NOW IS THE TIME for all of us who live in West Texas to consider what we will do when a tornado is approaching. Some folks go to the cellar every time there's a cloud in the sky, while others like to show how brave they are and pay no attention even when the funnel is visible.

Something in between makes the most sense. Everyone should have a plan of action when a tornado is actually sighted and moving their way. Most of us don't have cellars or storm shelters, but it's not a bad idea to know where one is.

Tornadoes can strike anywhere anytime, but the most prevalent season for twisters in this area is March through May. And out here away from Lubbock we usually don't get a whole lot of information on threatening storms until it would be too late.

Every community including this one has a warning system of some kind, using the fire sirens. These are sounded by people who keep watch, and who won't sound them unless there is a real danger.

The tornado warning in Tahoka is four short blasts on the fire siren. A continuous sound, unwavering, is a fire here, and three short blasts is fire practice. This shows how important it is to have a good education, because if you can't count up to four, you could be in trouble.

The Texas Almanac lists the state's worst tornadoes judged on a basis of how many persons were killed, rather than on damage. Lubbock's 1970 twister, which continues to be in the news around here, killed 26 persons, which is terrible enough, but the Waco twister of 1953 killed 114 persons. And 53 were killed in the Wichita Falls-Vernon storm of April, 1979.

You can't always tell if there's a real danger just by listening to Lubbock TV. But when they start saying things like "there's a reported tornado on the ground in Gaines County, headed northeast," (or Seminole is now three miles southwest of Tahoka ), it's time to do something.

The National Weather Service has some suggestions which might save your life, with the main rule being to stay away from windows, doors and outside walls, and protect your head. Other rules:

In homes and small buildings, go to the basement or an interior part on the lowest level--closets, bathrooms or interior halls. Get under something sturdy.

In schools, nursing homes, hospitals or shopping centers, go to designated areas. Interior halls on lowest floors are usually best.

In Washington, go wherever Ronald Reagan does. (The weather service didn't suggest this, but it seems reasonable).

In mobile homes or vehicles, get out and go to a substantial structure when the funnel approaches. If no shelter is near, lie flat in the nearest ditch or culvert with your hands covering your head.

Don't bother opening windows to help equalize air pressure, says the NWS. Time spent opening windows is better spent seeking safety, and the pressure difference hardly is changed by opening them anyway.

The weather service didn't suggest that you pray when the twister tornado approaches, but almost everybody realizes about that time what a good idea it is.

One other tornado comment: I've covered several tornadoes, and read many more news stories about them. Quite often somebody will say "it sounded just like a freight train." What I want to know is why nobody ever says it sounded like a passenger train.

Banking Changed In 75 Years

When the old First State Bank of Tahoka became First National Bank of Tahoka in March, 1907, it was the beginning of what now has grown to 75 years of banking service by one institution to citizens of Tahoka and the surrounding area.

A lot of changes in banking practices have occurred during the years, and today (Thursday) the bank is celebrating its 75th anniversary with open house activities from 4 to 6 p.m.

There will be refreshments, people in early 1900s costumes, a female quartet singing some old-fashioned songs, two antique autos on display, some early-day banking equipment, gifts for visitors and special recognition of some persons who have been doing business with the bank for many years.

F.B. (Pete) Hegi, chairman of the board of directors of the bank, has been with the institution longer than anyone else, having joined the staff in 1929. Over the years he has held practically every office in the bank, including president.

Deposits Grow
In 1907 deposits in First National Bank of Tahoka reached $86,000, and three-quarters of a century later, deposits total more than $38 million.

O.L. Slaton was the first president of the bank and W.D. Nevels was cashier. Directors in 1907 were Walter Posey, Jack Alley, E.D. Skinner, G.W. Coughran, G.W. Reed and Nevels, followed shortly by S.N. McDaniel and A.L. Lockwood.

Current directors are Frank Barrow, who also is president; W.H. Eudy, Hegi, Fred B. Hegi Jr., W.T. Kidwell, C.T. Louder, Nat Park, Wayland Taylor Sr., Clint Walker, Bryan Wright and advisory directors Bob Haney, Jim Payne and Charles Wooldridge. Officers in addition to Hegi and Barrow are Will Parker, senior vice president and cashier; Ladd Roberts and John Krey, vice presidents; Margie Craig, assistant vice president; and J.W. Inkebarger, assistant cashier.

