYNN COUNTY NEWS PHOTO)

New Voting Boxes Set

Lynn County commissioners court voted to install two new voting boxes, one at the Poka-Lambro building and the other at the County show barn.

Judge Melvin Burks said the voting boxes would cost approximately $150 each to operate but this should help get more people to vote.

The commissioners court also voted to leave the commissioner precinct lines as they were drawn in 1980.

All commissioners were present at the Monday meeting.

THE PROBLEM WAS HERE--Ray Aridi of Tahoka points to a tiny spot on the globe which represents Lebanon, from which Aridi managed to return home last Friday after trying for four weeks to get back. He had been visiting relatives in the country when escalated fighting made Lebanon an international hot spot and halted all flights in and out of the nation. (LYNN COUNTY NEWS PHOTO)

Zero Turning Radius saves time and energy

How? It wipes out waste motion. Quick pivot turns keep you mowing every minute. Corners don't slow you down; it trims as you mow. A single turn trims close around landscape features that normally demand hand trim or expert mower maneuvers. Notice - with ZTR Mowbilty, no back and forth, no clutch/brake/shift. DIXON owners report that mowing time is often cut in half!

The real test of mowbilty is how it leaves your lawn.

Smooth, clean cut. Minimizes gouging and scalping. No windrowing or bunching, even in tall or dewy grass. Low center of gravity plus rear weight bias adds traction, helps protect turf. Leaves your lawn a green velvet carpet ... and leaves you mower time for yourself!

Scanning Social Security

Jim Latimer

Recently married area residents have reported getting offers in the mail to have their name changed on social security records for a fee of $10.

The Social Security Office here in Lubbock advises that companies making these offers are in business for profit and have no connection with the Social Security Administration which handles name changes because of marriage or divorce.

Anyone who needs his name changed officially, can get this service free for the asking by contacting the Lubbock Social Security Office...

In every case, the Social Security Administration needs proof of identity, proof of marriage, proof of divorce or other proofs before the social security records can be changed...

Since it is official...go direct to the Social Security Administration to get your business taken care of...The SSA does not charge for this service.

QUICK QUIZ

Water is the most important component in our diet. Each American should consume about eight cups of water a day, either in liquid form or from foods. How much do you know about water? Try this quiz.
1. Whether watching your weight or on a diet, you should drink, (a) more water than usual; (b) as little water as possible; (c) no water, as it contains calories.

2. Each day your skin loses moisture equal to about how many cups of water? (a) one; (b) two; (c) three.
ANSWERS: 1. (a) Drink at least eight cups a day, more if you wish, as water is calorie-free. Muscle tissue uses more water than fat tissue, and water reduces stress on the circulatory system. Keep your muscles and body in shape while losing weight and drinking plenty of water. 2. (b) Two cups of water may not seem much, but the body needs this amount replenished often. Water controls body temperature through perspiration. You perspire to some degree, even while sitting, although you are not aware of it each day.

Betty Green In Austin For Meeting

Betty Green, school trustee of Tahoka ISD, participated in a two-day Preparation for Leadership Workshop in Austin May 8-9 to develop new skills in school management.

Sponsored by the Texas Association of School Boards the workshop attracted more than 250 new and continuing school board members and superintendents from school districts across the state. Green and the other workshop attendees participated in sessions on communications and legal issues specially designed for their role as either new board members, experienced trustees or as a member of the Board president-superintendent team. Other specialized workshop sessions focused on employee relations, curriculum, policies, budgeting and parliamentary procedures.

The workshop included a review of action by the Texas Legislature which will impact public school operations. Also featured was an evening showcase of written, audio and video materials developed by TASB to improve management skills of trustees and administrators.

PRaise THE LORD

By LENDA WOOD
The other day I was reading a devotional book, and found some really helpful ideas. I think we as Christians hesitate to try anything "new" to us. But I would like to say don't knock it 'til you try it.

This particular devotion pointed out that as we meet people during the day, that we should think of them as "royalty" because they really are. God created each person in His own image.

Sometimes it's hard to treat persons as royalty when they are acting ugly or cross, or perhaps won't even smile at you. But with this thought in mind maybe we can win a smile out of someone.

As I meet persons during my day's work, it's always a pleasure to come across those people who try to brighten my day. And I walk away saying a prayer of thanks to God who made it possible.

C-C Meeting Time Changed

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce met Tuesday, May 5 and voted to hold the membership meetings every three months at noon. The next meeting for all members will be on June 16 in the Tahoka Cafeteria.

