Whirlwind Blows Dogs Out Of Playoffs, 16-0

By DALTON WOOD
The Floydada Whirlwinds put a stop to Tahoka High School's football season Saturday night as they won a defensive battle 16-0 at Lowery Field in Lubbock to capture the bi-district trophy.

For Coach A.D. Shaver, the Tahoka Bulldogs and the community, it still was a very good season, as the Dogs wound up 8-3 for the year. Except for one glaring defensive breakdown which resulted in a touchdown pass by the Whirlwinds in the first quarter, Tahoka played well on defense. The score was still 7-0 at the end of three quarters and in the fourth period when Tahoka was trailing 10-0 and driving for the first time in the game, it appeared the Bulldogs still might pull the game out. But a fumble stopped the drive and that penetration—only to the 31 of the Green visitors—was Tahoka's best offensive thrust of the night.

Floydada did something nobody else has done: they stopped Danny Thompson, who had been averaging more than 100 yards per game. But Thompson was hampered by an ankle injury suffered in the final regular season game with Roosevelt and was nothing like his usual threat. He carried the ball only six times, gaining just 8 yards.

Willie Ray Mitchell, on the other hand, had one of his better games, rushing 16 times for 70 yards in 22 carries.

Floydada took the opening kickoff and drove to a first at the Tahoka 11, but Richard Payne hit QB Todd Beedy for a 6-yard loss and then the Dogs held at the 9. Floydada tried a field goal which was wide.

After Tahoka couldn't move and punted out, Floydada came back to score on a 25-yard pass into the end zone from Beedy to Ronnie Minner, who was unmoled on the reception as the pass coverage was poor. Donell Weeks kicked the point and it was 7-0.

Bob Mimms recovered a fumble for Tahoka at the Floydada 32 in the second quarter, but the Dogs again could do nothing on offense, and the rest of the half was a defensive standoff.

Late in the third, Floydada made four first downs in a row, and went to the Tahoka 4 as the teams changed ends for the final period. Curtis Ferguson hit the Floydada runner for a loss and then the Dogs held at the 5 yard-line, bringing on a 25-yard field goal by Weeks.

After the kickoff, Johnny Alvarado broke loose on a 27-yard run, followed by a 13-yard gain by Quarterback Tony Garcia. But the fumble stopped Tahoka at this critical time, and the Bulldogs got just one more chance. On that series, Tahoka was forced to punt, and although it appeared that punter Alvarado was knocked down by a rusher as he kicked, there was no flag thrown and Floydada got the ball back around midfield. The Whirlwinds then drove down for the clinching touchdown, with Williams going 11 yards with only 1:54 left. Twice in the second half, Tahoka had stopped Floydada drives only to draw penalties for late hits and these penalties contributed much to the downfall of the Bulldogs.

Good defensive work was turned in by Jeff Jennings, Steve Pierce, Marcus Del Toro, Payne, Mitchell and James Wells. For Floydada, Billy Collins

WOODWORK

BY THE TIME anyone reads this, President Reagan and Congress no doubt will have loused up real good. They had a chance to eliminate all government by not voting any money for its operations, and with Ronnie's veto of a bill Congress did pass it appeared for a while that this just might happen.

Probably, though, by now Congress will have passed some kind of bill that the President will accept, even if it doesn't have the budget cuts he wanted in it. Or at least Congress may have temporarily extended the law which gave the government money to operate on until a real money bill could be passed.

Just think, we almost got rid of the government. Chaos, you say? Well, what would be new about that? With the federal government out of the way, states perhaps could reorganize things. Or maybe Texas could be a republic again, and we'd stop paying money to support yankees and the Chrysler Corp.

TRAVELING around Christmastime is going to be a nightmare, says the Nov. 30 issue of U.S. News and World Report. Airline travel will be the most frustrating, the article says, with delays common, airports packed and foulups possible.

Passenger trains will be crowded, too, but this won't affect folks in this part of the country too much, since there are few passenger trains around here. Gasoline prices will be more or less reasonable, but this only means that highways will be very busy, with cars and buses.

It might be a good idea to keep that Christmas-New Year trip short. Or just stay home and eat more junk.

KNOTHOLES: We understand that superintendents of schools at Post, Cooper, Frenship and Roosevelt abstained from voting on the certification of Tahoka as district champion, although they did sign the papers sent in to UIL. Just a case of the little people demonstrating why they are that way...GM expects to have 15,000 robots in use by 1990. I would like one which will go to the refrigerator for me during commercials, so I won't have to get up out of my recliner.