Close For Hour
The bank will close today from 3 to 4 p.m. to prepare for reopening at 4 or the celebration. Around 5 p.m. there will be a special recognition of longtime customers, with Belton Howell, who has been a bank customer since the bank opened, to be honored.

Paul Bush of Lubbock is scheduled to have on display outside the bank a 1911 Buick, and Lynn County resident Harley Martin will bring a 1936 Ford.

"Sound So Rare" is the name of the Sweet Adelines singers from Lubbock who will perform as visitors mingle and enjoy refreshments of popcorn and lemonade. Some former officers and workers in the bank from years past are scheduled to be on hand, too.

The bank for many years was situated at Main and S. 1st. It was moved into its present modern facilities in 1971.

When the bank opened in 1907, all bank record were kept in long-hand, but in 1912 a typewriter was purchased and later bookkeeping machines added. Over the years, the latest electronic and computerized equipment have been added as they were developed, so record-keeping is quite different now.

Slaton Praised
Walter B. Slaton, who joined the bank as a 19-year-old clerk in 1907, was one of the main guiding forces of the bank for a half century, and is described by Hegi as "the greatest banker I've ever known." Slaton was president of the bank from 1956 until his death in 1961. In the first years of Hegi's work with the bank, he recalls there were no vacations, and the bank stayed open from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., closed an hour for supper, and then the employees would come back and work until the posting was finished.

In the 30s, loans were not large by today's standards--"a man could make a crop on a thousand dollars," Hegi said.

Several businesses in the city this week noted the occasion of the bank's birthday by placing newspaper advertisements lauding the institution as a vital force in progress of the community.

BELTON HOWELL, 95, RECALLS EARLY 1900s INCIDENTS

He's Been FNB Customer Since Bank Opened

By FRANK HILL

H.B. (Belton) Howell is, without a doubt, the oldest living customer of the 75-year-old First National Bank of Tahoka.

At age 20, he began doing business with First National about the time it was chartered on March 16, 1907. Actually he may have done business with the First State Bank, established the year before and converted on the above date to the First National, with the same stockholders.

Although they still maintain their home in Tahoka, Mr. Howell, 95, and wife, Birdie, 87, are now living in a mobile home in Odessa at 412 East 57th Street, to be near their only child, S. Wade Howell and family. The couple celebrated their 66th wedding anniversary here last Nov. 29.

Howell was born in Comanche County on Sept. 9, 1886. He came to Lynn County with his parents, the late S.H. Howells, in 1902, the year before this county was organized. They first settled northeast of Tahoka Lake near the Lynn-Lubbock county line, and a few years later his father bought land near Lynn community. They moved to Tahoka in 1907.

Memory Sharp
In a recent interview with Bank President Frank Barrow and Frank Hill, Belton told many interesting stories of the bank and other early day events. In spite of age, his memory is very sharp.

During his long residence here, Howell has worked as a cowboy, stockman and farmer, freighted by wagon from Big Spring, carried mail and freight from Tahoka to the new town of Post, operated the first Tahoka garage and service station and had one of the first automobiles in the county, engaged in wholesale oil business, owned a soft drink bottling works, and other enterprises. Over the years, he acquired considerable farm and city property.

He recalls that O.L. Slaton and W.S. Posey of Lubbock's First National Bank organized First State Bank of Tahoka in the spring of 1906, with W.D. (Bill) Nevels the cashier, Jack Alley and G.W. Coughran, directors. Paid up capital stock was $10,000.

These directors the next year applied for and were granted incorporation as a National Bank, at which time Alley became vice president, and E.D. Skinner and G.W. Reed were added to the board. By May 20, 1907, First National reported total resources of $82,559.90 and deposits totaling $48,042.09. (The writer has added these facts to Mr. Howell's comments.)

Slaton Arrives

About this time young Walter B. Slaton, 19, nephew of O.L. Slaton, came to Tahoka as a bank clerk, ultimately to rise to president of the institution.

"In those days", Howell said, "a $25 loan was a pretty sizeable one. A bank loan of $100 to a customer had to have a co-signer on the note. The 10 percent interest was taken off the top, and borrower got only $90 in cash."

The original little frame bank building was located on the north side of the square about where the rear of the old two-story brick now stands.

Howell recalls that G.W. Small Sr., father of George Small, was an early day stockholder and director, and Bart Reece had about $1,300 in stock. There was no North Main street then, as this street was not opened up until about 1909 by A.D. Shook, developer.

