UMBRELLA TIMES—Garden Club members Cordie Swann and Jewel Smith portray the "farmer and his wife" Tuesday at the club's "Calendar of Umbrellas" Style Show. The month represented here is January when the farmer and his wife are finishing the harvest and beginning to think ahead for the coming season. In the middle photo, Esta Mae Kidwell opened her umbrella to reveal favorite "junk food" known to dieters as she represented the month of August and the fad diets that all "professional dieters" try. And at right, Mildred Abbe is given advice to take "One Day at a Time" as her umbrella indicates that she spends the month of November cooking, cleaning and preparing for a busy holiday season. An armed robbery at the Tahoka Dairy Queen and the subsequent arrest of two suspects, apprehension of a suspect in a recent rape in the county and arrest of two wanted persons by a DPS trooper from Tahoka kept law enforcement officials in the city and county busy during the last week.

In addition, county officials have been advised of charges filed in an area county alleging felony theft by the owner of a bankrupt Chevrolet dealership in Tahoka.

A man with a sawed-off shotgun robbed the Tahoka Dairy Queen of approximately $950 in cash last Friday night, and two suspects in the case were nabbed by an alert Department of Public Safety trooper near Iraan Tuesday.

DQ employes Gilbert Leal, Francisco Alvarez and Anacelto Saldana were in the process of closing up the drive-in when the robbery was pulled by a young white male who told them "I hate to do this, but times are hard."

They said the man entered the restaurant about 10:30 p.m., drank coffee and left, but returned close to 11 p.m. and pulled the shotgun from under his coat. He took the money in three bank bags which bore the legend "Dairy Queen, Tahoka, Texas" and left after cutting phone wires and herding the employes into a room.

Tuesday afternoon DPS Trooper Mike Dawson of Ozona stopped a car near Iraan for a traffic violation and then saw that it had been reported stolen from Odessa. Dawson said as he started to search the car, he then found another man lying in the back seat, apparently intending to surprise the trooper with a loaded shotgun. Dawson drew his pistol first, however, and the man dropped the shotgun.

Dawson then found the Dairy Queen bank bags in the car, with about $70 cash and some checks still in the bags.

"We may have to put officer Dawson on our county payroll," Sheriff Stanley Krause said. "Last September he recovered a pickup for us which was stolen in New Home."

Go After Suspects

Two officers from Tahoka Police Dept. and the Lynn County Sheriff's office were en route to Fort Stockton to pick up the suspects Wednesday. Charged were Kevin S. Berry, 17, and Norman Duane Espy, 28.

The shotgun had been reported stolen Wednesday night from a pickup owned by Michael Shane Crawford of Tahoka, while the pickup was parked at his residence on Lockwood.

A suspect in the Nov. 3 rape of a 21-year-old Lynn County housewife came to the sheriff's office with his attorney last Thursday and turned himself in after learning that a warrant had been issued for his arrest in the case.

Charged with rape was Steve Allison Hair, 22, of Post. He posted $25,000 bond set by Justice of the Peace Ed Hamilton, and was not jailed.

A man wearing a homemade mask entered the woman's home and threatened her with a screwdriver before attacking her on the morning of Nov. 3.

A grand jury scheduled to meet Dec. 3 is to consider the rape case.

Nabs Wanted Men

DPS Trooper Jerry Griffin of Tahoka stopped a vehicle for speeding Tuesday afternoon and found that both occupants were wanted. He arrested the two men, who have been living in Lubbock. One, Bobby Joe Russell, 20, was wanted for desertion from the U.S. Navy and was turned over to authorities at Reese Air Force Base. The other, Jackie Dale Armstrong, 24, was being held in jail here for Nevada authorities. He is wanted for parole violation.

Frances Chestnut of Tahoka, owner of Bray Chevrolet Co., has been charged with theft over $200 and under $10,000 in Yoakum County and a grand jury in that county has returned an indictment against her. The case involved an exchange of vehicles with another Chevrolet dealer.

