More Lynn County Rural Crimes Listed

Two saddles worth approximately $2600 were reported stolen from a farm building in Lynn County last week, and some welding equipment was stolen in another burglary.

Wayne Huffaker of Tahoka reported the saddles missing last Thursday, although it was not known when they were stolen from the farm about 5 1/2 miles northeast of Tahoka.

Walter Ray Steen of Wilson reported a Forney welder and cutting torch set, total value $400, stolen from a barn on FM 1054 a half mile south of FM 211 Monday night.

Lynn County Crime Line has offered $300 reward in each of the above cases. Persons with information should call Crime Line, day or night, 998-5145.

In jail during the week were eight persons on theft by check charges, two for driving while intoxicated, one for disorderly conduct and one for forgery.

Law officers and firemen from New Home and Tahoka went to the scene of a house fire Tuesday morning, but were unable to save the building southeast of Petty. The home of the Shorty Garza family, owned by Tommy Kidwell, was destroyed by the fire, and the family lost all belongings, although nobody was injured.

The fire was too far advanced by the time firemen arrived. Mrs. Garza said she was cooking when she noticed smoke coming from the attic.

In-Service Day Is Rescheduled

New Policies, Teacher Contracts Approved

Rules governing who can be cheerleaders and Student Council members in Tahoka High School, and also related to cheerleader uniforms and practices were adopted by Tahoka school board Monday night. In a lengthy session, the group also offered new contracts for teachers and other school personnel and voted approval of a program to challenge above-average students to rise to their capabilities in the classroom.

Among the new requirements for varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders is a stipulation that they must meet scholastic eligibility rules, be restricted to the number of uniforms they can use and that parents must be responsible for organizing practice sessions in homes.

Counselor Paulette Brownfield and eight of the 15 current members of the Student Council were on hand to recommend to the board some proposed guidelines and standards for council membership.

The board approved the recommendations of the council and Supt. Jim Coulston and also passed a resolution commending the Student Council for its promotion of high standards of scholarship and citizenship in the school and community. Several members of the board, including president Bob Haney, and also assistant principal A.D. Shaver, also praised the council, saying "we depend on this group for leadership in our school."

After an enthusiastic presentation by six faculty members on the need for establishing a program of particular benefit to above-average students, the board voted to implement such a program, and following a lot of discussion, decided to call it an "enrichment" program. The plan is expected to be put into action following training of teachers, and is to be in full effect in all grades by August 1984.

Business manager Loretta Tekell reported a balance in all funds on Feb. 28 of $546,214. She also reported that current tax collections totaled $602,330 and were 81.7 per cent complete.

Substitute teachers approved were Shirley Draper, Christy Peasley and Jamie Isbell.

Contracts were voted for various school personnel and for all classroom teachers except two, with one of the two positions to be eliminated, and in the other case it was voted not to

34 Percent Less Cotton Acreage Likely In County

Lynn County should have about 34 per cent less cotton acreage than usual planted this year, according to officials at the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Committee office in the county.

The estimate was made this week after the ASC opened whole based bids on the Payment In Kind (PIK) program last Friday. In Lynn County, all the cotton and grain bids submitted by the farmers were accepted by the committee, reported Jimmy Woodard of the ASC, who noted that about half of the county's farmers were taking part in the PIK program to some extent.

Woodard and other county officials estimated that about 205,000 acres of cotton would be planted this year, as the PIK program and the earlier acreage reduction program will result in many acres not being planted. He said the county's farmers usually plant about 312,000 acres in cotton.

cotton produced won't be that much less than average."

Results of the opening of bids on the PIK program were announced nationwide Tuesday after the close of the stock market.

Contest Shapes Up On School Board

Voters going to the polls here April 2 will settle a four-person race for three spots on the Tahoka school board, but nobody filed for mayor and one of the two vacant spots on the city council.