Private Bank

Lynn County Bank, a private institution, was established by W.K. Ray about the same time as First State Bank. Ray died about 1909, and First National bought its assets from his widow, Mrs. Ray.

When "Cereal King" C.W. Post bought the Garza and Lynn County ranch lands and started Post City, he made a deal with W.K. Ray's Lynn County Bank for handling his company funds. But, says Howell, who was carrying the mail to the new settlement at the time, most of the ranchers over there did business with Tahoka's First National Bank until after Post secured a bank.

A.L. (Ance) Lockwood, early day cowboy who was acquiring some land, went to Candad to settle his deceased brother's estate, and Howell thinks Lockwood inherited about $30,000 from the estate. Anyway, on the return home, Lockwood stopped off in Lubbock and bought O.L. Slaton's and W.S. Posey's stock. Lockwood, majority stockholder, became the new First National President, and W.B. Slaton succeeded W.D. Nevels as cashier.

Howell says Walter Slaton, like Bill Nevels, was a sound banker and "a yes or no man." One day a certain man asked Walter Slaton for a loan, and Walter's answer was a quick "No."

"You let Belton Howell have money anytime he wants it," the man told Slaton.

"You know why?" Slaton replied, "Belton will pay it back and you won't."

Business Goes On

During the Depression of the 1930s, President Franklin D. Roosevelt ordered a bank holiday. Mr. Slaton complied by locking the front door, but the back door remained open, and business went on as usual.

One one occasion, some people feared the bank might fail. One day a man walked in and told Slaton he was withdrawing his account. Slaton told him to go to the teller's window and get his money and to tell anyone else who wanted to withdraw their accounts to come in and do so. There was no "run" on the bank.

Howell recalled that "Pete" Hegi, now chairman of the board, came to First National in 1929. R.B. "Casey" Jones, now of Plains, was with the bank from 1916 until late in 1924. See HOWELL Page 6

The back bodice exposed a keyhole neckline of all over chantilly lace and fell to a natural waistline.

The bishop sleeves were of chantilly lace and gathered to a wide cuff of chantilly lace with a narrow organza ruffle at the wrist.

An organza skirt with chantilly lace appliques fell from the waist and featured a chantilly flounce which encircled the hemline and extended around the length of the chapel-length train. Her silk illusion veiling, caught to a Juliet capulet of lace and seed pearls, fell into three tiers of waltz length.

The bride's bouquet was a cascading arrangement of spring flowers held with white satin to a white Bible carried by the bride's mother at her wedding.

Kim White of Lubbock was maid of honor and Donniece Hancy of San Angelo was bridesmaid. Both wore long dresses of apricot chiffon featuring a flounce which was caught at the waist in back and cascading to the floor.

City Finances In Good Shape, Says Official

City of Tahoka will begin its new fiscal year on April 1 in pretty good financial condition. City Administrator Carl Reynolds stated in a talk at Rotary last Thursday.

There will be no tax increase, operations were held within the budget this past year, and the year ends with a surplus of nearly $13,000 - general fund, $6,000; Water, $6,000, and Sanitation, $854, Reynolds said.

Bonded indebtedness, he said, is much lower than most other area towns. Bonds being retired are only the general revenue bond issue of $175,000 and the $250,000 water and sewer revenue bonds.

He said purchase and treatment of water and debt service this year has been $55,000. Most of the water receipts go to the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority.

Drainage Problems

One problem the City would like to solve is the rainwater drainage problem along the City's four blocks at the west edge of town on Country Club Road, where some improvement has been made but efforts to get Texas Highway Department to help out have been unsuccessful so far.

Another water drainage problem in town from the postoffice south is being helped by paving one block south to Senior Citizens Center, eliminating a virtual dam in that street.

Reynolds also touched briefly on the three-year Community Development program being financed by a federal block grant. Streets in South Tahoka are being paved, water and sewer lines improved, dilapidated buildings torn away, and some homes improved. Already, this project is resulting in property owners in the project area paying up delinquent taxes. Furthermore, the City's tax base in the project area is expected to increase substantially in the city, county, and school district.

New Truck

The Fire Department is badly in need of a new fire truck. When prices on a new truck were quoted at from $35,000 to $75,000, firemen proposed to City Council that they buy a truck chassis, which has already been done, and build their own at a saving of about $15,000. City of Lubbock and other area towns have successfully built their own trucks, he said, and qualified mechanics here can do the same.

