Theft, Possible Arson Cases Are Investigated

Theft of a welder and a possible case of arson were among incidents investigated by Lynn County Sheriff's office during the last week.

Jerry McKibben of Tahoka reported that someone had taken a portable welder valued at $1200 from a trailer about four miles northwest of O'Donnell sometime during the last two weeks.

A 1979 Ford van was found last Wednesday in a wheat field about five miles southwest of Lakeview community. The van had been burned before it was discovered. A Pensacola, Fla. resident told officers by phone that he was the owner and that he had left the van with a friend.

In jail during the week were one person each for public intoxication, driving while intoxicated, criminal trespassing and revocation of probation.

Tahoka I.S.D. reported to Tahoka police that an 11-year-old boy was bitten by a dog during school on Tuesday. He was treated by the school nurse for a bite on his left elbow.

Police answered a call from a Tahoka woman on Sunday who said her husband had assaulted her with a shotgun and a carving knife and had attempted to stab her on the back of her neck. The woman said she would press charges; however, the man was not arrested.

A backing accident was investigated in the city last Tuesday that involved a 1974 Pontiac driven by Mary Jane Munoz and a parked 1982 Pontiac owned by Robert L. Harvick.

Police also answered some family disturbance calls during the past week and issued one ticket for no driver's license.

Men are born with two eyes, but with one tongue, in order that they should see twice as much as they say. Colton

FORMER PUBLISHER INJURED — Frank Hill, 81, former publisher of the Lynn County News for many years, was seriously injured in a collision of his car, shown above, with a gravel truck owned by Seminole Ready-Mix Concrete Co. last Thursday morning. Firemen had to use the jaws of life to free Hill from the wreck at west Lockwood and Ave. R. Hill suffered a broken hip, for which surgery was performed. He remained in intensive care in Methodist Hospital at Lubbock early this week. Driver of the truck, Elena Bishop of Seminole, was not injured. (LYNN COUNTY NEWS PHOTO by Dalton Wood)

Future State President Of TFWC Already Busy With Duties

By DEAN BARTLEY

Mrs. Bettye Green of Tahoka is filling a two-year term as president-elect of the Texas Federated Women's Clubs, a job which has kept her plenty busy and on the road quite a bit.

The wife of attorney Harold Green will take office next April as president of the organization which includes 500 clubs, in 14 districts with 14,000 members over the state. "Texas Federated Women's Clubs is a member of the General Federated Women's Clubs, which is the largest and oldest non-denominational, nonpartisan, international service organization of volunteer women in the world," Mrs. Green said. "In Tahoka, the Phebe K. Warner Club is a member of the organization."

Wins Election

When Mrs. Green takes office as president of TFWC she will have held an executive office of the organization six years, which is a shorter period of time than the ten years most officers serve before becoming president, the reason being she ran for the 2nd vice president office after it was vacated because of illness by the woman serving that position and won the race.

As president she will attend many statewide functions, many of them in Austin where she has access to an apartment in the Texas Federated Women's Building, which was erected in 1932 and valued at $3 million. The federation employs a full time secretary at the building.

It was at these headquarters where the M.D. Anderson Cancer Hospital, Houston, was started. The federation collects many supplies for the cancer patients such as wigs, beauty supplies, televisions, games for children, also "care kits" which include dishes for four, a skillet and a sauce pan that may be checked out for hotel use by the families of the hospital patients.

Girlstown Work

"I'm looking forward to continuing my work at Girlstown in Whiteface," Mrs. Green said. She started a "Girlstown Education Fund" when she served as president of the Caprock District of TFWC. The fund is a tax exempt foundation of which she has served as executive director since its inception. "The fund provides for such needs as school supplies, clothes, club fees, tuition, band instruments, etc. for the girls."

Mrs. Green, a graduate of Burk Burnett High School, has a bachelor of arts degree in music from Baylor University. She is a volunteer choir director for the First United Methodist Church in Tahoka, also director of the Joy Ringers handbell choir in the church.

