THE WOODBOX

BY TERRY
WOOD

(This week's guest column is by Terry Wood, associate publisher, substituting the Woodbox for the Woodwork, usually written by publisher Dalton Wood.)

Truckers irritate me, to the point that sometimes I believe it would be better to have a separate highway system for two-ton and over vehicles and another highway system for everything else.

How many times have you been in a situation where you are travelling down a double-wide highway in a passing lane at a speed over 55 mph and, lo and behold, this gigantic hunk of metal is bearing down all over your bumper? Well, this has happened to me a number of times; not too much in this immediate area of West Texas, but if you ever spend any time at all on interstates linked to large metropolitan areas, you'll know what I mean.

Besides being illegal to follow vehicles at a close range, it's also dangerous and very unfriendly. I sometimes wonder if some people ever read the "Drive Friendly" signs.

The next time something like this happens to you, you'll have a choice of three things: let the guy run over you, put the pedal to the metal and risk getting a speeding ticket, or do something else about it. Many times in heavy 4-lane and over traffic, a driver will be in the passing lane to go around vehicles that are "poking along" at speeds from 45 to 55 mph. Most long-haul truckers like the 70 mph purring from their diesel engines and believe that these large diesels get better gas mileage at this speed, and also many of these people are on a tight schedule, so they have to get wherever they are going as fast as they can. But when this one bad guy gets out of hand and practically pushes you out of his way, there are a couple of things you might try:

- (1) If you are a passenger, take a pencil and a piece of paper and turn around in the car and write down his tag number. (If he sees you do this, usually he will back off because he knows it is illegal to follow too closely); or
 - (2) Roll down your window and toss out old tennis balls straight up into the air and watch them bounce off his windshield. (This has worked for me, however if you are not a tennis player, other objects will suffice — a bass fiddle or hand grenade.)
- Now I don't know if this is legal or not — more than likely not — but number 2 works.

Not long ago I managed to get myself married and I am proud to say that I've never been happier in my life, but there were a few adjustments that both of us had to make. I had almost forgotten what household chores consisted of, since I was used to the good ol' bachelor life. All I ever did was vacuum and mop my apartment three times a year and take out the trash when it got hard to breathe. Last weekend, I worked harder on yardwork and cleaning up than I had spent all last year. Anyway, we have sort of divided the duties in half — her inside and me outside — and it seems to be working out so far. I may decide to trade jobs with Kathy this summer if it gets too hot.

some farmers say they will have to depend on the PIK program and what maize they will be permitted to plant.

Strangely, playa lakes are full in areas of the county's east half, while the top soil is powder dry in some other areas.