Ladd Roberts introduced the new vice president of First National Bank, John Krey, who comes here from the Production Credit Assn. in Lubbock. He expects to move his family here later.

Jim Wright arranged the program and introduced the speaker.

Roby Farmer Seeks Post In Legislature

Steven A. Carriker, 31, of Roby, has announced he will seek for the Democratic nomination for State Representative in the newly-created 78th district of Texas. The sprawling 78th district covers 12 counties, including Cottle, King, Knox, Lynn, Garza, Kent, Stonewall, Scurry, Jones, Nolan, and rural Taylor, as well as Carriker's home county of Fisher.

A farmer and livestock producer, Carriker said that people of the small towns and rural areas "need one of their own to stand up for them in the halls of government." He went on to say that although the state house is dominated by the large urban interests, that rural and small town people have an opportunity, due to the configuration of the new district, to elect their own candidate to the legislature.

Carriker called attention to the special problems faced by the schools, the agricultural and business communities, and the elderly of the 78th district and emphasized his desire to work for the often overlooked interests of those groups in Austin.

Carriker and his wife Kathy live on the family farm in eastern Fisher county. They have a six year-old son and are expecting their second child in May.

Born in Roby, Carriker is the son of Dorothy Carriker of Abilene and the late Max Carriker. He attended Western Texas College in Snyder and graduated from the University of Texas with a bachelor's degree in government.

He has been on the board of directors of Farmer Union Co-op Gin in Roby, Rolling

Mrs. Mark White Due In Tahoka

Mrs. Linda Gale White, wife of Texas Atty. Gen. Mark White, was scheduled to make a one-hour appearance in Tahoka Wednesday afternoon in behalf of her husband's campaign for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Texas.

Described by associates as an energetic campaign worker, Mrs. White is traveling across the state especially to organize and tell women of the role they must play in the political process and to generate support for her husband's campaign.

She has been a teacher and businesswoman, is a strong supporter of the arts, and is active in several civic and social organizations, mostly in Austin where she lives with her husband and three children, Wells, 11; Andy, 9, and Elizabeth, 7. The Whites are active members of Hyde Park Baptist Church.

Born in 1942, Linda Gale grew up in Irving, attended Baylor University and graduated in 1964 with a degree in business administration.

She later was on the faculty of schools in Houston and Austin, marrying in 1966. In the mid-70s she began a career in real estate sales.

Her schedule on the South Plains included Lubbock, Littlefield and Plainview on Tuesday; Levelland, Brownfield and Lamesa and Tahoka Wednesday; and on to Lubbock that evening to catch a plane back downstate.

Plains Co-Op Compress in Sweetwater and Plains Cotton Co-Operative Assn. of Lubbock. He has testified before Congress on behalf of farmers seeking fair and equitable prices for their products, and has traveled to Austin to lobby for legislation of benefit to farmers and to rural communities.

He has served as precinct chairman in the Democratic Party in Jones County and has been three times delegate to the state Democratic convention.

"Lynn County is at the western edge of this new district," Carriker noted. "I would like for the people of Lynn County to know that if I am elected, I certainly will do my very best to represent your interests in Austin just the same as I will everyone else in the district. I want to know the people and I want to be very accessible. Any support will be appreciated."

Chamberettes Style Show Set April 3

The Chamberettes Annual Spring Style Show and luncheon is scheduled for April 3 in the Methodist Church fellowship hall at 12 noon. This year's theme for the show is "Be More You in '82". Entertainment will be provided by Vivian McAfee.

Tickets are available from area merchants and members of the Chamberettes. The tickets are $5 and each holder is entitled to the chance of a door prize.

Fashion FORECASTS

One look that's running away with fashion these days is the running suit. Even the least athletic looks a little sleeker and slinkier in such a suit.

Now, the running suit has been given a dash of elegance. Pretty designs sparkled with rhinestones are painted onto ladies' and girls' running suits of cool, comfortable, 50% cotton and 50% acrylic.

They come in such sophisticated shades as grey, khaki, olive and off-white and are available in sizes small, medium and large. The lady's suit sports beautiful butterflies. The girl's is festooned with balloons. What's more, they both can come with that very personal touch: the wearer's name natively painted down the sleeve.