Seeking election to the school board April 2 will be Betty Green, Joe Hays, David Midkiff and Larry Ruiz. Hays and Mrs. Green are now on the board. From those four candidates, the top three will be chosen to the school board.

W.O. (Cap) Wharton filed for reelection to the city council, but the other councilman whose term is expiring, Midkiff, signed up for the school board race instead. No other candidates filed for city council, and incumbent Mayor Mel Leslie, who has been mayor for 24 years and was on the council two years before that, also did not file.

This means that write-in candidates will fill the offices of mayor and one council seat.

The city, school and hospital board elections will be held jointly at the Tahoka School cafeteria. Absentee balloting started March 14 at city hall.

Deadline for registering to vote in the April 2 election was March 2.

Lynn Farmers Now May Seek Disaster Loans

Lynn County has been declared eligible for Emergency Disaster Loans, giving farmers in the county the right to apply for low-interest loans through the Farmers Home Administration.

The office of U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm in Washington reported that the designation was made in Washington Monday. When the first announcement of counties in which farmers are eligible for such loans was made Jan. 20, Lynn County was left off the list. This was despite the fact that the county's losses were as severe as any in the area.

Now Lynn, Dawson, Castro, and Gaines have been added to the original list of 33 counties so designated in order to help farmers to get back into production.

"This is good news for Lynn County farmers," said Stenholm. "It was a long time in coming, but I commend the secretary for taking this action to correct a tragic mistake."

Farmers now wishing to borrow money from FmHA at lower rates should contact the county FmHA office in Tahoka and began submitting application forms.

In order to be eligible, a farmer must show a 30 per cent loss from the storms of last June. He must subtract any government payments, insurance collected and income from subsequent crops and still show a 30 per cent loss in order to qualify, federal officials said Monday.

The best portion of a good man's life is his little, nameless, unremembered acts of kindness and love.

WOODWORK BY DALTON

IT HAS BEEN so long since the Woods had any little chips to raise, and even several years since any of our grown children lived at home, that I now may be ready to tell everybody else how to raise their kids.

Over the years, I've noticed that it's mostly people who don't have children who know everything there is to know about rearing them (see, I do know the difference between raising and rearing). And people who aren't married claim to be the best marriage counselors. And those who don't smoke can tell you exactly how to quit, and 95-year-old preachers tell you not to go out and get drunk and run around with other people's wives and husbands.

So, in view of all this, I guess I really am not much qualified to tell anybody how to deal with the growing-up years of their offspring. Actually, I never did feel qualified, but that's another story.

Even so, I wonder about parents who seem to be racing their children instead of raising them. "You mean your little year-old baby isn't walking yet? Why, our Ernestine walked at six months and talked at nine months!" We've sometimes heard statements like that, usually followed by something like, "now she rides a bicycle while operating a computer and speaks Hebrew fluently."

Of course, it's always good to be proud of a child, perhaps even to the point of bragging when they are especially gifted in some area. And it makes sense to give the child opportunity to use and sharpen any special talents. But I'm not sure that it's too good for youngsters to be pushed so hard they don't have time to look at clouds, dig in the dirt and just be kids.

An article in Newsweek's March 28 issue tells of children doing remarkable things. For example, a 2-year-old playing a cello and a 4-year-old writing sentences in Japanese and then translating them into French and English. But it was noted that Einstein didn't talk until he was 4. Then his first words were probably "Remember, mommie, space and time are interdependent and form a four-dimensional continuum." And maybe got his mouth washed out with soap.

Anyway, you do what you want with your kids. Ours are all grown up, and, of course, super-brilliant.

The original acreage reduction program took about 20 per cent of the cotton acres out. Farmers were almost compelled to take part in that program because if they didn't, the cotton they raised would not be eligible for loan.

Although some cotton ginners and others in farm-related business are concerned about the lower acreage coming up, Woodard said the total number of bales grown may not be that much less than usual.

"When farmers take acreage out of production, they naturally are going to continue to grow cotton on their very best land," he said. "This could mean that the amount of Troubles are like an audience: The less you tell them, the sooner they leave.

