West Plains Area Welcomes General Rains Thursday Morning

Dark clouds brought bright faces to area folks Thursday morning when showers began dotting the Plains about dawn. Rain began falling in earnest about 9 a.m., and continued long enough to bring 1.50 inches at press time.

Sen. Yarborough To Speak May 16

The rain was welcomed by dryland and irrigated farmers alike. Much irrigated land has been planted in cotton, while other farmers have been waiting for more settled weather conditions. Most dryland farmers have waited for natural moisture before planting their seed.

A spot check at 10 o'clock this morning to the south part of the county showed generally favorable conditions, and showers reported from all points called. Longview, where Dan Darsey reported receiving a quarter inch or more, to Goodland where Mrs. Conrad Williams said showers had been falling intermittently all morning, and the Wildlife Refuge, where Mrs. Gueswel said they had showers and some light rain still falling.

All reported that the skies were overcast and it appeared that the spring rain was a general one, and might continue for some time. Some lightning and thunder accompanied showers in Muleshoe, but no damage was reported. No hail was noted by press time.

Three Way pep club members selected the following roster of cheerleaders and majorettes to direct the activities during the football season, 1959-60.

The twirling majorettes are: Jane Garvin, senior, and Jean Tyson, freshman.

The Pep Club uniforms are to be white sweaters and shoes with green suspender skirts. The cheerleaders are to wear identical outfits, like the pep club except with short skirts. Long pants with short over-skirts are being planned for the majorettes.

The sponsor of the group will be Mrs. Betty Adams, home economics instructor at Three Way schools.

DITTO DRESSES—Like big sister, like little sister in these identical petite fashions by Voila. Taking a cue from the American flag, the crisp white cotton dresses are trimmed in red and blue. A reversed sailor collar with a knotted tie in back lends a nautical flavor to these smartly styled outfits.

LIVING DOLL—For the little girl in your life, Celeste has created this charming summer dress in cotton broadcloth. Gay embroidered ribbon marks the sleeveless shoulder and waistline.

FLOWER GIRL—Bouquets of summer flowers adorn this charming bouffant dress. Tive Town Toys designed this one in a rose and white floral printed Ecocelose cotton satin.

Akron, Ohio—These little tots could do a lot of "wheeling" on this tire, but even with a child's imagination, it wouldn't quite fit their tricycles. It is the world's largest tire, built in Akron, Ohio, by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company. The mammoth tire, which stands 10 feet high and is four feet wide, is a research model for a planned line of earthmover and special purpose tires for huge construction machines. With the price of this tire—$14,000—you could buy a three-bedroom home, and with the nylon fabric used in its construction, more than 7,000 pairs of ladies' hose could have been made. Enough rubber was used to produce 3,200 passenger car tires. Size designation for the tire is 44.5x45, which means the distance across the sidewall is 44.5 inches and the bead diameter is 45 inches. It weighs two tons by itself and three tons when equipped with its rim.

Think About This . . .

A few centuries ago, our pilgrim forefathers came to the shores of a great new continent.

They were fleeing from a land where the rights of the individual were oppressed by an all powerful central government.

In this new world they conquered a savage wilderness and opened up a great land of fertile valleys and rolling plains for use by themselves and their posterity.

In the process of setting up this great heritage of natural resources for us, they also set up the great heritage of free government wherein the rights of the individual were protected by a Bill of Rights and Constitution from big government tyranny.

As time passed, we became careless and indifferent. We exploited and mined our fertile land and left it bare to the erosive powers of wind and water.

Today we pause to consider the folly of our carelessness and indifference toward this great heritage and to consider methods of correcting our mistakes.

As we pause to seriously consider our great obligation of soil stewardship, wouldn't it be wise to pause one more moment and consider our carelessness and indifference toward the forces of socialism and big government that are rapidly eroding away at our great heritage of freedom and rights of the individual?

THE 1959 WATER SUPPLY
The ground water supply outlook this year is "poor in the South and Southwest" and "fair to good in the North", according to U. S. water survey crews.

This rather dim outlook, contrasts sharply with last year's generally abundant water supplies in Texas and other western states. It also recalls some vaguely disturbing reminders of the earlier 7-year trend during the bad drought years in Texas.

port, however, that carryover storage from the high 1957 and 1958 runoff, will provide supplemental and late-season underground water where the snowpack is normal. The carryover will also tend to alleviate any disastrous shortage during the 1959 season where the snowpack is low.

The forecast virtually eliminates any damaging high streamflows resulting from snow melt. With average of less snow accumulated in the mountains at the April 1 measuring time, the prospects for spring floods are very slight in the Southwest.

