

County Cuts Taxes

Lynn County commissioners Monday voted to cut the county tax rate three cents per $100 valuation this year, lowering the rate to 27 cents from the present 30 cents.

The commissioners court took the action after looking at next year's budget and approving it at $1,107,058.

just $3,500 higher than this year's budget.

And the county expects to wind up this year with a surplus, thanks to having $350,000 in certificates of deposit, plus another $137,000 in contingency funds. The $350,000 is money for the general fund not yet spent this year, but which is designated; however the interest gained from having the money on deposit until it is needed will boost the anticipated surplus.

Next year's budget would cut the contingency fund to about $66,000, it was predicted, with the 27-cent rate expected to bring in enough money to meet the budget requirements, based on a collection rate of 85 per cent, which is the same as now has been collected by the county for last year.

Commissioners met with Bob Brown and Mark Fenlaw of Austin, representing the County Retirement System, and after a couple of hours of questioning and wrangling which at times became a bit heated, decided to leave county employees in the system, including new employees. County officials had been pondering the advisability of not bringing new employees into the system. They were convinced by the visitors, however, that for the benefit of those presently in the system who hope to retire in a few years, it is essential to keep bringing new people into the program.

County Sheriff Stanely Krause told the group that the jail population continues to increase, observing that "we had 11 over there this morning." This situation has increased expenses of operating the sheriff's department.

In the meeting, which started at 9 a.m. and wound up after 4 p.m., the commissioners also discussed numerous other items, and observed copy machines brought by representatives of two companies. No action was taken on leasing a copy machine to replace the present one, described as in poor condition.

Bills were approved and the group discussed the possibility of having the appraisal district collect county taxes at its office this fall. Tahoka school district and other taxing entities in the county also have discussed this possibility.

All commissioners and Judge Melvin Burks were present Monday.

Jacobs Retiring From School Post

L.F. "Jake" Jacobs, 59, superintendent of Wilson schools the past five years is retiring on July 1, he informed the Wilson school board Thursday night.

He will be completing 35 years in the school business, nearly 19 at Tahoka as basketball coach, athletic director and principal, followed by 10 years at Bovina, where he was superintendent.

His wife, Pat, librarian at Roosevelt school, also is retiring from the teaching profession.

Jacobs stated he expects to spend more time helping his wife with her antique business in Lake City, Colo. They also have farming interests in Gaines County.

Originally from Spearman, Jacobs finished high school there and then attended West Texas State in Canyon on a basketball scholarship. In his sophomore year, the team was 28-3 and once during the season was ranked number one in the nation. The team played in the National Invitational Tournament in Madison Square Garden.

Jacobs married the former Pat Hill in 1946, when both were students at West Texas. They have three daughters, all born in Tahoka—Mrs. Vicki Taylor of Pampa, Becky Jacobs of Plano and Mrs. Fran DuBose of Pampa. The Jacobses also have three grandchildren.

"Lynn County has been very good to me," Jacobs commented this week. "Tahoka was a good place to start, and Wilson just couldn't be any better than it is... we appreciate the people of Lynn County—they're all great."

Wilson school board president Tommy Bednarz said the board accepted Jacob's resignation with regret, and

Child Rape Report Is Investigated

Tahoka Police Dept. this week was investigating a report that a 6-year-old girl had been raped about a week earlier, but no charges had been filed in the case. Parents of the child apparently did not learn of the incident until this week, and a young suspect was named.

Officers also investigated an incident Tuesday resulting in charges of aggravated assault by use of a deadly weapon being filed against two persons, Julia Quintero and Janie Liendo. The two were charged on the complaint of a third woman who allegedly was attacked with knives.

A Winchester pump .22 rifle was reported stolen from a pickup owned by Melvin Edwards, N. 6th and Main, while the vehicle was parked in his driveway Sunday night. And Martin Edwards of 1725 N. 3rd reported theft of a double sliding door valued at $500 sometime after April 1.

Police issued one ticket for exhibition of acceleration, and answered several disturbance and one call about barking dogs.

Eddie Gasaway, Rt. 1, Wilson, reported casing on a well broken and a board driven down into the well at a location four miles north of New Home Saturday or Sunday.

