ON NOV. 3, which is pretty soon now, Texans are supposed to go to the polls to vote on seven proposed constitutional amendments. Most average citizens who can't or won't understand what the amendments are all about will either ignore the election and not bother to vote or will go to vote against all of the amendments on the general principle that every time the legislature passes a new law, it causes more trouble for the average citizen.

Now if anyone thinks I'm going to make it easier for you to decide on the different amendments by telling you how to vote, forget it. I've heard a few things about some of the amendments and I still don't know whether I'm for or against most of them.

The one I've heard the most about is Amendment 4, which most folks in this area appear to support as one which could help the water situation in West Texas. It makes possible the creation of a water bond guaranty program which should make funding of water projects possible, say supporters. I got a half pound of mail this week from a group called "Water for Texas" urging folks to vote for No. 4. In the same mail I got a 5-page sermon against the amendment from some guy in Austin who says the amendment would result in massive state debt, new taxes and is a violation of the "pay-as-you-go principle." Only he spelled it "principal".

I think I'll vote for it. Amendment 6 would authorize (but not require) taxing jurisdictions (school, city, county) to grant homestead exemptions up to 40 per cent of market value of the homes. At first look, this sounds good to us homeowners, but any such exemptions in addition to what homesteads get already would mean someone else has to take up the slack, and besides, these governing bodies can't grant the exemptions unless they are in good financial shape, which they mostly ain't.

I'll probably vote against it and against No. 5, exempting poultry and livestock from taxes. I don't know much about No. 1, 2, and 3, so likely will vote against them also. As I understand No. 7, I likely will vote for it (supposedly this would allow the state to use some veterans land money it can't use now because of the interest rate situation).

If anyone is using this as a guide, please keep in mind that I often discover later that I voted the wrong way on proposed amendments.

The amendment I'm looking for is one to do away with all property taxes in this county and levy and additional 2-cent sales tax on everything (no exemptions), with the money to be held by me and dispersed to the county, cities and school districts as I see fit.

I will mail them an annual check from my place in Rio de Janerio.

THE LUBBOCK Landslide-Diary reported the other day that there is a shortage of pennies over most of the country, and that it is beginning to be noticed in the Lubbock area. Most of us maybe haven't noticed the shortage of pennies, but dollars seem pretty hard to come by.

Anyway, the story said there are not enough pennies in circulation because people are hoarding them, apparently something that started back when silver and gold prices went up, and folks thought copper would be next. That's what the story said, but I can give them another reason for people hoarding pennies.

We have some pennies in a jar somewhere around the house, and the reason we started saving them was not because of copper prices or anything like that. It was simply that they won't buy anything, so we just got in the habit of throwing them into the jar.

We saved them for a couple of years, but haven't put any into the jar in months now. This makes building one's fortune a very slow process. Last time I counted them, we had 37 cents.

Marquee Donated To School

THE Student Councils for two years have been collecting funds to purchase the granite marquee now seen in front of the high school. The sign was designed by last year's council and was purchased from South Plains Monument Co. in Lubbock. The 60 x 48 x 6 piece of granite weighs approximately 1500 lbs. It was delivered and set in place by the monument co.

All of the foundation and brick work was done by Supt. Jim Coulston and Business Mgr. David Roberson. They donated their time and talents to the project.

Council members who worked for the project in 1980-81 are as follows: Randall Stotts, Curt Terry, Lani Brown, Kim Bass, Cindy Lawson, Connie Chambers, Marci Miller, Jhoni Curry, Kurt McMillan, Rajeania House, Greg Curry, Thomas Young, Sylvia Saldana and Steve Pierce. The 1981-82 council members are Roddy Williams, Tony Garcia, Marci Miller, Kim Bass, Les'lie Valentine, Dawn Pierce, Rajeania House, Barbara Owen, Jhoni Curry, Thomas Young, Pam Ashcraft, Lela Bailey, Steve Pierce, Delia Riojas, Marla Huffaker and Kimberly McMillan.

Thomas Young has served as chairman of this project for two years and Mrs. Jody Roberson is the council sponsor.

"A lot of the credit for the sign goes to the community," said Mrs. Roberson. "It is true that the students put in their time and effort to work on money-making projects, but it is also true that it was the community money that supported these projects. And for that reason, I feel that all of Tahoka should be proud of the marquee."

