Museum Board Looks At Films

Color sound movies made last October of Tahoka Pioneer Museum exhibits and the adjoining Ranch Heritage Park were shown at a meeting of the museum board Monday afternoon.

The movie was made last October by Kenneth Reid, Tahoka native, now of San Antonio, who has taken a special interest in the museum project and made several contributions to it. He was accompanied here this weekend by his wife Leah.

The museum board Monday had a "sack lunch meeting", followed by showing of the film and a business session.

President Kenneth Durham had appointed a committee composed of Mrs. Madeline Hegi, Mrs. Mabel Gurley and Bill Craig to nominate four new directors to be announced at the June 8 board meeting. Present board members include the above, and Mrs. Macky Turner, secretary-treasurer; Auda Norman, Lottie Jo Walker, Mayor Meldon Leslie, Winston Wharton, Harold Green, Maurice Huffaker, James F. Roberts, and Frank Hill.

The board has voted to acquire by purchase a collection of Bill Craig's artwork so that the local well-known West Texas artist's work will remain permanently on display in his home county.

The museum project is supported almost entirely by memberships and contributions. The building has been furnished by the City of Tahoka, remodeled and improved by private contributions.

Funds are being accumulated now for necessary expansion in the near future.

The adjoining Ranch Heritage Park was sponsored by Tahoka Garden Club with substantial help from Cass O. Edwards II of Fort Worth and T-Bar Ranch.

Several hundred people have been involved in contributing items of early days for display.

Plans have been made for an open house and art show during the Lynn County Pioneer Reunion in Tahoka. See MUSEUM, Page 7

Bingo Backers Claim Some Votes Not Legal

A Catholic priest at O'Donnell and others favoring legalization of bingo in Lynn County Precinct 3 by charitable organizations have filed suit against the county alleging some persons voted illegally in the April 3 election which saw the issue fail by a margin of 8 votes.

The action filed in 106th District Court by Rev. Rodney Howell of O'Donnell names all four county commissioners and Judge Melvin Burks as defendants and lists 16 names of persons who allegedly voted illegally, and who allegedly voted against legalizing bingo under a new state law.

The petition asks that District Judge George Hansard declare the bingo election invalid and that he either declare the proponents of bingo winners in that election or call another election in the precinct, which includes O'Donnell and surrounding area and a portion of Tahoka, including the Catholic Church in Tahoka.

Results of the April election showed the issue failed by 237 votes against and 229 votes for legalizing bingo. The election was called after Rev. Howell presented a petition with more than the required number of signatures asking for the vote in that precinct.

Four allegations were made in the suit. They were:

1. Voters who did not have registration cards were permitted to vote without taking the required oath that they were properly registered.
2. Voters not living in Precinct 3 were permitted to vote. Seven names were listed.
3. Voters not registered under their proper names were permitted to vote under different names. Three names were listed, all married women.
4. Voters not legally registered to vote were permitted to vote. Six names were listed.

The petition also alleged that all those persons named voted against the bingo petition.

Commissioners studying the petition at a meeting Monday said they planned to check to see how the plaintiffs know which way the persons involved voted. They also noted that in the third allegation, the married women probably had registered under their married names, but perhaps signed the voter sheet at the polls with their true first names.

Commissioners are scheduled to meet again today (Thursday) to discuss the matter further.

In another action Monday, the group voted to permit Sheriff Stanley Krause to appoint reserve deputies as needed.

Present were commissioners Bart Anderson, J.C. Gandy, Eldon Gattis and E.R. Blakney, and Judge Burks.

THE MOST MODERN TYPE — The machine and the operator both, of course. New type styles begin appearing in the Lynn County News this week, with a new computerized typesetting machine installed, offering larger type in stories for easier reading. Here the News' number one typesetter, Velma Phillips, is operating the new equipment, a Compugraphic Editwriter. The machine has a visual display terminal and stores copy on a floppy disc. As the new type is being used, a new six-column format on page one of the News is implemented this week. (LYNN COUNTY NEWS PHOTO)

WOODWORK

by DALTON

FOR SOMEONE who is supposed to know what's going on in the world, I guess I am painfully ignorant. Hopefully I know more about what's happening in Lynn County than I do about what's what—or at least, who's who—in Washington.

Last week when I was writing about my problems with the IRS and three dollars, I thought it would be good to throw in something about what I'd do when they sent the U.S. attorney general after me. It was then I realized I didn't know who the attorney general is, and pretty soon I found out very few others know either.