In last Tuesday's meeting, Sheriff Stanley Krause discussed the possibility of a crime line. He said that a Lynn County Crime Line would improve arrest rates, help in recovery of stolen property and improve conviction rates.

A tentative date for a county wide meeting on a Crime Line setup has been set for May 19.

Frank Barrow presided over the directors meeting and the nomination committee recommended Frances Chestnut for vice president. She was elected by acclamation.

Brown Says Farmers Must Have Equitable Prices On Exports

AUSTIN—With the recent lifting of the embargo on grain sales to the Soviet Union, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown urged that all future foreign sales be subject to more stringent price structures.

"All sales, especially those to unfriendly countries, should be negotiated on a cash basis. The price must be high enough to cover the cost of production plus a profit for farmers," Brown said.

"Agricultural producers deserve the best efforts of our leadership in helping to make American farming profitable.

"The domestic price for corn today is $3.43 per bushel, for grain sorghum $5.55 per hundredweight, and for wheat, $4.04 per bushel. All are under the cost of production in Texas," Brown said.

"World needs, especially those in areas of starvation, demand that farmers be kept in business. Hard-nosed trading can bring fair prices that will assure continued production.

"The market, of course, is the best place to create profits, but government policies directly affect the agricultural market.

Inflation Rate Outpaces Farm Real Estate Values

AUSTIN--"Although the average price per acre of agricultural land in Texas increased slightly in 1980, the real value of farmland has decreased," Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has reported.

The 1980 Texas average was pegged at $445 per acre and is expected to increase to an average $490 this year.

"The increase in land value lags behind the Consumer Price Index increase. In effect, the real value of farmland has declined," Brown said.

The 1980 drop in the real value of U. S. farmland reflected a decrease in net farm income from $31 billion in 1979 to $23 billion in 1980.

According to U. S. Department of Agriculture statistics report, as of February 1, U. S. farmland values increased an average of 9.3 percent, well below the 15 percent from a year ago and less than the 11 percent rise in the Consumer Price Index.

"High interest rates and tight credit certainly have their effect on the farm real estate market also," Brown noted.

The national average value of farm real estate is now $790 per acre. New Jersey had the highest average at almost $3,000 an acre while four other states exceeded $2,000 per acre averages also.

YOUR GARDEN

You should have no trouble making a "grocery list" for your garden, but if you're a beginner check what your neighbors are growing. One of the easiest vegetables to grow are carrots. In the south they can be grown in the fall, winter and spring, and in the north from spring to fall.

To get your garden in shape after winter, a good idea is to use a heavyweight trash bag such as "Glad" to collect rocks, debris, weeds and other materials. They're also good for keeping and storing tools.

It's usually better to plow your garden in the fall. This reduces erosion, exposes heavy soils to frost, kills exposed insects, brings about decay of organic matter and generally makes for earlier planting.

President John Tyler had 15 children.

NEW AT WADE'S--New employees in the service department of Wade Farm Implement are Manuel Cabral, left, and Lowen Young Jr. Cabral's wife, Judy Katherine, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hookins of Tahoka. They have one child, Jennifer Ann, 6. A former student of El Paso Community College in Colorado Springs, Cabral was in the Army for 12 years. They moved to New Home in November. Young and his wife, Terry, have three children, Michelle, 9; Angela, 5; and Andra, 3. They live at Wilson, where he was raised. He attended Texas Tech and automotive and mechanics schools. He has eight years experience on heavy equipment.

INSUR-MATION

By PAT GREEN
Lynn County Farm Bureau

I am already a believer in life insurance as a reliable tool for long term investing. However, I would feel better if there were a way to turn that investment to quick cash. Can this be done?

Yes. You can sell it. However, a better way would be to use the policy as collateral and keep your policy in force. If you sell the policy you could probably not replace it at an older age for the premium you are paying now. Also, the spread on the increase in cash value becomes greater as the policy becomes older. You could find yourself in the position of paying $100 in premiums and getting an increase in the cash value of $120-130 for that $100 of premium. By keeping your policy and using it as collateral, you have continually increased your investment in the future.

WEEDS AND WHAT TO DO ABOUT THEM

Weeds are a problem in backyard gardens just as they are in large fields of vegetables, grain sorghum or cotton. They compete with your desirable plants for water, soil nutrients, sunlight and air. In some cases, they may harbor many different insects as well as diseases.

What can you do about weeds in your garden? Believe it or not, hand hoeing is probably still the best answer. It is inexpensive, quite selective, accurate, effective and, for some, even enjoyable. Some local gardeners feel a great deal of emotional satisfaction from leaning on a hoe handle and viewing a clean row where weeds stood only minutes before. Remember, weeds should be relatively small when hoed or pulled from your garden since damage may occur to vegetables if weeds are allowed to get too big before being removed.