Commenting on the irrigation outlook, D. A. Williams, administrator of the Soil Conservation service had this advice:

"Farmers and ranchers in areas faced with deficient water supplies should seek expert help and advice in planning their water programs. The soil conservation district agents can also offer aid in planning cropping and grazing patterns to fit area soil and available water supply."

The seasonal forecast covered 16 states and British Columbia. Of particular interest to Texas was the Rio Grande sector report which read, in part:

"Water outlook is poor in both Colorado and New Mexico with the April 1 snowpack near

• Science tells us that the strongest thing in the world for its size is the common red ant. This marvel of nature can lift 10 times its own weight.

As strong as the red ant may be, it has been proven that the most powerful thing for its size is the little want ad in your local newspaper.

The want ad, which costs only a few cents a day, does a hundred-fold job. This mighty mite of the printed page finds jobs for folks, sells used lawnmowers, rents houses, sells farms, loans money, finds missing persons, locates lost dogs, rents appliances, thanks folks, locates homes for surplus puppies, and performs a hundred and one useful services for the community.

Soil Stewardship Week May 3-10

Soil Stewardship Stems From The Hearts Of Thinking Men

Twenty years ago a conservationist said that soil and water conservation will truly become a reality when it becomes an ideal in the hearts of men.

It was thinking of the spiritual values that contribute to the satisfaction of working with the soil. He realized that the practice of modern soil and water conservation—true stewardship of the soil—must be based on something more than just financial gain and the security of one's investment in land.

Profits and security do come from conservation farming and they are important. But money values change. Ideals and spiritual values usually persist to guide the man who carries them in his heart.

The continuing and growing success of Soil Stewardship Week, sponsored by the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts and various national church organizations, indicates that we have reached the time when soil and water conservation become an ideal in the hearts of millions of people.

Soil Stewardship Week for 1959 is May 3 to 10 inclusive. During those eight days, soil conservation districts and churches throughout the United States will observe the fact that "the earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof", but responsibility for its stewardship is a sacred trust vested in man. Many other local farmers' organizations, civic and professional organizations, schools, businessmen's organizations and other community-minded groups will join in the observance. In many states, the Governor traditionally names Soil Stewardship Week in a Proclamation. The Soil Conservation Service is proud of any help our offices are able to give. I am sure the same is true of other Federal agencies.

The growth of Soil Stewardship Week in the last two decades has amazed many people. It has pleased even more.

It should not surprise anyone who likes to farm, ranch, garden, putter around his flower beds and lawn, camp or hunt or fish in beautiful surroundings. All these bring forcibly to mind our dependence on the soil. Even if we only eat food, wear clothes, and like nice furniture and houses, we live from the soil. Our well-being rests with the "stewards of the soil."

Officers of the new Foundation are Frank Moore, Plainview, president; R. G. Peeler, Hereford, Ewald Quebe, Lockney, and Jason Gordon, Plainview, vice-presidents; Graddy Tunnell, Plainview, secretary-treasurer; Harold Hinn, Plainview, chairman of the board of trustees and executive committee.

Christian Science Services

Scientific understanding of the man of God's creating brings true health and security.

This is a theme to be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Adam and Fallen Man."

Scriptural selections will include the account in John (9:1-7) of the healing by Christ Jesus of the "man which was blind from his birth."

Correlative passages read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include (476:32-5). "Jesus beheld in Science the perfect man, who appeared to him where sinning mortal man appears to mortals. In this perfect man the Saviour saw God's own likeness, and this correct view of man healed the sick. Thus Jesus taught that the kingdom of God is intact, universal, and that man is pure and holy."

LOCAL REPRESENTATIVES TO SOUTH COAST MEET

BABSON DISCUSSES...

"YOU MIGHT AS WELL LEARN TO LIVE WITH INFLATION"

Babson Park, Mass., May 7—Almost everybody knows the story about the man who long ago told his people that years of drought would sooner or later result in a deluge, and that they should prepare for such a catastrophe. His name was Noah. Few listened to him and even fewer took the trouble to arrange their affairs with the future in mind. Noah insisted life could be met head on by those who prepared for it. You know the rest of the story.

All of us will be confronted, sooner or later, with the need to save for that inevitable "rainy day." It may result from an earthquake, a flood, a world war, or something else. Whether we shall ride out the storm or sink in a leaky boat depends upon how well we plan for tomorrow. Just now this "something else" which confronts all of us is the problem of inflation. I will not describe it or tell you how to avoid it. Advice on this you are continually being given. I dread it and understand its sad possibilities. Yet, every young parent should realize that 10 years from now his savings for educational purposes may buy only half the education he expected to purchase for his children; and 25 years from now he may find that his retirement income or life insurance provides only one-third the standard of living he had anticipated. The way old Noah would prepare now for such a possibility would be by increasing his life and fire insurance.

