

MAKING A POINT--Tom Cloe, collector of barbed wire, shows the very different samples displayed on this particular mounting. Over the years, Cloe has collected about 500 varieties of wire.

Tahoka Man Holds History In Barbed Wire Collection

By MELODY DAWES

A length of barbed wire and an old fruit jar or bottle may not mean a lot to people at first glance, but when one hears how they represent certain events in history, the reality of the past is brought into new focus and understanding.

Tom Cloe of Tahoka has an extensive collection of barbed wire and other old relics of the frontier days in the southwest, with most of his collection kept in an old Texaco Oil Co. office just north of U.S. 380 east in Tahoka.

Now retired from the company, Cloe is proud to show all of his collectibles to anyone interested in learning some of the background of these assorted items.

"Take this piece of wire, for example," he said, pointing to one of the many strands of barbed wire properly mounted and labeled. "It takes on new meaning when you learn that it is a sample of the very first kind of barbed wire ever patented."

That sample, one of his most prized, is the Snake-Ribbon wire patented in 1853 by W.H. Meriwether of New Braunfels. Of the 602 varieties of barbed wire patented in the U.S., this was the very first.

Cloe started collecting barbed wire about ten years ago when he found a few pieces at an old dump site. Because of his interest in history, he was intrigued with his few samples and after making several trades from ads in special interest magazines, his collection grew. He now boasts about 800 pieces of wire with at least 500 different varieties.

The variances in the wires are great and small. Great, because some are twisted, some tied, some net-like and some almost smooth. Small, because some look so similar, but the points may be in different relationships to one another.

The best part of being shown the displays is listening to the stories that accompany each one--like the legend of the "Flying W". This wire fenced in the ranch by the same name next to the Mexican Border. The hired hands on the ranch had orders to shoot anyone trespassing on the property with or without a reason. Therefore, as the story goes, many hunters in this area who ventured onto this land were never heard from again.

Cloe pointed out that some of the samples he owns are rare and valuable. The parallel barb, "Double-scratcher" patented by T.V. Allis in 1880 is valued at $100 for an 18 inch section. (Cloe says true collectors will only display pieces at least 18 inches long.) Cloe ended up trading five other varieties to attain the "Double-scratcher."

After a fascinating tour of the various samples, Cloe is also eager to show and tell about his bottle collection. There may not be too many people left who can recall the Kerr jars being sealed with a spring seal, but Cloe has one with the patent date of Nov. 30, 1858.

He also pointed out that before 1903, all bottles were made in two pieces and that many had air pockets in them.

This old office is filled with artifacts of our past such as a Broad Axe used in cutting cross ties, old horns used to call in the dogs, and a display of antique handmade square nails, some of which came from the site of an old school in Borden County.

The past is easily recalled because of this man's interest in preserving some of our heritage.

Officers Seeking Suspect In Rape

Lynn County Sheriff's Dept. Wednesday had a warrant for arrest of a suspect in the rape of a 21-year-old housewife at a rural home the previous Wednesday, Nov. 3, and Sheriff Stanley Krause said he expected to make the arrest at any time.

The young mother of two small children told officers that she was watching television with the children in the living room of their home in the southeast part of the county about 8:30 a.m. after her husband already had left the home for work. She said she got up to go to the kitchen and saw a man wearing a homemade mask standing near the refrigerator with a screwdriver in his hand. It later was theorized that he entered through an unlocked front door.

The victim said she turned to run, but he grabbed her arm and twisted it up behind her and put the screwdriver to her throat.

He then forced her into a bedroom, tied her hands and feet with string he had with him and put a pillow over her head, threatening the children if she did not cooperate.

After the attack, he left and one of the children came into the bedroom and freed the victim, who went to a nearby home and asked the resident there to call officers.

It later was learned that an hour earlier another woman living a mile away had slammed the front door in the face of a man wearing a mask who tried to get into the home, and he had fled. She had notified Garza County sheriff's office, but they had not notified Lynn County officers, although the first incident also occurred in Lynn County.

She gave a description of a white male, probably in his early 20s, light complexion, muscular build, 5-10, weighing 160-170.

Also investigated and cleared by officers during the week was the burglary of the home of Johnny Garza, just outside the city limits southeast of Ave. B, where a stereo was stolen Monday. Two boys age 16 and 13 were questioned and the stereo recovered. They were released in custody of their parents.