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

HELPFUL FACTS FROM EXPERTS AT THE NATIONAL LP-GAS ASSOCIATION

One Good Way To Hold Down Fuel Costs

Many energy-wise industrial leaders are turning to what experts call a most versatile, efficient and low-cost fuel.

Whether it powers delivery fleets, fork lifts, space and water heaters, flame-scissors and roofing kettles, commercial cookers and laundries or standby generators, that fuel is propane gas.

It's one fuel that is getting heavy duty use from industry these days...for a very good reason. It costs much less than electricity for heating, cooking, drying and powering vehicles.

Electricity loses 72 percent of its original energy in generation and distribution. That means you'd need some 27 electric kilowatt hours to match the energy in just one gallon of propane.

That spells good energy sense to a lot of industrial leaders. You can learn the facts for yourself by visiting a propane dealer. That's the way to make the right energy choice—for industry and home use.

Two postage stamps may appear to be alike and yet, to the practiced eye of the philatelist, entirely different. That difference could spell dollars in value. It's all in the perforations. Identical appearing stamps can vary from as few as seven "perfs" to as many as 17. Some with unusual perforations have become valuable collector's items.

Even though these stamps have a face value of only 20¢, they have a catalog value of $1,600.

Most of today's postage stamps (and those of yesterday as well) are either square or rectangular in shape. Some postage stamps have been issued only to add "philatelic charm" and colorful variety but experienced collectors dismiss them as postage stamps.

Watermark differences in stamps can add to their value. Watermarks can be detected by an experienced eye and a watermark detector. If you'd like to know more about this fascinating hobby and get a starter stamp kit, send $1.25 to Philatelic Association, Five Dakota Drive, Lake Success, NY 11042.

SENATOR JOHN T. MONTFORD

Reports from the Capitol

AUSTIN — The 68th Session of the Texas Legislature is moving at a fast pace and already has proven to be a very active session. Many things have occurred which I feel would be of interest to you.

First and foremost is the question of financing State Government in Texas for the next two years. As you have already heard, the expected revenues of the State of Texas are some 1.5 billion dollars short of the Legislative Budget Board recommended budget for the next two years. This means we must find ways of reducing state spending or increasing revenues.

The finance question has taken the center stage in this legislative session due to the impact money has on all state programs. Financing education, road and highway repairs, our criminal justice system especially the prisons, and other programs is taking up most of the legislators time and energy.

There are several reasons our tax revenues are not reaching their expected balances, but the key reason is the price of oil and of our agriculture economy. Texas has been dependent on our vast oil and agriculture industry for a large portion of our revenue. For example, last year the petroleum industry paid approximately 28.7 percent of all taxes collected in the State of Texas. That totals to some $3.7 billion.

With the price of oil in decline, these tax revenues are also declining. Another example is this, for every dollar the price of oil drops at the barrel price, the State will lose $40 million dollars in tax revenue.

Although State finance does have center stage, there are other issues which have at least shared some of the spotlight. One such issue is the driving while intoxicated laws (DWI). Recently the State Senate passed a tougher DWI law which places more serious penalties on persons convicted of DWI. In my opinion this law is needed and I debated on the Senate Floor to insure the bill passed without any amendments which would "water-down" the penalties.

One such amendment which failed would have continued the deferred adjudication, a provision that enables an individual to have a DWI conviction erased from their record if that person successfully completes a type of court-ordered probation. In the current system some repeat offenders have no record of a DWI conviction because of this deferred adjudication. This amendment did not pass the Senate, but the stiffer DWI penalties did pass and were sent on to the House of Representatives.