Larry Moore, Rt. 1, O'Donnell, last Thursday reported that an assortment of tools and some gasoline valued at a total of $337 had been stolen from him.

The man in charge of the state's jail commission, Director Robert Viterna, paid a surprise visit to Lynn County jail Tuesday afternoon, and was very pleased after his unscheduled inspection. He commented that it was the "cleanest jail in West Texas" and told Sheriff Krause in a note that "I'm as proud of it as you are."

In a lighter note involving officers, the sheriff's office received a call Tuesday from a woman who had just driven to Tahoka from Lubbock who told the dispatcher there was "a big green thing weaving around on the highway" near the Lubbock-Lynn County line. The dispatcher asked if it were farm equipment, and she said it was just a big green thing. Deputy Joe Bryan went that direction and reported seeing a John Deere combine.

Tahoka School Gets Good Audit Report

Although Tahoka schools are facing some serious financial problems in the future because of declining enrollment and increased property tax exemptions allowed to farmers, the financial picture of the school is good going into the current year, according to auditors who presented an annual report on Tuesday night.

The school started the year with $30,676 in the general operating fund compared to about $1,500 the previous year, the school board was told by Becky Lusk, who presented the report for the firm of Bolinger, Segars, Gilbert & Moss.

The board approved the financial audit, termed by one member as "the best report we've had in years." Board members also heard from Loretta Tekell, business manager, that on Nov. 11, a total of $127,394 had been collected on 1982 taxes, compared to $80,052 by the same time last year. This means about 15 per cent of the total tax roll for this year already has been collected, Mrs. Tekell said.

Vice President Joe Brooks presided. All board members were present except Joe Hays.

Coach Gary Pinson and County Atty. Jimmy Wright appeared before the board to discuss a case involving two young men, not students, who caused a disturbance on the campus. The two pleaded guilty in city court of charges of disorderly conduct and were fined.

Frank Barrow, president of First National Bank of Tahoka, appeared volving Tim Conway, who I think is one of the funniest people around anyway. ...

WE UNDERSTAND there will be another shot at repealing Texas' blue laws in the next legislature, and that the chances are good that they will be repealed. Repeal would be okay with me; I never did think that outlawing sales of certain items on Sunday made much sense. It's true that it is, and should be, the Lord's Day, but just making people close up their stores isn't going to bring them into the fold. I don't mind the stores being open if they want to be (and if they can find people desperate enough to work on Sundays). Just so they don't pass a law that says I have to open my own business on Sunday.

MONDAY BEING what it is, and since right now it's the day of writing this, it only seems natural for me to consider saying derogatory things about some people and organizations. What I mean is, it's hard to be nice on any day, but on Mondays it is a real challenge to be magnanimous. I really don't know what that means, either, but I think it has to do with wheels on a Firebird.

Anyway, I was thinking about some people I could throw brickbats at, and came up with these: The striking football players, Southwest Airlines, Avis Rent-A-Car and my preacher, all of whom have done some things recently I don't like.

Biblically, the last should be first, so let me tell you about our preacher. He had the nerve to preach Sunday about the kinds of excuses people use for not doing more for their church, for not teaching classes, giving enough money, and not giving their time and talent for the church. He even suggested it might be good for us to list all the things we do for others during one week.

I'm like the little girl in Sunday School class who was told that she should "always remember that the reason we're here is to help others." She wanted to know what the others are here for.

Those excuses the minister mentioned that we use for not doing what we ought to sound familiar. I've used most of them.

Actually, I'm less put out with the preacher than with the other folks I mentioned. He did preach a good sermon. And all those other people out there in the congregation really needed it.

The striking football players, though, are something else. The average fan is pretty disgusted with them for not wanting to play football for $100,000 a year. And when they do finally start playing again, they're likely to discover that many of the fans who used to view them as heroes are going to be mighty cool to them now, especially those most outspoken for the union.

