School Budget Slightly Higher

Tahoka school board members last Thursday night adopted a budget for the coming year's operation totaling $1,594,535, an increase of about 5 per cent over the current year's budget.

The board is expected to set next year's tax rate within the next week, but members indicated they do not expect to have to increase the rate to meet the 1981-82 budget.

With the school fiscal year ending Aug. 31, the board was told by business manager David Roberson last week that the district should wind up the year very slightly in the black.

Roberson said that on Aug. 1, the balance of all funds was $75,510 and that tax collections were 90 per cent complete. He projected that there should be about $9,000 left by the end of the month.

Long Meeting

With the regular board meeting preceded by a hearing on the budget, the board had a lengthy session, voting to hire several teachers, aides and substitutes, moving to implement the new minimum competency standards starting with grades kindergarten through 3 this year, awarding the First National Bank of Tahoka the school depository contract, increasing rates for school lunches, and voted to buy 8 to 10 computers for school use.

Teachers hired were Mrs. Lela Hill Scott, junior high English; Mrs. Suetta Martin, migrant teacher; Mrs. Jo Beth Horney, high school math; Mrs. Lana Daniell, freshman English and typing; Felix R. Fabila, history and coach; Mrs. Mary Ruth Ramsour, special education and English; Mrs. Delores Webb, Mrs. Beth Askew, Title I; Mrs. Pearl McDaniel and Charlie Mac Holland, teachers aides; and Benjamin L. Blair, head boys basketball coach.

It also was voted to share with other Lynn County schools a coordinator for the minimum competency testing program. Also approved were 16 substitute teachers.

Rates Raised

School lunch fees were increased, as Supt. Jim Coulston reported that the federal government has cut by about 25 per cent its funding of lunch foods and services. Reduced-price lunches will be 40 cents, with regular student lunches to cost a dollar, teachers to pay $1.50 and guests to pay $2.50 for lunch in the school cafeteria. Breakfast prices are 30 cents for reduced, 50 cents regular, 75 for teachers and a dollar for guests.

Before the comptuer vote, Coulston told the board that four to six computers could be secured for use of all high school students for about $22,000, with only 10 per cent of this paid locally and the rest with migrant program funds. The computers will be connected to the regional service center for use primarily in reading and math, but also accessible to other subjects. Four more computers were approved by the Vocational Office Education classes.

Local-mileage payment for UIL travel was raised to 22 cents per mile from previous 20 cents.

Recommendations of the textbook committee were approved.

Board members present were Bob Handy, Joe Brooks, Joe Hays, Betty Green, Tommy Lawson, and Jim Wells. Jay Dee House was absent. Among visitors present for portions of the two meetings were Mr. and Mrs. David Martin, Mr. and Mrs. B.L. Miller and Frank Barrow.

Fish Fry Is Given Praise

"It was a great success," said Fire Chief J.T. Miller this week, referring to the fish fry by Tahoka Volunteer Fire Dept. last Saturday, when 550 persons were served.

"Everyone appeared to be well pleased, and we accomplished what we set out to do," Miller said. He added that the fish fry definitely will now be made an annual event in Tahoka.

Miller expressed appreciation to all those who assisted in the event.

County Senior Citizens Program Rated Success

"We have a beautiful program" at Lynn County Pioneer Club Senior Citizens Center, stated Mrs. Bill (Catherine) Barham, director, in a review of the center's many activities made before the Rotary Club last Thursday noon.

In fact there is only one other program like this one in Texas, funded partly by SPAG and partly by donations and other local funds. Co-operation of many people has been important to its success.

The many services offered by the Center are available to so-called "Senior Citizens" who are needy, lonely, or handicapped people.

The week-day luncheon program has helped its success. These noon lunches are free, but anyone may eat with the group and a minimum contribution of $1.00 is asked for the meal.

In July, the Center served 2,297 meals, an average of 104 a day, of which 894 meals were delivered to persons unable to attend in person, Mrs. Barham said.