Two tool boxes were stolen from combines in a field near the Lakeview community Nov. 2, it was reported Sunday by C.G. Kieth of New Home. The tools belonged to him and to Ray Banks of Springlake.

Jim Porterfield of Tahoka reported to city police that someone had stolen two guns from his pickup, including one model 1100 Remington 12-gauge shotgun and one model 700 Remington .22 rifle with case.

Tahoka Police Dept. also answered two prowler calls and one family disturbance call during the week.

In jail during the week were one person each for public intoxication and public intoxication plus disorderly conduct.

Taxpayers Vote Cost: $1.87 Each

Lynn County commissioners canvassed the ballots of the recent general election in the county and found only minor discrepancies as the group had its regular meeting Monday.

County Judge Melvin Burks told the group that the election cost the county $3595, plus about $300 for materials, and noted that with only 2,083 persons voting, this amounts to about $1.87 per vote in the general election.

We appreciate parents like that, too. It was a very difficult season for players, coaches and fans. But the Bulldogs will make a come back. Things will be a lot better next year, and with all the young players on the team, will be even better the following year, if they all continue to play.

Also, the 7th and 8th grade teams had good seasons--and the jayvee and freshman teams could have done well had not so many of their players been moved to the varsity.

A FEW YEARS AGO I got sort of curious about some of my family background and started fixing up one of those charts you can buy someplace which shows who was born to who and when and where (but never why), so a person may discover that he used to have relatives living in places he'd never even heard of.

Someone told me when I started the project that I would get hooked on it until I spent a bunch of time trying to round up more information. I didn't, though. I have since misplaced the information I did gather, and have not made much effort in the meantime to learn more.

It's not that I am not interested; I just seem to have too many other things to see about. I did learn that I have cousins and other relatives I never have met, but I still don't know much about my forebears (yeah, I know all about the Three Bears).

Studying genealogy has become almost a fulltime occupation for many persons I know. The Avalanche-Journal runs a Sunday column called "Kinsearching" which gives people some tips on how to dig out their roots.

The subject always reminds me of a couple of old jokes, too. I remember Bob Hope saying once that "my granddaddy was a great fighter. He was still swinging two minutes after he died." And, of course, the one about the ancestor "who was an old Indian fighter, until he couldn't find any more old Indians."

THE TAHOKA BULLDOGS just wound up what is believed to be their worst football season ever. We're not sure of this, because right now we're in the process of going back through our files to record scores of all the games since the 20s, but anyway it was not one of our better years so far as winning is concerned. So there were no heroes on this year's team, right? Wrong. There were about 19 or so.

We'd like to salute the youngsters who had the guts to stick out the season despite all the trouble the team had. They deserve a lot of credit for staying out there and doing what they could. We know of one young man who told his father he'd like to quit (as several did) and his dad told him "You stay out there. It takes a bigger person to do that

TT DEGREES ARE RECEIVED BY AREA STUDENTS

More than 840 students at Texas Tech University received degrees in commencement exercises at the conclusion of the 1982 summer session.

Degree recipients included Victor Ortega, Cherie Nettles, Rt. 1, and Michael Wilson, of Wilson.

During periods of economic stress and employment uncertainty, families might well consider devising a "survival plan" in the event the breadwinner should lose his or her job. Most employment counselors recommend that a worker be prepared for at least six months of unemployment if laid off.

Several strategies can help protect a job holder from being the first to go, reports Dorothy Taylor, family life education specialist. Decide on how important the job is--and if necessary improve your skills or change your attitude. Always get to work on time, be well groomed and pleasant, do your job consistently, and offer to stay late when necessary. Also, devise a budget and get your finances in order to better cope with job loss.

Food safety should begin when one goes shopping, reminds Dr. Dymple C. Cooksey, food and nutrition specialist. Buy only quantities of food you can use or store properly to avoid losses due to spoilage.

How better energy decisions make the difference

You and Southwestern Public Service Company are partners, making energy decisions that make the difference.

How you manage electricity in your home helps us make our decisions about generating power to meet the electrical requirements of the Southwest. For when you install a High-Efficiency Add-On Heat Pump, you can manage the electricity used for your home's heating and cooling -- which helps SPS determine how much power you, and the Southwest, will need.

So that economical power will always be available, SPS is developing better ways to generate electricity. One way is with coal.

Construction is now completed on the first unit of our second coal-fired power plant, Talk Station, which is now on-line and generating electricity. Harrington Station, SPS's first coal-fired power plant, has been operating since the early 1970's.

