I NEVER HAVE tried an electric toothbrush, which is supposed to be the topic of this article, but I have tried out a water-pic, only that's probably a brand name and the one we have is made by somebody else.

Whatever you call it, it is an electric pump which is attached to a little plastic tube which shoots water all over your face and on the bathroom wall. At least that's the way it works for me, although the member of our family who bought the thing uses it every day and has no trouble staying dry. That, says my dentist, is because she understands that you're supposed to put it in your mouth before you turn it on, something I apparently forgot.

The little rascal is powerful. The first time I tried it, I turned it up to its highest setting, figuring that the harder the stream of water the more good it would do. It almost knocked a hole in my cheek.

Now an electric toothbrush, I understand, is a device which vibrates as you hold it against your teeth, so you won't have to exhaust yourself moving the toothbrush around.

An electric toothbrush, says a television ad from a Lubbock business, makes a good gift for Christmas, providing the intended recipient still has teeth. But what really inspired me to comment on the ad was the added suggestion to "buy an extra one for your dog."

I admit that my dog's breath would stop a charging rhino, but I'll be darned if I'm going to brush their teeth. I'd rather just mix a little Listerine into their Gravy Train. Whoever heard of brushing a dog's teeth?

From my high school days (or somewhere) I seemed to remember that one name for certain human teeth is canine. I called my dentist and asked him if that was correct, and he said yes, but they called it a bicuspid or a cuspid. I knew better than that, though, because my grandmother, who dipped snuff, had one of those by her rocker.

Anyway, I guess most of us have a couple of canine teeth in our mouths, and they're for sure the only dog teeth I'm gonna brush.

Some months back when the price of gold was sky-high, this guy in the county jail tried to bribe the jailer into letting him out, by offering to pull his gold tooth and leave it with the jailer. The jailer rejected the offer indignantly, and asked the prisoner "what made you think a crazy scheme like that would work?"

The man explained that this minister who visits the cells had read to him that "the tooth will set you free."

THE PRICE of a year's subscription to the Lynn County News will go up about 2 cents a week starting in January, when subscriptions will increase from $7.50 to $8.50 per year in Lynn and adjoining counties, with the price elsewhere in Texas to be $9.50 per year, and the out-of-state subscriptions to go to $10.50.

Increased costs of mailing papers along with other higher costs of operation make the increase necessary. The cost per copy will remain at 20 cents for the time being.

Anyone who desires to renew before the price increases go into effect should do so this month; even if the subscriptions don't expire until sometime next year, we'll be happy to extend the time a year from whenever it is due.

Burglaries, Collisions Reported

Three traffic accidents in the city of Tahoka and a pair of burglaries of homes in the county headed the list of incidents investigated by officers here during the last week.

James Roberts of Tahoka reported Monday that someone entered his ranch house five miles northwest of West Point and took a stereo player and a Coleman heater, with total value of the stolen items set at $110.

On Sunday, Jimmy Kieth reported his residence northwest of New Home had been burglarized, with a 13-inch RCA color TV and a 35mm Konica camera and accessories stolen. Total value of the items was set at $1,500.

Dan Cook of Wilson told deputies last Friday that a starter had been stolen off a 1977 Ford truck at Wilson. The sheriff's department also was investigating reports of several road signs being damaged or destroyed on FM 212 and US 380.

Two persons were in jail during the week for driving while intoxicated.

Three collisions were investigated by city police. Last Thursday, on U.S. 380 near the east city limits a collision involved a 1977 Chevrolet pickup driven by Jimmy Clint Burah of Girard and a 1981 Chevrolet pickup driven by Ray Adams of Tahoka.

On Saturday a 1981 Ford pickup driven by Danny Robert Cook and a 1978 Ford driven by Rudy Sosa, both of Tahoka, were involved in a collision at Main and N. 3rd.

On Monday morning a 1976 Chevrolet pickup driven by Manuel Dejesus Martinez of Tahoka struck a street signpost and light pole on the corner of 1400 Main and S. 1st.

There were no injuries in any of the collisions.

C-C Plans Meal, Program Next Tuesday

The Chamber of Commerce quarterly membership meeting will be held Tuesday, Dec. 15, at noon at the Methodist Fellowship Hall.

A Christmas program will be provided by Madeline Hegi who will narrate the Christmas Story and the Methodist "Joy Ringers" who will present a concert. An up-to-date report on Chamber activities will also be presented.

The Chamberettes will again provide a meal for $3 per person. Everyone is invited to attend.

Cemetery Problems Aired; Natural Gas Rates Going Up

Tahoka is running out of cemetery spaces and there's no money to buy new land to expand the cemetery even if the land is available, Tahoka city council members were told Monday night by representatives of the Cemetery Assn.

