Long Pass Play Wins For Dogs

By DALTON WOOD
It wasn't exactly an artistic performance, but the Tahoka Bulldogs won anyway last Friday night at Stanton.

Coach A.D. Shaver's 1981 Bulldogs managed to come from behind in the final three minutes to win the game 14-10 on a moonball pass play that covered 71 yards, compensating for fumbling the ball away twice deep in their own territory to give Stanton easy scores.

Both teams had problems holding onto the ball and getting their offenses untracked. Blocking was about what could be expected for the first game of the season. But it was good for the Dogs to win their first opener over Stanton in three seasons. This week Tahoka hosts Seminole, which lost 46-16 to powerful Class AAAA Andrews last week.

Tahoka scored first in the first period after a punt snap went over the head of the Stanton punter and the Dogs took over on the Buffaloes' 30. Halfback James Wells scooted 13 yards and then Quarterback Mark Hudlin kept the ball, ran left, and cut inside a block to go 16 yards for the TD. Hudlin also kicked point to make it 7-0 with 4:45 left in the period. Stanton drove back down to the Tahoka 30, but good defensive plays by Greg Curry, Jeff Jennings and Richard Payne stopped the Buff drive there.

Gift To Stanton

In the second quarter, though, Hudlin fumbled and Rocky Barnes of Stanton recovered at the Tahoka 7. Two plays later Kevin Newman scored from the 5 and tackle Scott Church's kick tied the game at 7-7. This was less than a minute deep into the second quarter. Stanton recovered a fumbled punt by Willie Ray Mitchell on the Tahoka 16 in the second quarter, but this time couldn't score, and a field goal try was short, with Wells running it back 47 yards to the Tahoka 47. It was still 7-7 at halftime.

The third quarter was scoreless, too, although Tahoka recovered a fumble on the Buff 26.

Stanton took the lead in the fourth period on a nice 37-yard field goal by the 235-pound Church. The Buffs had moved downfield on a 29-yard pass play plus some short runs, but Tahoka held at the 20, forcing the field goal.

Punt Blocked

Stanton took over again in Dogland at the 37 after Tony Garcia's punt try was blocked. Tahoka held on downs as Stanton went for a first with fourth and about a foot at the Tahoka 29, and didn't make it. There was 2:45 left in the game when Hudlin lofted a high one out into right field, and Thompson came back to catch the ball on about the Buffalo 30, and then ran away from the defenders to score the winning touchdown, a 71-yard play. Hudlin kicked the point and time ran out on Stanton before the Buffs could score again, although they did put together a couple of first downs.

Hudlin ran for 52 yards in 8 carries and completed 3 of 8 passes for 77 yards. Thompson gained 48 yards rushing in 12 attempts, and caught the big fourth-quarter pass. Wells gained 35 yards in 6 carries, and Johnny Alvarado had 21 yards in 5 trips.

On defense Alvarado at middle linebacker was in on quite a few tackles and good defensive work was turned in by End Daniel Garcia. Payne at tackle and Marcus Del Toro in the secondary.

Collision Here Is Investigated

Tahoka police investigated a two vehicle accident at the intersection of N. 1st and Ave. O on Sunday. Involved in the smashup were Jerry Pebsworth driving a 70 Chevrolet pickup and Billy Miller, behind the wheel of a 77 Chevrolet pickup. The accident between the two vehicles included three passengers. All five were taken to the hospital for observation. Arnetta Miller was hospitalized with a broken collar bone and she remained in Lynn County Hospital Tuesday. All involved were from Tahoka.

Police also answered two reports of fighting during the past week. One family disturbance call was answered and a call was answered for loud noise during the night. One ticket was issued for exhibition of acceleration.

The owner of an insurance agency in Tahoka told police this week he would sign complaints from now on against any persons parking on his parking lot or otherwise trespassing on his property after 5 p.m. in the evenings. Robert Harvick, owner of the agency on north Main, said prosecution for trespassing on private property would be enforced. Lubbock Police Dept. Tuesday arrested a man driving a

City's Finances In Better Shape

Joe Hays presented the Tahoka City Council with a report of the audit of city finances, and it was approved Monday night. The audit generally shows that the city's financial position is better than it was a year ago in all areas of operation, the council noted.

Edward Bartley, representing the Cemetery Association, met with the council and pointed out that at the present trend, there will be no more space available in the cemetery in about three years. The council agreed with Bartley's suggestion to look into the possibility of acquiring more land adjacent to the present cemetery.