County Approves Suits On Delinquent Taxes

Lynn County Commissioners took action to collect delinquent taxes for 1980 and prior years as they approved a contract with the Austin law firm of McCreary and Huey to file suits against those property owners who have not paid.

Commissioners agreed that it is only fair to those who do pay their taxes to try to collect from those who do not, especially some who have not paid for several years. The group listened to Phillip Tyler, a representative of the Austin law firm, explain the procedures for initiating legal action on delinquent taxes.

The same firm has been employed by the Tahoka Independent School District to work on the delinquent tax rolls.

It was noted that the county courthouse will be closed Thursday and Friday for the Thanksgiving holidays, opening again on Monday.

Nov. 30. Sherry Etheredge, county agent, presented a report of involvement and programs of the homemaking extension agent during the current year, Jan. 1 to Nov. 23.

Second Quarter Sales Tax Told

State Comptroller Bob Bullock reported that gross sales in Texas for the second quarter of 1981 totaled $77.3 billion.

He said second quarter sales this year passed 1980 second quarter sales by $12.6 billion.

Bullock said the sales tax analysis for April, May and June of this year shows 269,044 reporting outlets compared to 245,047 reporting outlets in the second quarter of last year.

First and second quarter gross sales in Texas for 1981 now total $148.1 billion. Lynn County's gross sales for the second quarter were $11,614,694.

Energy efficient homes could make you sick

COLLEGE STATION — Some homes are so energy efficient they could make you sick, says a Texas A&M University architect.

The problem is indoor pollution resulting from a build-up of dangerous chemicals and gases trapped inside buildings constructed with air infiltration barriers.

Barriers, not to be confused with insulation such as polyethylene sheeting, can be placed in walls and urethane foam can be sprayed around the 2x4's that form the base of houses built on concrete slabs. These barriers, which can reduce heating costs up to 25 percent, make it more difficult for the house to "breathe."

Degelman said dangerous gases like carbon monoxide and the radioactive gas radon (which is released naturally from soil and some building materials) can build up in these tight houses and pose a problem to the occupants.

FACTS & FIGURES

By John F. Brookman

In 1850, when the U.S. population approached 24 million, half the nation was involved in agriculture. Today, in 1981, with a population of nearly 230 million Americans, less than four percent are involved in agriculture.

There were more than one million dairy farms with about 25 million cows in 1955. The average cow that year produced 5,842 pounds of milk (more than 2,700 quarts). In 1980, dairy farm estimates ranged from 170,000 to 300,000. The nation's cow herd, however, numbered 10.8 million with the average cow producing 11,813 pounds of milk. Fewer than half the number of cows than in 1955 produced a record annual production of 128.4 billion pounds in 1980. That's efficiency.

U.S. agriculture is the best in the world with each American farmer producing food and fiber for himself and 56 others. The dairy farmer is often considered the most efficient part of agriculture for his breeding and feeding expertise.

Anyone who works is guaranteed a minimum wage by law, currently $3.35 an hour. According to some hard-working dairy farmers, that's more than they make per hour with a capital investment of $300,000 or more, earning $12,000 to $30,000 from all sources.

Many experts suggest that the federal price support program be retitled the federal minimum price program. That's because the word "support" has too many unpleasant connotations, ranging from "dole" to "subsidy," for too many citizens. Actually, the existing price support program provides a floor, or a minimum price a dairy farmer can get for his milk.

Survey To Begin Soon On Vanishing Farmland

AUSTIN — Agricultural land throughout the state is being covered with asphalt and concrete, and farmers are being pushed out. In the past accurate assessments of the amount of land lost, the agricultural quality of the soil and impact on future production statewide have not been available.

Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has initiated a county-by-county study of Texas agricultural land which will provide answers on the extent of loss from year to year. The first status report will be published this spring in the field crops bulletin. In subsequent years the report will carry previous year's data to provide information on any losses.

Brown explained that in the past the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has reported annual estimates on the number of farms and total acreage for the state. County data has been available solely through the Census of Agriculture, which is taken only every five years and is published almost 18 months after completion of the survey. The Reagan Administration has asked Congress to cancel it for 1982.

"We want to have more current data for use in advising cities on directions for growth and placement of large projects such as airports and in providing input to other state and Federal agencies whose projects could reduce agricultural acreage," Brown said.

"This information will also be beneficial to farmers or ranchers opposing projects that would reduce productive land in their areas," he added.

Brown said that many states have passed various types of laws on farmland preservation. "Texas farmers and ranchers have traditionally been against any type of legislation which infringes on their rights as landowners, and we agree with their stand. However, there are steps which farmers can take to prevent incursion on or through their fields or pastures. These new surveys should provide them with more-current data."