After hearing the problems related to the cemetery, including problems of financing upkeep on the gravesites, the council told association representatives Edward Bartley and Robert Edwards to go ahead and negotiate for more land. The problem of financing was left unsettled, but it was indicated that a public drive for donations would be made soon to raise the necessary money.

Councilmen also approved a request of Energas to increase gas rates to customers here, averaging about 11 per cent, set a date to receive bids on street improvements under the Community Development Block Grant program, and heard consulting engineer A.C. Bowden report on what could be done about Country Club Lane's drainage problems.

Rates Studied

Energas had requested increases averaging about 18 per cent several months ago and Tahoka joined other cities in this area in setting up a study group to determine whether increases were justified. The committee recommended increases of about 11 per cent, and the company went along with this finding.

Bids on the street improvements will be opened on Jan. 4.

Bowden told the council that it would cost about $85,000 to fix the Country Club Lane properly, including paving from Lockwood north to a pump station location outside the city limits but not all the way to the entrance of T-Bar Country Club. The road in question is partly in the city and partly in the county and it frequently washes out.

After Bowden's report, the council took no action other than to comment that such an expenditure would be out of the question, and they then decided to look into costs of putting in concrete drainage areas at problem intersections on the road to prevent washing out.

Seek Help

Representatives of the T-Bar Country Club had requested help from both the city and county, with the county commissioners electing to wait on the city engineering study before taking any action.

Bowden's estimate of costs included paving 2,000 feet of the road, plus curb and gutter, including some work on one block of U.S. 380 at the south end of the lane.

At a meeting of the cemetery board last week, board members discussed the problems involving the cemetery. One of the problems, it was noted, is that a perpetual care fund set up partly through estates and by individuals is not generating enough money to maintain the cemetery properly in line with inflationary costs of labor and equipment.

The principal in the perpetual care fund is owned by the donors and cannot be used by the cemetery association. Only the interest it draws goes into the cemetery funds.

Bartley, chairman of the board, noted that there is a need to remove broken curbs around plots that have been curbed in, and that actual graves need to be level for easier maintenance. There's no way to clean the cemetery up with conditions like they are now, with those broken curbs in the way," Bartley said. Another board member noted that every time it rains, graves sink and have to be filled in.

It was noted that with only 29 four-unit plots left in the cemetery, the problem of finding space for new graves will be critical within a year or two.

At least 20 acres of new land is needed, the members agreed.

Champion Bulldogs Place Seven On All-District First Teams

Tahoka High School's tough defensive team placed five players on the 4-AAA all-district defensive first team announced this week. In addition to these five all-district performers, Tahoka put two players on the first offensive team. Five other players of the district champion Bulldogs made the second team.

Danny Thompson, 195-pound senior running back, was one of two unanimous selections on the first team offense, the other being end Craig Wright of Slaton. Also making the first team on offense was Tahoka guard Marty Cooper, 200-pound senior.

Players on the all-district first team offense are:

Ends: Wright of Slaton, Lonnie Phenix of Slaton. Tackles: Brad Mason, Post;

Jeff Ferguson of Slaton. Guards: Cooper of Tahoka and Derek Walls, Post. Center: Dale Kee of Roosevelt.

Running backs: Thompson of Tahoka, Raymond Green of Frenship, and Richard Cisneros of Post.

Quarterback: Kelly Cook of Slaton.

Punter: Tim Tannehill of Post.

Kicker: Will Kirkpatrick of Post.

Kirkpatrick, Tannehill, Green and Phenix are juniors; the others are seniors.

Tahoka's five players on the first team defense are down lineman Richard Payne, 190-pound senior; and Johnny Alvarado, 220-pound senior; linebacker Jeff Jennings, 170-pound senior; and defensive backs James Wells, 165-pound senior and Willie Ray Mitchell, 143-pound senior. Wells, Mitchell and Payne were the only unanimous selections by coaches on the first team defense for the Dogs, who lost in bi-district to Floydada, closing out an 8-3 season.

Others on the first team defense all-district are linemen DeCarlo Williams of Roosevelt, Mario Luna of Post and Billy Linnenkuigel of Frenship; linebackers Toby Craft and Jerry Hawkins of Post; and backs Tim Shepard of Roosevelt and Kirkpatrick of Post. Kirkpatrick, Linnenkuigel and the Post linebackers Craft and Hawkins are juniors, with the rest seniors.

On the second team all-district offense were Roger Dockery, 185-pound senior tackle; Roddy Williams, 165-pound senior end; Gregg Curry, 185-pound senior guard; Johnny Alvarado, as both running back and punter, and Mark Hudlin, 170-pound senior listed as the placekicker for the second team.

Frenship placed two sophomore linemen and junior quarterback Brent Davis, son of the coach, Bobby Davis, on the second team.