She and her husband have a daughter, Laura McCleskey, Tahoka, and a son, Richard, of Lubbock.

She has been a member of the Tahoka School Board seven years and has served as secretary of the board five of those years. Also, Mrs. Green is secretary of the South Plains Association of School Boards of which there are 56 schools in the South Plains area.

Trips To Austin

She is a member of the legislative network of Texas Association of Schools. She makes many trips to Austin for the purpose of helping formulate programs for state education sanctioned by the TASB.

When the legislature was in session last month, Mrs. Green was part of a group of about 50 persons who met with Carl Parker, chairman of the Senate Education Committee and Bill Haley, chairman of the House Education committee for the purpose of lobbying for issues for state education.

GOLD STAR WINNERS — Jeff Martin and Patricia Davis, both of Tahoka were named Lynn County 4-H Gold Star winners at the annual 4-H awards banquet. The Gold Star award is the highest award given on the county level. (LYNN COUNTY NEWS PHOTO)

IT WOULD BE nice to be as wealthy as H. Ross Perot and be able to voice opinions on controversial subjects without fear of economic reprisals. But even Perot may not be safe from physical attack when he stirs up such a hornet's nest as he has by questioning some of the community's most sacred practices, namely high school football and basketball and 4-H and FFA activities.

Perot says such things take youngsters away from the classroom too much, and he is probably right, but suggesting they be eliminated would be about as popular as a move to do away with motherhood and social security.

THE CHURCH which we attended more or less regularly (but we try to make up when we miss, like the service club members) recently sent out a special appeal for paying for repairs to the heating system. I don't mind helping to pay for the system, but I wish they wouldn't use it so much. To me the church is always too warm, both in summer and winter. But to many others, it is always too cold, which just points up the fact that even with direct access to any kind of miracle, the church can't satisfy everybody in regard to temperature control.

Anyone who works in an office all day knows that there is no way that everyone can agree on how cool or how warm the office needs to be.

Our fashion styles for decades have caused some of the problems. Men generally don't get cold as easily as women, but still in church and in offices where dress-up is required, men suffer in suits with coats and ties and long sleeves while the women are wearing short sleeve blouses and cool clothing. When the thermostats are turned down enough to keep the guys from dying of heatstroke, the women have chills all over.

It would make more sense if the men wore short-sleeve, thin blouses and the women wore suit coats and vests. But it sure would look funny.

FACTS & FIGURES

To assist in the establishment and development of minority business firms, President Reagan has designated October 2-8, 1983 as Minority Enterprise Development Week. It's part of the Administration's goal of establishing 60,000 minority companies within the next decade, says the Department of Commerce. The President has also committed $1.5 billion for credit assistance and $300 million for management and technical aid to minority business between 1983 and 1984.

The goals of the Administration for boosting minority business also include purchasing $15 billion worth of goods from minority firms over the next three years. This figure does not include procurements by recipients of Federal grants, which could amount to an additional $6 billion to $7 billion by 1985.

Our recovering economy created two-thirds of a million new jobs in the first four months of this year. The minority business community has played a major role in this revitalization. More than 100 Minority Business Development Centers, which provide management, marketing, financial and technical assistance to minority companies, have helped in starting 1,700 new businesses, saving over 900, and expanding 2,000. These centers have generated $580 million in contract and sub-contract awards to minority businesses and $140 million in loans.

Dear Editor:
 The Grassland Reunion will be held Oct. 23 in the community center.

A large album with pictures of friends, old school pictures, history of Grassland and the Texas fisheries will be saluted during October -- National Seafood Month. "It is fitting that we acknowledge the economic and nutritive value of this natural resource," says Annette Redell Hegen, a seafood consumer information specialist.

Shrimp, oysters, crab, bay and gulf fish are plentiful this month, so now is a good time for Texans to include more fish in their diets. For a free series of 24 seafood recipes and eight brochures on all types of Texas seafood, write Seafood Marketing, Texas A&M University, P.O. Box 158, Port Aransas, Tex. 78373.