School Okays Four Transfers

Transfer of four children of Mr. and Mrs. Ysidio Gonzalez in the Tahoka school district from the Wilson district was approved by Tahoka school board last Thursday.

In an usually short meeting of about an hour and a half, the board also selected Roy Stephens to represent the school on the Lynn County Tax Appraisal Board, voted to change the board meeting time to 7:30 p.m. starting in November, and approved Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Jack Norwood as substitute teachers.

NEW MARQUEE--A new granite marquee is now in place in front of Tahoka High School, donated by student councils of the last two years. Shown here around the marquee are this year's council members.

Thanksgiving Dinner Due

The annual Thanksgiving Dinner sponsored by Tahoka Chamberettes will be on Sunday, Nov. 15, at the school cafeteria. It was announced this week. Tickets will be $4 for adults and $2 for children under 10.

Cakes will be donated for the event, with serving to start at noon. Anyone wishing to donate any food items or wishing to help is asked to contact any Chamberette member or call the Chamber office.

Proceeds will be used to start a fund for renovation of the old Keltner Hotel building, which recently was dominated to the Chamber. At a meeting last week, Chamberettes also discussed plans for serving the Dec. 15 Chamber membership meeting at the Methodist Church. Tickets for that noon meeting will be $3 per plate.

YH To Sponsor Rabies Clinic

The Tahoka Young Homemakers will sponsor their annual rabies clinic Saturday, Oct. 24, from 9 to 12. Dr. Farr from the South Plains Veterinary Clinic in Slaton will be on hand to administer rabies shots. Parvo shots will be available on request. Everyone is urged to bring their pets to the Fire Department to be vaccinated.

Dogs Nip Post, Plan Tiger Hunt

By DALTON WOOD

The Tahoka Bulldogs used some good running in the first half and a stout defense in the second half to win a crucial district opener over Post last Friday 14-7, and will try to make it two wins in district this Friday as they go to Wolforth to play dangerous Frenship.

Frenship, one of the highest-scoring teams in the area, led Slaton 15-0 with less than half a quarter remaining last week before Slaton came back to tie the game.

Post gave Tahoka fans some anxious moments last week as the hometown Antelopes scored on their first possession and came within a whisker of scoring a couple more times.

Right after the opening kickoff, Tahoka's Danny Thompson fumbled and Roy Gonzales recovered for Post at the Bulldog 30. Two plays later, wingback Richard Cisneros bolted through the middle of the Dog line untouched to race 25 yards for a T.D. There was still 10:03 left in the first quarter when Will Kirkpatrick kicked the point to put Post ahead 7-0.

Danny Dashes
Early in the second quarter, Thompson broke free down the right side to go 34 yards for a Tahoka touchdown and QB Mark Hudlin's kick tied the score at 7, with 10:16 left in the half. Thompson scored again from 2 yards out with 4:48 left in the half and Hudlin kicked again, for what was to be the final score of the game. This drive featured a 26-yard run by Thompson, who gained 106 yards on 16 carries during the game, 95 of the yards in the first half.

Post dominated offensive play in the second half, controlling the ball for much of the time and limiting Tahoka to two first downs after allowing the Dogs 9 first downs in the first half. In the third quarter, Antelope QB Tim Tannehill once hit End Gary Lamb with a good throw, but Lamb, who had managed to get behind everybody, couldn't hang on to the ball.

In the fourth, Post recovered a fumble at the Tahoka 29 and a personal foul penalty gave the Antelope a first at the Tahoka 11. But Tahoka dug in and Roddy Williams at safety first knocked down a pass, then recovered a fumble by Tannehill at the Tahoka 2.

More Problems

Later in the period, Tahoka got in trouble against a fourth down snap went over the head of punter Johnny Alvarado and Post got the ball at the Tahoka 26. Thompson at defensive end hit Tannehill for an 8-yard loss and then on fourth down Tannehill threw incomplete as he was being rushed hard by tackle Richard Payne, and this series proved to be Post's last real chance to win.

The loss left Post at 0-1 in district, 4-2 for the year, while Tahoka is 1-0, 5-1. Payne, Williams and Daniel Garcia were among the defensive standouts for Tahoka against Post. On offense, it was Thompson and fullback Alvarado, who gained 74 yards in 23 carries, who did the most damage.

Thieves Get 11 Football Helmets Here

Burglars stole 11 football helmets and some other equipment from the field house at Tahoka High School last weekend, and also broke out three windows in the school. Coach A.D. Shaver said the helmets were worth about $100 each. Also stolen were four shoulder pads and a pair of shoes. The thieves took some other pads and shoes which were found later outside the building. Officers were continuing their investigation in the case this week.