Tahoka had no players listed on the second team defense, but did place eight players on the honorable mention list. These were Daniel Garcia, Marcus Del Toro, Steve Pierce, Bob Mimms, Gregg Curry, Thompson, Williams and Tony Garcia.

Bulldogs making the honorable mention list on offense were Wells, Mitchell, Tony Garcia, Lenard Flores, Hudlin, Del Toro and Daniel Garcia.

Howell's 66th Anniversary Observed

Mr. and Mrs. H.B. (Belton) Howell were honored Sunday afternoon on their 66th wedding anniversary with a reception in their home here, attended by a number of friends and relatives.

Mr. Howell is one of the last surviving Lynn County settlers who came here in 1902, the year before Lynn County was organized. Mrs. Birdie Howell, who came to Tahoka in 1911 or 12 with her parents was married to Belton in the home of her parents, the F.E. Walters, in Brownfield on Nov. 28, 1915 by Lynn County Judge Joe L. Stokes, and the latter's wife, Gladys, was a witness.

Two years ago, the Howells moved to Odessa to be near their son, Wade, who owns S.W. Howell Engineering, Inc. of that city.

Until retiring two years ago, Belton Howell during nearly eighty years a Lynn County citizen, was engaged in stock raising, farming, freighting, ginning, established the first Tahoka garage, and oil agency, service stations, and still owns farm land here.

"After we married, I made a deal with Birdie," he says, "that if she would keep the house I would try to make us a living."

He has served on the school board, the city council, and worked in lodges. He and his wife are members of the Baptist Church.

Hosts for the 66th anniversary event were their son and wife, Wade and Kathryn; grandchildren, Sam and Janie Howell and two children, Susan and Mike Mazur and two children, and Susie Howell, all of Odessa.

Mr. and Mrs. Howell are proud of the fact that Sam and Janie and Susie are all employed by Wade's engineering firm.

A company called Meadow-Fresh, Inc. of Salt Lake City, Utah, which has a distributorship in the Lubbock area, has come under the scrutiny of the Utah State department of Health according to the BBB of Greater Salt Lake. That Health Dept. announced it has determined that the milk "alternative" offered by Meadow-Fresh cannot be used as a Substitute for whole or 2% milk in child care or day care centers. Cotton Prices Continue Down

High Plains cotton prices continued to trend downward. Growers sold mixed lots of mostly grades 42 and 52; staples 31 and 32, mike 35 - 49 at around 44.85 cents, down 30 points from one week earlier, according to Mack Bennett, Area Director for USDA's Marketing Services Office at Lubbock.

Rains of one-half inch halted harvesting Nov. 28 and 29, but harvest resumed when skies cleared. Harvest was estimated at between 50 and 75 percent off-the-stalk at mid-week. Classings and unclassified carryover were estimated at 30 percent of the 1981 crop through Wednesday. Gins were estimated at 35 to 65 percent through the season.

Lubbock's Marketing Services office classed 219,000 samples during the week ended Dec. 3, Bennett said. This brought the seasons' total to 513,000 and compares with 823,000 grades by the same date last year.

Breaking strength averaged 22 grams per tex. Gins paid growers $70 to $85 per ton for cottonseed.

formulas. The product is "fit" for normal cooking use. Meadow-Fresh, Inc. has also faced legal action for alleged deceptive advertising practices in the states of Utah and Alaska. The company has agreed to a voluntary compliance order in Utah. The company was fined $10,000 in Alaska and was ordered to run corrective advertising throughout the state.

Nationwide Publishers, Inc. another magazine crew has come to the South Plains this week. The company is Nationwide Publishers also known as Mecca Enterprises of Fort Worth. The BBB at Fort Worth reports receiving complaints on the company. Complaints concern alleged non-delivery or delayed delivery of magazines ordered from the publishers, selling practices by independent salespersons, and refund and cancellation problems. Local South Plains complaints have centered around problems with alleged selling practices that the BBB considers misleading.

One thing we've probably all learned is to have an appreciation of things that have worth, and to know their value. To help you learn the value of the electricity you use, Southwestern Public Service Company offers this simple exercise: Take the amount of your last electric bill. Divide this amount by 30 to find the approximate cost of your electricity per day. Then divide that amount by the number of people in your family to determine the cost of your electricity per day, per family member. After all, knowing what electricity is worth is worth knowing. Just look around.

Joe Head, Consumer Services Manager, Roswell

Southwestern was the first electric utility to install a fabric filter environmental-protection device at a large-scale power generation unit. SPS installed the filter—an efficient, economical device for maintaining air quality around a plant—at its first coal-fired plant. As more electricity is generated by burning coal, interest in coal's environmental impact will grow. Even now, other utility companies and the Environmental Protection Agency are studying the performance of SPS's unique system.