What's an average day worth?

On an average day you probably get out of bed, adjust the thermostat, make a pot of coffee, cook breakfast . . . perhaps use the dishwasher.

Later, maybe you do a load of laundry and listen to the radio. Then you cook dinner and put the leftovers in the refrigerator. You may turn on the television or settle down in your favorite chair next to a lamp to read.

For all of you, all of this and more adds up to one day . . . just 1/30th of your average monthly electric bill.

Marvelous Marinade

A flavorful marinade can do marvels for meat, turning budget cuts into gourmet, melt-in-the-mouth creations. Chef Arthur DeCuir created this marinade as one of his specialties while cooking in some of the country's fine restaurants.

Marinades can tenderize and flavor even the most economical meat cuts.

Chef DeCuir is now traveling across the nation as a consultant for Champale, Inc., makers of Sparkling Extra Dry, Pink and Golden Champale malt alcoholic beverages, and is teaching consumers how to use this line of alcoholic malt liquors as an alternative to wine in a variety of tasty, easy-to-prepare dishes.

GOLDEN CHAMPALE MARINADE

- 4 cups Golden Champale
- 1 cup oil
- 2 bay leaves
- 1 teaspoon peppercorns
- 1 small onion, diced
- 1 celery stalk, diced
- 1 carrot, diced
- 1 clove garlic, crushed
- 1 tablespoon rosemary

Blend all ingredients in a casserole dish. Add meat (London broil, chuck steak, shish kebab chunks, whatever your choice), and marinate in refrigerator for at least six hours. Cook meat as desired, brushing with marinade during cooking.

Birds, in proportion to their size and weight, are about 75% stronger than are human beings.

WHAT'S UNIQUE ABOUT 4-H?

What's so special about 4-H a voluntary, educational program designed to meet the needs and interest of boys and girls?

4-H-which stands for Head, Heart, Hands and Health--is a unique youth organization for several reasons, notes Brent Drennan, 4-H program coordinator with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

First, 4-H uses real life experiences to learn how to do jobs and make decisions that are important in life.

4-H is a family affair; there is a place for all members of the family to participate.

4-H is a flexible program that can be adapted to fit any individual, home or community; 4-H is working with others. Learning to stand up for what you believe in and learning to work with others are important to each person. 4-H provides for ownership by allowing members to grow, make, care for, buy and sell their projects.

4-H is based on science and fact. Resources of the Texas A&M University System, business, industry and your community are used in developing and carrying out projects and activities.

4-H is a part of the community. 4-H'ers learn how to be good citizens by carrying out community responsibilities.

4-H is "learning by doing." It's an active program.

Other "Unique" characteristics of 4-H are that it--

- *is a part of a total national educational effort, built on a solid foundation of formal education.
- *is voluntary.
- *cultivates fields of interest outside the formal curriculum.
- *is based on teamwork.
- *is marked by leadership of a great cooperative effort.
- *is based on science and fact.
- *involves lay leaders.

*shows that there is much to learn in everyday life experiences.

*practices parental cooperation.

*enjoys support and interest of many educators.

*is applauded by courts and others concerned with youth behaviour, and *gets generous support from farm, business and civic leaders.

4-H also has these interesting qualities:

- 4-H does not require a facility--home, farm or neighborhood is the best place to hold 4-H meetings.
- 4-H does not require a uniform--costs are minimal.
- 4-H uses indigenous leadership--parents are best.
- 4-H is based on fact and science--with resources of the land-grant colleges

CONDITIONS SUGGEST TESTING COTTONSEED FOR FREE FATTY ACIDS

Wet and relatively warm fall weather in the Texas High Plains has increased the possibility that the seed in early-maturing cotton fields has suffered some deterioration, cautions a cotton specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Cottonseed exposed to such conditions or subjected to poor storage conditions after harvest often undergoes fairly rapid deterioration in quality, said Dr. James R. Supak, Extension cotton agronomist. This deterioration is frequently reflected by an increased free fatty acid content of the seed, he said.

"Basically, these acids are both the building blocks for and the breakdown products of cottonseed oil," Supak explained. The cotton plant is able to convert the sugars it produces into fatty acids and eventually oil. This oil serves as a major source of energy that keeps the seed alive during storage and that enables the seed to germinate and establish a strong healthy seedling.

Cottonseed always contains some free fatty acids in the tissues. This is due to the presence of fatty acids that were not synthesized into oils or to fatty acids that result from breakdown of oil needed to keep the seed viable during storage. The concentrations of free fatty acids in well matured, properly processed cottonseed are generally well below one percent, the agronomist said.