In county jail during the week were two for driving while intoxicated, two for public intoxication and one each for contempt of court, burglary of a habitation, possession of marijuana, theft of property by check, theft over $200 and transporting beer in a dry area.

Delinquent Taxes Put Tahoka School In Bind

By DALTON WOOD
Tahoka school board, faced with the possibility of an exodus of teachers and other key personnel, last Thursday night backed off from its previously announced position of no tax increase regardless of what it takes.

After studying results of a survey of 24 area schools

(conducted recently by Post schools) which showed that Tahoka coaches, administrators, band director and other key people are paid less than most of the others, the board voted to increase some salaries "to guarantee that we keep the people we need to maintain a quality educational facility."

"We still say we don't want to have to raise any taxes, and if we get most of our delinquent taxes collected, we may not have to," said one board member. "but we have what we consider to be the best teachers and administrators around, and we want to keep them. And some way or another, we're going to come up with enough money to assure that we have a good program in our schools."

Set By State

Salaries of all teachers, coaches, band directors and administrators are set by the state, with each school adding an amount to the "state schedule" of pay (based on number of years of experience) in order to attract the best faculty. Tahoka was not on the list of schools, but the survey showed that Tahoka paid less than all but one of the others above state schedule for its superintendent, and that coaches and band director's pay also ranked near the bottom of the list.

Faced with a record of just 84 per cent of tax collections at a time when collections usually are above 90 per cent, the board was told by Supt. Jim Coulston that, even with the sharply reduced budget for the coming year, there won't be enough money coming in to operate—not even to finish this year—unless most of the delinquent taxes are collected.

The school last week still had about $130,000 out, with one taxpayer owing a sizeable portion of this amount.

Board president Bob Haney commented:

"If we have to raise taxes this year, I'd like the public to know it's because of the high amount of unpaid taxes."

Shift Jobs

Along with the selective pay increases came some increased responsibilities for some, and the board proposed some changes in line with this plan. For example, Tom Cooper, principal of Tubb Elementary, has been asked to move to high school-junior high principal, with Coach A.D. Shaver to serve as assistant principal in addition to his coaching duties. Both indicated this week they would accept the assignments, but final action has not been taken by the school board implementing the

Auxiliary Depending On Saturday Event

A full lineup of activities has been scheduled for the annual Fun and Food Festival at the Lynn County show barn from 4 p.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday, and the sponsoring Lynn County Hospital Auxiliary this week urged everyone to come out to the event.

"This is the auxiliary's only fund-raising project for the year," a spokesman said. "We're depending on this event for money to buy things needed at hospital, but which the hospital itself has not been able to budget... some of these things possibly could save someone's life, so we're hoping for a good turnout Saturday."

Among the items they hope to raise money for are a stomach pump and some respiratory equipment.

There will be dancers, singers, instrumentalists and talent of other kinds for entertainment all day long, plus booths of games and food, periodic awards of door prizes, auction of donated items of all kinds, and a general mingling of people in good spirits.

Auxiliary members said the food booths would include chili, nachos, desserts, beans and cornbread, fish, fried pies, soft drinks and other items. Also, it was noted, the items up for auction appear to be more numerous and varied than last year. There are all kinds of art work and handwork, baked goods, tools and equipment, and Roy Lynn Kahlich of Wilson and Maurice Huffaker of Tahoka will offer dinner parties for couples at auction.

Last year, in the first Fun and Food Festival, a total of $5,572 was raised for purchase of a heart monitor for the hospital.

RETIRING—L.F. (Jake) Jacobs, superintendent of Wilson schools, has announced that he will retire from a long school career in Lynn County, when school ends this summer.

Last Tuesday at the library we were privileged to have as our guest Syd Popinsky from the Texas State Library. Ours was one of six libraries chosen to be visited which Jim Scheppke of Lubbock said "would be representative of what's going on in West Texas." Although the visit was short, Jim said "it would be enough time to let Syd get a feel for the library—its strengths, weaknesses, needs, and so forth... The State Library's purpose is to contribute to the improvement of public libraries in the state."