The 1981 tax rate was set at 49 cents, with operation and maintenance set at 42 cents and 7 cents to be set aside for interest and sinking fund to retire the $175,000 general obligation bonds for street resurfacing voted by the citizens in February 1981. There was no increase in the tax rate except for the 7 cents.

Three resolutions related to the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program were approved.

A limit of 150 persons in the community center at any time was set by the council following recommendations of the fire marshal who said the center had sometimes had more people than the state guidelines allow in a building of that size for adequate fire safety.

Plans and specifications for water and sewer improvements in the CDBG area were approved, with bid date set for Oct. 5. This work will be paid for out of the $2.25 million federal grant approved last May for Tahoka. The water-sewer work will be in the specified areas of south and east Tahoka.

All councilmen except Jim Solomon were present.

Manager Describes Current City Projects

City of Tahoka's current improvement operations were detailed in a talk by Carl Reynolds, city administrator, in a talk before the Rotary Club last Thursday noon.

The three areas of operation are those supported by local taxes, those established by revenue bonds, and improvements made from Federal grand funds.

The $175,000 general obligation bonds recently voted make possible renovating paved streets over a three-year period. Some of these streets, which have had no major repairs or resurfacing in many years have worn badly.

Student Expelled After Incident

A 15-year-old Tahoka High School sophomore accused of making a threat to "cut" high school Principal Jim Marcus and also accused of using abusive and profane language to Marcus and other teachers was expelled from school for the rest of the current year in an action by the Tahoka school board last Thursday night.

In accordance with the school's written policies, a hearing was held on the charges at a special meeting of the board at which the dismissed student and his parents were invited.

The boy, his father, and an older sister attended. Board members present were Bob Haney, Joe Hays, Jay Dee House, Joe Brooks, Bettye Green and Jim Wells. Absent was Tommy Lawson.

Principal Heard

According to Marcus, the student became belligerent with a woman teacher, on Aug. 28, refused to go into the principal's office, used foul language which another teacher said she and her entire class overheard, and threatened to cut the principal, although Marcus said the boy did not display any knife or other weapon.

Before the vote, the boy's father said he regretted there had been so much trouble, and said he would like for the boy to go to some other school. "I think he's too young to be on the streets, but I don't think he can do any good in school here," the man said.

The board went into closed session and then voted in open meeting to expel the youth. The vote was unanimous.

Options Cited

Supt. Jim Coulston explained to the group that anytime a threat is made to any school employee, it could be turned over to outside authorities for possible action. The board did not elect to do this, but did vote for expulsion.

After the vote, the boy's father said he had no questions, and the youth's sister said "We can accept this if we know the same rules apply to all the other students." Haney replied "I can assure you that they do."

Grant Authority to administer the work program.

Area Defined

Included in this program will be a Government approved area which includes most of South Tahoka, as well as the southeast area across the railroad, and the northeast area west of the compress.

Included in the project will be more paving, $125,000 for a water collection system and lift station, $71,500 for water lines and fire hydrants, and $800,000 for rehabilitation of sub-standard housing for low-income people. Families who can qualify will have their homes improved, and some so-called shacks may be demolished.

This federal program will finance all costs, and no city tax money will be involved. The program should furnish a lot of labor and be a help to local business economy, as well as improve the town's appearance and living conditions of many families, Reynolds said.

However, although the grant has already been approved, it could possibly be delayed by President Reagan's government economy program.

Joe Hays presided at the meeting in absence of the club president, and Harold Green arranged the program.

I DON'T KNOW who did it, but somebody sent me three copies of a publication called Texas Illustrated, described as a "magazine of history and folklore." I don't know when we got it, but I noticed it the other day over there on that little table where we pile up everything we don't know what to do with.

Actually, we only put on that table the things left over after there is no more room on the desk of our number one office person. We try to put everything we can on her desk. Lately, though, she has been putting some of it back on my desk, and we're spending a good deal of time around here moving things from one desk to the other.

Anyway, this publication looks like it has some interesting things in it, only I don't have time to read them. Judging from a letter I found stuck inside one issue, I assume whoever sent those things wants me to agree to make regular inserts of them in this newspaper. This I won't do, for at least three reasons: (1) I would have to pay for the supplement every week; (2) it would cost me a lot more postage to mail the thing; and (3) my employes don't like to stuff inserts into newspapers. That last one is not so much a factor as the first two.