"Higher levels (greater than 1 percent) are common in immature seed where the fatty acids were not formed into oil and in deteriorated seed where warm, moist conditions triggered a faster than normal breakdown of oil into fatty acids," Supak said.

He noted that many seedsmen and delinting plant operators use the free fatty acid test in conjunction with germination tests to assess seed quality. If free fatty acids exceed two to three percent, the seed are usually not suitable for planting purposes.

"Seed with free fatty acids in the 1 to 2 percent range are considered questionable whereas seed with less than 1 percent free fatty acids usually make acceptable

Cotton Prices Trend Lower

High Plains cotton prices continued on a downward trend during the week ended Nov. 19, according to Mack Bennett, Area Director for USDA's Marketing Services Office at Lubbock. Mixed lots of mostly grades 42 and 52, staples 31 and 32, mike 35-49 brought about 46.40 cents per pound, down 200 points from a week earlier.

The cotton harvest exploded this week. Low humidity and fair skies gave harvest momentum a boost during the week, Bennett said. Receipts totaled 170,000 samples during the past seven days at the Lubbock Marketing Services office. Daily sample receipts exceeded 39,000 Thursday, up from 15,000 a week earlier.

Lubbock's Marketing Services Office classified 63,000 samples during the week ended Nov. 19. This brought the season's total to 123,000 and compares with 506,000 graded by the same date last season. A night shift will begin Friday in an effort to reduce the sample back-log.

About 43 percent was grade 52 and 45 percent grade 42. Below grades accounted for four percent. About 35 percent was reduced one grade for bark.

Staples were 42 percent staple 31, 37 percent staple 32 and 11 percent staple 33. Average staple was 31.8 thirty-seconds of an inch during the week.

Micronaire was 39 percent 35-49, 18 percent 33-34, 28 percent 30-32, 13 percent 27-29 and two percent 26 or below for an average of 33. Breaking strength averaged 22 grams per tex.

Gins paid growers $71 to $85 per ton for cottonseed. Several thousand acres contracted on the new Fast-Flow-On-Call-Contract.

planting seed," Supak said. "There are exceptions," he admitted. For example, high free fatty acid levels may be due primarily to the immature seed in a given seed lot. If these seed can be removed during the delinting-grading process, the overall quality of the seed lot may be acceptable.

"Likewise, a few badly deteriorated seed, such as might occur near the bottom of a module formed on wet ground, can contain up to 30 percent free fatty acids while the rest of the seed are sound. A few such badly deteriorated seed in a test sample can give a false impression of the overall condition of the seed lot.

At the other extreme, seed can be dead and not have a high free fat acidity content, he noted. Seed can die from causes other than the high humidity-high temperature condition normally required for free fatty acid development.

"If seed die or deteriorate under dry conditions the free fatty acid levels may be quite low but the seed will be useless for planting purposes," Supak said.

Hence a free fatty acid test, by itself, does not provide all the information needed to make a judgement about how the seed will eventually perform in the field, he cautioned. The overall analyses should also include consideration of how well the crop matured in the field, how much exposure to weather the crop endured before harvest, conditions during storage (especially moisture and temperature levels in modules), the appearance of the seed after ginning and performance in laboratory germination tests.

Some seed lots may have acceptable germination percentages but still contain more than 1 percent free fatty acids. If there are no (or very few) immature or badly deteriorated seed present, these seed would be suitable for planting but only under near optimum conditions, the agronomist said.

"Such seed lots tend to have slight but uniform deterioration in all seed. They would not (in all likelihood) have high vigor and would be apt to perform poorly if adverse planting conditions were encountered," Supak said.

Such seed should not be "carried over" as additional deterioration will occur in storage and the vigor and germination will tend to decline rapidly, he stressed.

Free fatty acid levels can serve as a rough guide in determining the extent of seed deterioration, the Extension agronomist said. Many delinting plants and private laboratories are equipped to conduct both the free fatty acid and germination tests.

Cork stoppers can be sterilized by boiling. If cork rings on coffee maker stops and the like become soiled, rub clean with an emery board.

Imported Fire Ant Assault To Begin This Spring

AUSTIN--"The Texas Department of Agriculture is doing everything we can to stop the spread of imported fire ants but we can't mount a full-scale successful attack until next spring," Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown announced.