If William French Smith had walked into my office and given his name, I would have figured him for a mustard salesman or something, because frankly I never heard of the guy. And it took several phone calls before I came up with the name, thanks to the county judge, who read it out of a book after several persons said they had no idea.

Personally I couldn't remember anybody after Robert Kennedy.

Anyway, in my reference in the earlier column, I decided that since I didn't know who was the attorney general (I didn't find out until too late to use the name), I'd just use the name of the director of the FBI. And again I ran into problems. J. Edgar Hoover had it so long that his successors are more or less anonymous. I thought it was Clarence somebody. The sheriff was out, so I asked someone else over at the sheriff's office. They didn't know.

I asked one of my office people. She said it was Herbert Hoover. One of the sheriff's deputies called me back to tell me it is William H. Webster, who succeeded Clarence Kelley, who got in some kind of big trouble unbecoming the number one policeman in the land. I had never heard of Webster, either; he and William French Smith must be hiding from the TV cameras and reporters together.

The name I finally used in my column as suitable for a super lawman was Matt Dillon. I knew everybody had heard of him.

I GET SOME good information out of Newsweek sometimes, but it sure is a left-wing magazine. They're always pushing for more welfare and more unilateral disarmament and such nonsense. But they really blew it when they published an unbelievably long article which acclaimed Richard Pryor as the "funniest man in America" and a lot of tripe which said it's okay for Pryor to mouth obscenities since that's just the way he talks and he doesn't mean anything bad by it.

The "filthiest man in America" might be a better label.

Tax Agreement Is Made With Banks

Tahoka Independent School District and Lynn County have reached an agreement with First National Bank of Tahoka resulting in payment of additional taxes by the bank, which had deferred payment of part of its taxes to those taxing entities pending outcome of a court action filed downstate to determine if bank stock is actually taxable.

The bank agreed to pay all of its taxes plus interest, provided the school and county would agree to repay a portion of the amount paid if the U.S. Supreme Court rules in favor of the bank stockholders.

In a called meeting last week, the school board voted 6-1 to accept the bank's proposal, with Mrs. Bettye Green voting against the plan.

The county also made the same kind of agreement with Wilson State Bank and is offering the same arrangement to First National Bank of O'Donnell, which already had paid its taxes.

Interest drawn on the portions which would be returned to the banks if the courts rule in their favor will be retained by the taxing entities regardless of the final outcome.

Tahoka Women View Hawaii Volcano Eruption

Two Tahoka women on a Hawaiian tour with a group of West Texas senior citizens happened to be at the site of an unusual eruption of a volcano April 30 on the island of Hawaii.

About 11:37 a.m. Hawaiian time, according to the Hawaii Tribune-Herald, the volcano Madame Pele erupted for the first time in two and a half years. The Tahoka women, Mrs. Veda Kelley and Mrs. Muri Forsythe, were at the site for what was supposed to have been a 40-minute stop when the eruption occurred. It had not been predicted, so it was a surprise to everyone. The volcano erupted Nov. 16, 1979.

Madame Pele continued "to put on a fiery show for some 45,000 people who streamed through Hawaii Volcanoes Park to watch nature's awesome sight," said the Tribune-Herald.

By 6:30 a.m. Saturday, the activity had ended. But on Friday there was a fountaining curtain of molten lava that ran along a fissure about 310 yards from a corner of Halemauau Crater, up the crater wall and along the floor of Kilauea Caldera.

A scientist at the Hawaiian Volcano Observatory predicted that the volcano would erupt again, possibly in November. He also said the April eruption was "relatively small."

Jay Kelley Is Graduate

Jay Daniel Kelley will be among the graduating class of Wayland Baptist University. Spring Commencement will be held Saturday, May 15, at 10 a.m. in Herral Memorial Auditorium. He will be awarded the bachelor of arts degree in theology.

There apparently was no danger to spectators from where they saw the eruption.

FAMILY FOCUS

By HARRIETT PIERCE

Stretch your food dollar - and make a major impact on your food budget.

During 1981, food-price hikes will be due mainly to upward trends in prices of meat and meat products, forecasters predict.

Since meat costs are usually the largest part of the food budget--25-30 percent, follow several meat-stretching basics and save.

Meat stretching depends on two major steps: buying and preparing.

Meat Buying To Save
Generally the most economical meats are those that take longer to prepare--including chuck or rump roasts.

These are as nutritious as other meats, providing high-quality protein, iron, B vitamins and some fat.

Let "cost-per-serving" be a buying guide. Don't go by "cost per pound" only.

To figure according to "cost per serving", determine how many servings a pound of various cuts of meat will yield, then look at the price per pound and divide it by the number of servings. Your answer is the cost-per-serving.