Sheriff's deputies were checking Wednesday on a reported burglary at a New Home gin, with no details available at press time. A collision at S. 1st St. and Ave. J Tuesday involved a 1968 Chevrolet pickup driven by Prince Smith of Tahoka and a 1981 Pontiac driven by Elvie Davis of O'Donnell.

A wreck Saturday near the roadside park on U.S. 87 north of Tahoka was investigated by state patrolmen. One person was treated for injuries, but no details were available.

Five tickets were issued during the week, one for no drivers license, two for contest of speed, and one each for running stop sign and speeding 85 mph in a 55-mile zone. One person was in jail during the week for public intoxication.

And one man complained to police that another man had stripped his persimmon tree without paying.

Vandalism Reward Set

The THS Student Council is offering a $100 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for the vandalism to school properties which occurred the weekend of Oct. 17. Short Speaker At Rotary

Each of the seven proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution which face voters of November 3 was discussed briefly at Rotary last Thursday noon by Senator E.L. Short. He made no recommendations on how citizens should vote, but urged that every good citizen inform himself on the proposals. He explained both sides, for and against, each proposed amendment. President Richard White inducted two new members, John Fisher and Stanley Gill, into Rotary. He announced the club would return to the former custom of a formal induction ceremony and that Rev. Lloyd Hamilton had been appointed to give the new member charge. Pete Hegi was in charge of the program and introduced Senator Short, a member of the club.

Are you a morning "jet-setter," complete with instant everything -- and bitter coffee? Here's a prevent-bitter-coffee idea -- for instant-coffee, microwave users only: Add the hot water to the coffee granules, instead of adding coffee to the hot water, suggests Dr. Cass Ryan-Crowe, a food and nutrition specialist. When you add coffee granules to boiling water, the rapid flavor release from the granules can cause bitter coffee, she explains. Why doesn't bitter coffee result from adding the hot water to the coffee? We didn't ask her that.

Wilson Tops New Home

Wilson and New Home tangled in their annual North Lynn County shootout last Friday, with Wilson winning the game 7-0 on the strength of a 91-yard run by tailback Kendall Wilke.

Wilke, who gained 183 yards in 26 carries, was named by the Lubbock-Avalanche-Journal as one of two players of the week for his performance. The other player honored was also from Wilson, Mark Wuensche, who led the defense and was in on 16 tackles.

It was one of the few games this year in which New Home's outstanding running back, Robert Estrada, did not score. Estrada is still averaging 116 yards per game. Wilke is averaging 132 yards per game, and has scored 77 points.

October Sales Tax Told

Gas heating saves $226 per year!

Compared to the heat pump, gas heating can save you $226 per year on your utility bills. So if you hear that a heat pump is "more economical", remember, that is comparing it to other electric heating . . . not to gas! No other heating system even comes close to gas for economy. At Energas, we are committed to help you get the most for your heating dollar. Gas heating, combined with good conservation practices, saves energy, too.

REPLACEMENT DOLLAR--Frank Barrow, president of Tahoka Chamber of Commerce, presents Kensie Phillips, manager of O'Donnell Farm and Ranch with a "replacement dollar" to go in the frame on the wall behind Barrow. Burglars in September broke into the Tahoka office of the firm and took the dollar out of the framed certificate traditionally given by the Chamber to new businesses in the city. The dollar and some change from a soft drink machine were all that were taken.

A Visit With Your County Agent

By Stanley Young

BE READY FOR FIRE

Fire can be friend or foe, depending on the situation. Unfortunately, unfriendly situations arise all too often, costing lives and devastating property.

Prevention is your best defense against fire losses, but you must be prepared if fire starts, emphasizes Stanley Young, county agent. He suggests these precautions:

*Test smoke detectors regularly. Change batteries within the recommended interval or when you see or hear a "low battery" signal from a detector. If you have yet to equip your home with these proven lifesavers, do so soon.

*Post phone numbers of the fire department, emergency medical service and others who could help during an emergency. Teach youngsters how to call for help in case of fire or other emergency.

*Prepare, then practice a home fire escape plan.

*If you have no nearby water source such as a river, lake or farm pond, install water holding tanks for fire fighting.