Another effective method of controlling garden weeds is to use a mulch. Mulching is one of the real keys to a successful garden in this part of Texas. A mulch is simply defined as "any material spread on garden soil to protect plant roots from heat, cold or drought, reduce problem weeds and keep fruit clean." A mulch controls weeds by keeping light away from seedlings and by providing a mechanical barrier to their emergence. Mulches work best against weeds and grass that come up from seed each year. Any weeds that do come through the mulch can be stopped easily and removed from the garden.

Good mulching materials in this area are compost, straw, leaves, hay, sawdust, wood shavings, bark, newspaper and plastic sheeting. Organic mulches are, by far, the most common but remember they should not be applied too early in the spring. If you mulch a cold garden soil, it warms up slower, delaying the maturity of most vegetables. One benefit when using organic mulches is that at the end of the season, they can be turned under to improve the physical condition of your garden soil.

Black plastic film has been used as a garden mulch for a long time. It is probably the most popular synthetic material available. It will result in a warmer soil early in the season and will greatly reduce the weed population. However, if weeds are not a problem, it is an excellent mulching material. Several sheets of newspapers laid flat over the top of the garden row will also help control most weeds. However, like organic mulches, newspaper can cause delayed maturity of may garden vegetables such as tomatoes, peppers and squash if applied too early.

A third method which I feel has limited value for garden weed control is herbicides. While such chemicals work well in single crop situations, it's difficult to use them in a garden where a wide assortment of vegetables may occupy a fairly small space. I personally feel that herbicides are difficult to use in

4-H'ERS BEAT THE "SCHOOL LUNCH BLUES"

Fixing tasty snacks and lunches for kids to take to school doesn't have to be daily drudgery. Why not organize a sandwich freezing session?

Wait until some day when the kids feel creative, then help them make and freeze enough sandwiches for a month's supply.

They'll enjoy creating new combinations with cheese spreads, canned tuna, peanut butter or cold sliced meat. These are all foods that freeze well. Better yet, use a butter or margarine base to help keep the bread from getting soggy.

Frozen sandwiches make for hassle-free mornings. Kids can snatch a nutritious sandwich from the freezer as they go off to school. By noon the sandwich is thawed and ready to eat.

A few don'ts: Stay away from mayonnaise, salad dressings and jelly; they soak into the bread. Celery, lettuce and tomatoes get soggy. Avoid hard-cooked eggs (the whites get rubbery).

When kids get really interested they might even want to make the bread, and this is where the 4-H bread program comes in.

Young people 9-19 in the national 4-H bread program can beat the "school lunch blues" by becoming bakers as well as expert freezers of what they bake. Bread to a 4-H member means everything from banana bread to pretzels to Parker House rolls.

4-H'ers with a scientific bent enjoy investigating the chemical reactions that make bread rise. Creative types like to experiment with breads of other lands. Some enterprising young people use their newly acquired skills to set up small businesses.

4-H bread projects and activities are supervised by the Extension Service and supported by Standard Brands, Inc. Young people can earn awards at all levels of par-most garden situations and should not be used by the average gardener in Lynn County.

However, if you are determined to use chemicals for garden weed control, remember that some herbicides may work with some crops but may damage others. Be sure to follow the exact application rate and use only the correct amount. If you have a relatively large garden, it's possible to use herbicides satisfactorily by grouping vegetables for their tolerance to certain chemicals and diligently following all label precautions. However your best bet for satisfaction weed control is to sharpen your trusty hoe and to practice the age-old and time-tested art of mulching.

Crop And Livestock Reports Needed

During late May and June, many Texas farmers and ranchers will receive a crop or livestock questionnaire from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service or will be personally interviewed by the Service's field staff. The crop and livestock information gathered through the questionnaires and interviews is kept confidential, and it is the basis for setting crop acreages and midyear livestock inventories to be published in June for the state of Texas.

These crop and livestock reports help farmers and ranchers in working out their production and marketing plans and keep them informed on the current agricultural situation. Even though response is voluntary, each farmer or rancher who is contacted is urged to cooperate, helping to make the crop and livestock reports to be published as accurate and reliable as possible.

MRS. DANNY PRESTON nee AMY McNIEL

Amy McNeil - Danny Preston Exchange Double Ring Vows

Miss Amy Jo McNeil and Danny Coleman Preston exchanged wedding vows Friday evening, May 8, in First Baptist Church. The Rev. Don Cass performed the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Willis F. McNeil of Tahoka and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Preston of Wolfforth.