We have the following new films in: Body Movement, But Jack Was a Good Driver, Cheetah, Cottonwood, The Creation, A Day in the Life of Bonnie Consolo, Decent, Dragon Stew, The Great Radio Comedians, Great Train Robbery, Henry Moore, Man of Form: Israel: A Search for Faith, The Mouse Man, One Kitten for Kim, Strange Bird, Tutankhamun: The Immortal Pharaoh, Water Safety and Wonderful World of Wildlife.
Incidentally, next week has been declared by Governor Clements as Library Week. In this declaration he stated,

"The future of our State depends upon a well-informed public. Libraries make it possible for all Texans to become well-informed."
We welcome you to visit the library anytime that we are open, for I feel that we have something for everyone or can get what you need if we do not have it.

Lynn County Farmers Union Hosts Meet

Members of the Lynn County Farmers Union will hold a "Meet the Candidates Forum" Tuesday, April 20, at the Poka Lambro Telephone Co-Op Conference Hall, seven miles north of Tahoka on U.S. Highway 87, announced local president Gary Cook. The Forum will begin at 7:30 p.m.
Candidates have been invited to attend in order to give farmers and ranchers a more thoughtful and knowledgeable selection in the upcoming election. The program will consist of two parts. First, each candidate will be given three minutes to make a general statement concerning his position on agriculture, the problems that agricultural producers face in the future and possible solutions to these problems. Second, there will be a brief question-and-answer period to give the audience an opportunity to ask relevant questions of the candidates.
All farmers and ranchers in Lynn and surrounding counties are encouraged to attend the forum.

Better Living Agent's Topic

"How to Live Better on Less", was the topic of a talk at Rotary last Thursday noon by Lynn County's new home extension agent, Mrs. Harriett Pierce.

Comparing life today with that of the pioneers, she declared we can get along very well on less than the 2750 gallons of gasoline annual usage per person; we can save more and live better by utilizing the food we raise; can better utilize the clothing we wear; can restore or repair many home appliances rather than throwing them away; and by a little innovation can utilize scrap lumber we might otherwise throw away by using it for closet shelves, making building repairs, etc.

Winston Wharton, who arranged the program, said Harriett was reared in Mississippi, attended Southwest Texas State University, served one year as agent in Coleman County, and came here from Seguin, Guadalupe County, where she was agent for five years.

She and her husband, Danny, live on North 8th Street. He is a territory manager for a tire company.
President Richard White announced Tahoka was seventh in attendance with 92 percent in Northwest Texas Rotary district, the best attendance the club has had in a long time.
Rev. Lloyd Hamilton gave the Rotary charge to a new member, John Krey, new vice president at First National Bank.

FAMILY FOCUS

By HARRIETT PIERCE

After you have detected the air leaks in your home, take some "winterizing" steps to stop energy thieves.

Here are some easy, economical steps to take—in making your home an "energy saver."

1. Caulking and weatherstripping are the most energy-saving improvements.

You can save up to one-fourth of heating costs by plugging cracks, gaps in walls and spaces around doors, windows and pipes.

Caulking comes in tubes or cartridges for a "caulking gun" and sells for about $3. Weatherstripping comes in several forms—foam rubber with adhesive backing, tubular strips of vinyl and spring metal.

2. Use sunshine for warmth by opening blinds or drapes during the day on the sunny side of the house.

Keep other blinds and drapes drawn to maintain heat inside. Always close drapes and blinds at night.

3. Since direct sunlight may cause glare for some older adults, apply transparent plastic on the outside of window panes—to act as a storm window and glare reducer.

Finding Financial Assistance
Seeking financial help to obtain weatherization assistance and partial subsidies for fuel bills in crisis situations is another alternative for combating rising energy costs.

If you are 60 years or older, a good place to begin is at your local Information and Referral Service or your Area Agency on Aging. These agencies know what assistance programs are offered in your county.

If you are low income, elderly and/or handicapped, call your Community Action Agency's Energy Assistance Program or the local Department of Human Resources.
Other agencies to ask for energy help are the city or county Housing and Urban Development (HUD) programs.

GTE Rate Hike Is Challenged

In testimony filed this week with the State Public Utility Commission, Texas Municipal League rate experts challenged the request of General Telephone Co. of the Southwest for a $110 million rate hike.