"If we attempt to treat the ants now we would just be throwing money away. The most cost-efficient time to treat the ants is during the spring when they are most active," Brown said. "If the temperature is below 65° during the day the ants become dormant and there just isn't any way to get to them. Because of the nature of the pesticide the ants must be treated while they are in their most active state to insure positive results," Brown said. "For the next few months we will be organizing our program with the infested counties so that we can go 'all out' when treatment time comes this spring. In order for counties to be eligible for the program I need to hear from the county commissioners court as soon as possible so we can get the wheels in motion," Brown said.

Mark Trostle, imported fire ant specialist for TDA, said, "We have an option to treat infested counties in the spring with aerial broadcast treatment using AMDRO, a pesticide developed specifically for imported fire ants. Or we have the option to make AMDRO available to the counties at reduced prices for distribution among landowners, and they can apply the pesticide themselves. We also have the option to make other pesticides available at reduced prices to the counties if AMDRO remains in short supply," Trostle said.

The cost is a major factor. In past programs the cost of aerial treatment has been shared by the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) along with the TDA and the county landowners. Under the proposal USDA would pay 1/2 of the cost with TDA and landowners paying 1/4 each.

Great Moments In Soap

For the first mention of soap in our history books, one has to go back about 1,800 years to second century Greece. In the writings of Galen, a Greek physician, he notes the importance of soap as an agent in curing skin diseases.

For a revolutionary breakthrough in soap, one doesn't have to go back far. Today, a liquid soap has been designed and formulated exclusively for shower and bath use called Shower Up. It's a good example of how far soap has come through the ages.

First made in the home, soapmaking remained a household art until well into the 19th century. When soap manufacturers began to process soap in bulk quantities, they found that the housewife was their greatest competitor. So they introduced fragrant soaps of convenient size and enclosed in wrappers to persuade the housewife that their soap was not only cheaper... it was better.

Job News & Notes

With our unemployment rate around seven percent now, it's nice to know that at least one government agency is working on ways to help keep people working.

A lot of people's livelihood depends on the liveliness of a little known government bank.

The agency is the Export-Import Bank of the U.S. Created in 1980, it helps finance American exports through direct loans to REPRESENT COUNTY--Patricia Davis and Johnna Phillips will help to represent Lynn County at the District 4-H Food Show. Also going, but not pictured, will be Justin Haley, Luke Dunlap and Perry Dunlap.

foreign buyers of American-made goods, loan guarantees to institutions engaged in export financing and insurance services to exporters. A recent study conducted by Wharton Econometrics Forecasting Associates Inc., examined one export project—equipment for the Buenos Aires subway system. The forecasters found that the work generated by the sale of subway cars and associated equipment on the project could create 75,000 man years of employment in this country, and boost the U.S. GNP by $2.5 billion. The bank helps American companies compete in international markets, finding jobs for our workers and markets for the goods our workers produce. It would seem that the Exim Bank, as it is known, has a beneficial effect on our unemployment rate. In fact, you can bank on it.

Mitchener Jr. They are: Industry Practices and Policies—John S. Barr, III, Oak Ridge, La., chairman, and Tommy Funk, Harlingen, Tex., vice chairman; Technical Ed Breihan, Lubbock, chairman, and Thomas H. Wolfe, Phoenix, vice chairman; Foreign Operations—R.H. Later in the day during separate meetings, the committees will review and draft recommendations for consideration by delegates in the general session.

EXPORT SHIPMENTS Export shipments of 97,000 bales for the week ended Nov. 12 are highest of the current marketing year and brought season's total to 808,100 bales. The week's net new cotton sales for 1981-82 totaled 144,700 running bales, putting season's total commitments at 4,463,500. Major buyers were Japan, 53,900 bales; South Korea, 24,000; Taiwan, 13,700; and Indonesia, 10,700.

Strong discipline deters crime

COLLEGE STATION — State Attorney General Mark White recently told school administrators meeting at Texas A&M University that stronger discipline in the public schools will be a major ingredient for curtailing the number of people that go to prison.

"The Texas Department of Corrections has over 30,000 prisoners confined today, which is the largest prison population of any state in the country and more than all the federal prisons put together," White said.

White said one fourth of Texas prison inmates are 22 years old or younger, "and 99 percent of these youngsters' problems started back when they were attending school."

"Sometimes we wait too late in the education game to identify the problems associated with the lack of discipline," he said. "We should not only work towards stronger discipline, but perhaps we should educate students at an early age to show them what the criminal justice system really is."

CONDITIONS SUGGEST TESTING COTTONSEED FOR FREE FATTY ACIDS

Wet and relatively warm fall weather in the Texas High Plains has increased the possibility that the seed in early-maturing cotton fields has suffered some deterioration, cautions a cotton specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Cottonseed exposed to such conditions or subjected to poor storage conditions after harvest often undergoes fairly rapid deterioration in quality, said Dr. James R. Supak, Extension cotton agronomist. This deterioration is frequently reflected by an increased free fatty acid content of the seed, he said.