Expanded Program

Just recently, Wilson and O'Donnell have been added to the meals program. Food is taken from the Center's Tahoka kitchen to Wilson on Mondays and Wednesdays and served in the City Museum building. On Tuesdays and Thursdays, meals are taken to O'Donnell, where the school made available the old band hall, which has been redecorated for lunch meetings there.

But, the lunch program is just one phase of the program.

The Center has two full time employees, Mrs. Barham and Mrs. G.W. (Ruby) Grogan, who is the social services director, plus two Green Thumb workers, and nine part-time workers, as well as volunteers.

One of the leading services is the opportunity furnished to aged and lonely people for social contact through meetings at the center, beginning each morning, for exercises, games such as dominoes, quilting making crafts to sell, or just visiting.

Proper nutrition and health practices for the aged are emphasized. Mrs. Barham said a van and a station wagon are available to take

Meals Being Served At Wilson Museum

The museum at Wilson now is serving meals on Monday and Wednesday. The meals are cooked and delivered by the Tahoka Senior Citizens Center.

Green Thumb worker Lorraine Crowson who is a Hostess/Aide at the museum helps serve the meals and does the tidying up afterwards. This is just part of her job at the museum. She also assists with the City of Wilson's water bills and other office and museum duties. Green Thumb is an older worker employment program sponsored by Farmers Union and funded by the Dept. of Labor. Wilson has two other Green Thumb workers who do City Maintenance, Matias Delgado and Enicacio Rodriguez.

Green Thumb Area Supervisor Wendy Brown said she visited the museum during one of the luncheons recently "I spoke to several of the participants: Wilson's first mayor, Pat Campbell, and his wife, Wila, were enjoying the meal and the fellowship. Lorraine Crowson's mother, Mrs. Clara Phillips, comes down to the museum for the meal on the days that she feels well enough; otherwise it is delivered to her. Mrs. Gertrude Murray says the meals are great every time and she enjoys the company. Velma Behrend agreed the meals were great. It was her first time to join in. She will be attending again

IN LOWER GRADES

Pupil Standards Go Into Effect

During the spring of 1981, the Tahoka School Board adopted as its goal "no student shall graduate from the Tahoka I.S.D. who cannot read, write, and solve math problems on a set minimum competency level".

Objectives have been set for reading, math and writing, and a minimum competency for promotion from one grade level to the next has been adopted by the Board.

By 1985 all classes in Tahoka public schools will be operating under these minimum standards, which school officials hope will result in higher quality education for all students. The program is being started this year in the lower grades, kindergarten through third grade. Grades 4, 5 and 6 come into the program next year, grades 7-8 must meet the minimum standards in the 1983-84 school year, and grades 9-12 go into the program in 1984-85.

Promotion from one grade level to another will be determined by the mastery of the objectives as set down in reading, math, and written language, as determined by testing of objectives and daily work, said Supt. Jim Coulston.

A child in grades K-3 may be retained a maximum of two years. A child in grades 4-6 may be retained a maximum of two years, he said.

In grades 7-12, promotion will be based solely on the earning of credits to advance to the next grade level in junior high and high school.

All students graduating from the Tahoka I.S.D., beginning in the spring of 1985, will be required to demonstrate mastery of objectives before becoming a candidate for graduation.

"Since the academic success of a student depends upon a close relationship between the parent, student, and the teacher, all parents are encouraged to work closely with the teacher and principal to monitor their child's progress," the superintendent said.

Parents of students in grades K-3 will be given a copy of the objectives to be mastered by their child. A record of a child's progress will be found in his or her report card each six weeks. In addition, parents of students not making satisfactory progress will be notified and an appointment set for the parent and teacher to meet.

All parents having questions regarding the Tahoka I.S.D. minimum competency policy are asked to contact their child's teacher or building principal.

The minimum standards were listed by school officials for each of the classes going into the program next week. For example, before a child can pass kindergarten, he must be able to identify numerals 0-7. There are other math and reading objectives, too.

One of the things a first grader must be able to do before moving on to the second grade is identify and write letters of the alphabet, and identify positions of numbers 1-20 by writing them in order. Second graders must be able to select correct spelling with 60 per cent accuracy.