Southwest Airlines? Well, they have a toll-free number you can call to make reservations and get information, just like all the other airlines. Only it's an unlisted number, and they change it periodically. This makes it inconvenient and a little costly to the people living outside the metropolitan areas. Most airlines have their toll-free numbers publicized and in the phone books. But you can't even get the Southwest number, except by first making a pay call to them (when they often put you on hold), or going to one of their ticket counters in person. It's a dumb policy; what good is a toll-free number when the people who need it can't get the number from information?

Avis tried to rip me off with a deal where they give a 40 per cent discount. Except that they first raised the regular weekend price by almost 100 per cent.

Least this should sound too critical, there are people I like during the rest of the week. But since this is still Monday, I can't offhand think who any of them are.

LAST SUNDAY night we watched Dick Clark with his latest collection of television bloopers. Like the one before it, most of the material actually wasn't funny, although some was interesting. And one or two were sort of amusing, including a brief segment in-

How better energy decisions make the difference

You and Southwestern Public Service Company are partners, making energy decisions that make the difference.

How you manage electricity in your home helps us make our decisions about generating power to meet the electrical requirements of the Southwest. For when you install a High-Efficiency Add-On Heat Pump, you can manage the electricity used for your home's heating and cooling — which helps SPS determine how much power you, and the Southwest, will need.

So that economical power will always be available, SPS is developing better ways to generate electricity. One way is with coal.

Construction is now completed on the first unit of our second coal-fired power plant, Tolk Station, which is now on-line and generating electricity. Harrington Station, SPS's first coal-fired power plant, has been operating since the early 1970s.

As partners we have made energy decisions which have built Tolk Station. We're proud of the new power plant as you will be too. You're invited to the Open House of Tolk Station between Muleshoe and Earth, Texas. Just follow the map and join us Saturday 10 to 4 p.m., November 20, or Sunday 1 to 4 p.m., November 21. Come as you are, dress casually. There will be refreshments and guided tours for the whole family.

SPS Opens Power Plant To Visitors

Employees of Southwestern Public Service Company will show off their second coal-fired power plant, Tolk Station Unit No. 1, near Muleshoe, Saturday and Sunday, (Nov. 20-21), and everyone in the SPS service area is invited to the open house, said Harold Roberts, local manager in Tahoka.

The new coal-fired unit will be of significant help in Southwestern Public Service Company's effort to hold down the rising costs for the fuels required to generate electricity, Roberts said.

When it is generating at capacity, the 561,000-kilowatt Tolk Unit No. 1 -- the largest unit ever built by SPS -- will be able to supply the electricity needs of 225,000 people.

Tours of the plant will begin at 10 a.m. and continue until 4 p.m. on Saturday. Tours will continue from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m. on Sunday, Roberts said. Casual dress is suggested. Women should wear slacks and low heels.

Tolk Station is located just south of U.S. Highway 70, about 10 miles east of Muleshoe (eight miles west of Earth).

The power plant is easy to find, Roberts said. The building which houses the boiler is 237 feet tall--about the height of a 20-story office building. The chimney stack, from which cleaned flue gases from the boiler exit, towers 400 feet above the sand hills which surround the plant.

The great size of the plant is required to house equipment large enough to supply the region's ever-growing demand for electricity, said Berl Springer, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Southwestern Public Service.

"We're immensely proud of Tolk Station, which was designed by our own engineers," Springer said. "We know it will help us serve our customers in the Lynn County area, and all of our customers, more economically. And the availability of more electrical power will help attract new industries to our entire 45,000-square-mile, four state service area."

SPS serves more than one million people in the south plains and Panhandle of Texas, eastern and southeastern New Mexico, the Oklahoma Panhandle, and southwestern Kansas.