Here's an example of how that works:

Let's say a pound of meat costs $1. It yields four servings. Divide $1 by four. The answer is 25 cents, so ground meat--in this case--costs 25 cents per serving.

Now let's compare that with ribs. Say a pound of ribs costs 60 cents. Ribs only yield about two servings per pound. So divide 60 by two. The answer is 30 cents, so ribs, in this case, cost 30 cents per serving.

Surprisingly to some consumers, the ribs are more expensive than the ground meat in this example.

How can you know the number of servings different cuts of meat will yield?

Use this guideline: meat that is mostly lean with no bone, gristle or fat makes about four or five servings per pound. Round steak and ground beef are examples.

Meat with much fat, bone and gristle, such as short ribs or spare ribs, usually provides only one or two servings per pound. Finally, in buying meats, consider a variety of meats so you can take advantage of specials. Compare prices of beef, pork, lamb, poultry and fish. Also, the "variety" meats, such as liver, kidney and other organ meats, are usually bargains.

Prepare to Save

'Prepare' to save--that is, prepare menus and food items with savings in mind.

Use more ground meats, since they are economical, versatile and convenient.

Use them in elegant casseroles, pastas, meat loaves, meatball dihes or as simply meat patties.

Stretch the number of servings per pound by adding nonfat dry milk, soy mixtures, rolled oats, cracked wheat, egg and bread crumbs.

Or you can use vegetables as meat extenders--mushrooms, celery or onions are examples. Add a bit of crumbled bacon, garlic, herbs and spices and you have interesting tastes with budget-impactful economy.

To vary the meat selection, grind your own meat and mix less-expensive cuts with more-expensive cuts--half chuck with half sirloin, for example, or half lamb shoulder and half beef round. An interesting combination is white-meat-chicken with veal.

Another argument for grinding your own meat focuses on specials--savings can be significant when a larger cut of less-tender meat is on "special" and you grind it yourself.

Southwestern Public Service Company power lines meet the highest safety and service standards. When wind, weather, tree growth or other factors affect these lines, SPS crews correct the problem quickly. If you see a downed power line or other equipment that might cause an injury or service interruption, call your local SPS office. Your call could help prevent an accident or service outage.

Raymond Dement, Line Supervisor, Roswell.

Typically, heating and cooling account for more than 60% of your home's energy consumption. Selecting the correct size of air conditioning unit can help reduce this consumption. You also can conserve energy by placing outside air conditioning units away from shrubbery or other obstructions which could block the flow of outside air to the unit. When using an air conditioner, keep blinds or draperies closed against direct sunlight and keep all outside doors closed. Conservation efforts like these can help you "keep your cool" this summer.

Al Rettig, Senior Consumer Services Representative, Lubbock.

We at SPS applaud those customers who reduce their monthly electric bills by using electricity more efficiently. One such customer, Amarillo College, recently voted to remove 94 lighting fixtures from a classroom building. This action allowed the school to meet engineering standards for lighting levels, and is expected to save the college about $5,628 a year in electricity costs.

John Marshall, Manager of Revenues, Amarillo.

Knowing what electricity is worth is worth knowing. For answers to your questions, call or write your SPS manager.

Poka-Lambro Group Sees Rural Phone Service Threat

Budget cuts will place millions of Americans' phone service in jeopardy, Congressmen Kent Hance and Charles Stenholm have been told by Royce Bevers, manager, and members of the Poka-Lambro Rural Telephone Cooperative Board of Directors in Tahoka.

Bevers and members of the board R.L. Fleming of Seagraves, C.O. McCleskey of Grassland, A.W. Neill of Brownfield and J.B. Rackler of Southland, recently returned from a trip to Washington, D.C. where they explained the perils of the proposed Reagan budget cuts on local users of telephone service.

populated areas could not raise the required money on the commercial market.

The REA telephone program provides low interest loans to 978 telephone companies and cooperatives including Poka-Lambro Rural Telephone Cooperative, Inc. Together, about 12.5 million rural consumers are served by these REA borrowers through a three-tiered loan program based on need. Interest rates are 5 percent in the insured loan program. The second tier loans are made at 11 percent in the insured loan program. The second tier loans are made at 11 percent by the Rural Telephone Bank to telephone systems who have a net income of 150 percent of all their outstanding obligations.

which provides loans at 14.5 percent interest to larger REA borrowers for major construction projects. These loans are guaranteed by the federal government.