*Equip your house, out-buildings and motorized equipment with fire extinguishers of the proper type and rating.

Type A fires (paper, wood, straw) are best fought with a pressurized water extinguisher.

Type B fires (petroleum products, solvents, kitchen grease) require the smothering effect of a dry chemical or carbon dioxide extinguisher. Type C fires (electrical) also require use of dry chemical or CO₂ extinguishers.

A dry chemical extinguisher can be used on Type A fires but not as effectively as water.

Never use a water extinguisher on a Type B or C fire --with a B fire you could spread the flames and with a C you could suffer an electric shock.

A tri-class 2A-10B:C extinguisher is ideal for a shop, tractor, combine or truck where a fire might involve both deep burning and flammable materials.

*Locate extinguishers near building entrances and in areas with a higher fire risk such as a kitchen, shop or furnace room. Those on vehicles and equipment should be accessible from both the operator's station and the ground.

*Teach family members and employees how to use extinguishers, and check extinguishers regularly.

4-H'ERS STUDY ENERGY CONSERVATION

Energy conservation is a major objective of Americans as they look at energy sources to fuel their cars and provide power for a comfortable home life.

Participants in the national 4-H automotive, electric energy and petroleum power programs are studying and applying successful concepts for wise and cost-effective use of energy, says Drennan, county 4-H program coordinator.

In automotive, supported by The Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., 4-H members learn ways of improving fuel mileage through safe driving habits and automotive maintenance.

The 4-H petroleum program sponsored by Amoco Foundation, Inc., encourages young people to learn energy conservation techniques in powering farm machinery, lawn, garden and recreational equipment. They also gain knowledge of various fuels, their safe storage and use.

In electric energy programs, supported by Westinghouse Electric Corp., 4-H members experiment with efficient ways of using electric energy and promote energy conservation in their communities. Tours of electric power plants also help increase their awareness of how energy demands in their communities. Project activities range from preparing energy-efficient and nutritious meals to making simple solar devices.

Many boys and girls, 9 to 19, in these programs have helped their families make significant dollar savings in energy use.

Incentives provided by Firestone, Westinghouse and Amoco are available to outstanding 4-H'ers in each program. All three companies provide medals of honor to four county participants and an expense-paid trip for one 4-H'er from each state to attend National 4-H Congress in Chicago. Also, six 4-H'ers in the electric energy and petroleum power programs and eight in the automotive program receive $1,000 scholarships.

Contact the county Extension office for more information on these and other 4-H programs.

ALA Warns Of Child's Choking Dangers

Halloween brings ghosts, goblins and, sometimes, real danger. The American Lung Association of Texas warns about one danger for children--the risk of choking on holiday treats such as candy corn, hard candy and peanuts.

At Halloween, children go door-to-door "begging." Parents should insist youngsters bring the goodies home for inspection. For the youngest--two, three or even four years old--some of the candy can be divided or mashed before eating.

The chewing and swallowing muscles of young children may not be sufficiently developed to cope with certain treats. Choking can result. Halloween goodies also may "go down the wrong way" and lodge in the lung instead of the stomach. This is called aspiration. A "foreign object" of any kind in the lung can cause life-long problems. At times, surgery for removal is required.

The best warning is: Be sure children are old enough to chew and swallow correctly before trusting them with small, hard bits of food. Parents should always be on guard against "small objects" getting into the hand of children. Particularly those young enough to want to put everything into their mouths. Choking, blocked air passages, even aspiration of the lung can result. Moreover, such items as eyes and buttons that might come loose from dolls, or wheels from toy cars. Set a good example. Don't put anything but food into your own mouth. Keep the coffee table clear of small objects a child might reach for.

NEW CREDIT TO KOREA APPLAUDED: National Cotton Council President Frank M. Mitchener has applauded a new government credit agreement backing up sales of $300 million worth of U.S. cotton to South Korea during the coming year.

At current prices, the agreement means credit backing for purchases of about 850,000 bales.

Mitchener, who was in Seoul with Agriculture Secretary John Block when the pact was signed, called the move "a real shot in the arm" for cotton exports. He said the credit assurance is crucial importance to cotton farmers in view of this season's bumper crop prospects.

It should go a long way in keeping U.S. cotton dominant in the Korean market," he stated. "I'm convinced that without this kind of credit backing from our own government we wouldn't be able to maintain the 95% market share we've built in that market over the years."