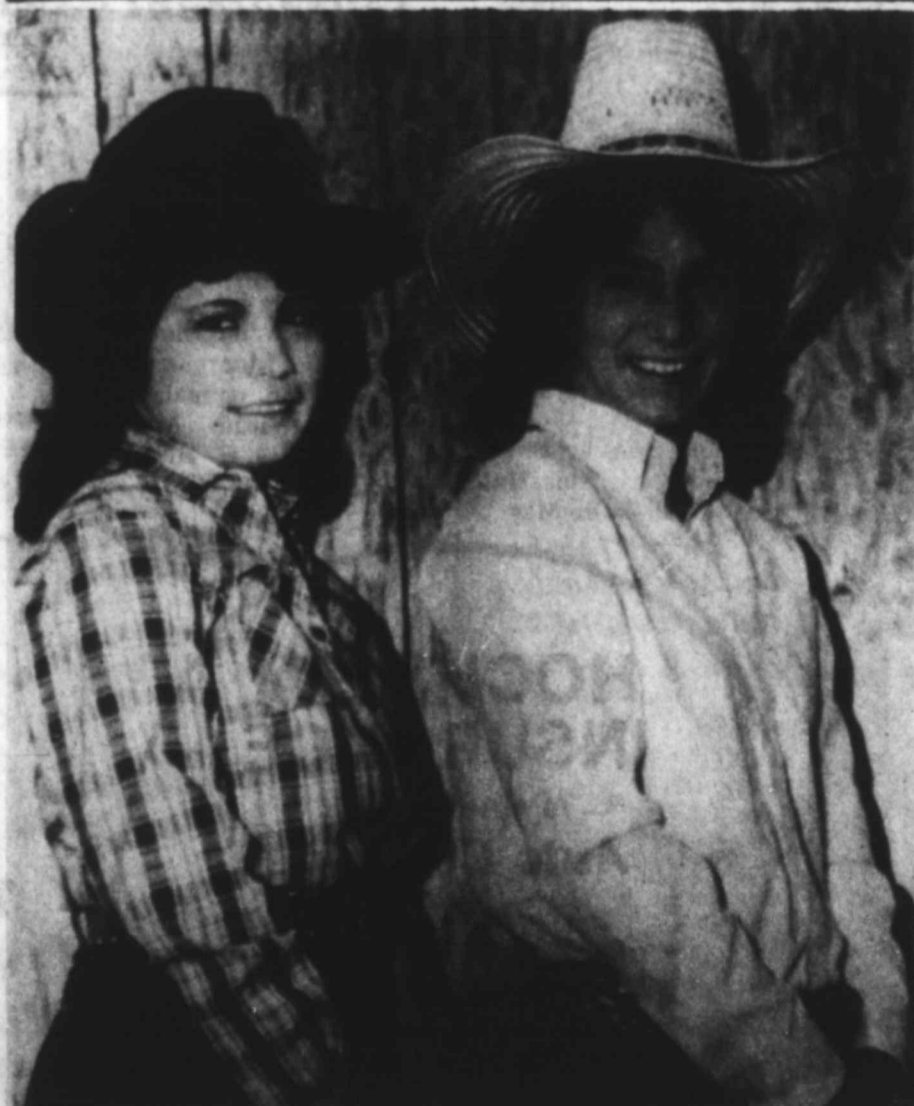

Rain Showers Spot County

Rain showers ranging from two inches to very light have spotted Lynn County the last seven days, most of it falling in the east half of the county. The rains were followed by a record breaking cool spell Tuesday and Wednesday when the temperature dropped to 45 degrees in Tahoka.

During the rain spell only about one-third inch fell in Tahoka and none in some of the west and south areas of the county.

Most farmers still need to get the cotton crop planted. Some have dry-planted. Others with cotton up say it is doing poorly due to cool, damp weather.

Time is getting late to plant cotton. Unless weather cooperates soon,

DWI's, Wife Beating Investigated By Police

Tahoka police investigated a family disturbance on the east side of the city that involved a husband beating his wife with a club on Saturday night. The subject was arrested for public intoxication, disorderly conduct and resisting arrest. The woman was taken to Lynn County Hospital, was treated for cuts and bruises and was released. No charges had been made at press time.

Also on Saturday, police arrested one subject for driving recklessly and for public intoxication.

At approximately 11:35 p.m. on Saturday, police observed a vehicle on N. Main heading north with no lights on. Police officers attempted to pull the vehicle over, but the man refused to stop and yelled obscenities to the officers and drove on. The man was finally stopped at the intersection of N. 5th and the east service road with the help of the Highway patrol and was arrested for driving while intoxicated.

Last Tuesday, a two-car accident was investigated at the intersection of Main and N. 7th that involved a 1978 GMC pickup driven by Julian Wayne Pirtle and a 1968 Ford driven by Manuel Espinoza. No injuries were reported.

One Tahoka resident complained to police that traffic on N. 7th was keeping her awake every night from 11 p.m. until 5 a.m. and wanted it stopped.

Jailed in Lynn County during the past week were one for disorderly conduct, public intoxication, and resisting arrest, one for public intoxication and disorderly conduct, one for a traffic warrant, and two for driving while intoxicated.

MRS. WAYNE TAYLOR JR. nee Robin Short
Robin Short-Wayne Taylor Jr.
Exchange Wedding Vows

Robin Elise Short and Wayne Cullen Taylor Jr. exchanged double ring wedding vows Saturday, May 28 at 3 p.m. in the First United Methodist Church of Tahoka with Rev. Frank Oglesby, of Forrest Heights United Methodist Church of Lubbock, officiating. Parents of the couple are

Mr. and Mrs. E.L. Short of Tahoka and Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Taylor of Lamesa.

The ceremony was performed before a fan-shaped tapered candelabra decorated with gypsum and smilax.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a designer gown of poly-sheer with a lace defined Queen Anne neckline. Venise lace edged the neckline and Venise lace and pearls adorned the bodice. Lace appliques were scattered on the long sheer sleeve from shoulder to cuff.

The upswept panel on the full flowing skirt was appliqued with shiny Venise motifs. A wide flounce edged with Venise lace flowed into a cathedral train which was bordered with shiny Venise.

To complete the ensemble, Robin chose a matching bonnet hat, trimmed with shiny Venise and Chantilly lace. The modified brim had a French pouf of silk illusion attached and flowed into a fingertip veil of imported illusion.

Her bouquet featured a cascade of white catalpa orchids, stephanotis, roses and smilax.

In keeping with tradition the bride's dress was something new; something old, a handkerchief of the bride's maternal grandmother; something borrowed, pearls belonging to the groom's mother and something blue, a blue garter.

Jeff Barron of Plains accompanied Marla Norman of Plains, cousin of the bride, as she sang "Just You and I", "The Wedding Song," "Truly," and "The Lord's Prayer." Maid of honor was Karen Standley of Canyon. Bridesmaids were Donna Swinney of Canyon, Carla Brown of Tahoka. They wore huckleberry matte-taffeta gowns with an off-the-shoulder bodice and large puffed sleeves. The skirt was full gathered.