Look At The Record
Do you realize that since 1947-49 the cost of living has risen 24%? This is about 2 1/2% per year. In this same period total personal income for all groups or workers has risen about 25%. But some groups—namely unionized manufacturing workers—are now getting 38% more pay than they did ten years ago. Surely these are preparing for inflation with a vengeance. However, large numbers of other workers have failed even to keep pace with the 24% increase in the cost of living—have not even maintained their 1947-49 standard of living. Are you one of these? If so, read on!

Today's Meditation

Read Ecclesiastes 12:1-7 or II Timothy 3:10-17.

Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it. (Proverbs 22:6.)

To a birthday supper, one friend came accompanied by a small child. All was quite and calm as we went into the dining room. When the guests began to eat without first saying grace, the little girl cried out: "Mother, they are already eating up the supper without saying thanks to God." Her mother calmly answered: "You give thanks for all of us."

In many homes Christian practices are neglected, though they have great importance, especially in homes where there are children.

Children are the foundation upon which future society is to be built. Early childhood largely determines what a boy or girl is to become in later life.

Each Christian is a temple of God. We need to be careful that, with the help of God, the attitudes and daily practices in our home are what they should be. This is necessary in order that everything may be done for the glory of God.

PRAYER

Our Father, help us today to testify and put into practice our Christian beliefs. Thus may they have their dwelling place not only in our homes, but outside. May they be seen and we be used as means to encourage others. We ask this in the name of Christ. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

We give our best to the Master when our faith in Him finds expression in what we do.

Sandhills Philosopher Says Fidel Castro Didn't Fly Into Washington To See A Barber

Editor's note: The Sand Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm tells what he knows about Fidel Castro this week. He's probably as accurate as he ever is, which is something we never know.

Dear editor: I don't know any more about Fidel Castro than he does about me, but I have been reading about his success in winning a revolution in Cuba and have found that things are working out about like I expected.

I mean, putting down a dictator, so long as it's not just swapping one dictator for another, is a highly commendable piece of work, but in these days, when you win a revolution or win a war, your troubles are just beginning. Sort of like getting married.

I mean, sitting out in the Cuban jungles plotting how to overthrow a dictator is a definite piece of work, and when you finally get him overthrown and he flies off to another country with a few million dollars, and you get thru riding in triumph down main street and sit down behind a desk and size up the job ahead, the situation loses a lot of its glamour.

Heading the dictator off at the pass is one thing, but finding the tax money to build the roads the people can drive around on enjoying the freedom you've just given them is another thing. Getting the deed to a piece of land is not the same as paying off the mortgage on it.

Consequently, after Castro had been in office a few months, it didn't surprise me any to see him heading for the United States, and I don't think he was coming over here to see a barber. I don't think he came right out and asked for a loan, but when any government official in the world has a big job on his hands requiring a lot of money and he flies to Washington, you can feel reasonably sure he's not just sight-seeing. Castro, you can be sure, was never kicked in the head by a horse.

What he was doing was proving he wasn't a Communist, as this is the main step these days in getting an international loan. Understand, I have no complaint about the U. S., not lending money to anybody I suspects is a Communist, but all the bankers I know go a few steps further. They're so out of touch with the international situation they not only demand that you not be a Communist, they also check around to see if you're a safe risk. This is what to lift their eye from the gun-sight, to look at what can be done in a free world where three nations can live in neighborly peace and Godly love. Let's give these people the hope that they can do as we have done.

Let's invite men everywhere keeps banks sound, but it sure ain't international.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

CAP Program Is Reviewed

Muleshoe Squadron of CAP met Monday night for their weekly session in the Muleshoe Junior high school. Twelve members were present for the program.

Col. Clayton Campbell, with two other members of the Plainview Wing, were present to discuss the functions and purposes of CAP. He pointed out that members of CAP are not persons who do not seek personal gains, but are more interested in helping to get high school pupils interested in the program and what it is for. There is less personal gain than for the satisfaction of seeing the good for what it does for others.

In many schools the CAP program is carried out. Pupils may receive one credit each year for participating in the CAP. The program is carried in in the school through the school program. This phase of CAP training is known as the Cadet program.

Any person, interested in obtaining more information about the CAP program and what its aim is, are invited to attend their meetings. They meet in the Junior high school visual aid room each Monday night at 8 p.m. here in Muleshoe.

Marine Recruiter Postpones Future Appointments

Acting Gunnery Sergeant Lester Schimmel, Noncommissioned Officer in Charge of the Marine Corps recruiting station with headquarters in the Post Office building in Lubbock announced that no routine road recruiting trips will be made (as indicated by recruiting signs placed in post offices, etc.) to outlying cities near the Lubbock area. This is due to the transfer of Acting Master Sergeant Arturo C. Candelaria, one of the two recruiters assigned to the Lubbock office.