Among third grade requirements is one which says pupils must be able to describe the value in cents or dollars of all United States currency, and they also must compose three out of four complete sentences using correct punctuation and capitalization.

More Guns Are Stolen

A Tahoka man reported a rifle and a shotgun stolen from his pickup during the last week. Billy Tomlinson, 2022 N. 3rd, said Monday the firearms valued at $290 were taken from a pickup parked at his residence.

Police answered several family disturbance calls and investigated one stabbing incident. The man wounded was treated and released at Lynn County Hospital, but declined to press any charges.

Six tickets were issued for speeding or acceleration, one for illegal turn and one for impeding traffic.

The sheriff's office investigated a report from Lionel Garcia of Wilson Sunday that someone had stolen tires, wheels, battery and other items from his car after it was left by the side of the road on FM 400 north of Wilson because of mechanical trouble. The car also was burned when the owner returned.

One person was jailed for public intoxication.

I FEEL a little like the guy who went to the doctor and told him his side was hurting. "My side hurt like this a couple of years back, and nobody could ever tell me what I had." And the doctor looked him over and told him "You've got it again."

Some time back I wrote about trying to fix a fluorescent light and invited anyone who knew more about it than I did to come around and advise me about what I did wrong. Nobody ever did, but one day I figured it out all by myself. Now another light is doing the same thing, but from my vast wealth of experience I knew what to do: I told somebody else to fix it.

THE POST OFFICE Dept. last week sent out notices to everybody about their new ZIP codes. What they did was add our box numbers to the old ZIP. For folks in towns that have no city delivery, this makes for a really clever address: Joe Smoe, Box 3500, Dullsville, Tx. 79500-3500. Fortunately it isn't mandatory to use all nine digits, but I'm sure they'll try to make it that way, especially when they add four more digits in two or three years.

Some Bible scholars say that in the end times of this earth people will all be numbered instead of named. That trend is very obvious now. The day may come soon when each person is assigned a number when he is born and it will be expanded as he does other things in life, such as change occupations, goes to prison, gets married, or whatever.

Just this week we were notified by the Texas Employment Commission that we have a new number, changed from 732473 to 00-732473-1. And the state also notified us of a new sales tax number. It's enough to drive a person nutty with all those blamed numbers.

If you get a bill each month from Texaco or some other gasoline company, you know what we mean when we say their numbers are the ultimate in being ridiculous. The number on your statement (which they ask that you put on your check and on the envelope) has about 35 digits. Sometimes I write it on the envelope and it always has to turn at the end and go down the side of the envelope.

It gives me a little perverse satisfaction to scrawl those numbers all over the envelope, but their computer could care less.

LYNTEGAR FEAST--The annual Lyntegar Electric Cooperative barbecue last week was held in damp weather at the Tahoka football stadium, but nobody held back from eating on that account. More than 2,300 persons were fed.

WHERE MEALS ARE SERVED--Wilson Mayor Virgil Henderson, Naomi Moore and Lorraine Crowson are shown here at Wilson Museum, where senior citizens now are served meals twice a week.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir: On Saturday evening, Aug. 15, 1981, the fire boys put on a fish supper in the park which was attended by 550 people. The boys had the arrangements well taken care of. We certainly owe them a great thanks for the way it was carried out. There were people all over the place eating and everyone seemed to be having a nice time. These men worked several hours on their own time and I for one was proud of the way the supper went off.

Sherry Etheredge Says...

As computers "invade" many large grocery markets, consumers may need to "adjust" a few shopping habits. Computers may force consumers to rely more heavily on shelf pricing information.

When the computerized pricing system replaces traditional methods, a price scanner reads a code of black and white lines printed on the product which the computer translates into prices.

Members are to take a covered dish.

Mr. and Mrs. Audrey McKee of Houston spent several days with his parents Mr. and Mrs. L.D. McKee last week.

The system offers numerous advantages to the store, but consumers may also benefit from it. Consumers receive a more complete record of everything charged because the computer "prints a note" about each item on the register tape.

Also, check-out should be faster since checkers do not have to ask for prices not marked or remember them. This system also should minimize check-out errors.

And, the system may lower or control prices if the reduced store labor costs are passed on to consumers.