INSIGHT INTO EYESIGHT

Van Moore, O.D.
OPTOMETRIST

DETECTING BABY'S VISION PROBLEMS

There isn't much a baby can see clearly when he's first born. He doesn't have the ability yet to focus quickly or accurately. It takes a while before he learns how to use both eyes to see well. In the beginning each eye acts independently of the other.

As time goes on, if baby still doesn't seem to be seeing well, he should have an eye examination. There are certain telltale signs a parent can watch for. Does your child find it difficult to pick up small objects? When he reaches for a toy, does he miss it completely? And when he starts to walk and hustle around the house, do you often see him stumbling over things that he should have seen and avoided?

There are other signs to look for. Check to see if he is using both eyes to focus on an object. If he tilts his head to look at something or squints or closes one eye to look closely at something, there may be a vision problem. An eye examination is the only way you can be sure.

At General Telephone... We're Not Simply Talking About Service Improvements We're Making Them In Tahoka

At General Telephone, better service isn't just a goal. It's a solid commitment. General Telephone spent over 354 million dollars in 1981 on capital expenditure projects (i.e. new electronic switches, expanded cable projects, modernization), and GTE will spend over 410 million dollars in 1982 to provide you the best telecommunications available.

For Tahoka this investment in service improvement is working as shown below. General Telephone is working hard to continually provide you with the best of service.

The Texas Public Utilities Commission (PUC) has established certain standards in public hearings, and our service results are listed against those standards.

	Tahoka
	Texas PUC Standards	January 1981	Most Current Figure

Letter To Editor

Letters to the editor do not necessarily express the views of this newspaper. All correspondence must be signed, and in good taste before it will be published, and the name of the writer must be published also. Letters to the editor may not be more than two double-spaced typewritten pages.

To the Editor,

While returning from a trip on the road from Brownwood, I noticed lots of trash on the highway and commented on it frequently to my wife. I saw at the trash barrels located along highway 36 big bags of household trash although there were signs indicating that anyone caught dumping trash there would be prosecuted. All along the way plenty of trash was thrown out along the road, especially beer cans. We stopped at a roadside park just this side of Dermot to eat our lunch. While eating, a man and his wife from Ohio came in and parked to eat their lunch. While she was preparing their lunch, he got out and picked up all the trash he could and put it in the trash cans provided by the highway department. Now this lesson, why can't Texans do likewise? Is it because people are so sloppy and filthy at home that they just of a habit throw things just where they get through with them?

Yours,
H.L. Duckett

except for World War I years. In fact, "Casey" to this day has had no other checking account in 66 years. Others working in the bank in the 1920s and 1930s included Walter S. Posey, W.C. Wells, R.P. and Louie Weathers, Frank Weaver, Henry McDaniel, Fred Barker, Vernon Davis, Bill Sewell, Hattie Server and others. Howell is a man of strong convictions, conservative, respected for fair-dealing, and is proud of his home town and county.

When Barrow asked Howell to what he attributes his long, active life, he replied, "Get out of the house, work hard, stay busy, and keep mentally active."

Incidentally, the Howell's son, Wade, reared here, has a successful engineering business in Odessa with 19 projects underway in that booming oil city, and has acquired considerable valuable property there including business and residence property and a 50-unit mobile home park. His office manager is Archie Reece Jr., reared in Lynn County.

City Sales Tax Reported

State Comptroller Bob Bullock sent checks totaling $48.9 million to 962 cities as their share of the one-percent city sales tax for March.

The payment is the largest representing a single month's tax collections ever distributed—29 percent over the same period in 1981.

This record payment, reflecting taxable sales made by Texas businesses in January, is the second record payment in two months, but Bullock added a note of caution.

"Record sales can be one indicator of good times, but they are not an indicator of profit margins. These taxes are based on sales price or market value. True, Texans are spending more but these figures don't tell us what the merchants or suppliers or manufacturers are having to pay for the goods they buy."

Bullock explained that last month's record $106.4 million payment to cities who levy the local sales tax represented collections from taxpayers who pay monthly as well as those who pay quarterly and yearly.

The city and MTA sales taxes are collected along with the state sales tax by merchants and businesses and rebated monthly to the cities in which they are collected by the Comptroller.

O'Donnell's net payment this period was $1,536.34.

Tahoka's net payment this period was $4,055.82.

Wilson's net payment this period was $1,556.96.

County Okays Roof Repair On Buildings

Lynn County Commissioners discussed tentative budget figures, approved a bid on fixing roofs of two buildings and acted on a few routine matters in a meeting Monday at the courthouse.

