Wilson Water Improvements Loan Okayed

The Farmers Home Administration has approved a $100,000 loan to the City of Wilson for water system improvements, according to the office of U.S. Sen. John Tower.

The loan would be for 40 years at 11.375 per cent for the Wilson project scheduled to include drilling a new water well, install supporting lines and a new ground storage tank with chlorination facilities.

According to Wilson City Councilman Victor Steinhauer and Councilman Jackie Bishop, mayor pro tem, the city will have 90 days to accept the loan in any amount needed up to $100,000.

Wilson now has five operative water wells, and city officials have been advised that equipment in the wells will last longer if the wells are not pumped at maximum, as they are at peak usage periods, mainly in the summer. The ground storage tank which is proposed would have a capacity of about 200,000 gallons.

Using the loan would allow the city to pay out the cost of system improvements without a bond issue. Wilson currently is paying out a bond issue on its sewer system; the only bonded indebtedness the city has, the councilman said. The sewer system bonds are scheduled to be paid off in 1992.

Consulting engineers for the City of Wilson are Parkhill, Smith and Cooper of Lubbock.

THS Students Compete At WTSU Contest

Some of the top students in the area gathered at West Texas State University in Canyon Feb. 18 to compete in a Math, Chemistry and Physics Contest. This "Jets" program, entitled TEAMS (test of engineering aptitude, mathematics and science) was held for the first time this year and will be an annual event.

Marty Cooper, senior, won second place in the math contest. The top three student scores from each school were then totaled, and Tahoka won second place overall in the small school division.

Those seniors attending were Cooper, Jeff Jennings, Roger Dockery, Roddy Williams, Danette Phillips and Denise White. They were accompanied by sponsors, Jo Beth Horney and Pam Vaughan.

Check Voter Certificate, Says Assessor

Lynn County voters need to check their voter registration certificates to be sure they are registered in the correct voting precinct, tax assessor and collector George McCracken said this week.

McCracken said this is necessary because voting precinct lines have been changed, adding that his office at the courthouse in Tahoka should be advised of any changes in moving from one precinct to another, a change of address or a change in name.

Applications may be obtained at Moore Insurance in O'Donnell, the city office in New Home, Wilson Co-Op Gin in Wilson and the tax office in Tahoka.

April 1 is the date by which eligible voters must be registered to vote in the May 1 primary, McCracken said.

TWO MEN, one from Center, Tx. and the other from Graham, were indicted last week on an alleged kickback scheme. The news release which we received about the charges said one of the guys working for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. approved inflated and false invoices from the other, a contractor, "in exchange for monies, entertainment, alcoholic beverages and female companionship."

Sounds like he got just about everything except chocolate pie. But the main thing he got was caught.

THE FIRST day of March was a really beautiful one, with the sun shining and only a slight breeze. I've always heard that if March comes in like a lion, it goes out like a lamb, but I'm not sure if the reverse is true.

Chances are good that we'll have a real rip-snorter of a dust storm pretty soon, maybe even by the time this gets into print. On such days, unfit for humans, we all wonder what we're doing out here, but they're usually followed by nice weather.

Anyway, when we do have a dust storm, or several days of them in a row, please complain as loudly as possible and write everybody you know about how lousy it is. Such publicity is good for us, because it keeps undesirables from wanting to move into this great area.

TOO MUCH idleness is one of my wife's problems, as she doesn't have many duties other than keeping house, working fulltime at the Postoffice, washing my clothes and fixing meals. So she recently decided to take up aerobics and paint the trim on the house.

I don't know everything they do at aerobics, since they won't let me go watch, but I have seen her and couple more females in our family practicing a little. I do know they exercise to music they mostly wouldn't listen to under any other circumstances.

The painting project was a good one, until she decided I needed to help. So I pitched in the other day. While she painted the places closest to the bricks and window panes, I painted the dog, the driveway and my arm, all in spotted patterns.

City Joins Study Of SPS Rates

The City of Tahoka Monday night acted to join a group of other West Texas cities in hiring a rate consultant to study proposals of Southwestern Public Service Co.

for rate increases. The consultant will speak for this and the other cities at the rate hearings before the public utilities commission.

With all councilmen present, the group also approved routine payments related to street and municipal improvements contracts and heard a report from City Manager Carl Reynolds regarding progress of the Community Development Block Grant program in Tahoka. Reynolds said he and John Fisher, Community Development Coordinator, attended a seminar in Lubbock on status of such programs and learned that Tahoka is doing better than most cities in the programs. He noted that Tahoka's program is in the early stages, but is doing well so far.