Applicants for enlistment in the Marine Corps may contact Sgt. Schimmel by phoning collect, Porter 2-8181 in Lubbock to make arrangements for a positive appointment or an applicant may write to Box 127, Lubbock, Texas.

Cities in the following counties are affected by this announcement: Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Motley, Cottle, King, Dickens, Terry, Lynn, Crosby, Lubbock, Hockley, Cochran, Yoakum, Garza, Kent, Dawson and Gaines.

Sgt. Schimmel states that this announcement should be effective for a period of less than ninety days. Affected areas will be notified when this condition no longer exists.

Deadline Set For Notaries To Refile

Secretary of State Zollie Steakley has announced that he will reappoint persons now holding notary public commissions, but that such persons must re-qualify by the filing of a new oath and bond with the County Clerk of his residence between June 1 and June 10.

Steakley emphasized that notaries public should not send requests for reappointment or for commissions directly to the Secretary of State. The law specifically requires the County Clerks to approve notary bonds.

Any person not now a notary public who desires appointment should apply to his County Clerk before May 20, 1959. Application during this period will assure prompt attention before the rush procedure of reappointing present notaries.

SOIL STEWARDSHIP PROCLAMATION

Nearly 146 million acres of farm and ranch land in the State of Texas produce approximately 50 per cent of the raw materials processed by Texas industries. This land also provides a substantial amount of food, clothing, and shelter needs of our citizens and makes a major contribution to our national economy.

The conservation use and treatment of this land largely determines the amount of ground water stored and the movement of soil material that becomes destructive sediment downstream. Protection of reservoirs from being filled with sediment is important to the development of our water resources.

The work of Soil Conservation Districts, and other individuals, organizations, and agencies interested in soil and water conservation, is essential to the provision of the necessities of life for our people, the continued stability of our economy and the proper development of the water resources of our State.

There are 190,000 farmers and ranchers in 174 Soil Conservation Districts throughout Texas cooperating in the emphasis of man's dependence on the soil and his responsibility to preserve it.

THEREFORE, I, as Governor of Texas, do hereby designate the period of May 3-9, 1959, as

SOIL STEWARDSHIP WEEK

In Texas.

IT'S YOUR MOST VALUABLE NATURAL RESOURCE

In these days of high production, high yield and good prices, it is fairly easy for a good farmer to hold title to his land. But contrast this era with that of a generation ago, when it was extremely difficult to hold the soil itself, let alone hold title to it!

Actually, this is the hub of the Soil Conservation program: To make it possible to keep title to our lands by keeping the land itself intact and productive. Wind or water eroded land grows increasingly less valuable.

Our land, Plus our energies are at stake: By following the advice of the Soil Conservation Service we can keep our lands.

Governor Designates May 3-10 As Soil Stewardship Week In Texas

The week of May 3-10 has been designated as Soil Stewardship Week in Texas by Governor Price Daniel.

In past years it has been the custom of many churches during Soil Stewardship Week to hold services that emphasize man's dependence upon the soil and the need of wise stewardship of this all-important resource. This will again be the program of many churches in Texas, according to reports coming in to W. S. Gibbs, president of the Association of Texas Soil Conservation Districts.

In addition to these Soil Stewardship Services in many churches civic clubs and other organizations and groups of the 175 Texas Soil Conservation Districts are planning special conservation events for Soil Stewardship Week. And supervisors an agency representatives will hold hundreds of conservation tours and field days during this week.

In signing his Soil Stewardship Week Proclamation Governor Daniel emphasized the importance of conservation to the State's water supplies. He said: "Nearly 146 million acres of farm and ranch land in the State of Texas produce approximately 50 percent of the raw materials processed by Texas industries. This land also provides a substantial amount of food, clothing, and shelter needs of our citizens and makes a major contribution to our national economy."

Crusade For Christ Begins In Lubbock

HOWARD BUTT

Churches of Muleshoe have been invited to participate in the largest interdenominational event in South Plains history, the "Crusade" for Christ scheduled in Lubbock May 10-17.

The giant crusade, to be held in Municipal Coliseum nightly at 7:30, will feature widely-known Howard Butt, businessman-preacher, and a team of outstanding Christian lecturers, musicians, and qualified laymen.

More than 287 churches throughout the area have been invited by letter, or personal contact, to help make the crusade successful by encouraging attendance from the congregations, to observe prayer hours in behalf of the crusade and to otherwise "spread the word" about the week-long religious event.

Several thousand persons already serving on 10 major committees are hard at work, explained the Rev. Dudley Strain, general chairman of Crusade for Christ.