Springer said SPS is one of only four major electric utility companies in the United States that employs its own in-house plant design engineers. Touring the plant "will be quite an educational experience," Roberts said. Visitors will see Tolk's coal-handling facilities, the coal pulverizers, the boiler, the turbine-generator, miles of steam piping, the plant maintenance shop, and the plant's state-of-the-art computerized control room.

Unit No. 1's boiler burns low-sulfur coal delivered from near Gillette, Wyo. by 110-car trains. At maximum rating the boiler burns approximately 296 tons of coal per hour. That's 7,104 tons of coal each day.

The turbine at maximum output produces about 728,000 horsepower.

The main steam piping at the unit contains high pressure steam with flow rates as high as 3,800,000 pounds of steam per hour.

Bert Ballengee, president and chief operating officer of Southwestern Public Service, said detailed planning and design for Tolk Station, which is named after former SPS board chairman Roy Tolk, began in 1975.

General construction contractor for the plant was Missouri Valley, Inc., of Amarillo; the electrical contract work was done by Budwine Service Electric of Carlsbad, N.M. Other companies were contracted to build the evaporative cooling towers and the rail spur to the plant, and to do fencing, paving and insulation work.

On-site construction of the plant involved hundreds of craftsmen and laborers over a period of more than four years. Sometimes, there were as many as 800 workers on site.

"Tolk Station to me is a marvel," said Pete Smith, an SPS engineer who helped manage the job of designing and building the plant. "Literally thousands of people were involved in putting it together and making it work."

Only 150 people are required to operate the Tolk

Unit 24 hours a day, Ballengee said.

Cost of the Unit was $228.2 million, excluding allowance for funds used during construction of $48.3 million. Cost per installed kilowatt of capacity was $489.

"The unit came on-line on schedule and within budget," Ballengee said. "We at SPS are especially proud that Tolk, like our other coal-fired plant, Harrington Station near Amarillo, was completed for less than one-half the national average cost for coal-fired plants. Obviously, when we can perform like that, we're saving our customers a lot of money."

A second, identical unit at the Muleshoe site, Tolk Station Unit No. 2, is now under construction. It is scheduled to be in service in 1985.

Historically, Southwestern Public Service used natural gas to fire the boilers which heat water into steam, Ballengee said. "But we saw in the early 1970s that the cost of natural gas would shoot up, and continue to get higher, so we began building coal-fired plants, because coal is cheaper to use."

VAN MOORE, O.D.

CONTACTS AND CATARACTS
 A cataract is a clouding of the lens of the eye. When vision is seriously impaired, the lens is removed by surgery. Glasses or contact lenses are used to compensate for this. Otherwise you would suffer from extreme farsightedness.

Before the advent of contact lenses, the only alternative was to wear thick-lensed glasses to correct vision after cataract surgery. These magnified the eyes so much that it made people who wore them uncomfortable about their appearance.

There was also a problem in the glasses themselves, because of the space between the lens and the eyes. It tended to distort the actual size of things seen. This was especially true in cases where only one eye had been affected by cataract.

Now we have contact lenses, with both soft and hard lenses, that fit directly over the eyes, improving vision and appearance.

Now there is a choice. You can still wear glasses, if that's your preference. Or you can choose contacts and enjoy their advantages.

GTE Faces Hunting Problem

"A word of caution when hunting this year", suggests O.D. Hearn, GTE Operations Manager in Brownfield. This is the time of year we experience an increase in service outages as a result of cables and other outside equipment being damaged by gunshot.

Hearn estimated that hunting accidents account for eight to ten outages a week in his area. Most of the damage is unintentional he added.

To avoid unnecessary service interruptions, a serious inconvenience to the customer as well as an expense to the Telephone Company, hunters are advised to use caution when hunting near telephone facilities.

Museum Is Given Valued Items

Tahoka Pioneer Museum has on display several valued and interesting items recently donated.

The W.D. Nevels family collection has been increased by some additional donations from Mrs. Ruth Nevels Sparks of Lubbock.