Councilmen authorized installations of four-way stop signs at the intersection of North 4th St. and Ave. Q, at the northwest corner of the football field.

A resident of N. 5th reported someone knocked on the door, came into the house and then ran out last Tuesday.

An unusually high number of persons were in jail for the week, with 10 being held, including three for driving while intoxicated, three for public intoxication, two for disorderly conduct and one each for bond forfeiture and theft.

HOW TO BE A GOOD COOK

PANTRY HANDY INGREDIENTS YIELD TWO CREATIVE SOUPS

Italian Vegetable Soup is the result of on-hand ingredients.

Being a good cook more often than not means being creative with what's on hand. For example, a can of Campbell's Chunky Vegetable Soup can be transformed into a savvy Italian meal by adding sliced sausage. For a South-of-the-Border flavor, try Mexican-influenced Campbell's Chunky Split Pea with Ham Soup. Chili powder and onion give it kick.

ITALIAN VEGETABLE SOUP

1/4 lb. mild Italian sausage, cut in 1/2" pieces
1 can (19 oz.) Campbell's Chunky Vegetable Soup
In saucepan, cook sausage until done; pour off fat. Add soup. Heat; stir occasionally. Makes about 2 1/2 cups, 2 servings.

LAREDO SPECIAL

1/2 c. sliced onion
1/2 tsp. chili powder
1 tbs. butter
1 can (19 oz.) Campbell's Chunky Split Pea with Ham Soup
1 can (15 1/2 oz.) kidney beans, undrained
In saucepan, cook onion with chili powder in butter until tender. Add soup and beans. Heat; stir occasionally. Makes about 4 cups, 2-3 servings.

Tahoka YH Compiling Cookbook

Common Sense Tips

Hints For Homeowners

DRYERS
Modern automatic dryers have well designed lint filters to help eliminate any "lint picking" problems. However, even the most efficient lint filters need some fabric sorting help from the homemaker.

For instance, home economists from Whirlpool Corporation advise that it is very important to separate lint "givers" from lint "receivers." If you dry terry towels or a chenille robe with synthetic fiber knits or corduroys, you'll have lint all over the items no matter how well the lint filter performs. Synthetic fibers produce static electricity and that causes lint to cling.

It's best to take the extra time to properly sort clothing before drying, say home economists, to avoid those annoying lint problems. Be sure to empty the lint screen after each load. A clean lint screen cuts down on drying time and saves you energy and money.

When we cannot act as we wish, we must act as we can.

Scanning Social Security

By Jim Latimer, Field Representative
Social Security Administration
1205 Texas Ave., Room 102
Lubbock, Tx 79401

Under a pay-as-you-go system, most Social Security taxes paid by workers and their employers are used to pay current benefits. A small part (1.5 percent last year) goes for administrative expenses.

Mr. Myers said the average yield on invested funds was 8.8 percent for the year ending June 30, 1981. "This is closely comparable to the investment yield obtained for that year by life insurance companies in the aggregate." As old low-interest securities mature, and as newer high-interest securities are purchased, the average effective rate of return continues to rise.

Some people suggest that funds be invested primarily in short-term high-interest Government obligations. Mr. Myers acknowledges that short-term interest rates are currently higher but doubts that this trend will last much longer. In general, long-term rates have been somewhat higher than short-term in the past.

With lower rates likely in years ahead, he explained, a change now to short-term securities would not seem advantageous. He said it would be better to have a large amount of long-term investments "locked in" at a reasonably high rate of return. "Also, it is best to choose one investment policy and remain with it, rather than attempting to do better by speculating through jumping back and forth among investment strategies."

The rest—an amount generally equal to a few months benefits—stays in the Social Security trust funds for use if current outgo exceeds income. This reserve is a buffer against economic downturns and provided time for legislative action that may be needed to assure continued financial stability of the program. Reserve funds, by law, are invested in interest-bearing obligations of the United States and of federally sponsored agencies.