Best man was W.C. Taylor of Lamesa, father of the groom. Groomsmen were Mike Vance of Panhandle and Rob Standley of Canyon.

Ushers were Tim Wilhelm of Nazareth, Dale Wilhelm of Canyon, Sean Sanders of Canyon and Alan Gibson of Lamesa.

Scanning Social Security

By BOOTH H. ROBBINS

A common myth today is that Social Security is just a retirement program. And many people feel that if they were allowed to invest their Social Security taxes, they would have a much greater nest egg at retirement.

This view of Social Security is a narrow one. It overlooks several important facts:

Comprehensive package of protection--Social Security is much more than a retirement program. It also pays monthly disability and survivor checks to people of all ages. And Medicare health insurance is available to most people 65 or older, to many long-term disabled beneficiaries under 65, and insured workers and family members if they have permanent kidney failure.

Many dependents are eligible--Benefits can be paid to a wide range of dependents and survivors. And Social Security protection is earned quickly--as little as 18 months of work credits are needed for example, for surviving children to get checks.

Coverage moves with you--Today most jobs and self-employment are covered by Social Security. Any and all work credits you earn count toward benefits.

Since we have a whole new set of Nancy Drew mystery books now, we have some of the old ones on sale as well as other mysteries and books for the young people. We have a lot of good Reader's Digest condensed books for sale as well as Grace Livingston Hill and Emelie Loring books. Also we have a few of the very old, old books, some dating back to 1904, 1905 and so on. I feel almost certain that you would find at least one book to buy that you just could not live without. We will continue the sale for several more weeks yet in case you would like to buy some.

We have a new packet of films in for anyone who might want to use them. They are: Adobe City, Animules, Backpacking, Bip as a Skater, China's Changing Face, I Only Want You to Be Happy, Little Mermaid, The Mole and the Cheating Gum, The Mongrel Dog, Movies Go West, The Oregon Trail: Red, White and Bluegrass, Robert Frost's New England, The Shoemaker and the Elves, Ski Fever, Tikki Tikki Tembo, Toes Tell, Torrey Canyon, Total Fitness in Thirty Minutes a Week, War Dance, The War of the Eggs, and Where the Wild Things Are. These will be available until June 15.

Students Excel in UIL Contests

Mrs. Leah Taylor, Tahoka High School English teacher and director of University Interscholastic League literary contests, was the speaker at Rotary last Thursday.

She told of the many accomplishments of Tahoka students in local, district and regional UIL contests in the many literary events including prose reading, poetry reading and interpretation, debate, extemporaneous speaking, one-act play, mathematics, computer, science, etc.

"There were no losers in the contests," she declared, since all participants receive valuable training in this important enrichment program that profits each individual in the educational process.

She thinks the UIL program in Texas is receiving some unjustified attack in some quarters. But, the Texas program is ranked as one of the best in the nation, and has been used as a model by other states.

One student, Lela Bailey, presented two examples of poetry reading and interpretation.

Prior to her talk, Rev. Lloyd Hamilton gave the charge to a new member, Carroll Rhodes, music director at First Baptist Church.

Jesse Dorman was in charge of the program.

COTTON TODAY

Outlook Speaker Named: Richard E. Lyng, deputy secretary of agriculture, will speak on farm policy aspects at the Cotton Foundation's Ninth Annual Cotton Outlook Conference in Fresno, June 7-8. The theme of the meeting will be "Efficiency Brings a New Day." Other topics will include conservation tillage, crop and export outlooks, and farm financing, according to the National Cotton Council.

Lack of Planting Will Not Affect PIK Payment: The United States Dept. of Agriculture has indicated payment-in-kind and paid land diversion payments will be reduced if a farmer fails to plant his permitted acreage.

However, deficiency payments would be reduced by planting less than the allowed maximum.

Information was issued following questions raised by cotton and other growers who are behind in planting because of cool and wet weather, the National Cotton Council reports.

Exports Reported: Sales of U.S. Cotton for the current marketing year decreased a net of 1,800 running bales during the week ended May 12, the National Cotton Council reported.

Major buyers were Hong Kong and Japan. Increases were offset by cancellations for South Korea and Taiwan.

Sales for the 1983-84 delivery increased a net of 127,800 bales. They included Hong Kong, 47,300; Japan, 25,000; Spain, 15,300; and Taiwan 14,000. Week's export shipments totaled 133,900 bales.

in April climbed to its highest level in 20 months. The National Cotton Council said the seasonally adjusted annual rate was 5.8 million bales, up 4.7 percent from a year ago. Cotton's share of total fiber use was 24.6 percent.