Grassland News was brought to the reunion in 1981 for everyone to enjoy. Someone borrowed it to add some pictures or just look at it and forgot to bring it back. If anyone knows about the book or knows who has it, please bring it to the reunion this year so that we may enjoy it again.

Awareness of the acidic nature of rain is not new.

THEN: As early as 1852, a French scientist noted measurable quantities of nitric acid and nitrogen compound in the rain of Paris. In 1872, the acidic nature of rain was documented in a lengthy book on the chemistry of English rain.

NOW: Scientists say that today all rain is acidic. Normal acidities cover a fairly broad range and acid rain influences the acidity of lakes into which it may fall far less than does the high acidity naturally found in forest litter.

Injuns Eat Up Dogs

Seminole must have scouted the Tahoka games earlier this season with Coahoma or Plains, as they went to the air to score frequently against the Bulldogs in rolling to a 57-20 victory last week in the district opener.

It was the fifth loss in six games for Tahoka this year, and this week the Dogs will host Denver City, which now has to be considered the front-runner for the district title after beating Frenship last Friday.

Tahoka did generate some offense, thanks to a 160-yard performance by running back Steve Pierce, who scored three touchdowns while carrying the ball 32 times. Pierce's longest was on a 50-yard run in the first period; in the third he scored on runs of 11 and 1 yards.

Johnny Morin also had a good night running from fullback, gaining 88 yards in 12 carries. End Clark Brazil caught one pass for 34 yards, but for the most part, Tahoka's passing game got them in trouble, as four were intercepted.

Seminole scored several times on long pass plays, and completed 8 out of 12 passes for 194 yards. The Indians took a 14-7 first period lead and scored two TDs in every quarter.

Elsewhere in the league, Roosevelt surprised Cooper, leaving the Eagles, Denver City and Seminole tied for the lead after the first week.

4-H Horse Program Attracts More Than 10,200
 For youngsters who want to learn to ride and care for horses, the 4-H horse program has all the ingredients.

More than 10,200 4-H'ers between the ages of 9 and 19 are enrolled in the horse program conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Members can participate in a series of projects and are involved in hundreds of local events including meetings, farm tours, trail rides, shows, parades and clinics.

It is not necessary to own a horse to be active in the 4-H horse program, says Greg Henley, county Extension 4-H program coordinator.

The horse program, which is led by volunteers and coordinated by Extension staff, provides an opportunity for 4-H members to participate in many exciting events, a major one being the annual State 4-H Horse Show, a five-day event each July. Youth can also compete in horse judging and horse demonstrations, with the final objective being State 4-H Roundup each June at Texas A&M University.

Youth in the program also use their skills to help others. Many conduct programs to help the handicapped enjoy riding and learn about horses and ponies.

Youth who excel in the 4-H horse program can qualify for numerous awards sponsored by the American Quarter Horse Assn., Texas 4-H Foundation and the Insurance Company of North America.

Pinkie Found in Mississippi
 Five pink bollworm moths were caught in mid-September in traps on a farm in the Leland-Stoneville area of the Mississippi Delta, according to the National Cotton Council.

A total of 42 additional moths were picked up in traps later in the month on three farms in the area.

Jack Coley, Mississippi Dept. of Agriculture, said the situation is under control and everyone in the area is cooperating in a quarantine/eradication program.

The Council states it is continuing its efforts to restore the proposed cut in pink bollworm funding which would eliminate the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service's cooperative efforts with states in surveillance and quarantine activities.

Families trying to build a nest egg should be alert to changes in interest rates that might help them reach their financial goals, says home economist Nancy Granovsky. Starting Oct. 1, banks and savings and loan associations may pay any interest rate they wish and require any minimum deposit they choose on all time deposits 32 days or longer. Some minimum deposit ceilings will be low enough that even families with a small amount of money to save can invest in a money market account and get higher interest than with a regular savings account, says Granovsky, a family resource management specialist with Texas A&M's Agricultural Extension Service. "Consumers can benefit from these more competitive offerings if they are willing to shop around," notes the specialist.