On the other hand, consumers may experience certain concerns when shopping in stores using the computerized system. You can't always be sure of the price of an item until you get to the check-out counter. If the price is not indicated on the product, shelf labeling should provide details.

However, confusion can arise if shelf labeling is missing, inaccurate, or misaligned with the product. Also, discount or sale prices may not be reflected in prices marked. Or, sale prices no longer in effect still may appear on the shelf.

In addition, lack of product labeling may cause greater difficulty for consumers in comparing prices between different products.

To be sure you are charged the correct price for goods purchased, watch the cash register display screen during check-out as each item is scanned. Also, check the detailed register tape when you get home. Report price discrepancies to the checker or store manager.

COMPUTERS CAN HELP YOU GET A HIGH SCHOOL DIPLOMA

Nearly a third of adult Americans lack a high school diploma, latest figures show, but 60 percent of those who seek a high school equivalency diploma pass tests for it on their first try.

For the most recent year that figures are available—1978—more than 392,000 Americans won high school credentials after passing GED tests. The examinations were administered in more than 2,700 centers nationwide.

A typical GED candidate is 25 years old. Five percent of the examinees are 19 years old or younger; 32 percent, 20 to 24; and more than 10 percent, 40 or over. To prepare for the test, help is available at 89 Control Data Learning Centers throughout the country. The company's High School Skills curriculum there complements existing computer course materials for under-achievers and provides new instruction in writing, social studies and science. It can also provide remedial or enrichment aid to elementary, junior high and high school students. Encouraging news for those who want a high school equivalency diploma is that the course, also called the General Educational Development Learning System (GEDLS) can be delivered through the Control Data Learning Center network, in schools and businesses, or in military installations.

For free leaflets about this or other computer-based education programs, write to Control Data Corp., HQA02Q, P.O. Box 0, Minneapolis, MN 55440.

Good beneficial rains have come to all parts of Lynn County. The rains have given the county an opportunity to make an above average crop this year. If mother nature will cooperate with favorable weather the prospects of a bumper crop may be in store.

IRRIGATION EFFICIENCY

Irrigation season in the county has ended for all practicable purposes. But in your spare time take a few minutes to analyze your system.

Here are several clues for spotting an inefficient pumping unit.

1. The water table has declined.
2. Your wells yields have decreased.
3. The well pumps sand, surges, or pumps air bubbles.
4. You are using a squeeze valve or a booster pump.

5. You have changed irrigation distribution systems without modifying your pump.

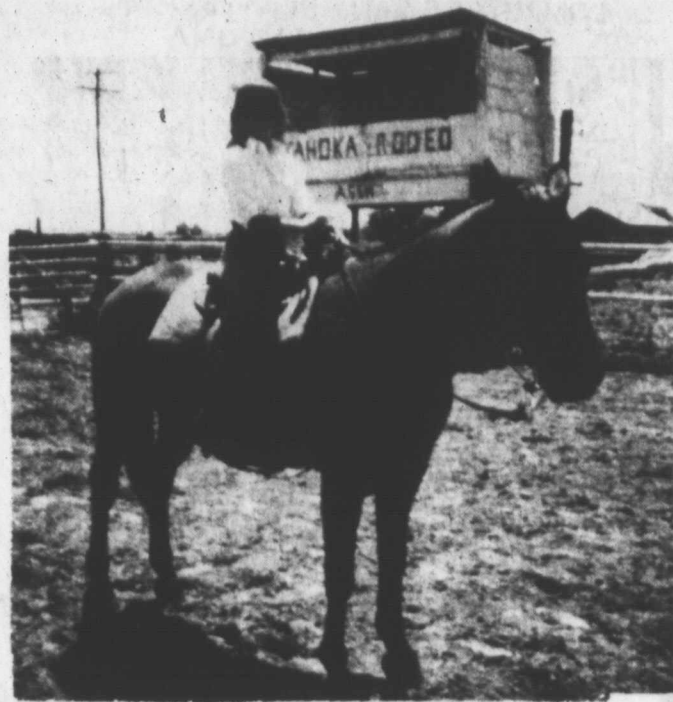

6. The pump has not been serviced or adjusted in over five years.

7. You have connected several wells to one line.

While no pumping plant is 100 percent efficient because of energy losses in the motor or engine and between the drive shaft and pump, performance standards for irrigation pumping units have been established. The standards are as follows:

Power Unit	Attn. Eff.
Electric	66.0%
Natural Gas	17.0%
Gasoline	17.0%
Diesel	20.0%
Propane	19.0%

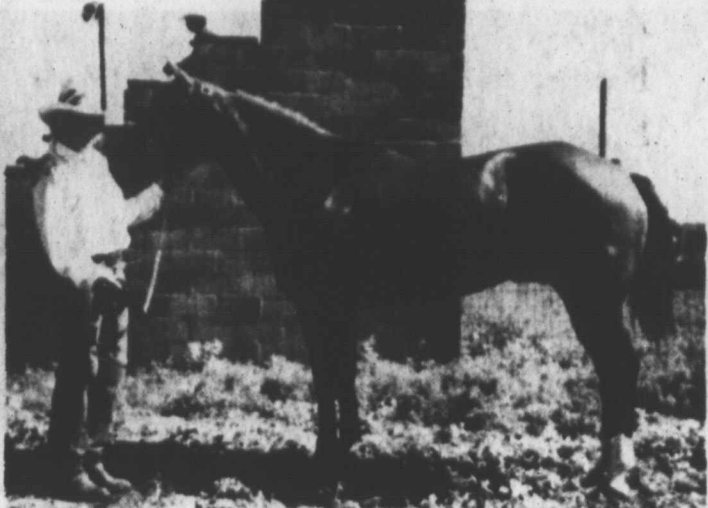

If you suspect your efficiencies do not compare favorably, it would probably pay you to set up your own pumping plan efficiency test. It is not too difficult and it will help you calculate how much energy or fuel your pump is wasting and whether you will benefit by recovering the cost of improvements, repairs, or replacements in a reasonable period of time.

The Extension Service and The Soil Conservation Service in Lynn County can supply details and help make these calculations. The SCS is equipped with equipment supplied by the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 to help determine the various measurements which are required to calculate the overall plant efficiency. I strongly encourage you to take a look at your systems and if you desire, contact either the County Extension Office or the SCS for further help. The time it requires to make these tests could be worth untold savings in improving efficiency, says Stanley Young, County Extension Agent.

(Cont. from Page 1) participants to the doctor, hospital, the postoffice, shopping, to other meetings of Senior Citizens in other towns. Recently, a group was taken to Palo Duro Canyon and to visit the Panhandle-Plains Museum at Canyon. Meals are taken to shut-ins, and house-keeping chores are performed for such shut-in unable to do their own work who have no one else to do such work.

Help On Problems

A Community Service advisor is available to help senior citizens solve almost any problem. The Department of Human Resources and the Department of Health are available to help, as is the Home Makers Department. Medical, hearing, and blood pressure checks may be given periodically. A social security man comes once a month to offer his services.

Each month a birthday party is given for those whose birthdays fall within the month. Each first Monday, there is a singing, and religious services are held each week. Other programs are arranged periodically.

At 12:45 p.m. following each luncheon, usually there is a program of interest, followed by dominoes, and other games.

Mrs. Barham said there are an estimated 1,600 senior citizens in Lynn County, and so far 793 people have been interviewed to determine their needs with a view to helping them in their declining years.

The senior citizens building was donated to the Pioneer Club by the Primitive Baptist Church, and it has been remodeled, added to and furnished by the Club. Citizens

Sales Tax Rebate Told

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said August city sales tax rebate checks to 952 Texas cities will total $95.8 million. This month's payment brings the cities' year-to-date totals to $439.3 million compared to $392.9 million during a comparable period in 1980.

On a statewide average, sales tax payments are up this year by nearly 12 percent over 1980, according to Bullock.

Bullock said the August payments include quarterly payments from merchants and businesses for the year's second quarter.

City sales taxes are collected along with the state's sales tax by merchants and businesses and rebated monthly by the Comptroller's office to the cities in which they are levied.