Mrs. Clay Bennett, organist, provided a prelude of traditional wedding selections. Miss Jerri Beth McKibben sang "Time in a Bottle" and "God, A Woman and a Man."

Decorating the church was an arched candelabra entwined with greenery which was flanked on both sides with pots of Boston fern. Candlelighters were Kevin Wheeler of Plainview and James Preston of Wolfforth.

Escorted by her father, the bride chose a formal gown of white organza, over peau de soie and silk lace. The bodice featured a molded Queen Anne neckline and a graduated natural waistline with lace cap sleeves. A flowing A-line skirt applied in lace cascaded into a chapel length train. Complementing the gown was a veil of two layers of bridal illusion which fell from a lace covered Juliet headpiece to elbow and fingertip length and was outlined in the matching silk lace. Both the gown and veil were sprinkled with seed pearls and irridescents.

She carried a bouquet of blue and white feathered carnations and stephanitis

POISONOUS PLANTS CAN CAUSE DEATH

Poisonous plants are scattered throughout Lynn County. At least 75 plants that grow in Texas are poisonous and cause death, illness or extreme discomfort for both humans and livestock.

With the early May showers, more poisonous plants are being seen around the county. Due to the droughty spell last year, grasses and annual forbs were either grazed off or seasonally burned off by the weather. This left more open ground for these invader weeds to grow and increase in numbers.

Parents and ranchers should be concerned because many of these plants are common in flower and vegetable gardens; ornamental landscaping; and range/pastures in Lynn County. Chewing, swallowing or otherwise contacting the toxic parts of these plants, trees, and shrubs take a heavy toll. Each year thousands of both human and livestock are poisoned or injured by these sources.

Some of the poisonous plants that are common to Lynn County are: silverleaf nightshade, oleander bush, poinsettias, mistletoe, elephant ear, castor bean, loco weed, twin leaf senna, horse nettle, small head sneezeweed, carelessweeds, milkweeds and shin oak. More detailed information on these Deep moisture on the High Plains is the best seen by cotton producers in years. Adequate planting moisture is in place almost everywhere. The temperature is right, and even the merciless winds that so often hamper planting operations on the Plains have been conspicuously absent, at least to this point.

All of which is contributing to an air of optimism seldom if ever exceeded in area cotton circles.

There's still the ever present threats of future sandstorms, hailstorms, another hot dry summer or an early freeze, any or all of which could quickly turn high expectations into bitter disappointment.

And then there's the not-so-common but no less ominous bollworm that over the past three years has steadily widened his sphere of activity on the Plains — and of which warning signs already are beginning to surface in 1981.

"There's no way to predict with any certainty what the worm situation will be later this year," says Dr. Don Rummel, Research Entomologist at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Lubbock, "because we have no background research with which to compare what we are seeing now."

Rummel is just this year getting a bollworm research project underway, and when he says "what we are seeing now" he refers to the average of 461 bollworm moths caught in each of 38 pheromone traps during the week of April 26 through May 2. The traps are scattered over six counties from Patricia in Dawson County on the South to Northeast Floyd County. The traps were set about mid-April and began showing results immediately.

"We don't have any way to know just how unusual these numbers may be," Rummel admits, "but the numbers are large enough at this early date to let us know we'll need to be wide awake as the season progresses, especially as cotton enters the blooming stage."

Rummel began his research this year with a one-shot infusion of funds from the Boll Weevil Control Program administered by a committee of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock. Supplemental funding for this year's work and funds to continue the project in future years are being sought from Cotton Incorporated and other entities with a high stake in the area's cotton economy, including the State Legislature.

Original objectives of the research, according to PCG Field Service Director Ed Dean, are to learn exactly what effect agro-ecosystems changes of recent years on the Plains have had on both beneficial and destructive insects; what natural bollworm enemies in the area are most effective; whether overwintering or in-migration is most responsible for the increased insect load, and what wild plants are major hosts for bollworms.

REAGAN SCORES:

The House handed the President a major victory as the Gramm-Latta amendment was approved by a vote of 253-176. The measure sets revenue and spending targets for fiscal year 1982 and was seen as a critical first test of the Administration's economic recovery program. Sixty-three democrats joined with all 190 House republicans in support of the measure. Lawmakers from the entire Cotton Belt, with the exception of only 30 House members, supported the President's proposal.

NEW POST FOR USDA The Senate Agriculture Committee has voted to create a sixth USDA assistant secretary position with the understanding that he would be in charge of agricultural research and extension work. Technically, the Secretary of Agriculture could use the position as he sees fit, but it is known that Committee Chairman Sen. Jesse Helms (R-N.C.) wanted to emphasize research and extension supervision. The Administration opposed the move, but Assistant Secretary Bill Lesher was quoted as saying that USDA officials did not feel strongly about it.