If your heating system is thermostatically-controlled, the easiest and most effective way to control your home's energy consumption is to be careful about where you set your thermostat. In winter, set it at 68 degrees or less during the day and 55 degrees or less at night. When your house is unoccupied for more than four hours in the winter, set the thermostat back to 55 degrees. Wearing a sweater or putting an extra blanket on the bed is all that is needed to keep most people comfortable at these temperature settings. Just call your SPS office for more information.

Tips for home energy efficiency

COLLEGE STATION — With winter fast approaching, Texas A&M University Center for Energy and Mineral Resources has provided this checklist on ways to save on home heating bills:

- Check for air leaks. Windows and doors are the obvious place to begin, but obscure places such as wall outlets, switch plates and attic doors also can admit unwanted cold air.
- Check heating equipment. Arrange for a maintenance check of home heating equipment by a heating and cooling contractor/repair service. In the case of a gas-burning furnace, the service person will check the equipment and light your pilot for a fee.
- Change filters. Once your furnace is operating, change the filters once a month to ensure the most efficient operation.
- Provide proper attic ventilation. Proper attic ventilation allows for moisture control in the attic where it is important to keep insulation dry. Blocking or closing off turbine ventilators with plastic bags or other devices is not a good practice since it hinders attic ventilation and moisture control.
- Lower thermostat settings. Thermostat settings should be lowered to at least 68 degrees during the day and further lowered at night before going to bed for substantially lower heating bills.

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN—If you have noticed more cars on the road, longer shopping lines, and a few strange accents, you are beginning to notice the rapid changes taking place in Texas.

A recently published report by the Texas 2000 Commission reveals some surprising statistics and trends. Texas' population has increased by 27% in the last ten years, compared to the 11% increase in the nation. We now have over 14 million people in Texas and should have 22 million by 1990. Metropolitan areas and small cities are rapidly expanding and should continue to do so. Most of our population boom is caused by migration into the state. There are various reasons behind this in-migration. Texas has a favorable climate for Texas business and new and expanded businesses mean greater employment opportunities. We have a high personal income and yet no other parts of our nation are experiencing severe business downturns. Texas business is booming. The fastest growing age groups will be those aged 35 and 49 and those over 65. The challenges before us are unlike any that our forefathers faced. But, as Texans, we have an excellent heritage of confronting challenges head-on. Our systems of state and local governments which have stood up in good stead in the past will continue to be effective vehicles for determining what steps need to be taken.

THE SHAPE OF TOMORROW

Many of the rank-dance special effects you see daily on television are made possible by large scale integrated circuits, which are being processed here.

INTEGRATED CIRCUITS: MAKING TV BETTER AND BETTER

Computer technology is here, there, and everywhere these days. Nowhere has the "digital revolution" been more pronounced than in the television industry. In fact, much of today's televised visual wizardry is made possible by large scale integrated circuits, miniaturized digital devices that pack as much computer power as a room-sized computer did years ago.

For instance, large scale integrated circuits made by TRW Inc. are an important part of CBS' Actiontrak™ instant replay system for sports telecasts. Actiontrak can delineate the path of a Tom Watson putt rolling toward a hole in the U.S. Open and the flight of a Terry Bradshaw pass in a National Football League game.

Beyond that, large scale integrated circuitry helps producers of videotaped TV programs create a dazzling array of special effects. It readily does such things as changing picture size, displaying four images at once, and superimposing graphics—effects that are hard to obtain with film.

"Large scale integrated circuits have been absolutely essential in developing many of the sophisticated new visual techniques in the TV industry," says Karl E. Heller, vice president of TRW Electronic Components Group. "What's more, many TV people believe that the possibilities for digital special effects—as well as for digital taping and editing—have only begun to be explored."

In addition to broadcast television, the circuits are used in security surveillance systems. TV security cameras containing integrated circuits record an image of the area under surveillance, then compare it with subsequent images. Thus, any motion by intruders will be detected and recorded.

On the receiving end, related digital components called converters could provide much better pictures on home TV sets in the future. The converters would eliminate ghost images, adjust and hold colors, and sharpen faint reception—and do so by sampling and correcting incoming TV signals 30 million times per second.

Overall, the future is bright for large scale integrated circuits: they offer the promise of injecting more computer power not only into the TV industry, but into a staggering number of products, from automobiles and games to ovens and machine tools. As one news magazine concludes, "It's almost easier to list the places where integrated circuits won't be used than the places they will."

A new type seat-belt system which gives passengers in the rear seats of automobiles improved protection over conventional lap belts in crashes has been developed by the Hamill Manufacturing Company of Washington, Mich. Hamill is a division of The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company.