Other ways to invest the funds have been suggested but none has gained strong support, according to Robert J. Myers, former Deputy Commissioner of Social Security. All alternatives have overwhelming shortcomings. He said one suggestion is to invest in private stocks or bonds. "With the large amount of money available, however, the Government would control much of the private industrial economy," Mr. Myers pointed out. "And it would, in effect, be setting itself up as a rating organization because the investment procedures would be open to full public view." Another alternative is to invest in socially desirable activities such as housing and hospitals. But this would again mean Government entry into the private arena, explained Myers, and our elected representatives in Congress would have a "conflict of interest" in deciding what is best for the country.

Parents should be aware of what a child really feels "inside" in order to understand why he behaves as he does "outside". Says Diane Welch, a family-life education specialist.

WHAT'S IN IT FOR YOU?

Higher prices for consumer goods, reduced highway safety and longer lines for still costlier gasoline are the hidden costs attached to proposed legislation to deregulate America's trucking industry, says this article by the President of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

By Frank E. Fitzsimmons

In 1935, the Motor Carrier Act extended the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission to trucks and buses. As a result, today the United States has the world's finest distribution and service system. Goods move freely and swiftly through the most remote sections of the country as well as the most heavily populated areas.

This truck distribution system gets more efficient thanks to better equipment, better roads, better productivity of workers, and sometimes, better regulations. Productivity and efficiency gains have been returned to the consumer in the form of lower costs.

The trucking industry has increased its ton-mile revenue only 59% in the last ten years, while wholesale prices have gone up 94%. In this same period the value of the dollar declined nearly 50%. Thus, for every 1967 dollar a shipper spent in truck transportation then, he spends only 77 1/2 cents now in real 1967 dollars. Not every truck and driver in this nation is regulated. A recent study found that nonregulated owner-operators had nearly 3.7 times as many reportable accidents per 100,000 miles as regulated common carriers, over 3.2 times as many moving violations. There are reasons for this. To remain economically solvent, the nonregulated driver regularly violates the hours of driving laws, the speed laws, the laws on safe maintenance of equipment. A major consequence then of deregulation would be enormous increases in truck accidents, not limited to trucks alone, and an enormous squandering of precious fuel by driving too fast.

Since trucks are one of the largest consumers of fuel, using about as much as all our automobiles combined, the automobile driver would wind up paying for the added shortfall every time he filled a gas tank. And every insurance holder would pay equally for the added costs of the economic and human carnage that would result.

If total deregulation comes, I believe the American public can expect a severe crippling of the most efficient transportation system in the world. We could expect thousands of shippers serving outlying communities to go out of business as those who remain rush to serve only the more lucrative big city to big city business.

I believe the higher insurance costs, higher fuel bills, and higher freight rates that fewer carriers are able to charge, would have to be borne by each and every American.

The American public might be well-advised to tell Congress to turn thumbs down on actions which would lead to increased carnage on the highway, a waste of precious fuel, higher prices and negative effects on energy and America's trade imbalance.

SQUINTING

People who squint a lot probably need glasses. This is often a sign of nearsightedness. Nearsighted people who don't have glasses will squint to sharpen their focus when looking at something. It may solve the problem temporarily, but it can also cause eyestrain and headaches. And squinting doesn't do much for your personal appearance.

Some adolescents tend to squint when they're growing up. By the time they are 20 or 21 many of them will realize that their nearsightedness is a problem that needs help.

In some cases the nearsightedness will improve by then. Sometimes it gets progressively worse. But for most people, the degree of nearsightedness has reached a plateau by the time they're fully grown.

The problem may be in one eye or in both eyes. Only an eye examination can determine that. But with the proper glasses, "Squinters" will have normal vision again and will no longer have to strain their eyes to see clearly.

To The Citizens of Tahoka:
The observance of Texas Public Schools Week during the first week of March annually provides many of our citizens the only "excuse" for visiting in our public schools. As secretary of the Tahoka School Board, I would suggest that the citizens of this community consider Texas Public Schools Week as an "opportunity", not an "excuse", to go into our classrooms to observe what the students really are doing in school.

Attitudes Toward Education annually have indicated that the more people know FIRST HAND about the public schools, the more favorable are their views; the less interested and less well informed, the less favorable. Most important is the fact that persons who depend on someone else for their information are most critical of the schools. Although there are undoubtedly areas in which schools can and should be improved, I believe that there is more right with education than there is wrong with it.

In the old days, when life was simpler, the school had an assignment, the parents did their job, the neighborhood did their job, the churches did their job. There was a connection and a cohesion that has been disrupted by all the revolutions we have been through. Today, schools are asked to administer more and more social programs, are MANDATED to implement federal and state programs relating to handicapped students, sex equity compliance, racial integration, bilingual education, and health and safety regulations. And all of this is expected to be accomplished with your tax dollar squeezed even smaller by double-digit inflation.