TIPS ON DRIVING . . . Driver Ed. Class Observes Many Rule Violations In 3-Day Survey

by Jimmie Nell Bush
The Drivers Education Class of Muleshoe high schools observed for three days the cars driving near the "Cashway Corner" Main and Avenue D. The class observed that 38 rules were broken by drivers during those three days.

Some of the rules broken and approximately how many people broke them are:
1. 121 didn't stop or completely stop at stop sign.
2. 13 made turns from the wrong lane.
3. 142 didn't use correct signal when changing lanes or at intersections when turning.
4. 43 were speeding.

These are some of the most violated rules in Muleshoe. It would be a much safer town if the people in it would pay more attention to their driving. In stopping at a stop sign, you should stop behind the sign, then ease out into the street if there is a blind corner. In making turns you should get in the right hand lane 100 feet before you come to the intersection. In making a left turn, also get in the left hand lane 100 feet from the intersection.

Always in making turns use the correct signal for that particular turn. You should always follow the speed zone in the city.

What Is The Value Of Irrigation Water

SCS technician, Chas Ball is shown metering the amount of irrigation water being applied on the H. E. Morgan farm. By using shorter row lengths, 5 1/2 inches less water was used on the SCS trial than by Morgan and the SCS trial made $33.50 more per acre.

One of the most valuable assets of the South Plains area is our underground water. The use of this underground water for irrigation has been a big factor in our economy. The Conservation and sound use of our water will no doubt play a big part in the future economy of this area.

ground water for irrigation varies widely. The crops being irrigated and the variations of soils all have a bearing on the income from irrigation.

Indirectly we are marketing water. This includes rainfall as well as irrigation. The loss of rainfall has to be replaced by other means. For example, if 30 inches of irrigation water was applied and 10 inches of rainfall was effective and five hundred pounds of lint cotton per acre was produced he total application of water would be 40 acre inches or 3 1/3 acre foot.

The gross income from water under this production would be five hundred pounds of lint at 30c per pound of $150. This would give a value per acre foot of water of $45.45 gross income. With 15 inches of irrigation water and 9 inches of effective rainfall and one bale per acre produced the gross income per acre foot of water would be $75. These figures point out that anything that will conserve water without reducing production will greatly increase the gross income from water.

The amount of irrigation water can be controlled with a Conservation irrigation system. This kind of system not only makes maximum use of rainfall but provides the necessary tools for applying needed amounts of water for soils and crops but also helps control soil erosion in the bargain.

Even though a conservation irrigation system is on the land the battle has just begun. The best of tools are not of much value unless they are used properly. This means that the system must be maintained in good working order. For surface systems to function properly the land surface must be kept to uniform grades, streams must be adjusted for surface conditions at the time of irrigation to assure getting on the needed application.

Sprinkler systems require adequate pressure on the nozzles so they will give even distribution of water. Another important point for any irrigation is how to determine when to irrigate. An irrigation applied with the soil profile already at field capacity will decrease the gross income from water and can decrease the yield. Decreases in yield may be the result of applying water after the crop has gone into stress especially late in the growing season. Generally the crop is ready for irrigation when approximately half the moisture has been removed from the root zone.

This allows time to irrigate over the crop before any of the crop has gone into stress. Most of the soils on the high plains can store about 4 inches when the root zone has 50% of the available moisture removed. Lighter applications than 4 inches can be made efficiently with sprinkler irrigation systems.

Water management is sound business it not only conserves our precious underground water but also means dollars and cents in your pocket. Assistance on irrigation water management is available through your local Soil Conservation District.

Six Scientists Serve Cooperators Of BWVSC District

by C. L. Girdner

The Standard Soil Survey of Bailey county is over 50 per cent complete, and if continued at the present rate of production, it will be finished in this coming September.

Upon completion of field work, a soils handbook will be prepared and published and available to all persons interested. It will be used by the governmental agencies aiding farmers in Bailey county to plan proper land use and soil capability.

The main objective of the soil survey is soil classification according to the system set up in Washington, D. C., by the National Cooperative Soil Survey program. The soils are mapped according to the Great Soil Groups and further broken down into phases. When the survey is finished it will have information included that will give the slope, depth, texture, permeability, and parent material of every acre of soil in Bailey county.

It is the desire of the survey team of Bailey county to gather beneficial information about yields according to each soil mapped in Bailey county. This information will be gathered according to land use and management on each soil type. The combined information will be published for the use of all individuals interested.

Trial Plantings Sponsored By Soil District

The Blackwater Valley Soil Conservation District makes available each year several new kinds of seed for 5 to 10 acre trial plantings. Most of this seed is grass of a new variety or a variety that has not been grown here before. The farmer who receives the seed usually pays back the District the amount that was loaned from his first seed crop. Jake Roberts received some Israel clover seed to try out for this area. It is an annual but gets much taller than most annual clovers.