The manual, three-point lap-shoulder belts are anchored in the roof framing above and behind the passenger and in the floor on each side of the passenger.

Systems are equipped with dual-spool retractors which lock up snugly in the event of a crash, but give passengers considerable freedom during normal driving, as model Mary Tschirhart demonstrates.

"Downsizing of cars for improved fuel economy and increased car pooling to conserve energy is resulting in greater rear seat occupancy," explained H. George Johannessen, a Hamill official.

He pointed out that older American cars permitted a third person to ride in the front seat. In the downsized cars, this third person occupies a rear seat. Car pooling is increasing as fuel prices remain high, leading to additional rear seat usage, Johannessen said.

Making Computers Easy To Use

Hands-on-experience with real computers is a key part of the Computers Merit Badge Clinic conducted by Nisdorf

Computer Corporation. Scout David Handler, one of many attending these clinics, is guided by computer professionals, such as Truda Wilson, in supplementing individual study for the coveted Computers Merit Badge.

The six hour, day long clinic is part of a course developed by the Data Processing Management Association and sponsored by firms such as Nisdorf in Waltham, Massachusetts.

The Merit Badge Program of the Boy Scouts of America provides opportunities for youth to explore over 100 fields of knowledge and skill...everything from astronomy, oceanography, and space exploration to personal fitness, salesmanship, and wilderness survival. Since 1911, when the program began, more than 70 million badges have been awarded. Over 40 thousand Scouts have earned the Computers Merit Badge.

Horticulturists developing new leaf fertilizer

COLLEGE STATION — Horticulturists at Texas A&M University are developing a plant fertilizer that is sprayed on leaves.

The researchers say mineral supplements, such as nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium and sulphur, absorbed through plant leaves could increase crop productivity, and even improve the looks of ornamental plants.

The work is being conducted at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station with a grant from Allied Chemical Co. of Morristown, N.J.

Bert Stice is home and "around and about" some after major surgery in Lubbock three weeks ago.

Mrs. Dovie Dillard is doing nicely after surgery on last Tuesday. She plans to be home in a few days.

Mrs. Ava Lichey is home after a 10 day stay in Methodist Hospital. Her daughter, Mary Lou Boggus, was with her for two weeks. Her son, Curtis, came last Wednesday and stayed until Saturday. Her sister, Gladys Holden of Big Spring, is here this week. Mrs. Lichey hopes to be able to fly to Corpus Christi for the Christmas holidays.

The Wilson Sewing Club had its annual dutch treat luncheon and gift exchange at Tahoka Cafeteria Monday at noon.

Mrs. Rutha Tilley had visitors from Monahans on Friday night.

Mary Edna Lancaster visited her daughter in Tatum, N.M. on Friday night.

The Past Noble Grand Club and Rebekah Lodge will combine their Christmas Party this year. It will be on Thursday night, Dec. 17, in the home of Willie Childress. Members should bring a covered dish and a gift for exchange. Husbands and other visitors are welcome at this meeting.

Christmas Suit Fund Started

The annual drive to outfit boys at the Cal Farley's Boys Ranch has begun. This has become a traditional way of giving for many people who contribute a $45.00 gift that makes it possible for one of the boys to have a new suit or clothing package.

"The new suits and clothing packages will be the best Christmas presents the boys will receive," Virgil Patterson, Ranch president said.

Contributions to the Christmas Suit Fund may be mailed to Cal Farley's Boys Ranch, P.O. Box 1890, Amarillo, Tx.

Petro-engineering enrollment increasing

COLLEGE STATION -- Petroleum engineering, the highest paying occupation for new college graduates, may also be the hottest field of study on college campuses today, says an expert in the field. Enrollment in the Texas

A&M University petroleum engineering department, the largest in the country, this fall stands at 1,456 students, a 10-fold increase since the Arab oil embargo of 1973.

"The primary reason for the increase seems to be because the starting salaries in petroleum engineering -- where nine out of 10 graduates go right to work for an oil company -- are higher than most areas of study, said Dr. Douglas Von Gonten, head of the department.

The average starting salary last May for a Texas A&M graduate with a bachelor's degree was $27,624. Von Gonten predicts the figure will increase to about $32,000 by May of 1982.

Community Christmas Card Proceeds To Benefit Students At Tahoka High

Phebe K. Warner Club is sponsoring a Community Christmas Card this holiday season. Instead of sending in-town Christmas cards, everyone is invited to have their name added to this Christmas Card list by depositing $5 or more to the special Christmas Card Project account at the First National Bank of Tahoka. This special Community Christmas Card will be printed and appear in the Lynn County News on Dec. 24.

All proceeds from the Community Christmas Card project go to the two scholarship funds, the Maruice Bray Scholarship Fund and the Lady Stewart Scholarship Fund. Each spring a boy and a girl from Tahoka High School are awarded these scholarships in order to continue their education. Often the recipients continually receive these funds as they continue their education.