Clearly, the public schools are faced with problems—many that arise from attempting to cope with academic and social needs that did not even exist a decade ago. But just as clearly, the public schools have survived and done well for over 200 years of this nation's history. Let's look at a few facts from that history:

The students that people claim cannot read are most likely the students who would have been grade school drop-outs if they had been born 30 years sooner. We are keeping students in school longer than ever before. In 1910 the average 25-year-old American had only eight years of formal education. Today, the average is 12.9. The results show

it. Our education system is probably the greatest single factor in our very advanced technology. First on the moon, first airplane, first TV, first radio, telegraph, sewing machine, cotton gin. First in so many other things that the list is endless. And when we keep students in school longer, they learn more. Maybe not as much in depth as you and I did, but more in the sense that there is so much more to learn about than when we were in school. Just think of all of the history that has been made and all of the scientific discoveries that have taken place since you and I were in school. And education is also giving students today a better self-perception of their own abilities. Why else would the percentage of students going on to college be up from 43 percent in 1950 to over 60 percent today? Education does have its problems, but the good far outweighs the bad. And most important of all is the fact that public education is available to all. That is a basic principle of our government. We in the public schools educate all children—regardless of their race, creed, sex, or physical condition. And, as such, we are working with students that private schools, and even public schools in other countries will not even accept.

Yes, I am proud of what we are doing in the Tahoka Public Schools. But then you would expect me to say that because of my involvement

GTE Provides Action Line For Consumers

General Telephone customers who have unresolved or lingering phone service problems can now get action by calling the toll-free number of the new GTE Consumer Action Line, according to O.D. Hearn, General Telephone's Brownfield division manager.

Hearn said the Consumer Action Line is for customers who have already called General Telephone's repair service or business office but feel their problems still haven't been satisfactorily resolved. The primary purpose of the action line is simple—to get prompt action for the customer, he said.

Customers can call the no-charge number at 505-397-6363 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, except holidays. If a customer calls after 5 p.m., a recording will give the Consumer Action Line hours. It also will advise the customer to call the company's repair service listed in the directory if an emergency exists.

The Consumer Action Line serves General Telephone's Brownfield and Hobbs divisions, which provide phone service to some 77,300 customers.

The average SPS customer spends the same percentage of his budget for electricity as he did in 1976. SPS keeps electric service costs lower by engineering and designing its own power plants, cooling towers and certain pollution-control devices. SPS is continuing its research into alternative energy sources to guarantee that our customers will have a reliable supply of electric power.

Jim Martin, district manager, Clovis.

SPS employees pay the same rate for electric service as do the Company's other customers. Although some utility companies in other areas offer special employee rates, SPS employees do not receive a discount on their electric service.

Jim Steinhilper, senior rate analyst, Amarillo.

SPS must build new power plants to take advantage of coal, a more reliable, less expensive fuel. Gas-fired plants cannot be economically converted to other fuel sources, so SPS must construct coal-fired plants to meet the energy needs of its customers. Coal-fired plants are more expensive to construct than gas-fired, but the SPS engineering and design staffs are able to build coal-fired plants at about one-half the national average.

Farm Program Is Discussed At Rotary

The current farm situation was discussed by County Agent Stanley Young at Rotary Thursday noon in citing the Reagan administration's efforts to take "government out of farming."

He cited the conflict of interests as a deterrent to arriving at a desirable government farm program. Farm organizations, themselves, are at odds with each other, as well as the opposition of urban people, consumers, unions, the far left and far right--all adding to the conflict of interest.

Disaster and low yield payment guarantees of past years that bailed out many farmers from disaster because of the price squeeze and high interest rates, are now a thing of the past.

Some help this year will come from the deficiency payment of 7.67 cents per pound with cotton prices near the Government loan level.

He cited the increased target price and loan price for 1982 and future years of some help. And, he said the 15 percent acreage set-aside may help some.

Also, he cited some of the changes in agriculture that are being predicted for future years, including combining of smaller farms, specialization, vertical integration, decline in open marketing, increased exports, increased farming costs, changes in ownership, and fewer but larger farms.

V.F. Jones, in charge of the program, introduced the speaker.