As partners we have made energy decisions which have built Talk Station. We're proud of the new power plant as you will be too. You're invited to the Open House of Talk Station between Muleshoe and Earth, Texas. Just follow the map and join us Saturday 10 to 4 p.m., November 20, or Sunday 1 to 4 p.m., November 21. Parents, help your teens discover nutritious "super snacks."

Teenagers need plenty of nutritious food to meet their special needs caused by the body's large growth spurt -- and snacks play a key role in this.

A teenage boy needs more calories than a girl so he can eat considerably more food than she at this age.

Because a girl needs fewer calories, she must choose food more carefully to meet nutrient needs. Many teenagers have problems meeting overall basic nutritional needs.

Some parents are unaware of their teenagers, so they don't remember to keep teaching them good food habits. That can lead to nutrition problems for teens.

Helping their children and teens develop health attitudes toward food is an important responsibility of parents. And don't underestimate the influence of fathers' examples, as well as mothers'.

A specific problem area centers around poorly chosen snacks and those that interfere with mealtime appetites.

This is a particular problem for the teenage girl since she needs to choose nutrients wisely to avoid too many calories.

Parents can help teenagers recognize the difference between nutritious "super snacks" and "empty calorie" snacks. Then parents can help teens develop sound snack habits to actually improve their diets.

With snacks for teens, remember that three factors can be critical; kinds, time of day, and amounts of food.

In addition, parents can help teens understand that skipping breakfast may create problems in meeting their special food needs.

Families who eat a nutritious breakfast together are more likely to maintain this nutritious habit throughout their children's teen years.

In addition, exercise is important for teenagers in maintaining healthy appetites and using excess calories.

A Visit With Your County Agent

By Stanley Young

Frost will be hitting Lynn County before long, and this could lead to prussic acid poisoning in livestock grazing certain pasture grasses and forages.

Although many plants contain the toxic material that causes poisoning, those causing the highest mortality in livestock when grazing after they have been frozen and wilted are Johnson and Sudan grasses and sorghum or hybrids of these.

The most dangerous time as far as the grazing of these plants is concerned is following frost when the plant material begins to wilt. Livestock should not be allowed access to the wilted material until it has dried completely. This usually takes three or four days of good sunlight. New plant growth usually becomes nontoxic and can be grazed within 10 days to two weeks following a rain.

Some Tahokans Give Lots Of Blood

For various reasons--but mostly because they just want to help others--some citizens of Lynn County have donated blood in their lifetime equivalent to 2, .3, or 4 gallons. Among the following list of donors, almost 28 gallons is represented being given over a period of time.

A newcomer to town, Charles Blazi, has given blood 35 times, while Maurice Huffaker, longtime local resident, has given 34. Another consistent donor is James F. Roberts with a total of 32 times to give that life saving substance.

Grace Huffaker, Chloe Wells, Jerry Ford, Bill Chancy, Alton Kelley, Virgil Carter, Betty Owens, Don Boydston, Jim McMillian and John Brooks have all donated a pint of blood at least eight times and some as many as 22.

Tuesday is the day set aside by the Lynn County Hospital Auxiliary and the Tahoka High Student Council to give Lynn County residents a convenient opportunity to give blood. United Blood Services will be positioned to accept donations in the high school library from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Paulette Brownfield, counselor at the high school, recommends that prospective donors give her a call at 998-4538 to make an appointment.

All donors don't give the same reasons when asked why they donate blood. Some do it because a member of their family received blood at one time, and they remember and appreciate the fact that it was available. Some get hooked on the good feelings that naturally follow such unselfish giving.

Though the reasons for donating vary, basically all donors go through the same procedures for donating... a brief medical history and a few tests to determine if the donor is in good health and can provide a healthy unit of blood... a few moments of cleansing the arm before the blood is collected... about 5 to 10 minutes of actually giving blood... and a short stop in the refreshment area before returning to normal activities.

The process is indeed simple, and most donors say there's nothing to it. Yet about the time the donor is enjoying a refreshment, the work of the blood center staff is just beginning.

Trained laboratory technicians immediately spin the blood in a centrifuge in preparation for separation into various components. The plasma is removed from the bag, leaving a unit of red blood cells. The plasma can be further processed to remove platelets or cryoprecipitated antihemophilic factor, or can be frozen for future use.

In the meantime, other technicians use samples of the blood to perform tests including blood grouping, serology, hepatitis and unexpected antibodies. Later, if all results are acceptable, the units of whole blood and blood components are carefully labeled and stored until they're delivered to a hospital.