The League's testimony was filed in advance of utility commission hearings, that begin April 15, on General Telephone's application for rate increases that would raise the monthly charges for some customers by as much as 71 percent.

The Municipal League's analysis concluded that General Telephone's request for $110 million was far in excess of the amount justified to keep the company financially sound. The cities' study of the company's books indicated that General Telephone was legitimately entitled to a rate hike of just $23.3 million--about 21 percent of the amount asked.

The increase recommended by TML would give General Telephone a rate of return of about 16 percent, compared to the 18 percent that the full amount requested by the company would provide.

TM also was critical of the company's proposal to charge far higher rates to some of its customers than those in neighboring exchanges. Under the company's plan, a given telephone customer could be charged nearly double what his neighbor pays, simply because of a slight difference in location.

Additionally, TML urged the utility commission to properly measure--and regulate--the profits that flow from General Telephone of the Southwest to its parent corporation, General Telephone & Electronics, in Connecticut. Under the rate application now pending before the commission, profits paid out of the pockets of Texas consumers would be passed along to the national headquarters of the company, with no benefit to in-state telephone users.

Earlier this year, in February, the Austin Court of Civil Appeals upheld contentions by Texas Municipal League lawyers that the amount of Texas-based profits channeled to General Telephone's national parent should be limited. The decision resulted in savings of $10 million to General Telephone's Texas customers.

General's recent rate increase request, which was filed Jan. 29, is its third in three years. In 1980, the company asked for a $58 million increase and received $31 million. In 1981, the company asked for $45.3 million, but the utility commission approved just $2 million.

The Texas Municipal League is representing 90 cities that are intervenors in the GTE rate case now before the state utility Commission. Utility experts hired by the TML cities have scrutinized GTE's books to determine the proper balance between the company's justifiable revenue needs versus the needs of telephone customers for quality service at equitable rates.

David Gibson, O.D.
OPTOMETRIST

CAN TINTED GLASSES HURT EYES?
Plain, ordinary tinted glasses won't improve your ability to see. Neither will they hurt your eyes. Some people like to wear them because they shield their eyes from sunlight or the glare of bright lights.

There's no harm in wearing them indoors if the light is good. But they aren't recommended when the lights are low. Your eyes depend on light for their ability to see. The combination of tinted glasses and poor lighting means your eyes will have to strain to see. Do that too often or for long periods and you will probably get eye-strain headaches.

Unlike most other businesses, electric utilities like SPS require large investments in plants and equipment. For example, for each $1 in annual revenues, the Company has more than $2 invested in plants, equipment and other assets necessary for providing electric service. This investment plus a fair return (profit) is recovered through revenues received from customers over the useful life of the property.

Kurt Shaughnessy, Accounting Coordinator, Amarillo.

In regions with relatively mild winters, an investment in six inches of ceiling insulation will pay for itself in fuel savings in only one year. In the heating season, adequate insulation in the ceiling can save up to 20% on your fuel bill. During summer months, this insulation will help retain the cool air generated by your home's air conditioning system.

Bob Spradling, Consumer Services Representative, Roswell.

Our customers' electric bills are lower because SPS sells the byproducts created by the burning of coal. Flyash, the powder-like substance given off during combustion, is sold as a construction material. The ash is sold under contract directly from the plant, with transportation costs paid by the buyer. Profit from the sale of the ash is applied to the Company's fuel costs! This saves our customers money, since fuel costs are passed to customers in the form of adjustments to their monthly bills.

By making these changes in assignments, the board expects to pay for the salary increases by saving the salary which has been paid to high school principal Jim Marcus, who has resigned effective with the end of the school year, to take the job of Crane High School principal.

A bare-bones budget for next year was considered by board, but no further cuts in classes or personnel are planned, they said.

Short of Funds

Regarding delinquent taxes, Coulston told the board "our delinquent taxes are so high now, that if we don't collect most of them pretty soon, we're going to have to ask the taxpayers who are paying their taxes to carry the burden of the delinquent ones...if we don't get 60 to 70 percent of our delinquent taxes pretty soon, we won't be able to meet our August bills."