High Plains growers sold mixed lots of mostly grades 42 and 52, staples 31 and 32, mikes 35-49 at about 45 cents per pound, up 50 points from a week earlier. Grade 52, staple 32, mikes 30-32 sold around 39-40 cents, up 25 points. Gins paid growers $70 to $80 per ton for cottonseed, mostly $75.

Lubbock's Marketing Services Office classed 21,000 samples during the week ended Feb. 25 for a season's total of 2,137,000. This compares with 1,614,000 classed by the same date one year ago.

Predominant grades were grade 42 at 17 percent, grade 52-38 percent, grade 43-11 percent and grade 53 was 18 percent. About 87 percent of the samples were reduced one grade because of bark. Ten percent was below grade.

Predominant staples were staple 29 at 14 percent, staple 30-45 percent, staple 31-30 percent and staple 32 was seven percent for an average of 30.3 thirty-seconds of an inch.

Micronaire 35-49 was 15 percent, 33-34 was 14 percent, 30-32 was 27 percent, 27-29 was 26 percent and 26 or below was 17 percent for an average of 30.

U.S. consumers spend only a third as much ($5.1 billion) on foreign travel as they do on religious and welfare activities ($15.4 billion).

LUBBOCK, Friday, February 26, 1982

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has "projected" target price deficiency payment rates for the 1983 crops of cotton, wheat, corn, and sorghum, but cautions that the projections "in no way represent USDA expectations for payment rates."

Using current price levels and sales volumes as a starting point and guessing at prices and sales for the remainder of the year, the current-year projected deficiency payment rate came to 9.8 cents per pound for cotton, 15 cents per bushel on corn, 18 cents per bushel on sorghum and 30 cents per bushel for wheat.

The projections are necessary under current law as a means to effectuate a provision aimed at giving fair treatment under acreage reduction programs to those producers affected by the $50,000 limit on total payments to any one farmer. Simply put, the law states that when there is an indication that a producer's total payments on all crops will be reduced by a given percentage, that farmer's acreage reduction requirement shall be reduced accordingly.

To decrease a farmer's acreage reduction requirement on the 1982 crop and to know how much to reduce the requirement, a top USDA official explained to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., "We have to project as best we can a deficiency payment rate on all affected crops before planting time. But it should be made clear that these projections are not predictions, or even estimates," he continued, "because we know full well that the figures can and probably will change as production and demand prospects change in coming months."

At signup time Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service offices will calculate what each farmer might receive in payments on all crops this year and set the level of his required acreage cutback for the respective crops accordingly if the amount exceeds $50,000.

For example a cotton farmer with a 2,000-acre base in 1982 would normally be required to idle 300 acres (15 percent of 3,000). But if the figures show that his aggregate payments may add up to $100,000, only half of which he could receive because of the limitation, his acreage reduction requirement will be cut in half also, to 150 acres.

However the remaining 150 acres cannot be planted to cotton. They can be planted to soybeans or other program crops on which the producer does not choose to meet reduction or conservation requirements. This restricts or even nullifies the value of the provision to High Plains farmers who have no viable alternative to cotton. But in those areas where more than one program crop is grown, the benefit to producers can be substantial.

The safety razor was invented in 1895.

FRUIT TREES NEED ANNUAL "LUBE" JOB

Have you given your fruit and nut trees their annual "lube" job? This refers, of course, to an application of dormant oil to control scale insects.

Why control insects? The answer is simply to save the tree. If a scale insect such as the San Jose scale or white peach gets started, it could kill your tree.

Dormant oil can be purchased at many different stores where garden supplies are sold. Be sure to follow all label directions and apply the mixture when the temperature is between 4-70 degrees F. Do not apply if a freeze is likely within 48 hours after application, and do not apply after the tree has budded out. Dormant oil is applied when the tree is dormant. Spraying flowers and leaves could cause leaf burn and flower drop.

Scale insects are difficult for most people to detect, so dormant oil should be applied once each year. Sooner or later your tree will probably be attacked by scale insects, so be ready by guarding against them with an application of dormant oil. CONTROL PESTS IN GARDENS

With the spring gardening season looming ahead, it's time for home gardeners to start thinking about controlling soil pests.

Soil pests feed on sprouting seed; tender shoots and roots of developing plants. They are usually most severe where gardens are planted in new areas previously covered with grass.

Soil insects include cutworms, wireworms, false wireworms, white grubs, soil maggots and rootworms.

