New Home Station Burglarized Again

Servando Benavidez' Phillips 66 Station at New Home was burglarized Monday night for the fourth time since April, with items totaling $1050 in value stolen this time.

tires, size P235x15, cigarettes and candy.

Crime Line, 998-5145, has offered a $500 reward for information leading to the clearing of the New Home burglary.

Taken were eight Summit brand

Crime Lines in both Lynn and Dawson Counties also are offering $300 rewards for information on any of several thefts and criminal mischief in the vicinity of FM 2053 and 179 north of Lamesa Monday night. The one which occurred in Lynn County was reported by C.R. Bursleson, Rt. 1, O'Donnell, who said Craftsman brand wrenches and a Cobra 23-channel CB radio were stolen from a cotton stripper on his farm. The stolen items were valued at $486, but vandalism damage to a broken window on the stripper and all of the headlights totaled another $600.

Three similar cases were reported in Dawson County the same night.

Clifford Donnell Sims, 20, of Tahoka was sentenced to seven years in prison Monday after pleading guilty before 106th District Judge George Hansard on a charge of forgery.

Hansard was in Tahoka primarily to preside over a suit filed against the county challenging results of a bingo election April 3, 1982 in the justice of the peace precinct which includes O'Donnell. The suit was dismissed at the request of the plaintiffs. The election to allow legal bingo in that precinct was narrowly defeated.

In jail during the week were one person each for revocation of probation, public intoxication and disorderly conduct and traffic warrant from Terry County.

A Tahoka resident reported to police that she had received several threatening phone calls during the past week and wanted to know what could be done. Police also received a call from a resident complaining about two persons in a white sports car driving wild in front of her house and cursing loudly on Friday.

A Tahoka resident reported that she heard a shot fired in her neighborhood in the 800 block of Ave. E at approximately 8 p.m. last Wednesday.

On Tuesday, police investigated a two-car accident at the intersection of Ave. O and N. 2nd that involved a 1974 Chevrolet driven by Laura Stice of Tahoka and a 1978 Oldsmobile driven by Lura Elizabeth Roberts of Tahoka. No injuries were reported.

Police also answered a couple of family disturbance calls during the past week and issued two tickets for drag racing and one ticket for fleeing from a police officer.

Dogs Wind Up Losing Season

The Tahoka Bulldogs wound up a losing season last Friday night at Frenship, going down 42-0 in their final game (for a couple of years, anyway) as a Class AAA team. Next season the Bulldogs will be in District 5-AA.

The outlook for next season should be greatly improved, as the team was loaded with sophomores this season and still did a lot better than the previous year.

In the cold drizzling rain at Frenship Friday, the Bulldogs as usual played well in the first period—which was scoreless—before bowing to the superior size and strength of the home team. Tahoka, in fact, with Fullback Johnny Morin and Halfback Jerry Alvarado doing most the running, moved on a good drive down to the Frenship 5 yard line, but lost the ball there on downs.

The Tigers came back with a 70-yard TD pass play in the second quarter, and added two more touchdowns in that period to lead 21-0 at halftime.

Denver City won the district title, with Frenship coming in second and also qualifying for the playoffs.

County Vote Is Very Light

Four hundred twenty-five voters in Lynn County favored 10 of the 11 United States Constitution amendments in one of the lightest voter participations recorded in the county in several years.

Amendment number eight which would authorize units to exempt property of fraternal and veterans organizations lost by a vote in the county of 139 for and 278 against.

Voting in favor of the other amendments was as follows:

No. 1, 311-105; 2, 271-155; 3, 260-152; 4, 243-175; 5, 300-118; 6, 332-85; 7, 314-106; 9, 234-164; 10, 235-176; 11, 312-108.

County's Oil Output Listed

Lynn County crude oil production for 1982 totaled 386,688 barrels with a value of $12,169,071, according to the Railroad Commission.

Natural gas totaled 89,552 million cubic feet, with a value of $186,922. The total value of oil and gas was $12,355,993.

Royalty payments totaled $1,544,449, with other totals being: state production taxes from crude oil and natural gas $573,796; estimated drilling expenditures $11,874,033 and dry holes $8,743,914.

Twenty-eight oil wells were drilled last year: 19 of these were dry.

The county had 70 producing wells as of April 1, 1983.

School Crossing Zone Is Planned

The State of Texas plans to put up warning signs and a marked school crossing on U.S. 380 at Ave. O, city council members were told Monday night.