Brown Roofing and Sheet Metal of Lamesa was awarded the contract to repair roofs of the extension service and human resource buildings on bids of $2576 and $1817 respectively.

A fire contract with the City of Lamesa was considered, but no action was taken.

Commissioners went over some preliminary budget figures and again noted that no tax increase will be necessary this year. The budget and tax rate will be set at the April 26 meeting.

Also discussed was the effect of a recent ruling by the attorney general limiting farm equipment tax exemption to $15,000 per person or $30,000 per family. The ruling should mean more money for the county than had been anticipated.

Present were Judge Melvin

Burks and Commissioners J.C. Gandy, Eldon Gattis and Bart Anderson. E.R. Blakney was absent.

New tins should be greased and put in a moderate oven for fifteen minutes to help prevent burned cake bottoms.

A slice of bread will often remove makeup smudges from dark clothes.

A Visit With Your County Agent

By Stanley Young

GEAR UP FOR SPRING GARDENING

It's time to gear up for that spring vegetable garden. And two major steps are getting the right varieties and planting at the right time, states Stanley Young, County Extension Agent.

Proper planting time is important if maximum quality and production are expected. Since such warm-season crops as tomatoes, peppers, corn, eggplants, beans, squash, cucumbers, okra, watermelon, sweet potatoes, pumpkins and canteloupes are sensitive to cold temperatures and can be killed by even the lightest frost, gardeners must be aware of the average date of the last frost for their particular areas.

According to the National Weather Service, the average date of last frost in Lynn County is April 11. Remember, this date is an average which only means there is a 50 percent chance a frost may occur at a later date.

It's also wise to wait until the soil has warmed before planting seeds of warm-season crops. Soil temperature at planting depth should be in the upper 60s or into the 70s to increase seed germination and insure a good stand.

Some vegetable crops are cold-hardy and can tolerate light frosts or freezes. These include beets, broccoli, cabbage, carrots, peas, lettuce, onions, parsley, radishes, spinach, cauliflower, collards, mustard, kale and turnips. These can be planted in late winter or early spring.

It is suggested that you plant some warm-season crops in late spring as they will produce more high-quality produce. During the hot summer such heat-tolerant crops as southern peas, okra, eggplant, sweet potatoes, squash and small-fruited tomatoes do best.

Planting the best adapted varieties that are available can mean the difference between success and failure. Some of the current vegetable variety recommendations by the Extension Service are as follows:

Bean, Contender, Topcrop, Greencrop, Tendercrop Bean, Pole-Stringless Blue Lake, Kentucky Wonder, Dade, Romano
Bean, Lima Bush- Jackson Wonder, Henderson Bush, Fordhook 242
Beets, Detroit Red, Green Top Bunching, Asgro Wonder

Broccoli, Green Comet, Bravo
Cantaloupe, Perlita, TAM Uvalde, Golden Perfection, Magnum 45

Carrot, Imperator, Danvers 126, Nantes, Red Core Chantenay

Corn, Sweet- Calumet, Bonanza, Merit (White) Silver Queen, Florida Stay-sweet

Cucumbers, Pickling- National Liberty, Crispy, Salty Cucumbers, Slicers- Ashley, Poinsett, Straight 8, Cherokee

Eggplant, Florida Market, Black Beauty, Highbush Lettuce, Head- Great Lakes strains, Valverde

Tubb Elementary News

The first grade would like to thank everyone who came to visit our rooms during Open House. We had just completed a unit on Texas and had worked hard on booklets and art displays. We appreciate your interest and encouragement, which means a lot to the children.

Concentrated effort is being put into our STAMM Math program. This program helps each child work at his own level.

Testing will begin soon on Level III Pegasus Pace Reading Skills. This is a basic requirement for completing the first grade.

As the end of this school year approaches we are confident that our math and reading programs are designed to meet minimum competency requirements and will be of help, ultimately, on the TABS test which students take in the third, fifth and ninth grades.