The planting was kept for seed production and was not grazed. It grew to a height of 10 feet, and produced 40,217 pounds per acre of green weight on irrigated land.

Adolph Wittner of the Maple community received some of this seed this year and will plant it on dryland for grazing to see if it is adapted under these conditions.

Carl Barnert received some Woodward Sand Bluestem last year. This was one of the three commercial plantings of this grass in the entire state. This is a very good grass for grazing and seed production. However, the seed crop is poor the first year, so many people shy away from it.

Among the growers who received seed this year are Earl Bowers who is going to seed Arizona cottonop. Very little has been grown here, but it did grow on some sites when the prairie was in native condition.

Joe Smallwood received Vaughn sideoats which is a strain of sideoats selected from an area around Vaughn, N. M. Pete and John Saylor are planting Plains bristle grass. It is an excellent grass for grazing, but until now has been seeded mostly south of here. This planting should show how well it is adapted to this area.

These trial plantings are another way your District serves you.

Water Heating Contest Begins

TULSA, OKLA.—In a unique "showdown test" supervised by famous U. S. Testing Laboratories here, two water heaters—one gas, and one electric—are about to run 24 hours a day delivering 160-degree hot water for one full month, to see which of the two water heaters will deliver the most hot water.

When the final result of the test is certified by U. S. Testing Laboratories, it will cause some rejoicing to a family in Muleshoe area, for it will mean they've won $50 in groceries, because of an unusual contest run by Finn's Gulfane local distributors of Gulfane.

As far as is known, the two major kinds of home water heaters have never been operated side by side in an impartially-conducted test of this type to see just exactly what each can do. During this month, local people are invited by Finn's Gulfane to look over the facts about the test, figure out which of the two will deliver the most hot water, and estimate that the LP-gas water heater will beat the electric by so many gallons.

"The Gulfane-fueled water heater will beat the electric by a good country mile," says W. A. Finn of Finn's Gulfane. "The only question is how many gallons the gas water heater will deliver than the electric—and that's where the contest comes in. You just read the ad in this paper—or better yet—come in and pick up an entry blank that gives you all the information you need. Write down one figure, and there you are. Nothing to buy, and nothing to write. Somebody within a few miles of here is going to win, and it could be anybody."

In most kinds of contests, some human judges pick the winners. In this case, the winner will be picked not by a human but by two water heaters!

Sport Shirts Buying Guide

Make every penny count when you buy sport shirts. You can, if you will keep some important buying guides in mind, according to extension clothing specialists.

Take fabrics, for instance. They come in many fibers, new blends and with new finishes. Do you know what to expect from dacron, nylon, orlon, or even cotton that has been treated with a special finish? Unless you ask for a label that gives this information, or depend upon a sales person you know well, you may be disappointed by the wearing qualities of the shirt.

Quality is not always a matter of price alone. It pays to check construction features, such as pleats or gathers over shoulder blades to give ease; buttonholes, cuff finish and stitching along the front panel.

Color makes a difference, too. Colors appropriate for the individual, the occasion, and the other parts of the ensemble, make for a better appearance. "Buying A Sport Shirt", a new leaflet, written by extension clothing specialists elaborate on these and other suggestions that will help you make a better choice.

Parmer County Farm Bureau News

A report from Maj. Gen. C. W. Christenberry (USA) Retired, gives the following interesting facts about the Texas Friendship Ship, which went to Korea in 1955. It carried hogs, goats, cattle, sheep, and rabbits which were contributed by Texas for the purpose of providing food for Korean people.

General Christenberry is president of the American-Korean Foundation, which has been and is promoting the Korean 4-H clubs. Many of you will remember that a short horn bull contributed from Bill Flippen's herd by him and some other contributors, also a male hog contributed by Orma Flippen and several breeding hogs from J. T. Gee's pens, paid for by Parmer County contributors, were included in this shipment. There were also several garden tools, small plows, etc., and some sewing kits contributed by school children in the county in the shipment.

Now here is the report we received regarding the livestock which has been under the management of Korean 4-Hers: The 120 cattle has increased to over 400; The 950 hogs have increased to 1,228, 780; The 480 sheep and goats have increased to 70,000; the rabbits are, of course, unaccountable. We thought you would be interested in this report. Farm Bureau helped sponsor this drive that year, and response was good, and the fruits are helping many needy people over there.

No one knows what kind of wheat program will be adopted in congress this season. Farm Bureau has a proposal that is being demonstrated all over the wheat area. Roy V. Miller is chairman, and Raymond Schilbs, E. L. Fairchild, Hoyt Smith and C. W. Dixon are members of this county's wheat committee.

They will be announcing a county meeting at which this proposal will be presented with the aid of slides, in such a way that you can see what you think of it. Watch for the announcement of this meeting soon.