City manager Carl Reynolds reported that the state also is looking into establishing reduced speed zones in that area of west Lockwood, but that no reduced speed zones will be set up as yet. The school crossing signs will not be flashing lights, he noted.

The state also plans to mark the wider portion of west 380 into four lanes, with a double line no-passing stripe in the center.

City councilmen appointed John Krey to the Neighborhood Committee, a review group for the Community Block Development program, replacing Ladd Roberts, who has moved from Tahoka. Seven names were nominated for five spots on a new zoning board for the city, with the nominees yet to be contacted.

A cash farm lease on 500 acres owned by the city along FM 400 north of town was renewed for three years with B.R. Taylor.

A public hearing is scheduled next month at the regular council meeting on the city's plans to accept a matching grant from the state for renovation work on the runways at the airport. Total amount of the project is $22,000, with the city to pay a fourth of that.

Present were Mayor Mel Leslie, Reynolds and council members W.O. Whorton, Richard White, Jim Solomon and Tom Cooper. Dalton Wood was absent.

School Board Meeting Rescheduled

The November regularly scheduled school board meeting of Thursday, Nov. 10, has been postponed until Thursday, Nov. 17, at 7:30 p.m.

WOODWORK

BY DALTON

THERE IS a saying that "you can't fight City Hall" and this obviously applies to the county court-house, too. There is a law in Vernon's Texas Statutes (Sec. 31.01g for you legal eagles) that is very unfair to taxpayers and ought to be changed immediately. And the counties use it to extort extra money from taxpayers who have never been told that they owe anything.

I became aware of this lousy law when I was notified by Lubbock County that I owed delinquent taxes and penalty and interest from 1977 on a tiny rent house I own in Slaton. This was so far back I no longer have receipts and canceled checks, but I wrote back and told them I have always paid my taxes as soon as they billed me for them. It turns out that I didn't pay them that year, the year the property was bought, because I never received a tax notice.

In 1978 they sent me a tax bill, and I paid it. The same thing happened for the next five years. Never, in all that time, was I ever informed that I owed any delinquent taxes. Then, after seven years, they tell me that I owe money from 1977, including penalty and interest, total amount, $29.32.

I wrote them a letter, suggesting in a nice way some things they could do with their delinquent taxes. They wrote back, quoting the law which says, believe it or not, that a property owner has the obligation of finding out for himself how much tax he owes and paying it, and the taxing entity doesn't have to send him a notice even the first time. The law needs to be changed to require the taxing entity to list on every tax bill any delinquent taxes owed on that property from past years.

They also said if I didn't pay up, they'd seek a court judgment to sell my property "on the court-house steps" to collect the taxes. That may have been because my property is one of the few houses small enough to fit on the court-house steps.

At the Lynn County tax appraisal office, we were told Lynn County does the same thing, and other people have been shocked to learn they owed back taxes for up to ten years without any notification whatsoever. They also said it would be too much of a hassle to list delinquent taxes on current tax notices. Hassle or not, it needs to be done.

Anyway, I got into trouble with the law over $10.22, which was the amount of the penalty and interest. I sent Lubbock County a check for the original amount of the taxes and told them I wasn't about to pay penalties for something they didn't bother to tell me about for seven years. They sent it back, with a letter from the district attorney telling me what's what, and implying that I'd better pay the entire $29.32, instead of the $19.10 I owed, or I'd lose my property and maybe get a visit from Sonny Keesee.

I pondered an old Chinese proverb which has to do with criminal assault and decided I'd pay the whole amount, letting them get away with it.

Only I sent a check for $30, hoping that the difference would mess up their computer forever. Also, if they don't return 68 cents change, I'm going to wait seven years and then file the biggest lawsuit they ever saw. I hope I can get a judgment allowing me to sell the Lubbock County court house to satisfy what they owe me.

Sales Tax Rebate Told

State Comptroller Bob Bullock sent checks totaling $38.2 million in local sales tax payments to the 974 cities that levy the one cent city sales tax.

Bullock said this October's payments are 7.2 percent higher than October 1982 but year-to-date totals are still less than what the cities had received by this time last year.

"We're looking at areas that still have economic problems and other areas that show some economic growth. But taken as a whole, nobody's going anywhere-- up or down-- very fast," Bullock said.

October checks were for taxes collected on sales made in August and reported to the Comptroller by the end of September.

O'Donnell's net payment this period, $0; comparable period prior year, $0; 1983 payments to date, $9,000.13; 1982 payments to date, $11,034.31.