Each year many gardens have to be replanted due to soil insect damage. Soil insects are difficult to control once damage begins to show up in planted gardens.

For best results, home gardeners should inspect the proposed garden plot before planting. Examine a spade full of soil at several locations in the garden plot. If soil pests are found, apply an approved insecticide at least two weeks before planting.

Diazinon will control most soil pests. For each 1,000 square feet use three-fourths cup of diazinon 25 percent EC (emulsifiable concentrate) or one-half cup diazinon 50 percent WP (wettable powder) in three gallons of water. Apply the mixture evenly and work it into the soil to a depth of 4 to 6 inches.

Protect transplants from soil pests by using two teaspoons of diazinon 25 percent EC or three teaspoons diazinon 50 percent WP per gallon of water and applying one cup of this solution to the base of each transplant. Cutworms and pillbugs may be controlled with Sevin bait (5 percent) which is approved for use on most vegetables. Check the label for specific recommendations.

For further information concerning soil insects and their control, get a copy of Extension publication B-1300, "Vegetable Garden Insects and Their Control," at the county Extension Office.

Insurance Meeting Set

All-Risk Crop Insurance will have a countywide meeting Friday for anyone interested in all-risk crop insurance and the changes for the 1982 crop year.

The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. in the Lynteger building in Tahoka, with district director Carey Johnson of Lubbock presiding.

COTTON USE IMPROVES: To begin the new calendar year, cotton use by U.S. mills increased 7.8 percent, rising from a record low 4.6-million bale annual rate in December to a seasonally adjusted 5-million-bale rate in January.

Cotton's share improved appreciably, climbing from 22.4 percent in December to 25.2 percent in January. Total mill fiber consumption dropped to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 19.9 million bale-equivalents, 4.2 percent lower than December and 15.4 percent less than the year-ago rate.

EXPORT SALES CONTINUE: Net new cotton sales for the 1981-82 marketing year totaled 74,400 running bales during the week ended February 18.

This brought the season's total commitments to 6,125,700 bales.

The week's top buyers were South Korea, 31,000 bales; Japan, 12,900; and Taiwan, 12,300. Export shipments increased to 153,400 bales to bring the season's total to 3,087,700. Net new sales for 1982-83 were 11,200 bales, the National Cotton Council reports.

WEEVIL BATTLE BOOST-ED: Preliminary results show that cotton farmers in North Carolina counties where the boll weevil eradication trial was successfully completed in 1980 recently voted strong approval for an additional self-assessment to fight the pest.

A referendum action in 25 northern counties in North Carolina commits growers to payment of $10 per acre for each of three years to maintain the present buffer zone or to establish a new one in South Carolina if the program is enlarged.

Cotton growers in the remainder of North Carolina and all of South Carolina soon will vote in a mail referendum on a plan to extend the eradication zone into South Carolina and the buffer zone to the Georgia state line. If approved by a two-thirds majority, growers would pay up to 80 percent of the total cost, or about $80 per acre spread over 1982, 1983, and 1984 crop years, the National Cotton Council reports.

Cotton Trading Slows, Demand Weakens

Trading slowed and demand weakened in Lubbock's spot cotton market during the week ended Feb. 25, according to Mack Bennett, Area Director for USDA's Marketing Services Office at Lubbock.

Growers continued to enter cotton into Commodity Credit's loan program. An estimated 1.2 million bales of High Plains cotton had entered as Form A, Form G or seed cotton by mid-week. Equity bids ranged from $4.00 to $8.00 per bale but no trading was reported, Bennett said.

U.S. textile mills used an average of 19,000 running bales of cotton per day during January, up from 15,800 per day in December. Mills used 379,400 bales during the month of January bringing the August-January total to 2,576,000 or about 46 percent of the estimated 5.8 million net weight bales to be used during the 1981-82 season.

"Older Worker Week" Set March 14-21

To recognize the importance of meaningful employment for senior Americans, the U.S. Dept. of Labor has announced March 14-21 as "Older Worker Week". Texas Farmers Union Green Thumb, a rural senior employment program, is encouraging both public and private employers to join them in honoring older employees during this week. Older Worker Week is an annual event designed to spotlight the valuable qualities of the mature worker. Green thumb employs about 1,000 senior Texans in 107 counties. Sponsored by Texas Farmers Union, the program provides part-time work opportunities for people over 55 who are "loaned" to non-profit organizations to provide needed services in rural communities.