Of special interest is a quilt in perfect condition made by her great-grandmother Harris back in the 19th century at Harrisville, Miss., a town named for her family. This quilt was brought to Brownwood, Texas by Ruth's grandmother, R.F. Nevels, in the early 1880s then to Borden County in 1892, thence to Lynn County in 1901.

Mrs. Sparks also has given a trunk her mother, Mrs. W.D. Nevels, as a bride brought to Tahoka in June 1907; a wardrobe trunk given Ruth's sister, Willie Lois (Hoffman) when she was age 14, bearing stickers from schools she attended, Simmons University, Sul-lins College of Bristol, Va., and Baylor University, Waco; and a solid mahogany store counter made in 1946.

Another item of interest is a Deuce of Hearts Ranch branding iron, probably acquired by her dad, W.D. Nevels, early in this century. This ranch adjoined T-Bar Ranch on the north, in the present area of New Home and was established in the 1890s by J.L. Vaughn of Plainview, and later was owned by Van Sanders and J.K. Milwee.

Another Saddle Given
Mrs. Buford (Zora Wise) Powers and daughter-in-law, Frances Powers, have given a 80-year-old saddle from Hungry Hill Ranch, southeast of Wilson and east of Tahoka Lake, donated in memory of Mrs. Power's pioneering father, B.B. Wise (1876-1956), brother, J.A. Wise (1908-1972); husband, (1896-1981); and son, O.W. (Dub) Powers, (1923-1981).

Dr. K.R. Durham has given the Museum a carpenter's drawing knife, hand-made from the early days.

At a recent museum board meeting, the group voted to begin a collection of art objects from Bill Craig that portray early day life on the South Plains.

Also, the museum board accepted a proposal by City of Tahoka that it accept free of charge an old fire truck, no longer used. It will be refurbished and moved to the lot back of the museum.

Food safety should begin when one goes shopping, reminds Dr. Dymple C. Cooksey, food and nutrition specialist. Buy only quantities of food you can use or store properly to avoid losses due to spoilage.

Showers Slow Cotton Harvest

Light to moderate showers roamed the High Plains Wednesday and Thursday ahead of a slow moving cold front. Harvesting of 1982's cotton crop slowed. Some areas on the High Plains resumed harvest quickly, according to Mack Bennett, Area Director for USDA's Marketing Services Office in Lubbock. The Lubbock office classified 44,000 samples during the week ended Nov. 11 for a season's total of 85,500. This compares with 60,000 classed by the same date last year, Bennett said. Predominant grades were 42 at 40 percent, grade 32 was 38 percent and grade 41 accounted for seven percent. About six percent was reduced one grade because of bark and six percent for grass. Predominant staples were staple 30 at 30 percent, staple 31 was 38 percent and staple 32 amounted to 14 percent for an average of 30.6 thirty-seconds of an inch. Micronaire 35 - 49 was 85 percent, 33 - 34 was six percent, 30 - 32 was six percent and 27 - 29 was two percent for an average of 39. Breaking strength averaged 24.6 grams per tex. High Plains cotton trading was slow to inactive until after mid-week. Growers sold small new-crop lots of mostly grades 42 and higher, staples 30 - 32, mike 35 - 49 at even to 100 points over 1982 Commodity Credit loan rates. Equities of 1981-loan cotton brought growers $5 to $20 per bale, mostly $10 to $15. Light demand improved slightly. Gins paid growers $60 to $90 per ton for cottonseed, mostly $75 to $80. Commodity Credit cotton loans during November will be disbursed at 9.75 percent, the lowest rate since the 1979-crop when the rate was nine percent.

Letters to the Editor

Letters to the editor do not necessarily express the views of this newspaper. All correspondence must be signed, and in good taste before it will be published, and the name of the writer must be published also. Letters to the editor may not be more than two double-spaced typewritten pages.