The Reagan budget proposal calls for a 76 percent reduction in the FY 1983 insured program, a 16 percent reduction in RTB loans, and elimination of the $30 million annual appropriation to the Rural Telephone Bank that co-op officials say is needed to keep the interest rate on the bank loans from rising too high.

of people—are still without basic telephone service today, and fully 15 percent of all households served by REA borrowers still have multi-party service. In most states, REA subscribers pay more on the average for local service than do Bell subscribers. And rural areas are growing 50 percent faster than urban centers. "Loan applications backlogged at REA total $1.6 billion, exhibiting the essential need for the program," said Bevers.

Bevers argued in favor of the REA telephone program, citing that due to the low debt/equity ratio of 25 percent of most REA borrowers (with many under 15 percent), they cannot possibly qualify for commercial loans which commonly require a 40 percent debt/equity ratio. In contrast to the lower interest, 35 year loans, commercial loans would be at 16 percent interest and would have to be repaid after 15 to 20 years.

"The proposed budget slashing of the Rural Electrification Administration (REA) telephone loan program is severe. If approved by the Congress, it will result in significant rate increases for rural Americans," Bevers said.

The REA telephone loan program was established in 1949 because large telephone companies refused to serve the most rural outposts of the nation, finding it economically unattractive to do so. Most small telephone companies that sprang up to fill the communications needs of sparsely which provides loans at 14.5 percent interest to larger REA borrowers for major construction projects. These loans are guaranteed by the federal government.

1932 Class Has Reunion In City

Sixteen members of the Tahoka High School graduating class of 1932 met last Friday afternoon at the school auditorium for a 50-year reunion of the class, which graduated 29 persons, four of whom are deceased.

This was the first reunion, instigated by Seth Brewer of Alexandria Va., but he was unable to attend because of illness. Kenneth Reid of San Antonio and Toni Smith of El Paso came the longest distance to the reunion. Reid, who was president of the class, made some video tapes of the reunion proceedings. Mrs. Auda Mae Norman of Tahoka did much of the groundwork for the reunion, contacting graduates.

After the meeting at the school, the group toured points of interest in Tahoka, including the museum, old theater building, Bill Craig's art gallery and foundry. The group then had dinner at the country club.

Other members of the class who attended were Eloise Clark McDougal of Hereford; Mary Ellen Gattis of Tahoka; who was secretary-treasurer of the class; Claude Nowlin of Stanton; Carl Nowlin of Tucumcari, N.M.; Allie Barton Sargent of Brownfield; Tommie Milliken Williamson of Carlsbad; Keith Kemp of Post; Hoyt Welch of Clovis; Robert Draper of Lewisville; Earl George of Brownfield; Merle Taylor of Lamesa; Irene Beckham Brewer of O'Donnell; and Cleve Littlepage, Tahoka.

The dinner at the country club was prepared by the Tahoka Chamberettes. There were 36 in all attending the event, with some previous graduates joining the group.

Several school groups have been visiting the museum recently, and vacationers passing through town are beginning to stop and view the exhibits now that summer is approaching, states Mrs. Anna Belle Stice, who keeps the building open 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. H.B. (Belton) Howell are the most recent early settlers whose names will be added to the "Honored Pioneers" plaque. He came to the county in 1902, she in about 1912.

Names on the plaque are honored by families who have contributed $500 or more to the museum project. Also a Founder's plaque honors those giving $1,000 or more. Life members are honored on another plaque, which bears a 100 membership fee.

Dues paying time is here for annual members who support the project with $5 in membership or dues annually.

INSIGHT INTO EYESIGHT

J. DAVIS ARMISTEAD, O.D.
OPTOMETRIST

Glaucoma With 20/20 Vision
Glaucoma is the leading cause of blindness in the U.S. Most often it strikes people after the age of 35 or 40, and with the aging of the population, the prevalence of the disease is going up rapidly. It is estimated that between 1 and 2 million Americans have some degree of glaucoma. This disorder accounts for approximately 11 percent of all blindness in the U.S.

Glaucoma is often called the "sneak thief of sight" because in its early stages, there are few noticeable symptoms. Many people have early glaucoma without knowing it. By the time they seek medical help, irreversible damage to the eye may have already occurred. So deceptive are the early symptoms that a person with glaucoma may be able to "pass" an eye chart screening with 20/20 vision.

An oversimplified explanation of glaucoma is an increased pressure of the fluid within the eyeball. If the pressure is not reduced, it destroys delicate structures within the eye.

A complete eye examination by your optometrist will include a simple test of the fluid pressure. If the disease is detected early, in most cases the glaucoma can be controlled and blindness prevented.