This whole process of testing and processing takes approximately 6 hours of laboratory time. That's why in emergency situations, blood which has already been collected and prepared for patient use must be readily available.

Blood is distributed to most hospitals on a consignment basis, and hospitals are charged processing fees only for units actually transfused. Technically, the blood remains in the blood center's control until that time, and units are often moved from one hospital to another. This is a convenient way to meet each hospital's needs while also assuring that blood products are transfused before their expiration dates.

In Lynn County, more and more blood is used all the time. "One might consider donating a pint of blood that would help replace blood used possibly by someone you know," said Mrs. Brownfield.

When a physician orders blood or blood components for a patient, it is tested further by the hospital blood bank. First a sample of the patient's blood and the unit to be transfused are crossmatched to make sure the two samples are compatible.

Most often, the patient receives a particular blood component rather than a unit of whole blood. This "component therapy" is best for the patient and also makes best use of limited blood resources. Every volunteer blood donation actually helps two or more patients.

Some accident victims and surgery patients still may receive whole blood, or they may receive red blood cells. Plasma is often given to burn victims or people in shock. Cancer patients undergoing therapy frequently need platelets, which help blood coagulate, but they may need other components as well. Cryoprecipitated antihemophilic factor is used to treat bleeding problems in hemophiliacs.

County

Counties totaling $685 for the year 1983 were approved.

A formal contract with the Lynn County Appraisal District to collect county and hospital district taxes was approved. The district already is collecting the taxes at its offices at Harper and Ave. J.

The county approved $400 for clothing for foster children in Lynn County after Jody Longoria and Laura Nettles appeared before the commission. Mrs. Longoria represents the Dept. of Human Resources and Mrs. Nettles is chairman of the county Child Welfare Board.

Tax money collected on bank shares from Wilson and Tahoka banks have been put into escrow pending outcome of litigation on the issue of whether the shares are taxable.

Cut Weeds, Fire Marshal Urges

Residents of Tahoka and surrounding area were strongly urged this week to cut weeds now because of the fire hazard they pose when they are allowed to die on the vine.

Fire Marshal Jerry Ford said the hazard is greatly reduced when the weeds are cut and raked up, and then put in or near a dumpster.

Frenship Wins 53-0

The dismal 1982 football season thankfully came to a close Friday night as the Tahoka Bulldogs went down 53-0 to the district champion Frenship Tigers here, closing out a year of no wins and 10 losses for the Bulldogs.

With coaches, players and fans accustomed to winning most of the time, and with Tahoka usually at the top of the district standings, it was a hard year for all. At the end of the season, there were just three seniors on the team, and three freshmen were on the starting lineup. The fact that all the young players did a creditable job against older and stronger players indicates that a lot of improvement is due for the Dogs next year. Also, leading rusher Steve Pierce is due for the Dogs here, closing out a year of no wins and 10 losses for the Bulldogs.

It was 28-0 at halftime after Daniels passed to End James Hitt for 21 yards and to Hall for a 9-yard TD. QB Brent Davis ran 19 for a touchdown in the third, and FB Raymond Green went 1 yard. Bill Copeland ran 13 for a score and it was 47-0 by the end of three. In the fourth, guard Shawn Carbary scored on a recovered fumble.

Tahoka never really threatened, although Pierce gained 74 yards in 21 carries. And on defense, senior Jesse Vega, playing his final game, did an outstanding job, and was counted in on at least a dozen tackles.

Cotton Crop Grades And Mike Higher

Higher grades and micronaire readings for 1982-crop High Plains cotton seem to be the pattern, according to Mack Bennett Area Director for USDA's Marketing Services Office at Lubbock. White grades accounted for about 27 percent of this season's samples during the first three weeks and against less than one-half of one percent during the comparable time period last year.

Micronaire has averaged 37 compared with 34 during early harvesting last year.

Northern and western High Plains Counties had below freezing temperatures around Oct. 20 and again Nov. 3. General harvesting in those counties should begin this week, Bennett said.

We have our new packet of films and filmstrips in for your use during this next month. The films are the following: American Sportsman, Aucassin and Nicolette, Coral Reef, Curious George Rides a Bike, Dare the Wildest River, Desert Mariners, Dragon over the Hill, From the Face of the Earth, Giants Come in Different Sizes, I Am a Guitar, Let No Man Regret, Luke Was There, Master Kiteman, Money, My Darling Clementine, 110 Watts-120 Volts, Palatte Knife and Painting, Petey the Pelican, Rocky Mountains and Under the Covers: American Quilts.