There are articles about horses, hunting, and all kinds of folksy tales about the old days in Texas and elsewhere. History doesn't interest me much. I have a hard time remembering what happened anywhere yesterday.

THERE'S A NEW magazine being published for folks in the $150,000 per year income bracket. You can't buy it or subscribe to it, though. They just send it free to folks who qualify.

The publisher said the other day (in Houston) that they get their names from country club lists and other sources. I got news for them. Lots of folks who belong to country clubs don't make $150,000 per year. But maybe they have other ways of finding out how much people make, such as a spy in the Internal Revenue Service office.

The magazine, called Ultra, makes its money from advertising placed by businesses which cater to expensive tastes.

They haven't sent me my copy yet. But they will, as soon as they decide to send it to people who maybe don't make that much a year, but who need to.

THE NEW ENERGY FRONTIER: Coal. America's new energy frontier. Black Thunder Coal Mine near Gillette, Wyoming, sits on part of 50 billion tons. Tapping this huge new reserve of raw energy is a job that takes a combination of resources and pioneering spirit. The kind that fuels booms of opportunity. And we're here helping.

Last year, 3 million tons of this coal was used as fuel to make electricity at Southwestern Public Service power plants. Coal is being used more now because other fuels cost too much.

In Wyoming alone, there's enough coal that some areas of Black Thunder won't be mined until the year 2013. That's a lot of electricity. Coal. It's good to know there are some things you can depend on.

Selective Service Posts Registrants

A list of Selective Service registrants born in 1962 and the first part of 1963 has been posted in the Lynn County Courthouse.

According to Colonel Paul Dean Aiken, the State Director of Selective Service for Texas, the Military Selective Service Act requires that the names of Selective Service registrants be posted in a public place within each local board area.

Local Board tentative assignments have been made based upon the Zip Code of the registrants permanent home address.

Colonel Aikin says the law (the Military Selective Service Act) still requires all young men to register with Selective Service at age 18.

Currently, men born in 1963 are required to register within 30 days after their 18th birthday. Registration forms may be completed at any United States Post Office.

If any young man failed to register on time, he may clear his record by registering as soon as possible.

Student Council Making Plans For School Year

The Council has ordered the marquee for the school, and it should be ready the first of Oct. It is being purchased from the South Plains Monument Co. in Lubbock. Because of the high cost of the project, it has been a two-year council project.

The council has already held its annual Teacher's Breakfast on Aug. 21 and helped with registration in junior high and high school on Aug. 20.

Officers for the 1981-82 year are Roddy Williams, president; Tony Garcia, vice-president; Marci Miller, secretary; Kim Bass, treasurer; Dawn Pierce, reporter; and Baking cookies for occasional snacks -- and want to save most for later?

Freeze them, suggests Dr. Cass Ryan-Crowe. After baking, simply cool the cookies and place them in an airtight container or freezer wrap, and freeze them. They'll stay fresh for as long as one year, she says.

Cutting the personal tax rate could fight inflation and make our economic lives a little easier.

Washington wants to know

How would you like to tell the people in Washington how to run the country? You can. In fact, you should.

In a democracy it's your right and duty to write to your congressman and senator and let them know your opinion of a law--or lack of law--in any area that concerns you. You can reach your congressman at the House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515 and your senators at the U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510.

One issue many Americans are concerned and communicating to their representatives about is taxation.

The president and chief executive officer of a major American company recently had some things to say on that subject that many voters--and taxpayers--have found interesting. The executive was J. Peter Grace, head of W.R. Grace & Co., an international chemical company with growing interests in related natural resources and selected consumer products and services. With operations in 40 countries and 45 states, Grace ranks among the world's largest industrial organizations.

Grace suggested we ask the government to cut the personal tax rate to 36 percent, adjust all personal and corporate profits for inflation before taxing and eliminate the capital gains tax. This, he said, could help increase productivity, savings and investment in America; fight inflation and make our economic lives a little easier.

He points out that the higher taxes are, the less people save, and Americans save a smaller percentage of their disposable personal income than any other major industrial country. Between our inflation rate

Congressmen and Senators are very interested in reading letters from constituents.

Eliminating the capital gains tax could help increase productivity, savings and investment in America.

of 13% and a capital gains tax of 28 percent, $10,000 wisely invested to yield a 50 percent profit results, after about seven years, in a 100 percent loss of your principal in real terms! If you make a 100 percent profit, you lose 70 percent of your principal, and a 150 percent profit means a 33 percent loss of principal.