UIL Calls For Vote On Raising Grade Standards

Raising academic standards and restricting loss of school time were major issues addressed by the University Interscholastic League's Legislative Council, which held its 43rd annual meeting in Austin, Oct. 16-17. The council voted to place on a referendum ballot proposals that would raise academic credit requirements and restrict classroom absences by those participating in golf and tennis. In addition, the council voted to allow speech students to miss no more than 10 days per year in order to participate in speech/debate tournaments. The referendum ballot will be mailed from the UIL office to school administrators in February. Results will be announced March 3. A simple majority is needed for proposals to pass, and items approved will take effect during the 1984-84 school year, unless otherwise specified. Among the proposals slated for referendum ballot examination are: An item that would require students to be passing four rather than three courses, excluding physical education, in order to compete in a League contest. A proposal that would prohibit students from missing a class that they are failing in order to participate in a League activity. A proposal that would require students to have passed four courses rather than three the preceding semester in order to compete. If passed, this item would not go into effect until the spring semester, 1985. A proposal that would restrict golf and tennis students to 10 days lost per year for participation in each activity respectively. For instance, a tennis player may miss no more than 10 school days in order to compete in tennis tournaments. In addition, the council voted to place on the referendum ballot proposals that would relax summer basketball, football and volleyball camp rules. Summer camps would be open to athletes who have not participated in a varsity contest. Also, students may not be coached in a summer camp by a person employed by the student's school. The council also placed on the ballot a proposal that would open the door to summer basketball leagues. Summer league play would be permitted between June 1 and Aug. 1 under the following guidelines: Students may participate in one league only. Students may not be coached by a coach employed by the player's school. Students may not play more than two games per week. Students may not play on a team that has more than three players from one school. School equipment may not be used. Students may not compete against a team that has more than three players from a single school. "In both league and camp situations, the player may not be coached by a secondary coach -- meaning a seventh through 12th grade coach -- employed by the student's school," Marshall said. Other major council proposals going on the referendum ballot include: Amending the rules to allow parochial and private school membership into the League. Studying the concept of disqualification of coaches or contest sponsors who knowingly violate League rules. Revising the UIL spring meet calendar, with the combining of boys' and girls' district, regional state meet athletic events. District meets would be held either April 1-6 or April 15-20. Regional meets would be held April 19-May 4. The State Meet would be held in Austin, May 9-11. Revising the Five-Year Rule so that a child being retained in the seventh grade for competitive purposes would lose the final year of high school eligibility. Adding gymnastics and wrestling as UIL sports for Conference AAAAA only. Placing the amateur restrictions on all students beginning in the ninth grade, regardless of the student's age. Eliminating mandatory penalties in basketball and volleyball for players or teams violating game and tournament participation restrictions. The council recommended passage of this proposal, which would give the district executive committees greater flexibility in assessing penalties. Revising the college course enrollment regulations to that courses taught by a high school teacher during the regular school day and conforming to Texas Education Agency guidelines are not

BEEF PRICE DIFFERENCES AT FARM, RETAIL EXPLAINED

Both producers and consumers often "beef" about beef prices-- the producer complaining that he doesn't get enough for his steers and the consumer complaining that steak costs too much.

The main culprit in looking at the big differences between retail and farm beef prices is the fact that we don't eat live animals.

A steer must be marketed, slaughtered, transported, cut into retail pieces and ultimately merchandised to consumers. During this process, well over half of the original weight is lost. In fact, a typical 1,000-pound fed steer yields much less than half of his original weight in saleable retail beef cuts.

Weight loss is going on almost constantly during the marketing phase. The 1,000-pound steer must first be marketed and transported to a meat packer. This alone causes about 30 to 60 pounds of lost weight due to shrinkage. After slaughter, the packer is left with about 200 pounds of hide and other by-products and another 200 pounds of valueless material, leaving a beef carcass that weighs only about 600 pounds. Cooling causes another 2 to 3 percent shrinkage before the carcass is sold.

Usually packers sell directly to food retailers, but the carcass might be sold to a meat wholesaler who separates it into quarters or primal cuts and then sells these to retailers. Because of these different paths to the retailer, some additional weight losses of "breaking" a carcass into wholesale cuts may be assumed by a packer or wholesaler or passed on to retailers. The meat retailer finds that only a portion of the beef carcass he bought is actually retail beef cuts. Slightly less than one-quarter is roasts, almost one-quarter yields steaks, and just under a quarter is miscellaneous cuts such as short-ribs, ground beef and stew beef. Almost one-third of the total carcass is waste in the form of fat, bones and shrinkage. So, a 600-pound carcass has diminished into about 417 pounds of saleable retail cuts of beef.