In other legislative matters, State Senators now know how long their terms of service are in the Legislature. On Thursday, March 17, 1983 all State Senators drew for either a two-year or four-year term of office. I drew a two-year term. The reason for the drawing was related to the redistricting of State Senate districts and the law suits that were filed by several groups challenging the redistricting plans. Every ten years, following a federal census the State of Texas draws new districts for State Representatives, State Senators and U. S. Congressmen based on the U. S. Census data. The districts drawn by the 67th Legislature in 1981 were challenged in the courts by several groups claiming discrimination based on the voting Rights Act. As a result of these suits, the Senators postponed the draw for term of office until a settlement was reached with the plaintiffs in the suits.

NEWS OF JOBS

Federal Government Is Hiring

Lots of job seekers don't know that there are plenty of career opportunities right now working for Uncle Sam. In fact, the federal government is having trouble filling openings for some in-demand occupations, such as accountants, computer specialists, engineers and health technicians.

In 1982, the government hired 108,087 people for civilian jobs all over the country, according to Federal Jobs Digest, a Washington-based newsletter which lists job openings with Uncle Sam, with salaries ranging from $11,490 to $57,500.

Moreover, you don't have to take a "civil service" exam for these jobs. If you have the skills, fill out and submit a government form (SF-171).

Federal Jobs Digest lists about 2,000 job openings in each issue. A subscription includes a Federal Jobs Kit with SF-171 forms and instructions on how to apply.

I would appreciate hearing any comments you might have on current State legislation. My address is Austin, P. O. Box 12068, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711. The Austin phone number is Area Code 512/475-0176. Please feel free to contact me.

It's the Law

Letting our elected representatives know what laws we want is a vital part of our political system—but many organizations don't realize the importance of timing when speaking out on legislation. Now that situation is changing, thanks to a new book that's becoming a blueprint for business to get and use political power.

The new book, "Fighting to Win: Business Political Power" by Edward A. Grefe, describes how each business can organize itself and its allies into a potent pro-business single issue voting constituency to negate or combat legislation or regulation. The book tells how a business can build a legislative support system—a phrase that may be new to the business lexicon, but old in its use by successful political practitioners. It includes material on creating public affairs programs, issue selection, identifying a corporate constituency, early warning systems and data assessment, handling external relations and case studies.

In demonstrating step-by-step how executives can organize politically, Grefe shows that business need no longer be either defensive or defenseless in the face of legislation it opposes. Many in the business world are calling the book required reading for anyone who is currently running an organization—or anyone who hopes someday to become a chief executive officer.

Grefe is a former pro-business single issue voting constituency to negate or combat legislation or regulation. Question: Is it true that fluorescent light has been found to cause skin cancer?

ANSWERline: A recent Australian study of women office workers did show some association between malignant melanoma and exposure to fluorescent light. The study compared 274 women with melanoma against 549 women without disease. The incidence of melanoma among those who said they worked under fluorescent light was double that of the women who did not. The study was reported in the British medical journal Lancet. The investigators said however that "the findings should be interpreted cautiously until further relevant data accumulate."

Question: Is the consumption of alcohol related to cancer?

ANSWERline: Excessive drinking is related to cancers of the mouth, throat, and esophagus. The combination of alcohol consumption and cigarette smoking is associated with especially high rates of esophageal and throat cancer.

Question: Why does a person who has given up cigarette smoking go back to the habit?

ANSWERline: A major reason is doubtless the habit factor. In addition, a psychological need has been established, based on the oral and manual gratification of handling a cigarette, lighting it, putting it between the lips, etc.

Question: What are the chances of being cured of lung cancer?

ANSWERline: About one in 10. Most cases are incurable at the moment of discovery.

Question: Do chest x-rays cause lung cancer?

ANSWERline: No. Diagnostic X-rays, as utilized by physicians today, do not cause lung cancer.

Question: Are there other causes of lung cancer besides cigarette smoke?

ANSWERline: Statistics show radioactivity in certain mines produce lung cancer. Other occupational hazards include hot gases from tar, dust from gas generators, exposure to asbestos, chromates, or nickel. Workers exposed to carcinogens who also smoke have proved more vulnerable to lung cancer.

Question: Are hemorrhoids or piles a sign of cancer?