Remember to file for State Gas Tax refund if you haven't in the last few months. It looks like Farm Bureau may get the legislature to get this procedure changed to a simplified annual affair this session.

Do you like to try unusual recipes? Here is one that I think you will enjoy. Do try it while the fresh strawberries are in season. This is the favorite dessert recipe of England's Queen Mother Mary and was brought to the United States by Aunt Susan who visited the Buckingham Palace kitchen.

Queen Mary's Strawberry Souffle
1/4 cup sugar,
2 tablespoons butter,
2 tablespoons milk,
2 tablespoons flour,
2 egg yolks.

Sift flour, sugar and stir beaten egg yolks together in melted butter and milk. Stir quickly over slow heat until thick. Do not allow to boil. Beat 3 egg whites gently at the beginning, so the eggs will not take in too much air, then rapidly until very stiff. Beat in one tablespoon sugar.

Fold egg white mixture into thickened sugar-flour-butter-milk mixture. Have a well buttered mold lightly dusted with granulated sugar. Fold 1/4 cup sliced strawberries into mixture and turn into mold about two-thirds full.

Place in a shallow pan of water and bake in 350 degree oven for form 20 to 30 minutes depending on depth of mold. Let rest a few seconds before turning from mold. Scorch under broiler and serve with brandy sauce.

Let's Make Potato Rolls
Are we losing the art of making rolls? We are missing so much goodness if we are not making them often enough to keep in practice. Do try this potato roll recipe that has been a favorite for so many years. It's wonderful for potato doughnuts, cinnamon rolls and coffee cake.

Potato Rolls
1 yeast cake or 1 pkg. dry yeast,
1 tablespoon sugar,
1 cup scalded milk,
1/2 cup sugar,
1/2 cup mashed potato,
4 1/2 cups flour.

History Of BlackWater Valley Soil Conservation District

The Blackwater Valley Soil Conservation District was voted into existence in 1911. On the 20th day of March, 1941, it was awarded its charter by the Secretary of State of the State of Texas, as a legal sub-division. Since that time its duly elected board members have served faithfully and with little monetary compensation.

After organization of the District, the board of supervisors asked the Federal Government for technical assistance from the Soil Conservation Service. An office was established at Muleshoe and the present staff includes Charles D. Ball as conservation aide, Howard Watson, part-time, or WAE, and James W. Green and C. L. Girdner as soil scientists. Bob Crawford and Doug Lowe as soil conservationists, and Dale Fischgrabe as Work Unit Conservationist.

The Blackwater Valley District comprises all of Bailey County. There are about 1500 operating units in the district and some 1121 are district cooperators.

Cooperators agree to develop as rapidly as feasible a complete conservation plan on their land. This may include a terrace system, waterways, contour farming, conservation crop rotation, and crop residue utilization.

The district agrees to supply a soil survey and land capability site or condition map of the cooperators' operating unit. The district also agrees to provide technical assistance, make available equipment and applicable materials to the cooperator.

The present board is composed of Sherman Inman, chairman; Virgil Nowell, vice-chairman; Dan Darsey, secretary-treasurer; E. N. McCall,

Farm Tractor Can Be Killer

Ignorance and carelessness in using farm machinery are sure ways to make the headlines. Records show that more than 1,100 fatalities in the United States each year are caused by tractor accidents. Extension Agricultural Engineer Willie L. Ulich offers suggestions for preventing such accidents.

A child's safety is a parent's responsibility, he says. Teach children the importance of safety and point out dangers involved in the use of machinery. Emphasize that operating a tractor is a job for a mature person.

Tractors are involved in 35 percent of all farm accidents making it the Number One farm killer. Forty percent of all tractor accidents are fatal to the operator.

Chances of an upset, points out the engineer, increase four times when speed is doubled. If possible, lock brake pedals together when driving on the open highway. Use brakes cautiously and keep them evenly adjusted.

Other safety suggestions by Ulich are: throttle down before making turns, do not carry extra riders on either the tractor or on trailed implements, and avoid climbing steep banks with the tractor since overturns are one of the chief causes of tractor accidents.

Be careful where you work. Often ditches, rocks and stumps are hidden by tall grass or brush and the tractor may overturn with little warning.

Hints Offered On Selection Of Meatier Type Hog

Texas swine producers can produce more muscular hogs with less fat by following a planned selection and breeding program. Information on how to do this is contained in a new bulletin released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, entitled "Selecting Meatier Hogs."

Meatier hogs are more valuable on today's market and their lean, tender cuts find favor with American housewives. This meatier hog can be produced by selecting gilts and boars that have adequate length (30-inch carcass on a 200-pound hog) with thick, muscular conformation, with just enough fat at market weight to insure carcass firmness and give quality and flavor to the cuts.