The growth in personal income between 1973 and 1978 was 14 percent better than the growth rate in the five years 1968 to 1973; but the growth rate in real disposable personal income--at least after taxes and inflation--was 38 percent worse. In 1972, the median income for a family of four was $11,152. That was $9,699 in real, after-tax income. In 1979, median income rose to $18,467--but the real, after-tax income measured in 1972 dollars was only $8,904: actually a drop in real income of 8.2 percent! According to the Internal Revenue Service, 91.8 percent of the income and 82.2 percent of taxes are found at or below the 36 percent tax rate.

And if the maximum tax rate is reduced from 70 to 36 percent, Grace says, a mere 3.1 percent increase in national income would offset the effect on government revenues.

What do you think of these suggested tax reforms? Should high tax rates reduce our disposable income and standard of living? Washington wants to know.

Festival chairmen this week urged those persons and organizations planning booths to go ahead and contact booth chairman Vickie Summitt at 998-4263 or 998-5128, since booths are allotted on a first come-first served basis.

All persons involved in the festival are asked to meet at Lyntegar Meeting Room at 8 p.m. today (Thursday), when more details of the events will be discussed, according to co-chairman of the festival Nadine Dunlap.

Those planning to enter teams in bicycle races are asked to contact Wesley Boone, 998-5297, regarding the men's race, or June Brooks, 998-4426, on the women's race.

Congressional Comment

WASHINGTON, D.C. — unified farm program that positively affects the agricultural market is in Congress goes back into session this week and attention will turn to specifics on the appropriations agenda. Speculation is high that the omnibus farm bill will be returned to the Agriculture Committee for revisions before being presented to the full House for vote.

A mandatory, across-the-board set aside for all major commodities, preferably tied to the carry-over level of each crop, is definitely called for when we look at an anticipated wheat harvest of 2.75 million bushels this year, a 16 percent increase over last year's record crop; 14.8 million bales of cotton, 33 percent over last year; and 7.73 billion bushels of corn, a 16 percent increase.

I'd go even further and point to the lack of a set aside as one of the principle reasons we are faced with overstocks and weakened markets today. For the past two years, I, along with almost every other farm spokesman in the country, have tried to convince U.S. Department of Agriculture officials of the need for such a program, but with little success. Our farmers are now reaping the harvest of the decision not to call for a set aside for the 1980 and 1981 crop years, a decision that I told then-Secretary of Agriculture Bergland was a "highly risky policy for the American farmer." I cautioned Secretary Block and the present Administration that the risk is now even greater. A preliminary announcement for wheat was made last week, but until details are known, it is difficult to know if this will be effective.

Let me explain with a simple example:

At the beginning of the month, a grocer anticipates his customers' needs, studies wholesale prices, and orders 20 bushels of apples. But, by the end of the month, the shoppers have only bought 15 bushels of the apples and the rest are beginning to get a little mushy, so the grocer will put the last five bushels on sale before the whole barrel begins to rot. You can be sure that the next time he goes to buy fruit, he'll consider buying fewer apples, not putting all 20 bushels on sale the first day of the month for less than he just paid for them.

Why, then, is the American wheat producer, or cotton farmer, or grain farmer or corn grower expected to be able to survive economically by paying through the nose for all he has to have to grow those crops, producing all that he possibly can, and then throwing every single bushel of his crop on the market at the beginning of harvest at less than it cost him to grow it in the first place?

The comparison of the two situations — the farmer and the grocer — fails, of course, when you take into consideration that a single farmer, making similar marketing decisions as the grocer, cannot possibly affect the national or world commodity market by his single action. The task of a farm policy built around the concept of a mandatory set aside to cut production levels and a loan rate sufficient to encourage orderly marketing throughout the sales year, is just good business sense.

At the other end of the farm production chain, similar business decisions are now being made by some equipment suppliers. As one industrial leader said, "When you've got high inventories to the degree this industry does, and your markets are weak, the only way to liquidate inventories is to cut production."

It just makes sense that the same holds true for agricultural commodities.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — unified farm program that positively affects the agricultural market is in governmental hands.

Congress goes back into session this week and attention will turn to specifics on the appropriations agenda. Speculation is high that the omnibus farm bill will be returned to the Agriculture Committee for revisions before being presented to the full House for vote.