Fun With Microwaves

Will the chef's hat at your house fit the kids? You bet it will—especially when the cooking is done with microwaves! It's fun and easy for youngsters to learn the fundamentals of microwave cooking. It is the safest and most economical way to cook for the entire family. The microwave oven can save as much as 75 percent of the electricity required when a dish is prepared by other means. When the savings in time and energy, as well as the added safety is considered, microwave cooking is a great advantage for children as well as adults.

Here are some recipes that have been proven to be successful for children to prepare.

PIZZA BUNS

1 lb. ground beef
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup pizza sauce
1 cup shredded Mozzarella cheese
8 to 10 hamburger buns, sliced

Crumble ground beef into 1 1/2 quart glass casserole. Add onion. Cover with lid. Microwave (high) 4 minutes. Stir to break meat into small pieces, continue microwaving until no longer pink. 1 to 2 minutes. Drain off juices. Stir in salt, pepper and pizza sauce; cover. Microwave (high) 5 to 6 minutes or until hot and bubbly. Stir in 1/2 cup of the cheese. Arrange bottom half of buns on glass plate. Spoon meat mixture onto buns. Sprinkle with remaining 1/2 cup cheese. Top with other half of buns. Microwave (high) 1 to 1 1/2 minutes or until cheese just starts to melt. Yield 8 to 10 sandwiches.

CRUNCHY MUNCHERS

1 cup (6 oz. pkg.) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1 cup (6 oz. pkg.) butter-scotch pieces
1/2 cup peanut butter
2 cups miniature marshmallows
3 cups crisp rice cereal
Butter an 8-inch square pan; set aside. Combine chocolate pieces, butter-scotch pieces and peanut butter in 2-quart glass bowl. Microwave (high) uncovered, 2 minutes. Stir. Continue microwaving 1 to 2 minutes or until pieces are melted. Stir until smooth; stir in marshmallows. Mix in cereal until evenly coated with chocolate. Pour into buttered pan; press evenly into pan with spoon. Refrigerate about 1 hour or until set. Cut into squares. Yield: 24 to 30 snacks.

EGG 'N MUFFIN

2 English Muffins
Butter or margarine
2 slices bacon
2 eggs
2 tablespoons milk or water
Salt and pepper
2 slices processed American Cheese
Split muffins. Toast muffins in toaster or under broiler until golden brown. Spread cut surface with butter; set aside. Place a paper towel on a plate. Top with bacon slices. Place another paper towel over bacon. Microwave (high) 1 1/2 to 2 minutes or until bacon is crisp; set aside. Break eggs into cereal dish; mix with fork until scrambled. Stir in milk. Microwave (high) uncovered, 45 seconds. Stir; microwave 15 to 45 seconds or until set, yet creamy. Place two muffin halves on glass plate. Break each bacon slice into two pieces and arrange on each muffin half. Spoon egg onto bacon. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Top each with a cheese slice and the other muffin half. Microwave (high) uncovered, 1/2 to 1 minute or until cheese starts to melt. Yield: 2 sandwiches

Post United Convalescent Home News

We are excited about our plans for this summer. We are planning to plant a garden and flower beds. Also, plans are in the making for a fence at the back of the home so we can have a place to sit outside. In order to do this we are going to have a Yard Sale. The date to be announced at a later time. Everyone is busy making things to sell.

While we had pretty weather we went for walks. Oscar Babb, Thomas Warren, Clovis Hudman, Bonnie McMahon, Henrietta Nichols, Eunice Porter, Nell Mathews and Darlene Rylant enjoyed the nice sunshine.

Our hearts were saddened over the death of Golden Johnson and Dessie Duren.

Our bingo winners these last weeks were Henrietta Nichols and Gladys Wood. We have movies every week. These movies are presented compliments of the library.

Kenneth Cook came and played the piano and sang for us. Our own Myrtle Andrews also sang. The Senior Citizens will be here every first Tuesday. Thursday night, March 4, Noel White and Jane Mason will be here to play and sing for us.

A special thanks to all our volunteers.

For the food, cards, flowers, prayers and your presence, we are deeply grateful. We especially want to thank Thelma Raindl, Mable Spruiell, Earlene Tippitt and Kay Cummings for the loving care they have given. Also we thank the law enforcement officers who attended the service and served as honor guards.

Experiencing the love you have shown us has made our loss easier to bear.