Delinquent taxes will have an 18 per cent penalty added to the tax bill after July 1, a penalty set by law and one which is much higher than it has been in the past. Attorneys have been instructed to file suits on taxes after that time, also, and the school may, if it chooses, vote to add another 15 per cent penalty to take care of attorney fees. If the school should do this, those paying last year's taxes after July 1 would have to pay 33 per cent more.

Newly-elected school board members J.E. Nance Jr. and Robert Smith were sworn in, along with Bob Haney, who was re-elected. Haney was chosen by the board to continue as president, with Joe Brooks vice president and Betty Green secretary.

The board voted to accept the Keystone Life Insurance Company's "Hallmark Policy" for student insurance next year.

All board members were present.

Tahokans Join Meet Of Ginners

Tahoka was well represented at the annual Texas Ginners Convention where about 750 ginners and guests visited the Civic Center in Lubbock. Jo Carol Long, president of the District Womens-Cotton Promotion, presided over the style show segment of the luncheon and business meeting of about 1500 ginners and gin business men and women.

Sheri Tomlinson, the reigning Miss Cotton, was narrator for the Little Miss, Junior Miss and Miss Cotton contest this year. Sheri was also presented a plaque from the ladies group honoring her for her work in Cotton Promotion. Sheri is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Tomlinson.

Beh Huffaker narrated the Sew It With Cotton Style Show. This year the top winners in 12 categories won $150 each. A special event during the style show was the modeling of Mr. and Mrs. George Claud Wells' granddaughters, all seven of them, dressed exactly alike in dresses Mrs. Wells had made.

Jo Ann Mock, reared in Tahoka presided over this year's Cotton Art Show. Bill Craig dominated the art show. With his bronze sculpture of a cotton plant, "The Farmer's Dream" a bale an acre and a dollar a pound, Bill won Best of Show, the Ginner's Choice Award, and first in his division.

According to Jo Carol, "At least when people see a painting of cotton they know what it is. You wouldn't expect J.R. Ewing to have any art except oil, would you? Paul Bush of Lubbock Electric has one of Craig's earlier paintings of a cotton gin that is beautiful."

COLLEGE CORNER

Paying For College

If your child is heading for college in the near future, you are probably wondering how to meet the cost.

Federal, state and private assistance is still available, despite federal budget cutbacks. However, it is more important than ever to apply to every funding source

Expenses for the 1981-82 academic year at more than 3,200 two-and four-year public, private and proprietary institutions, are listed.

Also included are suggestions on application procedures for self-supporting students, or those with divorced, separated or deceased parents, a sample Financial Aid Form (FAF) and a bibliography of aid sources.

The book is available in local bookstores and libraries, or may be ordered by mail by sending a check for $8.95 to: College Board Publication Orders, Department D34, Box 2815, Princeton, NJ 08541.

It's more important than ever to apply to every college funding source in the right way, and at the right time.

To help you understand what to do—and when—the College Board has published a new book, The College Cost Book, 1981-82.

Using simple charts and worksheets, the Cost Book explains how to estimate college costs and financial need, and how to apply for funds from all sources. It also outlines the types of aid currently available.

Choosing A College

If you're shopping for your educational future, choose a college for the educational programs it offers, not the price tag. In many cases, financial aid can make up the difference between the cost of a college and the amount you can afford to pay. A college with higher "prices" may actually be within your reach.

A new book includes up-to-date information on academic programs, student activities and financial aid programs at 2,500 colleges nationwide.

To help you make decisions on which college is right for you, the College Board publishes two books that can help you get a head start on your planning.

The College Handbook, 1981-82 ($12.50) includes detailed descriptions of 2,500 two- and four-year colleges and universities, with up-to-date information on academic features, tuition and financial aid; student activities, athletics and housing; location and campus setting. Also included are special worksheets that help you examine your reasons for going to college.

The Index of Majors, 1981-82 ($10.50) helps students find out which colleges offer the fields of study that interest them. The Index lists 385 major fields and the colleges that offer programs in each state. It covers majors on four degree levels—associate's, bachelor's, master's and doctorate.

Both books are available at local bookstores and libraries, or may be ordered as a set by mail order only for a reduced price of $17.00 by sending a check to: College Board Publication Orders, Department D35, Box 2815, Princeton, NJ 08541.