One of the top items to be considered in that revision, in my opinion, is mandating a set aside program for farm commodities when carry over supplies are too large. These decisions should not be made based on the whims of the Secretary of Agriculture or the Director of the Office of Management and Budget, but instead based on hard numbers.

Let me explain with a simple example:

Farm policy built around the concept of a mandatory set aside to cut production levels and a loan rate sufficient to encourage orderly marketing throughout the sales year, is just good business sense.

At the other end of the farm production chain, similar business decisions are now being made by some equipment suppliers. As one industrial leader said, "When you've got high inventories to the degree this industry does, and your markets are weak, the only way to liquidate inventories is to cut production."

It just makes sense that the same holds true for agricultural commodities.

Banvel herbicide can beat any bindweed it tangles with.

When it comes to controlling bindweed and tough perennial weeds, nothing offers the advantages of Banvel® herbicide.

Every year, perennial weed problems such as bindweed, blueweed, lakeweed and silverleaf nightshade become more of a problem—proof that past control measures have not been doing their job. Turn to Banvel herbicide to stop spreading perennial weed problems.

An application of Banvel herbicide after harvest kills tough perennial weeds before they can go into winter remission. Banvel tackles bindweed and other perennial weeds on stubble... fallow or other cropland.

You can apply Banvel this season—and still return land to production on schedule. (See the Banvel label for application rates and instructions.)

Bindweed, blueweed, lakeweed and silverleaf nightshade need not take over your fields. Check its proven results... check its reasonable cost... And you'll ask for Banvel herbicide.

COTTON TODAY

A NATIONAL COTTON COUNCIL SERVICE

NCC OPPOSES QUOTA HIKE: The National Cotton Council has strongly urged Administration officials to oppose any increase in the quota on imports of raw cotton from Mexico. The proposal to raise the current quota from 18,507 bales to 200,000 reportedly has been under consideration by officials of the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture and the Dept. of Commerce since Mexico's president, Jose Lopez Portillo, met with President Ronald Reagan in June. Mexico's request was made public only this week. This issue is expected to be brought up again by Mexican Commerce Secretary Jorge de la Vega at a meeting Sept. 21-22 with Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige and Special Trade Representative Bill Brock in Mexico City.

Council President Frank M. Mitchener Jr., wired Agricultural Secretary John R. Block and warned that deficiency payments to cotton producers could be triggered unless the Administration quickly rejects Mexico's request. He pointed out that the August price received by farmers (67.8) was below cotton's 70.87 target price.

The current quota level of 18,507 bales written into Section 22 of the Agriculture Adjustment Act of 1933, has remained unchanged since the early 1940's. It can be changed by the President on a recommendation of the Secretary of Agriculture and the International Trade Commission, after public hearings to determine whether a new quota level would disrupt the U.S. cotton program.

COUNCIL DIRECTORS TO MEET: Topics ranging from clean air to taxes are on the agenda for the National Cotton Council's fall board meeting Sept. 17 at the Peabody Hotel in Memphis, Tenn. J.S. Francis Jr., chairman of the industry-wide task force on clean air, will outline the latest developments in that area.

Other reports will cover cotton's supply and market outlook, cotton dust, packaging standards, foreign operations, tax law, and Washington activities.

A highlight of the session will be special recognition of surviving members and advisors of the Committee on Organization, who met at the Peabody 43 years ago to form the Council. Board Chairman Herman Probst of Anson, Texas, will preside.

YIELDS COULD CUT GROWERS' COSTS: An expected Beltwide improvement in 1981 cotton yields points to the strong possibility of a lower per-pound production cost, National Cotton Council economists say. The U.S. Dept. of Agriculture has projected that cotton's per-acre cost would rise 16 percent over 1981, but if yields average 517 pounds per planted acre as currently expected, the per-pound production cost -- after adjustment for seed value -- would run around 65 cents, excluding returns to land and management. This would be about 13 cents below the figure in 1980, when yields were poor.

Sorghum Producers To Elect Directors

Four directors will be elected to the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board in an election which is currently underway. Ballots have been mailed to grain sorghum producers throughout the 29-county TGSPB area of the Texas High Plains.

Every two years, the terms of four members of the Board expire. Current members whose term end this year are: Ralph Mabry of Lubbock; K.B. Parish, Springlake; C.P. Smith, Hale Center and Larry Witten, Olton. All are incumbent candidates. A fifth nominee on the ballot is Bob Gillispie of Gruver in Hansford County.