ANSWERline: No. But hemorrhoids bleed, and bleeding may be a warning signal of cancer. Any bleeding should always be brought to the attention of one's physician.

Question: Can one's attitude toward cancer influence the course of the disease?

ANSWERline: Yes. If one is afraid to know whether he or she has cancer, a trip to the doctor may be delayed until it is too late for proper treatment. Worry can always be a factor in one's health. The best practice is to act promptly whenever one's body signals all is not well by seeing a doctor and having a checkup.

Question: Why is early detection so important?

ANSWERline: Because many cancers are curable when caught before they have metastasized or spread to other parts of the body.

Homes More Available
That dream house your family has wanted for years but simply couldn't afford might now be within your reach, according to the nation's largest real estate brokerage firm.

Experts at Merrill Lynch Realty Associates say declining interest rates and "soft" housing prices have reduced down payments and monthly charges to their lowest level in years.

Take the hypothetical case of "Ted" and "Susan," a young working couple looking for a larger house for more than three years while they stayed with their two children in a smaller home, saving money against the day when interest rates fell.

Just a month ago they were able to buy a $120,000 home with three times their present space for just over $1,000 a month—six months earlier payments would have been almost $1,400 and their down payment completely out of reach.

The Merrill Lynch Realty people say this scenario is being repeated across the country as interest rates, the biggest obstacle against home purchases in the past several years, fall to the 13% and lower level. The corresponding drop in monthly payments—and the down payment required to qualify—have made home purchases finally possible for millions of the nation's home-seekers.

NEWS OF TRAVEL

Nashville Calls Country Music Fans
Country music fans, young and old, from far and wide, converge on Nashville, TN, each June for an annual event created just for them. It's the International Country Music Fan Fair, scheduled this year for June 6 through 12.

A young fan gets a thrill—a chance to meet country music star Loretta Lynn.

During the week-long festival, fans from all over the world will not only see their favorite country artists perform, but will also have the opportunity to meet and talk to them, to photograph them and collect autographs.

Fan Fair was established in 1972 in an effort to relieve some of the excessive congestion that occurred in Nashville each October during the annual Country Music DJ Convention.

Fan Fair is co-sponsored by the Country Music Association and the Grand Ole Opry. The seven-day event will include a celebrity softball tournament, booths and exhibits, live shows, photo and autograph sessions, a blue grass concert, square dance, an old-time fiddling championship and much more.

Texas Crime Rate Rises

The Texas crime rate rose 4.2 per cent in 1982, according to DPS director Jim Adams. The rate was 6,297.5 major crimes for every 100,000 residents compared to 6,042.4 in 1981.

"This is not the most drastic increase we've seen in recent years," Col. Adams said. "But it does indicate that there can be no let up in law enforcement efforts to address this problem, especially in light of the serious concern by citizens for their safety and security of their property."

Aggravated assault cases were up 11.2 per cent, while murders increased by one per cent. A slight change was recorded in the number of rape cases.

"The murder rate, homicides keyed to population, actually registered a decline of 1.8 per cent," Adams pointed out.

In the property crime categories the number of theft cases was up 10.4 per cent, while motor vehicle theft and burglary increased by 4.6 per cent and 3.7 per cent respectively.

Adams said 23 per cent of the major crimes were cleared by arrests in 1982. Total arrests for all offenses excluding traffic law violations totaled 908,858, and increase of 9.6 per cent.

"Included in the total arrests are 112,407 for DWI, up 25.6 per cent in 1982.

Arson cases reported to the DPS in 1982 totaled 8,201. Twenty per cent of the cases were cleared by arrests.

The crime statistics are compiled by the DPS uniform crime reporting bureau based on reports from 755 local law enforcement agencies.