"Basically, these acids are both the building blocks for—and the breakdown products of—cottonseed oil," Supak explained. The cotton plant is able to convert the sugars it produces into fatty acids and eventually oil. This oil serves as a major source of energy that keeps the seed alive during storage and that enables the seed to germinate and establish a strong healthy seedling.

Cottonseed always contains some free fatty acids in the tissues. This is due to the presence of fatty acids that were not synthesized into oils or to fatty acids that result from breakdown of oil needed to keep the seed viable during storage. The concentrations of free fatty acids in well-matured, properly processed cottonseed are generally well below one percent, the agronomist said.

"Higher levels (greater than 1 percent) are common in immature seed where the fatty acids were not formed into oil and in deteriorated seed where warm, moist conditions triggered a faster than normal breakdown of oil into fatty acids," Supak said.

He noted that many seedmen and delinting plant operators use the free fatty acid test in conjunction with germination tests to assess seed quality. If free fatty acids exceed two to three percent, the seed are usually not suitable for planting purposes.

"Seed with free fatty acids in the 1 to 2 percent range are considered questionable whereas seed with less than 1 percent free fatty acids usually make acceptable

Cotton Prices Trend Lower

High Plains cotton prices continued on a downward trend during the week ended Nov. 19, according to Mack Bennett, Area Director for USDA's Marketing Services Office at Lubbock. Mixed lots of mostly grades 42 and 52, staples 31 and 32, mike 35-49 brought about 46.40 cents per pound, down 200 points from a week earlier.

The cotton harvest exploded this week. Low humidity and fair skies gave harvest momentum a boost during the week, Bennett said. Receipts totaled 170,000 samples during the past seven days at the Lubbock Marketing Services office. Daily sample receipts exceeded 39,000 Thursday, up from 15,000 a week earlier.

Lubbock's Marketing Services Office classified 63,000 samples during the week ended Nov. 19. This brought the season's total to 123,000 and compares with 506,000 graded by the same date last season. A night shift will begin Friday in an effort to reduce the sample back-log.

About 43 percent was grade 52 and 45 percent grade 42. Below grades accounted for four percent. About 35 percent was reduced one grade for bark.

Staples were 42 percent staple 31, 37 percent staple 32 and 11 percent staple 33. Average staple was 31.8 thirty-seconds of an inch during the week.

Micronaire was 39 percent 35-49, 18 percent 33-34, 28 percent 30-32, 13 percent 27-29 and two percent 26 or below for an average of 33.

Breaking strength averaged 22 grams per tex. Gins paid growers $71 to $85 per ton for cottonseed. Several thousand acres contracted on the new Fast-Flow-On-Call-Contract.

planting seed," Supak said. "There are exceptions," he admitted. For example, high free fatty acid levels may be due primarily to the immature seed in a given seed lot. If these seed can be removed during the delinting-grading process, the overall quality of the seed lot may be acceptable.

"Likewise, a few badly deteriorated seed, such as might occur near the bottom of a module formed on wet ground, can contain up to 30 percent free fatty acids while the rest of the seed are sound. A few such badly deteriorated seed in a test sample can give a false impression of the overall condition of the seed lot.

At the other extreme, seed can be dead and not have a high free fat acidity content, he noted. Seed can die from causes other than the high humidity-high temperature condition normally required for free fatty acid development.

"If seed die or deteriorate under dry conditions the free fatty acid levels may be quite low but the seed will be useless for planting purposes," Supak said.

Hence a free fatty acid test, by itself, does not provide all the information needed to make a judgement about how the seed will eventually perform in the field, he cautioned. The overall analyses should also include consideration of how well the crop matured in the field, how much exposure to weather the crop endured before harvest, conditions during storage (especially moisture and temperature levels in modules), the appearance of the seed after ginning and performance in laboratory germination tests.

Some seed lots may have acceptable germination percentages but still contain more than 1 percent free fatty acids. If there are no (or very few) immature or badly deteriorated seed present, these seed would be suitable for planting but only under near optimum conditions, the agronomist said.

"Such seed lots tend to have slight but uniform deterioration in all seed. They would not (in all likelihood) have high vigor and would be apt to perform poorly if adverse planting conditions were encountered," Supak said.

"Such seed should not be 'carried over' as additional deterioration will occur in storage and the vigor and germination will tend to decline rapidly," he stressed.