FAMILY FOCUS

By HARRIETT PIERCE

Does employment of a wife mean the family must eat a lot more TV dinners — or buy shelves full of fast-preparation equipment? Most people seem to have these mistaken ideas. It doesn't have to be that way. In fact, several consumer surveys show that there are really few differences in the way homemakers — and employed and at-home handle meal-management. Whether you're employed outside the home or not, these meal-planning ideas can help ensure nutritious family meals in the face of today's hurried lifestyle:

Plan Before You Shop
Before you shop, make a long-range plan for meals. This will mean considering several important factors:
*built-in nutritional balance.
*sticking to a budget you can live with.
*thinking about the where and when your family eats various meals, and making allowances for special diets, such as low-calorie ones.
Then to make the plan really workable, add some time-saving items and steps to your plan, and, finally be sure to think "Plan Ahead."
Build In Balance
In planning meals and snacks for your family, you'll want to ensure that meals are balanced — that is, planned according to the family members' nutrient needs. Use the Basic Food Groups in planning, and include the number of recommended servings for each member.

Stick With Budget
Stay within your budget. This is especially important in these inflationary times. Consider the foods you have available, such as fresh vegetables from the garden or those you canned in the summer.
Check newspapers, television and several stores for advertised specials.
Make an inventory of foods on hand based on your menu. Plan to shop for a week or two at a time — not every other day. Frequent trips to the store waste time and cause impulse buying.
Where, When Of Meals
Efficient use of time is special to busy homemakers. thinking about the where and when of family meals — ahead of time — will make a big difference in meal efficiency. Will all meals be eaten at home or "on the run?" Will you do all the meal planning, or will some members eat away from home where you have no control over their selections for that meal?

If some eat away from home, make sure your plan helps "fill in the nutrition gaps" at the meals they do eat at home.
Also, make sure at-home meals help bring their "Calorie count" back into the necessary range. Fewer calories at home will "even up" the score for family members who tend to eat too many away from home, for example.
Special Diets
Special diets must be a part of the meal plan, if they are necessary.
For example, if weight control is a problem for some family members, then menu plans should allow for this. And, in these cases, family members should be encouraged to select away-from-home meal items according to their special diets.
Add A Bit Of Easy

At this point in your plan, give yourself a "break". Consider the use of convenience foods in key places of your plan to save time.
If they cost more because of convenience features, choose them with care.
Some do not cost more, and these save both time and money. Some cake mixes, for example, do not cost more than "from scratch" baking.
Also, consider creating some of your own "master mixes", such as pancake or cocoa mix.
Definitely consider making double batches of your family's favorite recipes so you can serve one fresh and freeze the rest for your own "homemade TV dinners."
Plan Fixin', Serving
Plan ahead for meal preparation and serving, too.
For example, plan ahead for breakfast coffee — measure the ingredients the night before, and set the coffee pot up in "ready-to-start" fashion.
You could even set the table the night before and cover the whole layout with a cloth.
Learn to organize for a meal service — prepare as much ahead of time as possible, whether you're serving three people or 30. This can make a big difference in how easy and pleasant the meal is.
Plan-Ahead Promises
No one can promise perfect meals, but planning ahead "almost" has some sure-fire promises.
Careful planning, knowing the nutrient needs of family members and the nutritional value of foods you buy — along with careful meal preparation and serving, can help ensure balanced meals and snacks for your family.

The better organized you become in this area, the more pleasant the whole process will be — and the more free time you'll have to enjoy your family and other activities.

TAHOKA STUDENT HONORED—These four students were among the more than 60 honored for outstanding academic achievement last week at Wayland Baptist University in Plainview. They are (seated, left to right) Leslie Allen and Steve Ahlenius, both of Lubbock, outstanding education students; and Jay Kelley of Tahoka, recipient of the Theology Award; and Jeannie Powell of Ralls, winner of the Wall Street Journal Award in business administration.

Card Of Thanks
May God bless you all for the comfort and prayers you gave so freely during Mike's stay in the hospital and later at the loss of our loved one.
To the ladies who prepared and served the food in our home and at the church, our grateful appreciation.
We will never forget the people who visited, sent cards, brought food, the beautiful floral offerings, memorials and prayers.
We wish to express our deepest gratitude to Bro. Don Cass and Bro. Hugh Jack Norwood for the warm and personal service.
The Family of Mike Reid.

Five people are running for the office of Lynn County Treasurer. This race along with Commissioners, Judges and other posts have made this year's race very interesting.
If I am elected I will do the best that I can, but, win or lose, I am proud to be in a free country and have the right to vote for whomever I choose or run for whichever office I choose, even President. I don't believe the United States is quite ready for me to be president, so please, for national security, vote for me, Glenda Williams, for Lynn County Treasurer.