This hog must come from sows that farrow and raise litters of big pigs; he must be fast growing, be able to convert grain and supplement into pounds of pork at an efficient rate and possess other traits that mean profit for the producer, says T. D. Tanksley, extension animal husbandman and author of the publication.

LONE STAR AGRICULTURE

An "Indestructible" Cotton Fabric

In the constant battle of "cotton vs. synthetics," Texas' major crop has been given a boost with the development of a preservative which should give cotton fabric a better advantage on the market.

Cotton has always suffered a serious disadvantage because of its low rot resistant qualities. Each year, synthetics have grabbed more and more of the fabric market, particularly due to superior last-finish qualities under extreme weather conditions. Now that picture may change as a result of a practical method for "weatherizing" cotton materials.

The improved properties imparted to cotton give it outstanding rot resistance as well as improving its chances for longer survival under ordinary weather hazards. This research development should open up even more markets for cotton in awnings, tents, tarpaulins, and other outdoor fabric items.

The preservative method is based on the use of a water soluble acid colloid of methylolmelamine, a chemical well known for its resin-forming qualities. The resin, which penetrates the outer portion of the fiber cell wall, becomes a part of the fiber rather than just a coating. This makes cotton virtually immune to rot and mildew.

Proof of this success was determined by burying pieces of treated and untreated cloth in various types of soil. Swatches of cotton were covered with soil containing heavy amounts of fabric-destroying bacteria.

Untreated cotton was in shreds after one week. But treated cotton fabric still retained 100 percent of its breaking strength after FIVE MONTHS.

The preservative not only helps cloth withstand the ravages of outdoor weather but, in some cases, will aid in keeping colors bright after long exposure to the sun.

Cost of the fabric treatment is expected to be relatively low, according to research specialists. The method can be utilized with conventional textile finishing equipment. The end result should give cotton a long-deserved break in its

"I planted earlier than ever using ORTHOCIDE Soil Treater X....."

reports Lloyd Hahn, Brownfield, Texas

"I planted earlier than ever — and under very cold and wet conditions. I treated my entire 170 acres with ORTHOCIDE Soil Treater X and got an excellent stand." Mr. Hahn (right) with ORTHO Fieldman Jim McCarty, adds enthusiastically: "I'm going to use it again this year — I can't afford not to, planting as early as I do."

Growers prove ORTHOCIDE Soil Treater X brings higher yields, greater profits. ORTHOCIDE Soil Treater X is the best insurance against the high cost of replanting. It creates a protected zone in the furrow allowing the tender seedling to develop normally in spite of cold, wet, infected soil. The early maturity and better stands which result can bring greater profits from higher yields of top grade cotton.

Soils and Soil Horizons

SCS Technician C. L. Girdner is examining profile of shallow soil. This soil type has "A" horizon, area of plant roots, and "C" horizon, parent material only.

Soil is continuous over the land surface of the earth with the exception of steep and rugged peaks and ice covered land.

The soil of the earth is not uniform. It may be deep or shallow, red or black or almost in any possible way. The texture may be sand, silt, or clay, or it may be a mixture of any two or three.

No matter what our soil is made of, its main purpose is a place for plants to grow. It is because of this one factor that the world is dependent upon soil.

All soils contain a mixture of minerals, air, water and organic matter. The proportions may vary, but the components remain the same.

Every soil has a profile. Within this profile determines good soils from poor ones. The profile holds the plant life balance within its grasp. The soil profile consists of two or more layers of soil, one below the other and parallel to the soil surface. Soil layers may be compared to the layers of a cake.

The layers are known as horizons. These horizons differ in one or more properties. These properties may be color, texture, porosity, structure, consistence or reaction. The horizons may be a few inches thick or several feet. The horizons are usually identified by the master horizons. These may be called the A, B, and C horizons and each may have subdivisions.

The "A" horizon may be known as the topsoil, surface soil, or plow layer. In this horizon is found the greatest accumulation of roots, nutrients, bacteria, fungus, and small animals. This is the horizon the farmer is most interested in. The "A" horizon is usually different in texture and color than the other horizons.

The "B" horizon lies immediately below the "A". It contains fewer roots, microorganisms, and nutrients. It may have a greater water holding capacity than the "A" or "C" due to a larger clay content. It is usually hard when dry and stickier when wet. The "B" may be referred to as the subsoil.

The "C" horizon is generally the deepest of the three. It may be known as the parent material of the soil. It may contain a large percentage of rock or other material. Few roots enter and it may have a very poor water holding capacity.

By studying the horizons, we are able to obtain important physical and chemical information of the soil. It is our aim to help the farmer by making this information available to him. Through this, we hope to improve our soils, increase yields, and make these United States of America the most desirable land, now and in the future.