A Visit With Your County Agent

By Stanley Young

Prussic Acid Poisoning In Livestock

Frost will be hitting Lynn County before long, and this could lead to prussic acid poisoning in livestock grazing certain pasture grasses and forage.

Although many plants contain the toxic material that causes poisoning, those causing the highest mortality in livestock when grazing after they have been frozen and wilted are Johnson and Sudan grasses and sorghum or hybrids of these.

The most dangerous time as far as the grazing of these plants is concerned is following frost when the plant material begins to wilt. Livestock should not be allowed access to the wilted material until it has dried completely. This usually takes three or four days of good sunlight. New plant growth usually becomes nontoxic and can be grazed within 10 days to two weeks following a rain.

As far as prussic acid poisoning is concerned, the poison acts rapidly and can kill animals within minutes. In most acute cases, animals become affected within 10-15 minutes after eating toxic material and can die in two or three minutes. Symptoms may include a brief period of stimulation followed by depression and paralysis. Signs of colic may be present. Stupor (loss of sensibility), difficult breathing and frequent convulsions may result. Death is caused by suffocation since oxygen remains in the blood and is not exchanged to the tissues. This also causes the blood to appear bright red.

To prevent prussic acid poisoning in livestock, Young outlines these steps:

1. Allow plant material affected by frost to dry thoroughly before grazing. This may require a week or more of good sunlight.
 2. Feed animals hay or a supplement before turning them in on plants that may contain prussic acid. Animals that are not hungry will not be affected as seriously by toxic material since their intake will be limited.
 3. Remove all animals from the pasture if one in the herd shows any signs of poisoning.
 4. Call a veterinarian immediately if an animal appears to be poisoned. An antidote to treat affected animals is highly efficient if given early. This product is available from veterinarians.
 5. Have suspect plant material checked by the Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratories at College Station or Amarillo. Local veterinarians will be happy to submit samples for you.
- The overall key to prevent prussic acid poisoning and then to keep cattle from grazing such plants until a safe period has passed.

A NATIONAL COTTON COUNCIL SERVICE

Cotton Contamination Poses Problem: Reports received by the National Cotton Council underscore problems caused by foreign particles in cotton lint.

For example, a lab report indicated that black specks in finished cloth at a textile mill probably were traceable to rubber from improper adjustments of cotton picker doffers.

A booklet containing information on causes and prevention of rubber and other such contamination is available from the Council, Box 12285, Memphis, Tenn. 38182. The booklet is titled "Eliminate Lint Contamination."

MOVING ANTIQUES
Your antiques are prized and valuable possessions. If you are planning to move, there are certain steps you can take to safeguard them from harm.

Any item of extraordinary value should be appraised by a qualified individual. At the time of the estimate by a moving company, point out all antiques so that advance arrangements for crating or special packing can be made. Your mover will explain various protection plans from which you may choose. Replacement cost protection, offered by most major moving companies, affords you the best possible coverage for these unique items. When you reach your destination, carefully check the inventory. Should there be any damage, contact the mover for assistance in filing a claim.

United Van Lines offers free information on moving antiques. For your copy, send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Department A, United Van Lines, #1 United Drive, Penton, MO 63026.

Extension Clubs. Club members presenting the skit were Karen Taylor, Linda Bartley, Joy Bragg, Vickie Ashbrook, Adria Ann Crowell and Donna Willis.

The style show, composed by Clifford Tankersley, was presented at the Extension Homemakers Council State Convention in the Lubbock Civic Center to an audience of 850 persons last month. Models each carrying umbrellas were dressed for festive celebrations for each month of the year. Door prizes were donated by the clubs. After the luncheon a meeting was called for the purpose of electing new council officers.

Statewide Opinion Survey Rates Public Education System

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth and final installment in a series of articles on public education written by Betty Pyle, President of the Texas Classroom Teachers Association. This week's article is a statewide opinion survey regarding public education.