Council market analysts said cotton use through the first four months of this year was up nearly eight percent from the last four months of 1982.

Producer Panel Sets: Three producers from diverse areas of the Cotton Belt will participate in a panel discussion wrapping up the Cotton Foundation's outlook conference June 7-8 in Fresno. They are Carl Weiler, Phoenix; Frank B. Jones, Lamesa; and Sykes Martin, Courtland, Ala.

The opening session at the Fresno Hilton will include a welcome by National Cotton Council President Gerald Brewer, Fresno, and remarks by Foundation President William H. Houston III, Tunica, Miss.

Council Testifies on PIK: John S. Barr III, Oak Ridge, La., chairman of the National Cotton Council's Producer Steering Committee, testified at oversight hearings conducted by two House Agriculture subcommittees on the payment-in-kind program.

He gave the Administration high marks for developing and announcing the program in an effort to bring supplies into better balance with demand.

FIFRA Extension Asked: The National Cotton Council has asked a Senate Agriculture subcommittee to approve a simple extension of the law authorizing the Environmental Protection Agency to regulate pesticides. In a statement filed with the panel, Council President Gerald Brewer, Fresno, said he thought the action was warranted in view of recent changes involving the agency.

"Hopefully, this would not only avoid the divisive debate which prevented passage of legislation last year, but also would allow the new EPA administrator to become more familiar with the issues involved," Brewer said.

Letter to The Editor

Dear Editor, Yesterday I was in a Lubbock pharmacy when a magazine caught my eye. And to my surprise, there was a familiar phrase on the bottom of the cover — "Woodwork by Dalton Wood." The magazine is the premier edition of "Sunrise", a magazine written by and for people on the High Plains. The attractive format is full of Texas history, Texas humor and area photographs. Congratulations on being a part of an excellent publication. Sincerely, Suzan Duncan

A Visit With Your County Agent

Pecan growers in Lynn County as well as homeowners with backyard trees need to be on the lookout for casebearers—those perennial pests that can completely destroy a pecan crop if not controlled. Based on various prediction models as well as trappings and scouting reports, casebearers should be showing up on pecan trees in Lynn County about June 2, says Stanley M. Young, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Because of cooler spring temperatures, the casebearers damage nuts within a two-week period in May—from the first week of May in southern and coastal areas to the last week of the month in northern sections. To time spray applications for casebearer control, first check for eggs on a daily basis. Eggs are usually found on the tips of nutlets and are about the size of the ball in a ball-point pen. The eggs are white when first laid, then turn red over—a three-to-five-day period before turning white again after they hatch. Apply an insecticide the third day after the first egg hatches so as to kill the larvae before they enter the nutlets. Since the larvae will hatch over a week-long period or more, a second spraying may be necessary, says Young. Insecticides recommended for casebearer control include diazinon, Guthion, Pydrin, Malathion and Zolone. Performance characteristics of steers will receive major attention at the upcoming Steer Evaluation and Production Symposium at Texas A&M University, May 20-21. The Symposium will get underway in Texas A&M's new Animal Science Pavilion with registration from 7:30 to 9 a.m. the first day, symposium headquarters is the Inn at Chimney Hill on University Drive East. Performance characteristics, skeletal correctness, muscle correctness, carcass traits and other important judging qualities will be closely evaluated at the symposium. Live steers will be evaluated visually by several nationally known beef cattle judges, and symposium participants also will have an opportunity to join in. Performance characteristics and carcass traits are the principles used by a successful judge in selecting steers in the show ring. Performance data such as average daily gain, frame size and feed efficiency will be discussed while using live show and feedlot steers to illustrate specific points. A panel of experts representing breeders, feeders and packers will discuss breeding programs, feeder steers, slaughter steers and club steers using live cattle demonstrations. The symposium is based on 46 steers representing 15 different breeds that were put on a feeding program last October. Some of the steers have been treated as show steers while the others have been treated as feedlot steers. Both groups have been maintained in the same locality and have received the same ration. Details on pre-registering for the symposium are

District Maintenance Cost Told

"Many of our highways have reached or exceeded their design life and are in serious stages of deterioration. During recent years we have been faced with trying to keep an aging highway system in repair with something less than a third of the funding that was previously available," said Ben Alley, District Engineer, District Five, State Dept. of Highways and Public Transportation.

"This is a major change in direction for the department," Alley noted.

Alley pointed out that highway maintenance operations encompass some 20 subactivities divided among the four major activities of pavement, bridge and roadside maintenance, and traffic services. The Lubbock district has spent the following on maintenance in the past three years: $11,543,010 in 1980; $13,450,173 in 1981 and $15,906,911 in 1982, he said, and plans to devote $15,383,318 during 1983.

"How well we perform the maintenance function today can very well determine whether or not Texans will continue to enjoy an adequate transportation system in the years ahead," Alley concluded.