MAID WOVES ASIA: Maid of Cotton Karie Ross has visited six important Asian markets to spotlight U.S. cotton. Among highlights were a reception in her honor attended by 300 top mill executives in Japan, fashion shows that drew 6,000 in Korea, appearances on top-rated TV and radio shows in Hong Kong, a promotion at Shui Hing department store in Singapore which increased sales by an estimated 50 percent, and a photo feature in a leading fashion magazine in Thailand. Her visit to Mainland China got widespread coverage in the U.S. as a result of a national wire-service report on UPI. The Maid will visit Italy and Spain before returning to the U.S. at the end of May.

removed themselves farther and farther from their sources of fresh food. The Emperor, concerned for the health and morale of his men, offered a price of 12,000 francs to anyone who could find a satisfactory method of preserving food.

After 15 years of experimenting, a Paris confectioner found he could keep foods for a long period by cooking them, sealing them air-tight and then cooking them again. Luckily the product used today does not resemble this early product.

Today evaporated milk is prepared by heating homogenized whole milk under a vacuum to remove half its water, sealing it in cans, and thermally processing it, says the U.S. Department of Agriculture. You can even buy evaporated skim milk.

Evaporated milk is one of the milk products available in plentiful supply this month, according to USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service. So plan to use it in recipes undiluted, partially diluted or as a substitute for whole milk, butter milk, whipping cream, sour milk or sour cream.

Basically, evaporated milk is a whole milk at double strength. If you add one part water to one part evaporated milk, you essentially have whole milk again.

You may wish to combine dry milk and reconstituted evaporated milk in place of fluid milk. Used at full strength, evaporated milk lends extra body and creaminess to sauces and desserts.

A can of evaporated milk, if chilled first, will make delicious whipped cream. To stabilize the foam, add one teaspoon of lemon juice per can before or during whipping.

To use evaporated milk in place of buttermilk, add a few drops of vinegar or lemon juice to the evaporated milk before using. To make sour milk, reconstitute evaporated milk by mixing half cup of water with half cup evaporated milk, then add one tablespoon of vinegar or lemon juice to the mix.

Unopened cans of evaporated milk stored in a cool place will keep several months. But once opened, keep it in the refrigerator with the top covered. Plan to use it within four or five days. Do not freeze evaporated milk for freezing may cause separation and loss of smooth texture.

What's the difference between sweetened condensed milk and evaporated milk? Sweetened condensed milk is concentrated canned milk prepared by removing half the water from whole milk and adding at least 40 percent sugar to help preserve it. The end product is yellowish in color, thicker and sweeter than evaporated milk. It has a caramel-like flavor and is used mainly in the making of candy or other rich desserts. It has a longer shelf life than evaporated milk.

For a quick vegetable sauce heat evaporated milk and cheese; for dessert sauce, blend with chocolate and heat. Mix evaporated milk with a fruit juice such as orange or lemon to make a creamy sauce and salad dressing.

Ready-Built Homes Relief Is Favored

"The loss of hundreds of jobs, a possible shutdown of the ready-built housing industry, and a shortage of affordable housing in rural areas could result if Senate Bill 319 is not signed into law," according to Sen. E.L. Short of Tahoka and Rep. Buck Florence, Hughes Springs, sponsors of legislation to prohibit regulation of ready-built housing by the Texas Department of Labor and Standards.

Short stated, "Of all the issues which have faced me as a public official since 1969, I can think of no other which has drawn as much attention and concern as this one, especially in terms of the economic hardship which could have come in terms of unemployment, business decline, and additional costs to consumers."

Under present law, requirements for construction of will begin promptly at 10 a.m. and last about one hour. Techniques of canning, freezing and drying of foods will be discussed.

All canners should be checked every year prior to the canning season. Bring your canner before 11 a.m. if you would like it to be checked that day. Otherwise the thermometers and instructions to check canners will be available at the Extension Office.

The understanding will be clear that if the thermometer is broken, the person who is using it is required to replace the thermometer, at a $20 reimbursement expense.

Call the Extension office if you have a question. The number is 998-4650.

mobile and modular houses are regulated by the Department of Labor and Standards. Under provisions of a bill passed two years ago by the legislature, the DLS interpreted the measure to possibly include regulation of ready-built housing, which is not presently regulated.

Sen. Short said, "The bill sponsored by Rep. Florence and me would give assurance that ready-built homes would not be under state regulation."