Today, Mexican gold, in the form of coins, with its rich, romantic history can be turned into exciting, unusual and lasting gifts for the new mother, the recent graduate or newlyweds, among others. There's a golden opportunity for elegant gift-giving with these "Gold Coins of Mexico." Smaller denominations offer many possibilities for imaginative jewelry items like pins, earrings, cufflinks, etc. The quality workmanship of the Casa de Moneda, the oldest mint in the Western Hemisphere—established in 1535, is evident in each of the six coins available in the U.S. These include: the Centenario with gold, the form of coins, 1.2057 troy ounces of gold; the Azteca with the hand-somely detailed Aztec calendar; the 10, 5 and 2 1/2 peso Hidalgos which bear the portrait of Don Miguel Hidalgo, Mexico's freedom fighter. There is also a small 2 peso piece with approximately one-twentieth of an ounce of gold. For a free information brochure on the coins, write to: The Gold Coins of Mexico, Information Center, Grand Central Station, P.O. Box 1812, New York, N.Y. 10017, or the oldest mint in the see a coin dealer.

4-H RABBIT PROJECT OFFERS MANAGEMENT SKILLS

About 3,800 youth in 4-H rabbit projects are learning money management, animal husbandry practices and "how pride of ownership feels," says Brent Drennan county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Boys and girls between the ages of 9 and 19, with 32 square feet of space in their backyard and two hours of free time per week, also can experience these same opportunities with a minimum financial requirement of $255-$300 for a small rabbit operation.

The investment includes two does, one buck, annual supply of feed, housing and equipment.

Youngsters starting with two does and one buck can expect to produce 30-40 fryer rabbits a year.

Using a marketing weight of two-and-a-half pounds and a market price of $1.50 per pound, rabbit producers can expect to gross $255-$300 the first year.

4-H membership entitles boys and girls to expert advice and help from volunteer 4-H rabbit leaders and the opportunity to participate in 4-H sponsored shows, educational clinics, and workshops.

Boys and girls enrolling in a 4-H Rabbit Project may call or contact their county Extension office.

COTTON TODAY

JAPAN WILL COUNT COTTON CUSTOMERS: The Japan Cotton Spinners Assn. plans to publish an annual statistical report similar to the National Cotton Council's "Cotton Counts Its Customers."

To be published in the fall of 1983, the first edition will include textile end-use data for 1982. Besides its obvious value to the Japanese textile industry in increasing cotton textile consumption in Japan, the report will be a useful guide to Cotton Council International's foreign market development efforts on behalf of U.S. cotton.

EXPORTS REPORTED: U.S. Cotton export shipments for the week ended April 1 totaled 144,900 running bales. This brought total shipments for the season to 4,241,000 bales. New 1981-82 sales of 37,000 bales were reported for the week and sales for 1982-83 were 16,800. Major buyers were Japan, 36,200 bales and South Korea, 9,900.

COTTON STORY TOLD TO MILLIONS: Maid of Cotton Jann Carl is receiving extensive consumer-oriented publicity coverage during her overseas tour to promote U.S. cotton exports.

Media coverage in Japan included a 30-minute appearance on a radio talk show and 30 minutes on a TV talk show with an estimated audience of four million in 29 cities throughout the nation.

Korean publicity included ten appearances on network radio and television news and feature programs with cumulative audiences of more than 32 million and stories in all major newspapers and leading magazines.

The Maid starred in two all-cotton fashion shows attended by more than 7,500 consumers and officials. The tour, sponsored by Cotton Council International, is continuing with stops scheduled in Hong Kong, Singapore, Thailand, Greece, and England.

COTTON ACREAGE REDUCTION SIGN-UP AT HAND

Texas cotton producers are still in a quandry on whether or not to participate in the acreage reduction program, and the sign-up deadline is at hand (April 16).

Producers who may be experiencing financial problems, especially as it pertains to renewing lines of credit, may find it advantageous to participate in the program to reduce risks.

Early March reports show that only a small amount of the national cotton base acreage had been entered into the acreage reduction program. It appears, however, that the rate of "sign-up" will be high by the deadline since the '82 cash price forecast looks dim at this time.

Participation in the program is not necessarily a good choice for maximizing profits, but it will limit losses and reduce risk. Failure to participate kills any chance for loan, reserve and potential deficiency payments.