CHAIRMEN NAMED: Ed Breihan of Lubbock, chairman of the National Cotton Council's Technical Committee, will be general chairman of the 1982 Beltwide Cotton Production - Mechanization Conference Jan. 6-7 at Las Vegas.

Session chairmen are Dr. Roy S. Rauschkolb, director of Arizona Cooperative Extension Service, and Jesse W. Curlee, general manager

A Visit With Your County Agent

By Stanley Young

BE READY FOR FIRE

Fire can be friend or foe, depending on the situation. Unfortunately, unfriendly situations arise all too often, costing lives and devastating property.

Prevention is your best defense against fire losses, but you must be prepared if fire starts, emphasizes Stanley Young, county agent. He suggests these precautions:

*Test smoke detectors regularly. Change batteries within the recommended interval or when you see or hear a "low battery" signal from a detector. If you have yet to equip your home with these proven lifesavers, do so soon.

*Post phone numbers of the fire department, emergency medical service and others who could help during an emergency. Teach youngsters how to call for help in case of fire or other emergency.

*Prepare, then practice a home fire escape plan.

*If you have no nearby water source such as a river, lake or farm pond, install water holding tanks for fire fighting.

*Equip your house, out-buildings and motorized equipment with fire extinguishers of the proper type and rating.

Type A fires (paper, wood, straw) are best fought with a pressurized water extinguisher.

Type B fires (petroleum products, solvents, kitchen grease) require the smothering effect of a dry chemical or carbon dioxide extinguisher.

Type C fires (electrical) also require use of dry chemical or CO₂ extinguishers.

A dry chemical extinguisher can be used on Type A fires but not as effectively as water.

Never use a water extinguisher on a Type B or C fire — with a B fire you could spread the flames and with a C you could suffer an electric shock.

A tri-class 2A-10B-C extinguisher is ideal for a shop, tractor, combine or truck where a fire might involve both deep burning and flammable materials.

*Locate extinguishers near building entrances and in areas with a higher fire risk such as a kitchen, shop or furnace room. Those on vehicles and equipment should be accessible from both the operator's station and the ground.

*Teach family members and employees how to use extinguishers, and check extinguishers regularly.

4-H'ERS STUDY ENERGY CONSERVATION

Energy conservation is a major objective of Americans as they look at energy sources to fuel their cars and provide power for a comfortable home life.

Participants in the national 4-H automotive, electric energy and petroleum power programs are studying and applying successful concepts for wise and cost-effective use of energy, says Drennan, county 4-H program coordinator.

In automotive, supported by The Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., 4-H members learn ways of improving fuel mileage through safe driving habits and automotive maintenance.

The 4-H petroleum program sponsored by Amoco Foundation, Inc., encourages young people to learn energy conservation techniques in powering farm machinery, lawn, garden and recreational equipment. They also gain knowledge of various fuels, their safe storage and use.

In electric energy programs, supported by Westinghouse Electric Corp., 4-H members experiment with efficient ways of using electric energy and promote energy conservation in their communities. Tours of electric power plants also help increase their awareness of heavy energy demands in their communities. Project activities range from preparing energy-efficient and nutritious meals to making simple solar devices.

Many boys and girls, 9 to 19, in these programs have helped their families make significant dollar savings in energy use.

Incentives provided by Firestone, Westinghouse and Amoco are available to outstanding 4-H'ers in each program. All three companies provide medals of honor to four county participants and an expense-paid trip for one 4-H'er from each state to attend National 4-H Congress in Chicago. Also, six 4-H'ers in the electric energy and petroleum power programs and eight in the automotive program receive $1,000 scholarships.

Contact the county Extension office for more information on these and other 4-H programs.

ALA Warns Of Child's Choking Dangers

Halloween brings ghosts, goblins and, sometimes, real danger. The American Lung Association of Texas warns about one danger for children—the risk of choking on holiday treats such as candy corn, hard candy and peanuts.

At Halloween, children go door-to-door "begging." Parents should insist youngsters bring the goodies home for inspection. For the youngest—two, three or even four years old—some of the candy can be divided or mashed before eating.

The chewing and swallowing muscles of young children may not be sufficiently developed to cope with certain treats. Choking can result. Halloween goodies also may "go down the wrong way" and lodge in the lung instead of the stomach. This is called aspiration. A "foreign object" of any kind in the lung can cause life-long problems. At times, surgery for removal is required.