Free fatty acid levels can serve as a rough guide in determining the extent of seed deterioration, the Extension agronomist said. Many delinting plants and private laboratories are equipped to conduct both the free fatty acid and germination tests.

Imported Fire Ant Assault To Begin This Spring

AUSTIN—The Texas Department of Agriculture is doing everything we can to stop the spread of imported fire ants but we can't mount a full-scale successful attack until next spring," Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown announced.

"If we attempt to treat the ants now we would just be throwing money away. The most cost-efficient time to treat the ants is during the spring when they are most active," Brown said. "If the temperature is below 65° during the day the ants become dormant and there just isn't any way to get to them. Because of the nature of the pesticide the ants must be treated while they are in their most active state to insure positive results," Brown said.

"For the next few months we will be organizing our program with the infested counties so that we can go 'all out' when treatment time comes this spring. In order for counties to be eligible for the program I need to hear from the county commissioners court as soon as possible so we can get the wheels in motion," Brown said.

Mark Trostle, imported fire ant specialist for TDA, said, "We have an option to treat infested counties in the spring with aerial broadcast treatment using AMDRO, a pesticide developed specifically for imported fire ants. Or we have the option to make AMDRO available to the counties at reduced prices for distribution among landowners, and they can apply the pesticide themselves. We also have the option to make other pesticides available at reduced prices to the counties if AMDRO remains in short supply," Trostle said.

The cost is a major factor. In past programs the cost of

aerial treatment has been shared by the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) along with the TDA and the county landowners. Under the proposal USDA would pay 1/2 of the cost with TDA and landowners paying 1/4 each.

Great Moments In Soap

For the first mention of soap in our history books, one has to go back about 1,800 years to second century Greece. In the writings of Galen, a Greek physician, he notes the importance of soap as an agent in curing skin diseases.

For a revolutionary breakthrough in soap, one doesn't have to go back far. Today, a liquid soap has been designed and formulated exclusively for shower and bath use called Shower Up. It's a good example of how far soap has come through the ages.

First made in the home, soapmaking remained a household art until well into the 19th century. When soap manufacturers began to process soap in bulk quantities, they found that the housewife was their greatest competitor. So they introduced fragrant soaps of convenient size and enclosed in wrappers to persuade the housewife that their soap was not only cheaper... it was better.

Job News & Notes

With our unemployment rate around seven percent now, it's nice to know that at least one government agency is working on ways to help keep people working.

A lot of people's livelihood depends on the liveliness of a little known government bank. The agency is the Export-Import Bank of the U.S. Created in 1934, it helps finance American exports through direct loans to foreign buyers of American-made goods, loan guarantees to institutions engaged in export financing and insurance services to exporters. A recent study conducted by Wharton Econometrics Forecasting Associates Inc., examined one export project—equipment for the Buenos Aires subway system. The forecasters found that the work generated by the sale of subway cars and associated equipment on the project could create 75,000 man years of employment in this country, and boost the U.S. GNP by $2.5 billion. The bank helps American companies compete in international markets, finding jobs for our workers and markets for the goods our workers produce. It would seem that the Exim Bank, as it is known, has a beneficial effect on our unemployment rate. In fact, you can bank on it.

Great Moments In Soap

For the first mention of soap in our history books, one has to go back about 1,800 years to second century Greece. In the writings of Galen, a Greek physician, he notes the importance of soap as an agent in curing skin diseases.

For a revolutionary breakthrough in soap, one doesn't have to go back far. Today, a liquid soap has been designed and formulated exclusively for shower and bath use called Shower Up. It's a good example of how far soap has come through the ages.

First made in the home, soapmaking remained a household art until well into the 19th century. When soap manufacturers began to process soap in bulk quantities, they found that the housewife was their greatest competitor. So they introduced fragrant soaps of convenient size and enclosed in wrappers to persuade the housewife that their soap was not only cheaper... it was better.

Fruits and Vegetables- Stephanie Isbell, Lanae Monk, Rebecca Pyron, Justin Haley, Cody Smith, Justin Dunlap, blue ribbons; Rochelle Reid, red ribbon.

Nutritious Snacks and Desserts- Robin Moore, Tamara Knight, Luke Dunlap, and Jody Woodard, blue ribbons; Tracye Scott, Amber McNeely and Rusty Lawson, red ribbons.

Senior Division- Nutritious Snacks and Desserts: Perry Dunlap, blue ribbon.

The District Food Show will be held on Saturday, Dec. 12 at Tech. Representing Lynn County will be: Jr. Division, Johnna Phillips, Patricia Davis, Justin Haley with alternate Cody Smith, Luke Dunlap with alternate Robin Moore. Sr. Division, Perry Dunlap.