Statewide Totals	1981	1982
Murders	2,438	2,463
Rapes	6,816	6,814
Robberies	28,516	33,603
Aggravated Assault	40,673	45,221
Burglaries	275,652	285,757
Larceny-Thefts	454,210	501,312
Motor Vehicle Thefts	83,244	87,090

Hypnotist To Appear Here

The Great Dr. Kit, black-bearded hypnotist, will appear at Tahoka High School auditorium at 7:30 p.m. for one performance tonight (Thursday).

Tickets may be purchased at the door. Prices are: adults $2, students $2, and grade school students $1.50.

One inch of rain over one acre of surface would weigh more than 113 tons.

"Iron deficiency is a serious nutritional problem in Texas, says Dr. Dymple Cooksey, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Iron deficiency is most prevalent among low-income ethnic groups, teenage girls, infants, and pregnant and nursing women. Most are deficient, Cooksey explains, because they don't eat enough iron-rich foods. Also other foods they eat may interfere with their body's absorption of iron. To improve iron deficient diets, Cooksey recommends eating more meat, fish and poultry in meals, and including cereals, fruits and vegetables in the diet. Eating vitamin C-rich foods, like citrus fruit, with meals will help the body absorb iron from foods, she adds.

Sales Tax Rebate Told

State Comptroller Bob Bullock returned $34.9 million in local sales tax payments to 974 cities who levy the one-percent city sales tax.

"Statewide, these payments are running 4.5 percent behind last year," Bullock said. "This decline in both local and state receipts from the sales tax was part of the reason I have lowered my estimate of available state revenues."

The City and MTA sales taxes are collected along with the state sales tax by merchants and rebated monthly to the cities in which they are collected by the Comptroller.

Tahoka's net payment this period was $1,982.32. Comparable payment prior year was $4,055.82. Wilson's payment this period was 0. Comparable payment last year was $1,556.96.

O'Donnell's payment this period was $0. Comparable payment last year was $1,536.34.

Buying secondhand furniture can be a boost to the housing budget. Many pieces of used furniture are of good quality and construction, and are great opportunities for the "do-it-yourselfer."

Secondhand furniture can be a good value for the shopper who is aware of quality construction, can make minor repairs, and can refinish at minimal cost.

Secondhand furniture bargains can be found at auctions, estate and garage sales, consignment and thrift shops, flea markets, and in newspaper ads.

When purchasing secondhand furniture, look for quality construction. Beware of missing parts that are hard to replace.

Tables and chairs should be sturdy. Notice how legs are attached, and check for braces in the corners and stretchers between legs.

Doors and drawers should open and pull out easily. Hardware should be attached and have no missing pieces.

Check the frame on upholstered pieces for dowel construction and corner reinforcements.

Find out if the springs and webbing need to be replaced.

Don't overlook a quality piece because it needs refinishing or regluing. Take into consideration the cost of reupholstering, the cost of repairs you can do yourself, and how much you are willing to spend to restore the piece.

If you care enough to keep your folks at home, but could use some help, call Senior Companion Program, 998-5094 a talk and demonstration at Rotary last Thursday by Randy Eminger, lighting specialist with Southwestern Public Service Company.

He demonstrated the light quality of just about every type of electric light bulb for home lighting, reading, outdoor flood, etc., and the possible choice of bulbs for economy and service. He even had a replica of Thomas A. Edison's original light bulb, which gave very little light.

Today, selection of the right bulb for use is labeled in watts, lumens and bulb life.

Wattage can be a misnomer, whereas the lumens gives a more accurate gauge of the amount of light given out for the money.

He showed the difference in filament bulbs, fluorescent, quartz, mercury, sodium and halide lamps, and declared fluorescent gives out more light for the money spent in energy.

Also, he said a so-called 75-watt long-life bulb lasts longer but gives out less light than a standard 75-watt bulb.

The electricity user's home service representative of the electric power company can give advice on almost any lighting problem, he said.

Rev. Lloyd Hamilton was program chairman for the week.

Rotary voted a contribution of $50 to the Lynn County Hospital Auxiliary to help with their improvement projects.

March 24 (today) is Farmers Day at Rotary.