The 1981 U.S. cotton crop was the largest in more than 28 years, and world cotton production reached 70.8 million bales, up 8 percent from last year. This record crop caused prices to drop to an average of 50 cents per pound, down 30 percent from a year ago.

The USDA estimates ending stocks will exceed 6 million bales for the U.S. and 27.2 million bales for world. Compared to 1981, this carryover stock is more than double in the U.S. and up 23 percent in world stocks, so the 1982 price outlook is bleak.

The voluntary 15 percent acreage reduction program announced by the USDA is aimed at bringing this large carryover supply into better balance with expected demand during the 1982-83 crop year.

While this program is voluntary, farmers must participate to be eligible for deficiency payments. This payment will be made if the average farm price during 1982 is below the target price of 71 cents per pound. Payment rate cannot exceed 13.9 cents per pound which is the difference between the target price and the national average loan rate of 57 cents a pound for S.L.M. 1-1/16 inch cotton, 3.5-4.9 micronaire.

The decision to participate in the cotton acreage reduction program is complex. A farmer must weigh the potential benefits of participation against the net revenue he may expect by not participating. Many farmers had already applied fertilizers and chemicals before the program was announced. These expenses would be considered sunk costs of participation, and producers may have to incur additional costs for a cover crop to conserve the land if they participate.

Total benefits from participation, such as the value of the loan program to secure a line of credit, are difficult to quantify. Perhaps the most measurable incentive for the cotton program is the expected deficiency payment. Some farmers argue that the target price for 1982 of 71 cents a pound does not provide sufficient net income incentive since the net value of 15 percent of the base acreage will be lost. However, the target price looks more favorable than the forecast price at this time. By failing to participate, a farmer is banking on a national crop disaster such as the 1980 crop year which will reduce anticipated production to a level so as to increase the price substantially above the target level.

Greenhouse farming has promising future

AUSTIN—Imagine a time 20 years hence when the cost of transporting fresh farm produce has become so expensive that trucks are no longer making long trips. To take up the slack, Mom and Pop greenhouses have sprung up around population centers. With the help of solar energy, they grow hydroponic vegetables nearly year-round. Shoppers buy directly from the greenhouses or from supermarkets that select their produce from several local operations. Greenhouses have not supplanted conventional farming, but they have filled a gap.

Dr. John Larsen, secretary of the Texas Greenhouse Growers Council and a plant nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in College Station, believes that the picture just sketched is not far-fetched. At the turn of the century every major city had its truck farms. The area around Cleveland, Ohio, for example, once farmed 400 acres inside greenhouses. Larsen thinks solar energy can supply one-third to one-half the energy needs of greenhouses in the South.

"If we do it right, we probably can use 90 percent solar," he said. "There's no reason it can't be done in Texas. The cost of a truck rolling from California to the East Coast is $5,000-$6,000 and going up all the time. I think the greenhouse business will come back."

Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown would like to see that happen. In fact, he is considering a pilot program near a large city that would supply year-round production. The Texas Department is also working with greenhouse growers in their local marketing efforts.

"Vegetable supplies from Mexico are already diminishing, and we expect them to continue," said Brown. "We are going to have to make up for that reduction in some way."

About 50 acres of tomatoes, lettuce and cucumbers are raised inside Texas greenhouses. Despite its sound, 50 isn't bad in the world of greenhouse growers. California, the country's production leader, raises only about 60. Larsen feels production possibilities are good. Under optimum conditions a 3,000 square foot greenhouse can produce 800 tomato plants yielding 30 pounds per plant per year. One tomato grower has done even better. He averaged 57 pounds per plant or 30,000 pounds of tomatoes in a July-May growing season.

"We could do the same thing outside if the growing season were long," said Larsen. "Of course, it isn't."

In Texas approximately 100 growers belong to the greenhouse council. This figure includes hobbyists and growers of ornamental and bedding plants. Most vegetable growers produce tomatoes.

"The possibilities look encouraging," said Brown. "One couple in Azle is selling more than 2,000 heads of Bibb lettuce every week in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. The demand is so great they are tripling their greenhouse capacity. There is no reason why other professional growers, using modern methods, can't do the same thing."