All grain sorghum producers within the 29-county area of the Texas High Plains are eligible to vote.

The biennial election deadline is Sept. 15, 1981.

GTE Begins Construction In Tahoka

General Telephone forces have begun initial construction work to provide additional aerial cable facilities in the north and west sections of Tahoka. The project was designed and will be constructed to meet present and projected requirements, according to the company's division manager, O.D. Hearn. The company will be replacing approximately 150 wood poles and will construct over five miles of new aerial cable on the project, he added.

"This project is a major step in meeting our commitments to the customers of Tahoka and is a part of our continuing program of service improvement throughout the company," Hearn stated.

Tahoka has more than 2,100 telephones in service and is one of 29 exchanges in the company's Brownfield division.

Beset by low prices, high and rising production costs, insects, weather, an unsympathetic atmosphere in Washington and a myriad of other problems, farmers and farm writers have little time to worry about inequities in the Social Security system.

But farmers have no choice but to pay self-employment taxes and Social Security taxes on their employees, making its viability one of their legitimate concerns. At least that is the strong opinion of Cecil Williams, Executive Vice President of the Agricultural Council of Arkansas (ACA), and officials of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, are in full agreement.

Williams, based in West Memphis, Arkansas, hasn't offered any solutions. However he has pointed out to his members that about the only contacts reaching the Arkansas congressional delegation regarding Social Security have been from people complaining that benefits may be cut. This leaves the impression he believes those paying Social Security benefits, including farmers, should be firing their own salvos of complaints. And he has ferreted out an armory of ammunition, some of which follows.

Social Security, contrary to what the multitudes have been led to believe since the program's inception, is a pay-as-you-go system, not a trust fund in the true meaning of the term. "This year's taxes pay for this year's benefits -- or almost," Williams says.

Today just three working people support each retiree, and by the time post World War II babies reach retirement age there will be only two workers supporting each retiree.

Congressmen and other Federal employees pay no Social Security taxes, which prompts Williams to suggest this question: "If 83 percent of Social Security benefits are now direct welfare payments, as stated by Enterprise News Service of Washington, D.C., then why shouldn't congressmen and government workers pay Social Security taxes along with the other 90 percent of the work force?"

Business pays over half of the Social Security bill. Social Security is usually thought of as a tax on workers to help pay for their retirement. But every penny of Social Security taxes paid by an employee is matched by a business, the owners of which also pay self-employment tax.

Stating that the "heaviest burden is yet to come," the ACA executive makes the point that both employees and self-employed retiring in 1981 will receive more benefits in less than three years than the maximum they could have paid in taxes.

And, there's more, much more, to illustrate the fiscal depravity of Social Security. For copies of Williams' full writings on the subject, write to Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., P.O. Box 3640, Lubbock TX 79452.

SCS NEWS

The most comprehensive appraisal ever conducted of the nation's soil and water resources is now available for reference in local offices of the USDA Soil Conservation Service (SCS) and the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service offices (ASCS).

Eual Davis, SCS district conservationist at Tahoka said that the appraisal--which was called for by the Soil and Water Resources Conservation Action of 1977 (RCA)--reveals that soil erosion is critical in many important farming areas of the United States. If continued, Davis said, these high erosion rates will reduce the future ability of the country to produce food and fiber. He added that upstream flood damage and other resource losses also are likely to increase if current trends continue.

These documents replace earlier drafts of the RCA appraisal. Extensive public comments on the drafts are reflected in the final appraisal. Limited numbers of copies will be available in each SCS state office for use by interested individuals and groups.

A recommended observation program of the Secretary of Agriculture, which will be based on the appraisal and on public response to earlier RCA draft documents, will be released for public comment this fall.

Texas Cattle Feeders Cut Inventory 10 Percent

AUSTIN--With tickle consumer demand and expensive borrowed money continuing to plague the industry, Texas cattle feeders have cut their inventories 10 percent from a year ago.

"Cattlemen don't control the Federal Reserve Board, so they can't lower interest rates, but they certainly are working to boost consumer demand," according to Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown. "In recent years, beef producers have watched their markets erode and their losses mount. But we are pinning high hopes on a new voluntary collection program to help fund national programs of beef promotion and market development."