Anyone who would like to assist Tahoka High School students in furthering their education and who would like to be a part of the Community Christmas Card, is asked to go by the bank and deposit a donation to this account.

Texas Feedlot Inventory Still Low

AUSTIN—The number of cattle in Texas feedlots this November continues to run below last year's figure due largely to high interest rates and improved range conditions this year. Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown announced.

Although the number of cattle in Texas feedlots is down 16 percent from last year there has been a 13 percent increase from last month. "The feedlots are still running at only 60 percent of capacity, and are still losing money," Brown said.

"There are fewer cattle in Texas feedlots this year because the calves just can't gain enough weight to stay ahead of the high interest rates. The producers do not make a profit in trying to feed them," Brown said.

"The numbers are up from last month because this year we had a very mild summer with sufficient rainfall to keep the pastures green through October. As a result the producers have had ample pasture for grazing their herds and have kept them out of the feedlots longer," Brown said.

The frame of an old umbrella hung by its handle makes a good clothes-rack drier for small garments.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

It has come to the attention of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, that some High Plains farmers this year are selling a portion of their cotton on the cash market for less money than it would bring in the non-recourse government loan.

Incredible? Not really. Under present circumstances, it could happen to anybody.

First, all cotton this year is selling close to the loan price. Second, High Plains buyers generally aren't paying a premium for any cotton stapling over an inch. They are filling orders for inch and below cotton, they explain, and gain no price advantage by delivering the longer staples.

But the loan price for Strict Low Middling Light Spot cotton stapling 1-1/16 inches (42-34) is 49.35 cents a pound, 4.05 cents per pound more than the 45.30-cent loan price of the same grade stapling only an inch. Also, when sold in the cash market the merchant deducts about 85 points to cover storage and loading out charges, a charge that isn't made on cotton going into the loan.

Any seller of a single bale of 42-34 cotton who is offered 44.35 cents per pound would recognize that he could get over $20 more for that bale by going to the loan. But High Plains cotton isn't sold a bale at a time or in even running lots.

It's sold in mixed lots that may have a hundred or more bales that staple an inch or less and five, ten, fifteen or twenty bales longer than an inch. A buyer, for example, may offer 250 points over the loan for the entire lot. The net producer payment, after subtracting the 85-point storage and loading charge, of course is only 165 over loan price.

And a close inspection of the recap will often show that the physical price being paid for bales stapling above an inch is not 165 points over the loan price for that staple length, but 165 points over the one-inch loan price, which in fact is well below the true loan value of those bales.

Some producers sell their cotton in this manner because it is a little more convenient to dispose of the whole lot in a single sale, and often as not they go away feeling "cheated."

But both PCG officials and even some cotton buyers suggest a better way. Producers, they say, should get an offer on the cotton in a lot that staples an inch or less, figure what they can get in the loan for cotton over an inch, then compare the total with what the buyer offers for the whole lot.

Under current market conditions many growers will be surprised, states PCG President Gary Ivey of Ralls, to find they can increase total current income by going to the loan with their better cottons and at the same time reserve the right to sell their equity in those cottons should the opportunity present itself at a later date.

Ivey also emphasizes that the government loan is a non-recourse loan, meaning that if prices during the loan period do not rise enough to cover interest and carrying charges the farmer is under no obligation to redeem the cotton and pay those charges.

AT CONVENTION—Ten voting delegates representing Lynn County Farm Bureau recently participated in the 48th annual Texas Farm Bureau convention Nov. 29-Dec. 2 in Corpus Christi. Policies directing the state's largest farm organization were adopted by more than 1,200 delegates from 216 county Farm Bureaus. Conference topics included energy, labor, taxes, water, mineral rights and leasing, and Farm Bureau economic services. Voting delegates representing Lynn County Farm Bureau included front row (left to right): Virginia Dulin, Mrs. T.B. Mason, Lynda Martin, Mrs. Leland White, Mrs. Jimmy A. Bragg. Second row: Ronnie Dulin, T.B. Mason, Fred Martin, Leland White and Jimmy Bragg, Pres.

DPS Conducts Training School

The Texas Department of Public Safety will conduct an additional recruit training school next year to help fill state trooper vacancies, according to DPS Director Jim Adams.

The department usually schedules two of these schools at the academy in Austin each year," Adams said. "Three schools will be necessary in 1982 to bring the DPS up to its authorized strength."

The DPS director said the agency hopes to recruit 208 new troopers during 1982.

"We are intensifying our statewide effort to attract qualified men and women who would like to serve in one of the finest law enforcement organizations in the country," Adams said.