The best warning is: Be sure children are old enough to chew and swallow correctly before trusting them with small, hard bits of food. Parents should always be on guard against "small objects" getting into the hand of children. Particularly those young enough to want to put everything into their mouths. Choking, blocked air passages, even aspiration of the lung can result. Moreover, such items as

Electricity.
Knowing what it's worth is worth knowing.

One thing we've probably all learned is to have an appreciation of things that have worth and to know their value. How would you rate yourself on knowing the value of the electricity you use? Take this simple exercise.

1. How much was your electric bill last month? $ _____
2. Divide 30 into your answer to Number 1. This was the approximate cost of your electricity per day. $ _____
3. How many people are in your family? _____
4. Divide Number 3 into Number 2. This was the cost of your electricity per day per family member. $ _____

Knowing what electricity is worth is worth knowing. Just look around.

HANDLE CREDIT HISTORY WITH CARE-- INVESTIGATE, UPDATE
Operating on credit has become a way of life with today's high cost of goods and services and the dangers of carrying large sums of money. So handle your credit history "with care" -- investigate it and keep it up to date.

Bartley - Weaver Fertilizer Co.

Box 480 998-4717

This is especially important if you're planning to apply for new credit or have been turned down for credit unexpectedly.

Start with local credit-reporting agencies, such as the credit bureau. These agencies keep a record of how consumers use credit or misuse it.

If you've ever used credit, a local or nearby credit bureau probably has a file on you.

This file is the major source of your credit history, unless you live in a small town where you've established credibility and intend to apply only for local credit.

Your credit bureau is important because most potential creditors don't send separate inquiries to each creditor -- they merely request information from the credit bureau.

You have a right to see your file, or at least a summary of the information in it.

If you have been denied credit within the last 30 days, this service is free. If not, a fee will be charged for the report. Fee amounts vary from bureau to bureau. Understanding the credit bureau's job is important, too. They are privately owned agencies who do not determine credit worthiness. That is the job of the creditor -- only the creditor decides to grant or deny credit.

Credit bureaus simply provide the facts in your file -- and they charge the potential creditor for the service.

If you have no credit history, some creditors may interpret the lack of credit history almost as negatively as they would poor credit use. So it's a good idea to establish credit and be sure the record is on file with the bureau.

Once credit history has begun -- and you've checked with the credit bureau to make sure, don't ignore it from then on. Keep your record up to date.

This will insure a satisfactory credit record just when you need it most -- and it will prevent your record from doing a "disappearing act" in today's complex system of record-keeping. For example, if you move, your credit history may be on file in your old "home" town and not yet transferred to your new "home" town.

If there is no credit bureau locally, your files may be kept by a bureau in the nearest city.

To find out, ask a local loan officer or store manager who they send reports to.

In updating your credit history, it's helpful to understand that creditors whose records are computerized send reports to bureaus about every 30 days. They generally send both "good" and "bad" reports. Loan agencies usually report new loans. However, some non-computerized stores may send only "bad" credit information.

If you marry, the bureau may have two files on you -- one in your own name and a joint record with your spouse. You and potential creditors receive information from both files in that case.

If you find an error in your file, point out the fallacy to the bureau. They are obligated to investigate the issue in question. If they find the information is not correct, they will send the correction to every creditor who has received information about in the last six months -- if you request them to send it.

If the bureau finds no error, you may place a written record of "your side of the story" in the file and request that this be added to information sent to creditors who have asked for your credit history within the last six months -- and to potential creditors in the future.

If your file is incomplete because some of your creditors have not reported, or if you've moved recently, you may want to update your files, especially if the new information will help you obtain credit.

Again, if you've been denied credit recently, the bureau will update your files without charge if you provide appropriate names, addresses and other necessary information.

Otherwise, most bureaus will charge a fee for each creditor contacted to update the record.

Or you can personally contact your creditors and ask that they send a record of your credit use to the appropriate bureau.

When you move, your records are generally transferred to the bureau servicing your new area. If the transfer is not automatic, the bureau usually will write for your records when it receives an inquiry on you.

Finally, in keeping your credit history updated, remember that information the bureau provides potential creditors can include the following: how much you owe each creditor, the largest amount charged, past-due amounts, how often and for how long accounts are past due and if accounts are paid on time.

Creditors who usually report to bureaus include utility companies, telephone companies, department stores, specialty shops, banks, savings-and-loan associations, finance companies, mail-order stores, gasoline companies and bankcard companies.