BY BETTY PYLE

PRESIDENT, TEXAS CLASSROOM TEACHERS ASSOCIATION

The Texas Classroom Teachers Association (TCTA) is a voluntary non-profit organization with over 25,000 teacher members statewide. The association is a non-union professional group, opposed to collective bargaining for public school employees. Among the primary purposes of TCTA are promotion of quality service to students and the community, and the development of the highest possible professional practices among teachers.

In working toward these goals, TCTA shares the concern growing among Texans about the quality of education in our public schools. TCTA is committed to devoting its resources to help raise the standard of education in our schools to a level worthy of our state and our children. As a part of this effort, the results of the following survey will be presented to the Select Committee on Public Education, the blue ribbon panel currently reviewing the issues facing education and seeking solutions.

This opinion survey is designed to ascertain the opinions of the public regarding our state's education system. The results of this survey, on a statewide level, will be publicized after they have been compiled by the nationally recognized polling of George Shipley and Associates.

Bible Readings For Bible Week

This year, National Bible Week falls between November 20 and November 27, 1983. Favorite inspirational passages from the Old and New Testament are suggested by Victor W. Eimicke, president, V.W. Eimicke Associates, Bronxville, NY and president of Laymen's National Bible Committee. They are selected for reading by those who seek the spiritual fulfillment the Bible has to offer.

Halloween Safety

Some common sense safety precautions can help your children avoid the tricks and get more of a treat out of Halloween this year:

Light sticks are a bright idea that could cast a glow of safety on your children this Halloween night.

- Make certain children stay in a group. If they are very young, a parent should go along to supervise.
- Be sure masks have holes large enough for normal breathing and good visibility.
- Give children a meal or snack before they go out and emphasize that no treats should be eaten before they get home. Discard commercially-produced candy if the wrapper is loose or the seal has been broken. Wash fruit and slice it into small pieces, checking for inedible additions. When in doubt—throw it out.
- Children who go out trick-or-treating after dark should carry light-colored or colorful trick-or-treat bags or use reflective tape on treat bags. Another bright idea for Halloween fun is to have your children carry a light stick, such as the Lite-Up® Lightstick, available at local retail stores everywhere. Just bend it once, shake it and it lights up and lasts all night, lighting your little witches, ghosts and goblins on their Halloween way in safety. Light sticks can also be used in place of candles inside jack-o'-lanterns.
- Do not allow children to carry sharp objects. Be certain that knives, swords or other costume accessories are made from flexible materials.

Teenage Eating Habits
Teenagers are faced with many big decisions about school, friends, and a future career. They also make lots of "little" decisions about what, where and how much to eat that quickly add up to the basis for a lifetime of good -- or poor -- nutrition.

Busy schedules and greater independence means teenagers have to make choices about food on their own. For many, these choices are influenced primarily by peer pressure, sociability, status, and enjoyment, rather than standards of nutrition.

Mealtime -- skipping, for example, is a major problem among adolescents. Breakfast and lunch are the most frequently missed meals. School activities, social events, and part-time jobs can cause a teenager to eat little or nothing during the day and then try to "catch up" in the evening.

Breakfast is the most important meal of the day, and is also the meal most often skipped. But, teens who eat breakfast have been shown to make sharper decisions and become less tired than those who skip breakfast.

Much of a teenager's diet may be in the form of snacks from vending machines, snack bars, fast food outlets or home. The effect of the snacks, however, is determined by their nutritional and energy content. Fast foods do not make important nutrient contributions, but are also higher in fat, sodium and calories than other foods.

Concern over body image is another factor influencing a teenager's eating habits. Fad diets and skipped meals can bring serious consequences, even malnutrition. One study of 1,000 teenagers showed that 70 percent of the females studied thought they were too fat and wanted to lose weight, but only 15 percent were actually obese.

Teenage boys are concerned about their bodies too, but unlike girls, tend to think they are too thin and want to gain weight and muscle mass.