The DPS presently has 86 trooper vacancies within the Highway Patrol ranks and five trooper vacancies in the Driver License Service due to promotions, retirements and attrition.

In addition to the basic traffic safety responsibilities, DPS troopers regularly provide assistance in criminal investigations and disaster-emergency situations.

Trainees live and eat in the academy during the 18-week course.

Recruits earn a starting monthly salary of $1,233. Upon graduation, the officers are paid $1,347 monthly plus allowances for uniforms and equipment. When a trooper completes a year with the department following graduation, he earns $1,537 per month.

DPS trooper applicants must be between 20 and 35 years old and have a minimum of 60 hours of college level credit, must undergo a personal history review and must be in excellent health.

Winter Getaway

When cold weather sets in and spring is but a distant glimmer, a good way to cheer your spirits is to get away from it all.

The Caribbean would be nice, but if winter is your wonderland try the snowy slopes close to home or far away, and take luggage that's easy to handle and easy to pack.

Remember: when packed, any luggage is heavy. Choose good quality that will last and protect. For ski trips, you'll probably take bulkier clothing, so luggage with lots of room and a little "give" is often most convenient. Kicks® from Samsonite, is one alternative to traditional luggage. Life-styled for fun and function, its casual good looks are fashioned in washable, sturdy 420 denier nylon.

If you select "duffle" or "roll and fold" technique for packing.

- Fasten all buttons and zippers.
- Fold blouses, sweaters and parkas in thirds lengthwise before rolling.
- Fold sleeves to the back to eliminate wrinkles.
- Fold ski pants at the

Texas Cotton Harvest Way Ahead of Last Year's

AUSTIN—While estimates for the Texas cotton harvest are down slightly from last month's figures, overall cotton production estimates for the state are still way ahead of last year's, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown announced.

"With 29 percent of the cotton already harvested we are running a little below last month's estimate. We had too much rain in October and not enough sunshine in the High Plains when the cotton really needed it," Brown said.

"While the rain hurt the cotton crop, it has really helped peanut and soybean crops. The estimates for peanut production for

November are up 2 percent from last month and soybeans are up 8 percent from last year," Brown said. "Overall the estimates from last month haven't changed that much, and it looks like it's going to be a good year for Texas production. The profit picture is not as good as we would hope to have. Exports are down and supplies are up," he said.

The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service has reported that Texas upland cotton is down 3 percent from last month's estimate at 5.6 million bales for November, 69 percent above last year's crop. Yield is forecast at 379 pounds, down 13 pounds from the October estimate. Harvested acreage of 7,100,000 acres remains unchanged from the previous month, but up 4 percent from the 1980 acreage. Production of American-Pima cotton is forecast at 25,000 bales, 7 percent below the October estimate. Sorghum production based on November 1 conditions, is forecast at 134,848,000 cwt., unchanged from the October forecast. Yield is estimated at 3,136 pounds per acre from 4,300,000 acres.

How To Buy Christmas Jewelry

Finding the jewelry that suits your needs—and also suits your budget—is best accomplished by working with your local, professional jeweler.

Art Gleim, President of Jewelers of America (JA), a national organization of more than 12,000 professional jewelers, offers some hints to help you work with your jeweler in making selections:

1. Look for the new elegant, lightweight gold pieces. They are available in many styles... some achieve a "heavy" look... others appear "delicate" and hand-crafted in design.

2. Instead of a single large stone, look at the jewelry containing many small diamonds. This "pave" look gives a similar effect at a lower cost.

3. Investigate semi-precious stones such as garnets, turquoise, and jade. Many of today's new and popular designs also incorporate crystal, coral and other lovely natural stones.

4. Pearls are making big fashion news today. If the cultured pearls are beyond your budget, ask your jeweler about baroque, fresh water and seed pearls. They are available in exciting designs.

5. Focus on single pieces such as tie-tacks, stickpins, charms and brooches, rather than earrings and cufflinks. That way, you don't double your cost.

Finally, according to Gleim, it is vital to deal with the local jeweler whom you know and trust. The jeweler with the black and gold "J" on his door is a member of JA, the organization of professionals who are part of your community and dedicated to the highest standards of quality and service.

Add sparkle to your iced cakes by garnishing them with crumbled rock candy.

COTTON TODAY

COTTON USE RISES: Use of cotton by U.S. textile mills rose moderately in October to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 5.8 million 480-pound bale-equivalents. This was 1.2 percent above the September rate but 5.2 percent below October a year ago. Cotton's share of total fiber consumption improved to its best mark since August, 1980, rising to 25.5 percent from 23.6 percent in September. Moreover, cotton's percentage of fiber usage on cotton systems rose to its highest share since November a year ago, reaching 59.8 percent.