The following are our Waldron on Sept. 17, 1972, in Plainview. He was a World War II veteran, having served in the U.S. Air Force. He was a native of Twin Falls, Idaho, and a retired civil service jet engine mechanic at Reese AFB. He was a Methodist.

Survivors include his wife; a son, Neal Essary of Angleton; three daughters, Saunya Bishop of Angleton, Mrs. Lee Holden of Tahoka and Mrs. Terry Noblett of Plainview; three brothers, S.M. of Lodi, Calif., O.W. of Wolforth and Bill of Buhl, Idaho; three sisters, Lois Suttle of Lubbock, Geneva Gebbert of Austin and Alma McCullar of Wolforth; and 10 grandchildren.

new filmstrips for this month: The Camel with the Wrinkled Knees, Charley, Deajo Del Arco, Duffy and the Devil, From Head to Toe Our Bodies Grow, Hero Legends, The Magic Word, Rumpelstiltskin, She'll Be Comin' Round the Mountain, The Tomten and the Fox.

The response for showing films this past month was very good. We had a total of 428 people who viewed our films and 115 who saw filmstrips during the month of October. However, if I understand correctly, we will not have access to any films or filmstrips after this year since the library lacks about one thousand dollars in meeting the budget that is required to stay in the West Texas Library System. Also, I understand that the extra money that we have been getting for library books will be cut off too. Our allocation for books this year is $1,015 which is a considerable increase over last year's $550. The amount that we are given each year is determined by the amount that we spend for books from our local fund each year.

We regret this state of affairs, but we hope that sometime in the foreseeable future that this problem can be alleviated and we can again be a member of the West Texas Library System with all the benefits that it affords our library.

USING ANOTHER'S GLASSES
People who use glasses for reading can borrow someone else's reading glasses with no harmful effects to the eyes. But the "borrowed" glasses will not work as well. And if they're worn for a long period of time they might cause headaches.

Everyone's vision problems are different. Your degree of nearsightedness or farsightedness or other vision problem will never be exactly the same as someone else's. That's why glasses have to be prescribed for your eyes to give them the exact correction needed.

When you have an eye examination, the doctor gives you a prescription for glasses. That prescription represents an exact measurement of your vision problems. The lenses will be ground in a specific way, according to the needs of your eyes. And that means both eyes, because no two eyes are exactly the same either.

In a pinch, a pair of borrowed glasses may help, but not for long. Only glasses prescribed for YOUR needs will give you the comfort and correct vision you need to see well.

In the interest of better vision from the office of:

The prayers, phone calls, visits, flowers, gifts, cards and the food that has been brought and sent to our home. Thanks to Dr. Gordon Mayes and staff, Dr. Richard Wright and staff and the Lynn Co. Hospital staff, Jon Roy Ram-sour, Rev. Don Cass, R.P. Ward, Gene Wisdom, L.C. Lander, Perry Shuffield, for the many prayers and visits. Rev. Rick McGee, Bill Bronson of Lamesa who stopped at the wreck and went to the hospital with us. For the many prayers and visits made to the hospital to see us. Thanks to Virginia and Gloria for the help at the wreck and for going to the hospital with us. To the ones who sat with me and visited with Arthur while I was in I.C.U. To the ladies who have sat with me since I have been home. For the concern and kindness shown in other ways, we shall always be grateful to each and all of you. ### BACTERIOLOGICAL STANDARD EXCEEDED

Dear Customer:
The Grassland Water Corp. collected 2 bacteriological samples during the month of July. The results of the coliform bacteriological samples exceeded the Texas Department of Health's "Drinking Water Standards," which were promulgated as required by the "Safe Drinking Water Act," Public Law 93-523. Drinking water containing coliform bacteria in excess of the standard may constitute a potential threat to public health. Your water system has collected additional check samples as required by the "Drinking Water Standards". Additional samples have been within standard guidelines. Coliform organisms are common to the intestinal tract of man and animals. Their presence in water is an indicator of bacteriological contamination of the sample either from the water system or from a sampling error or from a Lab error. Increased monitoring (check samples) and customer notification of the public when the standards are exceeded are required by law as a means of keeping the public informed. James Aten, Pres. Grassland Water Corp. 45-3tc