The plan is endorsed by the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, the Independent Cattlemen's Association, the Texas Farm Bureau, Livestock Marketing Association of Texas and the Texas Cattle Feeders Association. Cattle industry leaders in Texas have decided to support the fund with a purely voluntary "checkoff" of 25 cents each time an animal is sold. Twenty other states have or are planning to institute the 25-cent checkoff, two have gone to 50 cents, and one state to a dollar.

"Every concerned cattleman should support this self-help program, because we must ask ourselves, 'If not now, when? If not us, who?'" Brown said.

The Aug. 1 Cattle on Feed Report, in addition to a 10-percent drop in feedlot numbers, revealed July placements totaling 280,000 head, a 24-percent drop from a year ago. Placements were down 10 percent from June. Marketings, too, were down 10 percent from a year ago and down three percent from the previous month.

Nationwide, cattle on feed were down six percent from 1980.

The Cattle on Feed Report is issued by the Texas Cattle and Livestock Reporting Service.

Bountiful Grain Crops Result of Adequate Rain

AUSTIN—A record wheat crop and significant increases in other major grains, cotton and summer food crops are the result of adequate rains this growing season, a big difference from last year when drought was killing crops across the state.

Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said that the Aug. 12 estimates for southern and northeastern part of the state. "Grain sorghum production, which has been declining in the past few years moved up by almost 30 million hundredweight over last year. Planted acreage was the same; however, the yield is projected to increase this year by 448 pounds per acre. Total production is estimated at 130,032,000 hundredweight.

Brown said that although corn acres had declined by 200,000 from last year, total production has a preliminary estimate of 131,250,000 bushels, 14 million over last year.

"These large grain crops are going to affect market prices for farmers, and we want to make a concerted effort to get and keep prices up to profitable levels," Brown said. "With the high value of the dollar in the export market, some of our sales in Europe and Asia have been crippled, but Texas grain is needed in these areas and we hope to keep our shipments moving."

"The same problem of higher cost for foreign buyers is present in the cotton trade.

We are going to have a bigger crop than last year and export sales have been sporadic this year," Brown said.

Acreage in cotton actually decreased this year to 7,400,000, but production is estimated at 5,400,000 bales, 2.2 million over 1980. An increase in yield is also found in the cotton estimates. Farmers expect to get an average of 365 pounds per acre, contrasted to 233 last year.

Other grain and food crops show increased estimates: barley, 2,100,000 bushels; oats, 18,860,000 bushels; rice, 26,415,000 hundredweight; and soybeans, 16,250,000 bushels.

Sweet potato production is up to 741,000 hundredweight. Summer white potato harvest is somewhat lower at 1,495,000 hundredweight; however, planted acreage was down by 1,400 acres. Yields increased 30 pounds per acre. "Hay production is higher for all types and should replenish the supplies which were pretty well depleted last year with all the required feeding for livestock," Brown said.

INGENIOUS IDEAS DEPT.

Before long, when you're in a restaurant, the waiter may actually wire your food and drink order to the kitchen and the bar. The key is a new calculator-size terminal developed by Siemens, the West German electrical/electronics company.

Tastefully computed: In some fine European restaurants, waiters will be equipped with electronic terminals that take your order. The result is often faster, better service.

The orders are entered into the terminal by the waiter and transmitted by means of infrared light—just like in the remote control units of television sets. The data is received by "collectors," located, for instance, in the ceiling of the restaurant as receiver stations.

From there, the data is passed along cables to a computer where they are processed and distributed to the kitchen and bar. The waiter may find the food or drink waiting for him by the time he gets back. Or, the computer can signal back to the waiter if the kitchen is "out" of a certain dish.

The computer can also print the bill so the waiter can present it with the dessert or after-dinner drinks. The system is now being tested in Germany. Siemens is represented in the United States by Siemens Corporation with headquarters in Iselin, N.J.

Chemists develop high octane fuel from wood residues

COLLEGE STATION — A high octane fuel that may be better than gasoline has been produced from waste products generated in the effort to turn pine and other forest residues into liquid fuel.

Dr. Ed Soltes, a wood chemist and leader of a research team at Texas A&M University's Forest Science Laboratory, said his group has taken the process of making fuel from plants one step further by turning the by-products of the fuel-making process into still more fuel.

The research, sponsored by the Texas A&M Center for Energy and Mineral Resources and the U.S. Department of Agriculture, greatly improves the technological feasibility and possibly the cost-effectiveness of producing liquid engine fuels from plants, Soltes said.