Dear Editor:
My name is Martha J. (Chancellor) Taylor. Once upon a time I and my brother, John Chancellor, and my grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roderick, lived out northeast of Tahoka at the New Lynn Community. This was a way back in 1927 to 1936. Then we lived awhile in Tahoka, 1936-37 until in August 1938, WPA moved me to Lubbock. I am sure Tahoka has changed somewhat. Perhaps many of my old school mates are not living there now. But nevertheless I would like to start taking the Lynn County News, if this is possible. Please give me your rates and cost to obtain your paper. Looking forward to hearing from you. Sincerely,
Martha J. Taylor
Mrs. E. I. Hill was a very dear person and friend to me. Believe they had or owned the paper in the 1930s.

What do you say we start a petition to have one built or opened for Tahoka? I'm sure it would be a happier town.
Yours truly,
Tina E. Ruiz
[Allsup's announced plans a couple of years ago to put a store in Tahoka, and had a site in mind. But no word on when this will materialize has been received by the newspaper. You may write Allsup's, Box 1907, Clovis, N.M. 88101, and encourage them to go ahead and build a store in Tahoka.]

***
Dear Sir:
I think there needs to be more things in Tahoka for teenagers to do instead of dragging the streets. I think there needs to be a movie theater or something so we won't waste gas and get in trouble with the law. I think if there was something to do on the weekend so many teenagers wouldn't get into trouble.
Yours truly,
Michele Terry

Dear Editor:
General Telephone has done it again! The other day we had a chance to win $1000 by listening to KLLL and calling to let them know they had played three certain songs in a row. The third caller was to win and we dialed the number twice and the line was busy, on our third dial we got a recording saying the number was disconnected. On the fourth and fifth try we got nothing. So we figure General Telephone cost us $1000. Good old General!
How about it General? You want to reach out, reach out and make us happy today?
Thanks,
Juanell Jones

FARM-CITY WEEK
Farm-City Week, Nov. 19-25, focuses on the involvement of farm and city people as partners in growing, processing, marketing and consuming food and fiber. In Texas, movement of food and fiber from field to factory to the family table provides jobs and income for about a fourth of the working force, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. One out of every 30 Texans is a farmer or rancher, and 30 percent of the state's retail trade business is directly associated with agricultural production and selling of food and fiber products.

Delegates Named To Council

Forty-two Texas cotton leaders have been named delegates to the National Cotton Council. They will be among the 292 representatives from across the Cotton Belt who will convene in Phoenix Feb. 7-8 to develop 1983 policies and programs for the industry-wide organization. Among other Texas delegates are: Producer Joe D. Unfred of New Home; alternate producer delegate is Wayne Huffaker of Tahoka.

Cotton Customers To Tour Belt: An orientation program for representatives of the ASEAN Federation of Textiles, a subgroup of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations, is set for Nov. 13-20. Designed to acquaint textile executives with the production and marketing of U.S. cotton, the tour is sponsored by Cotton Council International, overseas arm of the National Cotton Council, to promote raw cotton exports. Participants include executives of mills and textile associations in Singapore, Thailand, Malaysia, Indonesia and The Philippines. The group will meet with U.S. Department of Agriculture officials in Washington, D.C. to discuss export credit, market development, and other U.S. programs and policies. The executives then will travel across the Cotton Belt with stops in Memphis, Nov. 15-16; Dallas, Nov. 17; Bakersfield, Nov. 18; and Fresno, Nov. 19. Local cotton groups will host a program at each location.