CANCER ANSWER LINE

Question: "How does cancer spread?"

ANSWERline: The action by which malignant cells spread throughout one's body is called metastasis. Cancer begins with one malignant cell which reproduces itself. The new cells also reproduce, and an endless process of multiplication gets underway. If not arrested by surgery, drugs, or radiation, the multiplying cells eventually break away from their original site. They set up new colonies in other parts of the body by migrating through the blood and lymph systems.

Question: "I'm a man of 40 and have piles. Do they turn into cancer?"

ANSWERline: No, but this condition very often causes rectal bleeding and should be checked by your physician.

Question: "I have a mole on my face that has begun to bleed from time to time. Is this a sign of cancer?"

ANSWERline: It could be. Any bleeding or change in a mole is considered a cancer warning signal and should be cared for by your physician.

Question: "I have several lumps in my breast, but have been told they are not cancerous. Am I likely to get cancer?"

ANSWERline: You have a

LUBBOCK, Friday, April 9, 1982

The Twenty-Fifth Annual Meeting of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. will be held on Wednesday, April 21 from 1:30 to 5:00 p.m. in the Theater Room of Lubbock Memorial Civic Center. PCG officials have announced. All cotton producers, ginners and other interested parties are invited.

According to Donald Johnson, PCG Executive Vice President, attendants will gain a better understanding of cotton classing by instruments, hear a summary of the current overall situation and learn more about PCG's work on behalf of High Plains cotton producers.

The bulk of the PCG program is built around instrument classing of cotton and what it might mean for High Plains producers in both the long and short terms. Three speakers will address the issue, giving their respective views as a textile manufacturer, a top USDA official and a cotton producer.

Speakers on the subject of cotton classing include Jesse Moore, Director of the Cotton Division of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, Washington; Bob Hale, Vice President for Textile Operations, American Cotton Growers, Littlefield, and Jerry Harris, farmer, ginner and past president of Lamesa Cotton Growers.

The Lamesa Classing Office in 1981 became the first such facility in the U. S. to operate with full instrumentation and has classed all of its receipts by instrument for the last two years.

Moore has given his talk the title "Cotton Classing: Past Present and Future." Hale will speak on "Utilization of Instrument Values for Spinning and Weaving," and Harris will give "An Overview of Instrument Classing at Lamesa."

All of the speakers on cotton classing will participate in a panel discussion, with questions from the audience.

Preceding these speakers will be Earl Sears, Executive Vice President of the National Cotton Council, Memphis, Tenn. Sears, who will speak from the title "Cotton in a Time of Trial," has said he plans to "emphasize the need for a total program approach to our problems," and will allow time for questions.

Gary Ivey of Ralls, PCG President and General Chairman of the meeting, will give the President's Annual Report, and Johnson will present the Executive Vice President's report.

The PCG Board of Directors will convene after the membership meeting to elect 1982-83 officers.

IT'S A FACT!

Is it true that guests can literally "sniff out" poor housekeeping habits? "Often people correlate unpleasant smells with an unkempt home," points out John Boomsma of the Johnson Wax Sensory Labs. "Pet odors, fishy and strong cooking smells, stale cigarette and cigar smoke, baby odors are among the most frequently cited olfactory offenders."

How to keep your home beyond reproach for even the snootiest noses? The odor control specialists at Johnson Wax recommend the following cleaning and maintenance procedures to minimize household odors:

* BEDROOM: Strip beds and expose to air before making them. Periodically, completely strip beds and allow to air for several hours.

* LIVING ROOM: Regularly remove, vacuum or air loose cushions, pillows and bolsters.

* BATHROOM: Prevent the musty odor of mildew by using a disinfectant foam cleaner which destroys the spores that cause mold and mildew. Keep toilet bowl fresh and clean with an in-bowl freshener which lightly scents the bowl and surrounding areas. Place only dry towels in hampers and avoid dank, mildew odors.

* CLOSETS: Store only clean clothes in closets and to avoid dank, mildew odors.

You wouldn't "think" of putting "tap" water in your "steam" iron but, you "will" drink and "cook" with it. Happiness is "knowing" your drinking and cooking water is "pure" and "Clean" free of all "impurities." Our home water distillers makes it that way.