In contrast to cotton's improvement, use of most other fiber types declined, as the seasonally adjusted annual rate use of all fibers declined 6.4 percent from the previous month. As a group, man-made fibers sustained a 9.3 percent drop. Rayon and polyester staples, cotton's major competing fibers, declined 6.6 percent and 5.2 percent, respectively.

PRODUCERS TO SPEAK: Cotton growers are scheduled to play a vital role at the 1982 Beltwide Cotton Production-Mechanization Conference Jan. 6-7 in Las Vegas.

Howard Wuertz, Coolidge, Ariz., cotton producer, will discuss crop financing; John S. "Duke" Barr, III, Oak Ridge, La., and Larry Bridges, Arlington, Ga., will discuss their experiences in double cropping cotton with other crops.

A three-member farmer panel will outline systems for high yields. They are Ben Lamensdorf, Cary, Miss.; C.L. "Bill" Scott, Casa Grande, Ariz.; and William F. "Bill" Teeter, Tillar, Ark. Two other growers will outline their experiences in irrigation. They are Armando Gill, irrigation superintendent of Phoenix Agro-Invest, Inc., Aguila, Ariz.; and Larry J. Chrisco, manager of Buena Vista Ranch at J.G. Boswell Co., Bakersfield, Calif.

Analysis of cotton plants for nutrient monitoring will be discussed by R.L. "Bobby" Webster, Waynesboro, Ga., and Eric Muller, agronomist at Salyer Land Co., Corcoran, Calif.

EXPERTS GROW: Net new sales for the 1981-82 marketing year totaled 107,500 running bales during the week ended Nov. 26. This was the 19th consecutive week of sales in excess of 100,000 bales.

The week's top buyers were Japan, 31,900 bales and South Korea, 25,400. Export shipments increased to 119,400, the largest weekly total for the season, and

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower

The spectre of nuclear war has threatened the world for over 30 years.

The United States' response to the awful possibility that mankind might destroy itself has been to maintain a force designed to deter use of these weapons by others — while at the same time seeking a way, through negotiations, to reduce the number and deployment of weapons in the world.

We demonstrated the peacefulness of our motives during the years in which we possessed unquestioned vast superiority. Never did we use even the threat of our nuclear power to further our objectives — even under severe provocation from aggressive powers. Indeed, beginning with President Kennedy's first steps toward the Nuclear Test Ban Treaty, we have sought negotiations to end the nuclear arms race.

On the other hand, the Soviet Union has engaged in a single-minded effort to build its nuclear arsenal beyond the level which would be required to defend itself under any conceivable circumstance. Their goal has not been deterrence, but superiority — a superiority which could be used to further their stated aggressive goals in the world.

Unfortunately, the Soviet Union is on the verge of being able to threaten our security and that of our European allies. We have the national will and the ability to counter that threat through building new weapons of our own. But still we seek the stability that can only come as a result of balanced arms control agreements.

It was this goal which prompted President Reagan to propose new arms reduction talks with the Soviet Union. The United States' proposal in the start talks which began last week in Geneva is to rid Europe of intermediate-range nuclear weapons.

The Soviets have three different missile systems which fall into this category — all with a range of reaching virtually all of Western Europe. And the Soviets continue to add one new SS-20 to its arsenal each week.

If they persist on this course, we and our NATO allies have no choice but to place comparable weapons in Europe. In this way, the Soviets would be unlikely to use their weapons because we would have the ability to effectively retaliate against their own territory. We do not currently have such missiles in Europe.

However, under President Reagan's arms reduction proposal, we would not deploy these new weapons if the Soviet Union agrees to remove their comparable ones. This is the so-called "zero option," and would be a firm step on the road to a safer world.

In fact, the President has said he views these negotiations as a first step. If they are successful, we would hope to expand arms reduction to other kinds of nuclear weapons, and even to conventional forces.

But however much we all would like to see the negotiations succeed we must remember that the threat to world peace can be reduced only through an agreement which provides for equality in forces by all relevant measure of merit. Any agreement must be verifiable, and it must be clear and unambiguous in its terms. Only an agreement which meets these stringent conditions will meet our goal of reducing the risk of war and the risk of aggression.

Blister beetles fatal to horses

COLLEGE STATION — State toxicologists have identified two more species of blister beetles that can kill horses when the insects become trapped in hay fed to the animals. As few as a handful of the beetles, crushed when the hay is baled, can prove fatal to horses. The chemical responsible — called cantharidin — can remain lethal for years, said Dr. John Reagor, head toxicologist for the Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory here, a part of the Texas A&M University System. Cantharidin, a powerful irritant more commonly called Spanish fly, is a normal defense mechanism of the insects and is released when they are crushed during hay baling. The insects often swarm in hay fields and are gathered up in huge numbers by baling equipment, Reagor explained.