4-H Members Give Program

Six 4-H club members gave the program at Rotary Thursday with talks they were scheduled to make in the district contests.

Cody Smith and Jody Woodard talked on harmful cotton insects, including flea hoppers, thrip, aphids, bollworms, army worms, loopers, spider mites, and boll weevils.

Rochelle Reid and Rachel Smith talked on proper feeding of your dog using a well rounded diet, fed once a day, and refraining from feeding bones and bulky vegetables.

Leah Mock and Stephanie Isbell reported on tornado spotting, taking safety measures, and calling the National Weather Service when a person sees a tornado coming or apparently building up.

Assistant County Agent Brent Drennan introduced the speakers. Home Demonstration Agent Harriett Pierce was also present.

County Agent Stanley Young arranged the program.

tion, relative humidity, wind speed, and sunshine. The objective of the program is to assist producers in making management decisions, especially those related to weather and climate. The advisories will give producers information as to status quo conditions concerning crops and soil moisture and this information, in conjunction with National Weather Service forecasts, will increase the information base with which producers have to make decisions.

Similar programs exist in the Central Texas area and in the Coastal Bend.

Warmer Weather Brings Ticks

Tick populations increase dramatically with warmer weather, causing inconvenience and health hazards for homeowners and pets.

Ticks are biting, blood-sucking parasites, and their bites may become inflamed and infected due to toxic secretions. Tick paralysis, tularemia and Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever may be transmitted through tick bites.

Brown dog, American dog and Lone Star ticks are most common in Texas home landscapes. Brown dog ticks are reddish-brown while American dog ticks are yellowish-brown when unfed and slate gray when engorged. The brown dog tick rarely occurs in rural areas; instead, it hides in crevices around buildings. American dog ticks are most often found along roads and trails. The Lone Star tick has a characteristic white spot on its back and is commonly referred to as a spot backed tick.

A female tick may lay several thousand eggs, beginning a two-to-four month life cycle. Remaining stages—six legged larva (seed tick) and eight legged nymph and adult—generally develop on separate host animals. After each feeding the tick drops off the host and temporarily hides until the next developmental stage.

Regardless of the species, control is basically the same for all ticks. Heavy infestations in the home may require treatment by professionals. Household sprays containing diazinon, Dursban, Bayon, resmethrin or Vapona will provide excellent control of light infestations.

Outside the home where vegetation is thin, use 5 percent carbaryl (Seven) dust at 20-25 pounds per acre. Increase the rate as vegetation thickens. If using a spray, mix five tablespoons of 25 percent diazinon emulsifiable concentrate (EC) in one gallon of water. Apply one gallon of spray per 1,000 square feet.

Chlorpyrifos (Dursban) is also suggested for tick control. Apply 1.5 ounces of material per 1,000 square feet of treated area. When spraying, pay particular attention to roadsides, animal trails, paths and pet resting areas. Retreatment may be required if tick populations continue to be observed. Always read the label on the insecticide container for application instructions. Properly store any unused portion of the insecticide under lock and key to prevent accidental child poisoning.

Most species of ticks can't survive in cleared areas where they are exposed to excessive sunlight and predators. Keeping areas clear of debris is important in tick control.

Hikers and campers may want to use repellent materials on their jacket cuffs or the bottoms of their trousers. Tucking trousers into the tops of socks or boots is recommended. Sleeves buttoned tight will also aid in protection. Pet owners are advised to examine their animals frequently. Light infestations can be controlled by rubbing carbaryl dust into the pet's hair. Also, treat the animal's sleeping quarters every week.

If a tick becomes attached to the skin, remove it with a slow, steady pull. Be careful not to break off its mouthparts. A drop of chloroform, isopropyl alcohol, ether, acetone or fingernail polish rubbed over the tick may help remove it. It can be removed a half-hour later with less damage to the skin because its oxygen supply is cut off.

Always apply an antiseptic to tick bites. If your hands touched the tick, wash them thoroughly with soap and water to reduce the risk of spreading disease.

It is hoped, through your cooperation in publishing this letter, a Texas family will volunteer to host Gonzalo, not only to uphold the state's reputation, but because they would actually enjoy doing so and would mutually benefit from the experience.

Texas families willing to host a B average senior with hobbies including football, basketball and reading will be interested in knowing that Gonzalo's father is a lawyer and his mother a nurse. He has a 13 year old sister and he has fair English.

Hosting families provide a bed (he can share a room), three meals a day and transportation to school and church. He has his own money for personal things and is fully insured. He will be a member of the family, share in the tasks and tax deductible.