Computer Use To Be Highlighted: A special seminar on the use of computers on farms and ranches is scheduled Jan. 6 as a feature of the 1983 Beltwide Cotton Conference in San Antonio. Alabama cotton grower and ginner Hugh Summerville Jr., is chairman of the seminar and one of the featured speakers. Topics will include the roles of land-grand uni-

A Visit With Your County Agent

By Stanley Young

Fall weather is a wonderful break for many folks, but it is a warning for some animals to seek shelter. Unfortunately, cockroaches take the cool fall weather as an invitation to move into homes. If you are one of the numerous homeowners who have experienced such an invasion recently, take heart; there are some things you can do. Non-chemical measures: 1. Keep windows and doors weathersealed. 2. Calk cracks in outside walls, including areas where electrical lines and water pipes pass through. 3. Inspect beverage cartons, pet food, potato and onion sacks, firewood and other materials before bringing them inside. 4. Eliminate water leaks or other sources of water. 5. Clean up food crumbs and other debris. 6. Keep foodstuffs, pet foods and garbage pails in containers with tight fitting lids. Chemical control: Cockroaches like to hide in cracks and crevices which are just wide enough to be squeezed into. They like to be near sources of heat such as refrigerator and washer motors. Also, they don't usually stray far from their source of food and water. All this means that you most often find cockroaches in kitchens, bathrooms and laundry rooms. So apply chemical treatments to cracks and crevices and near sources of water, warmth or food in these rooms. Following are some insecticides suggested for cockroach control: Inside the home: Baygon 1.1% spray, Carbaryl 2.5% spray, Diazinon .5 to 1% sprays, Dursban .5% spray, DDVP .5% spray, Malathion 3% spray (premium grade), Ronnell 2%. Outside areas: Baygon 1.1% spray, Carbaryl 2.2 spray, Diazinon .5% spray, Dursban .5% spray, Malathion 3% spray.

Several new developments offer hope for controlling cockroaches. Scientists in insect behavior have, in recent years, discovered that insects of one sex are attracted to the opposite sex by chemicals (perfumes) released into the air. These highly attractant odors, called pheromones, have been studied as a control measure for cockroaches. Dr. William J. Bell of the University of Kansas reports that a trap baited with female cockroach pheromone enticed a male cockroach to cover 25 feet in less than 5 seconds and jump into the trap. After several male cockroaches get into the trap, they emit a social scent of pheromone, which, attracts females and baby cockroaches.

The chemical nature of the sex attractant for the American cockroach, the large brown cockroach species, has been described, and recently, Dr. Clark Still of Columbia University, has duplicated the complex molecule in the laboratory. What all this means is that soon we will have available non-toxic, highly effective traps for American cockroaches. Work is still progressing on a synthetic sex attractant for the German cockroach, the most troublesome of U.S. cockroaches.

Drive Safely During The Holidays

Major C.W. Bell, Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety, Region 5, said, "As we approach Thanksgiving Day weekend, all of us are making plans of one kind or another for observance of this traditional season of the year. Many DPS officers will make plans of a different kind. They will be on duty to stimulate a safety-consciousness throughout this festive holiday."

During the last Thanksgiving holiday weekend, Texas experienced 53 fatal accidents and 57 traffic fatalities. Major Bell said, "Speed and alcohol are the main contributing factors in the majority of traffic deaths in Texas."

A total of 4,701 fatalities was recorded on our streets and highways for 1981 and statistics show 923 fatal accidents caused 1,082 deaths and 17,343 injury accidents that caused 27,907 injuries in Texas that involved a drunk driver, according to Major Bell.

"Many drivers are not tested," bell said, "Because Texas has no law requiring chemical test on drivers in fatal accidents and it is probable that more than 50% of the deceased drivers in Texas were driving while intoxicated and were not reported as DWI."

The Texas Department of Public Safety urges all motorists to avoid the use of alcohol when driving.

City Sales Tax Rebate

State Comptroller Bob Bullock sent $96.2 million to 967 Texas cities as their share of the one-percent city sales tax for November.

The 1982 statewide total so far this year is up 9.3 percent over the 1981 total up through the same date of last year. This payment reflects taxable sales made in September and reported to the state by the end of October.

The city and MTA sales taxes are collected along with the state sales tax by merchants and rebated monthly to the cities in which they are collected by the Comptroller.