Further complicating the retailer's picture is the fact that highly demanded cuts, like steaks, are only a very small proportion of the carcass. For example, a 600-pound beef carcass typically yields only about 50 pounds of sirloin steaks close to 65 pounds of round steak and about 35 pounds of rib roasts. A huge amount, typically as much as 140 pounds, is relatively cheap cuts like hamburger, stew meat and other miscellaneous cuts.

The key thing to remember is; "All steer is not steak." It takes about 2.4 pounds of live steer to produce just one pound of saleable retail beef cuts.

Work Still Being Done On FM 1328

Grading operations are still being performed on FM 1328 in Lynn County FM 1317 south 8.022 miles to U.S. 380, according to H.C. (Doc) Brown, Supervising Resident Engineer, State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Caliche production is nearing completion, and is expected to be prepared in a few days. Preparation of flexible base is almost completed and stockpiled. It is expected the contractor will be able to haul some flexible base material to the road by the end of the month.

The old roadway at FM 1328 is almost impassable, due to the sandy nature of the soil in the center portion, and it is closed to through traffic.

In a non-leap year, the middle day of the year is July 2.

EE Loans Available For Farmers

The economic emergency loan program which was in effect from 1978 to 1981 is being reopened by the Farmers Home Administration, probably before the end of this year.

These economic emergency (EE) loans are meant for farmers who are in financial trouble through no fault of their own. They differ from the natural disaster programs for farmers in designated counties who have suffered severe production losses.

Economic emergency loans will be available to farmers who are in financial difficulty beyond their control, have tried unsuccessfully to get a loan from other sources and who can repay the loan over a period of time. Funds from these EE loans may be used to finance 1984 crop production, to pay overdue farm and family operating debts or for other related uses. An economic emergency loan to any one borrower cannot exceed $400,000.

For direct loans--where FmHA lends money directly to the farmer -- the interest rates will fluctuate with the cost of money borrowed by the government. Currently the EE interest rates are 11 1/4 percent for operating purposes and 11 3/4 percent for farm ownership loans, but the rates may change by late December when the program is expected to reopen.

For guaranteed loans -- made by commercial lenders and backed by the government -- the interest rate is negotiated between the borrower and the lender.

Additional details on the economic emergency loan program are available from Farmers Home Administration county offices.

From The ACEA's Desk GREG HENLEY

Developing a 4-H nature trail is a good first step toward promoting public awareness of conservation concerns, says Greg Henley, county 4-H program coordinator. The trail serves as an outdoor museum where participants can observe natural resource features first-hand, often with the aid of self-guide materials or the assistance of a trail leader.

Other conservation projects could include clean-up campaigns, tree plantings, setting up wildlife shelters and building bird feeders. Poster contestants can also encourage youngsters to use their talents in conservation efforts.

4-H projects and activities encourage young people 9-19 to develop leadership talents in conservation action programs. 4-H members learn-by-doing to appreciate the social and economic values of natural resources, and to identify and apply appropriate conservation methods.

The national 4-H conservation of natural resources program offers girls and boys practical opportunities to do something about air and water pollution, waste disposal, soil and forest conservation, and the maintenance of fish and wildlife populations.

The program is conducted by the Extension Service and supported by John Deere, which provides a full schedule of awards for participating 4-H members, clubs and counties.

Awards include six $1,000 scholarships at the national level, an expense paid trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago for one winner in each state, and medals of honor for four members per county.

Also a $50 cash award goes to one county in each state reporting the most outstanding 4-H conservation program. Ten clubs per state and four clubs per county are eligible for certificates of recognition.

More information on the 4-H conservation of natural resources program is available from the county Extension office, says Greg Henley.

OLDER CITIZENS FEEL VULNERABLE--Many older Americans feel more vulnerable to crime because of physical and financial limitations, says Judith Warren, a family life education-aging specialist. "Actually older people are not victimized any more or less than other age group but this fact does not help feelings of fear," says Warren. "Older persons in both cities and small towns sometimes end up living in high crime areas," Warren says. Though they may have lived in the same place for years, the neighborhood often changes around them. They are the outsider -- the different person -- and so might be victimized. "Older people living in rural areas may feel the isolation more than they did when they were younger," she adds. But older persons can take steps such as joining a neighborhood watch group and finding out about self-protection from local crime prevention groups.