Helping teenagers to learn about nutrition and to eat right, is a challenge for any parent -- a challenge that pays off with a healthier teenager.

4-H Food and Nutrition groups are being formed now. If you would like information about the 4-H Foods and Nutrition project and Lynn County 4-H Food Show, call the Extension Office, 998-4650 or come by 1600 Ave. J., Tahoka.

BILL CRAIG

Craig Art In Roswell Exhibition

Bill Craig, Tahoka professional artist and sculptor, will be among nine American Plains artists presenting a Western exhibition and sale in Roswell, Thursday through Saturday.

Craig, an electrical engineer for 25 years, now devotes full time to making detailed bronze sculptures of relics of a bygone era. He does wax casting (a lost art) on the sculptures fashioned into reality from metal images he possesses. His works are sought by museums and art collectors here and abroad.

Craig and his wife, Margie, live in Tahoka where they own and operate the Eclipse Gallery and Bronze Foundry.

Other members of the association taking part in the exhibit include: Herb Bryant, Lovington; Bob Chennault, Lubbock; Ann Hartman, Plains; Jammy Huggins, Seminole; Steven Napper, Odessa; Ginnie Seifert, Clovis; Marvin Stevenson, Odessa and Lovella Todd of Brownfield.

EATING for LESS

Looking for a quick, easy answer to the ever-present question: "What's for lunch?" Here are a few budget-wise ideas that can brighten up the midday meal, whether eaten at work, school or home.

Sandwiches get the vote at your house? Here's something they'll really enjoy. Butter pumpernickel or dark rye bread. Top with lettuce, sliced Swiss cheese and slices of avocado. Add whole Maine sardines, packed under the Port Clyde or Holmes labels, in a variety of flavorful sauces. Garnish with hard-cooked egg, sour cream or mayonnaise and lemon to squeeze over.

If salad's your favorite, try this different twist for your next garden or Caesar Salad. Toss in drained Maine sardines, right out of the can. Add crusty bread and a refreshing beverage for a complete, nutritious yet light meal at reasonable cost.

Maine sardines are a real value, both in economy and in nutrition. They can form the basis for dozens of interesting meals and they're rich in calcium, protein, iron and many other important nutrients.

For more budget meal suggestions, write to Eating for Less, P.O. Box 1769, Portland, ME 04104.

GO BULLDOGS!

The first state to enter the Union after the original 13 was Vermont in 1791.

Thirty textile leaders representing nine Far Eastern countries which in 1980-81 bought about 3.5 million bales of U. S. cotton will be in Lubbock October 24, 25 and 26 to inspect High Plains cotton production, processing, merchandising and research facilities.

Officials of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock-based cotton producer organization, point out that in 1980-81 the nine countries accounted for about 62 percent of U. S. cotton exports.

"Over 90 percent of this cotton was in the short to medium staple categories produced here on the Plains," states Donald Johnson, PCG Executive Vice President, "and PCG's involvement with these people is an effort to put more of our cotton into their markets."

PCG is coordinating the foreigners' activities for the Lubbock visit, which is a part of the annual U. S. Cotton Orientation Tour sponsored by Cotton Council International, National Cotton Council, the U. S. Department of Agriculture and local hosts. Joining PCG as hosts in Lubbock will be the Lubbock Cotton Exchange, Plains Cotton Cooperative Association and the Agricultural Chemicals Division of ICI Americas.

ICI Americas will host a reception and dinner honoring the foreign dignitaries on the evening of October 25.

Japan, Korea, Bangladesh, Malaysia, Hong Kong, Philippines, Thailand, Indonesia and Taiwan will be represented by from two to seven officials each.

"There is no doubt that these countries already are our best customers," says Johnson. "But the U. S. now supplies only about half their total imports, and our objective is to convince them we have the capacity and the desire to fill more of their fiber needs from this country."

While in the U. S. the group will also meet with USDA officials in Washington, Cotton Incorporated textile research, production and marketing specialists in Raleigh North Carolina, and visit in the cotton-producing areas of the mid-South, Southeast, Arizona and California.