Job News & Notes

With our unemployment rate around seven percent now, it's nice to know that at least one government agency is working on ways to help keep people working.

A lot of people's livelihood depends on the liveliness of a little known government bank.

The agency is the Export-Import Bank of the U.S. Created in 1934, it helps finance American exports through direct loans to REPRESENT COUNTY--Patricia Davis and Johnna Phillips will help to represent Lynn County at the District 4-H Food Show. Also going, but not pictured, will be Justin Haley, Luke Dunlap and Perry Dunlap.

foreign buyers of American-made goods, loan guarantees to institutions engaged in export financing and insurance services to exporters. A recent study conducted by Wharton Econometrics Forecasting Associates Inc., examined one export project—equipment for the Buenos Aires subway system. The forecasters found that the work generated by the sale of subway cars and associated equipment on the project could create 75,000

man years of employment in this country, and boost the U.S. GNP by $2.5 billion. The bank helps American companies compete in international markets, finding jobs for our workers and markets for the goods our workers produce. It would seem that the Exim Bank, as it is known, has a beneficial effect on our unemployment rate. In fact, you can bank on it.

Remember how your mother or aunt made cornbread dressing? Unless you've perfected your own method for making the turkey's side-dish, you may want to try this savory but mild recipe:

Bread Stuffing
1 cup fat
1 cup chopped onion
4 cups chopped celery
9 cups cornbread crumbs
7 cups bread cubes
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 teaspoons poultry seasoning

1 1/2 to 2 cups broth, milk or water
4 eggs, raw or hard cooked
Use 2 to 4 day old light bread for bread cubes. Cook onion and celery in fat over low heat until onion is soft but not browned, stirring occasionally. Meanwhile, blend seasonings with bread cubes. Add the onion, celery and fat. Pour liquid and beaten eggs (if used raw) gradually over the surface, stirring lightly. Add more seasonings as desired. Stuffing for a 14-18 pound turkey.

Variations:
1. The proportion of cornbread and light bread may be varied to suit taste. Light bread and biscuit or cornbread and biscuit may be combined.

2. Giblet stuffing: Simmer giblets until tender. Chop and brown in the fat before adding onion and celery.

3. Parsley stuffing: Add 1/2 cup finely chopped parsley to bread with seasonings.

4. Oyster stuffing: Cook 1 to 2 pints of oysters in the oyster liquid until edges curl. Add to bread with seasonings. Include oyster liquid as part of liquid in stuffing. Chop oysters if they are large.

5 Pecan stuffing: Add 2 cups pecans to bread and seasonings.

Giblet Gravy
3 tablespoons pan drippings
3 tablespoons flour
2 cups water, broth or milk
Salt and pepper
Chopped giblets
Sliced hard cooked eggs if desired

Cover giblets with water and simmer in a covered saucepan until tender. Drain the giblets and chop. Pour the pan drippings into a bowl leaving the brown residue in the roasting pan. Let the fat rise to the top and skim off. The meat juice under the fat should be used as part of the liquid. Place three tablespoons of the fat back in the roasting pan. Add flour and blend well. If desired, brown the fat and flour slightly to give additional color and flavor. Add liquid all at once. Cook, stirring constantly until uniformly thickened. Season to taste. Add chopped giblets and sliced hard cooked eggs.

Cranberry Apple Waldorf
3 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup boiling water
3 1/2 cups cranberry juice cocktail

1 cup chopped apple
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped walnuts

In large bowl, mix unflavored gelatin with sugar; add boiling water and stir until gelatin is completely dissolved. Stir in cranberry juice. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture is consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Fold in remaining ingredients. Turn into 8 inch pan; chill until firm. Makes 8 servings.

Home Smoked Turkey

Place turkey in plastic container, measure water and pour over turkey until water covers about two inches over turkey. Remove turkey. Measure the amount of water needed to cover the turkey, and add salt, sugar and salt peter to water, using proportions according to amount of water used. Grind spices in blender and add to brine, stirring vigorously until salt, sugar and salt peter are dissolved. Place turkey in brine and allow it to cure for 2 to 4 days in refrigerator. Remove from brine. Dry with paper towels before placing on rack or rotisserie over hot coals.

For smoking, add a few soaked hickory or fruitwood chips every half hour. Keep grill or rotisserie covered to keep smoke in, add more charcoal as needed. Meat thermometer should register 160°F when done.

This method of curing and smoking is not a preservative and turkey must be refrigerated.