On the Plains the foreign delegation will tour the Textile Research Center at Texas Tech University and the American Cotton Growers denim mill in Littlefield, see a stripper harvesting demonstration at the Texas A & M Research and Extension Center, and inspect the instrument classing line and merchandising facilities of Plains Cotton Cooperative Association.

The group will arrive in Lubbock on the evening of Monday, October 24 and depart on the morning of Wednesday, October 26. Individual merchandisers of High Plains cotton will have the opportunity to meet with the visiting textile and raw cotton purchasing executives during the evening hours on Monday and the early morning hours of Tuesday and Wednesday.

Texas A&M pioneers new developments in fire ant research

COLLEGE STATION—Texas A&M University fire ant researchers say they have perfected techniques for artificially inseminating female ants and tagging worker ants—two developments that could lead to more effective control of the insect that plagues much of the South and Southwest.

The ability to artificially inseminate female fire ants is the starting point for research to produce a sterile male ant, said Dr. Brad Vinson, head of the fire and project and professor of entomology.

Sterilization was the highly successful screwworm control program launched in Texas more than 20 years ago.

AUTHOR DOING RESEARCH—Author James Michener, seated, is autographing two of his books for Betty Unfred in the home of Mrs. Unfred and husband, Joe D. Unfred near New Home on Oct. 5. The Unfreds hosted Michener, who was primarily interviewing J.P. Unfred, right, to get the viewpoint of an oldtimer on the South Plains (Unfred will be 92 on Oct. 23). From left, standing, are Joe D. Unfred; Bob King, a Michener staff member; Harris Underwood of Lubbock and J.P. Unfred. Michener had many questions for the Unfreds regarding the cotton industry and farming procedures on the Plains, as background for a book he plans to write (at the request of former Gov. Bill Clements) about Texas and farming.

NOTICE OF INTENTION

To Engage In Weather Modification Operations Within the State of Texas

Prepared: September 19, 1983

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT the Colorado River Municipal Water District of P.O. Box 869, Big Spring, Texas 79720, holder of Weather Modification License No. 83-1 of the State of Texas, has applied for a permit to engage in an operation to change or attempt to change by artificial methods the natural development of appropriate atmospheric cloud forms or precipitation forms which occur in the troposphere. An application has been filed with the Texas Department of Water Resources for consideration to conduct a weather modification operation to increase precipitation within the area described and by the method stated below:

1. The equipment, materials and methods to be used to conduct this operation include: a weather radar set, meteorological analysis information, a twin-engine aircraft, air-to-ground radio communications, and wing-mounted racks to hold silver iodide flares; a meteorologist directs the aircraft to a radar-selected cloud to begin cloud-seeding at cloud base to increase rainfall in the target area.

2. The area intended to be affected by the operation is the target area which is bounded by a line beginning at a point of origin at Big Spring, Texas and running along Highway 87 in a northwesterly direction to Lamesa, thence north-northwest on Highway 87 to the north border of Dawson County, thence east along the northern boundary lines of Dawson, Borden, and Scurry Counties to Highway 84; thence southeast along Highway 84 to Roscoe, in Nolan County; thence south-southwest to Mayneal; thence southwest to Silver in Coke County; thence south-southwest to Highway 87 to a point approximately 13 miles northwest of Sterling City; thence northwest along Highway 87 to the point of origin at Big Spring, Texas.

3. The area in which the equipment is to be operated includes the operational area and the target area. The operational area is the land-area between an outer boundary which is defined by a line that encompasses the block of counties of Lynn, Garza, Kent, Fisher, Nolan, Coke, Sterling, Glasscock, Martin and Dawson, and an inner boundary which is that of the target area.

4. The persons approved by the Department to be in control and in charge of the operation are Ray Pat Jones and Owen H. Irvie, P.E.

5. The period of the operation is expected to be March 1 through November 30 during the years 1984, 1985, 1986 and 1987.
