THS Council Urges Drinking Crackdown

The City of Tahoka and police officers need to take a stronger stand against drinking and driving by teenagers here, representatives of the Tahoka High School Student Council told the city council Monday night.

Five young persons from the student council presented to the city council a petition with about 200 signatures of students and teachers requesting stricter enforcement of laws against drinking and driving.

An officer of the student group told the council she did not think the police are enforcing the laws as they should. "Usually when they catch somebody drinking, they just tell them to pour it out," she said. The five students agreed that many high school age persons are drinking regularly downtown at night. "We did a survey and found that more than half of all students (in THS and junior high) drink at least once a week."

Council members commended the student council for their stand and later discussed possible ways to improve the enforcement situation.

Also present Tuesday was Edward Bartley, representing the Tahoka Cemetery Assn., who presented figures on drilling water wells, installing a sprinkler system and fencing a 7-acre portion of a 20-acre plot recently acquired by the city for expansion of the present cemetery. Councilmen discussed the possibility of budgeting some money this year to begin implementing some of the development of the new section. The council will have a called meeting on Feb. 20 to hold a public hearing on a budget for the third phase of a three-year Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program.

Present were Mayor Meldon Leslie, City manager Carl Reynolds, and council members Richard White, Tom Cooper, Jim Solomon, Dalton Wood, and W.O. Wharton.

City Sales Tax Rebates Listed

State Comptroller Bob Bullock sent checks totaling $105.4 million in local sales tax payments to the 980 cities that levy the one percent city sales tax.

Statewide, 1984 payments are running 2.57 percent ahead of last year. However, because of changes in reporting requirements that converted 15,000 small- and medium-sized taxpayers from quarterly to monthly payment schedules, it is difficult to compare raw payment figures for 1984 with the same period last year, since what were quarterly payments last year are now spread over three months.

February's checks reflect sales made during the final, Christmas quarter of 1983 and reported to the Comptroller's Office by Jan. 20.

"Even with the bookkeeping changes, these payments reflect the recovery that is underway in our state economy," Bullock said. "When it's all said and done, Texans apparently had the best Christmas in our history in terms of retail sales."

O'Donnell's net payment this period—$2,810.14; comparable payment prior year—$3,258.71; 1984 payments to date, $2,810.14.

Tahoka's net payment this period—$8,334.49; comparable payment prior year—$11,136.74; 1984 payments to date—$12,264.64.

Wilson's net payment this period—$730.14; comparable payment prior year—$1,044.10; 1984 payments to date—$1,505.19.

SOME LONGTIME Texas Tech basketball fans who have had seats on the coliseum floor for years are complaining that they have been back on the concourse while the nearest seats have been given to the students. A letter from Tahoka attorney Calloway Huffaker to the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal and to Texas Tech officials last week explained that the "old faithful" were not upset over being moved back, except for the fact that the students in front are always on their feet, making it impossible for those behind them on the same level to see unless they stand also. And, understandably, most of those who have been watching Tech basketball for 25 or 30 years are in no condition to stand for the entire game.

We doubt there will be any satisfactory resolution of the situation. There is a similar problem at football games; one reason I don't attend more Tech football games is that I like to watch the action (and the cheerleaders) through binoculars, but many fans jump up on every other play and all you see is somebody's back. Most of the backs you see are not worth the price of admission.

THE OTHER DAY we received in the mail a bad check returned to us by the financial institution, with a stamped notation: "Refer to Maker." I raised my eyes and hands, toward the ceiling and cried out, "Lord, what's wrong with this check?" but so far have received no clear answer.

I HAVE LEARNED that the reason I sometimes can't kill a fly with a swatter or newspaper is not because I am uncoordinated, but because flies are really quick, according to Changing Times. The magazine says we must accept the fact that we are no match for the fly, whose eye tells its brain in a thousandth of a second that a swat is coming. But there is a way to swat one, it reports.

Changing Times quotes London scientist E.G. Gray who advises you to "take a piece of tissue in the palm of each hand. As you approach the fly, hold each hand equidistant from the fly's position. Then, moving to and fro slightly, clap your hands on the fly."

The reason it works is that the circuitry in the fly's brain allows it to react to approaching movement from only one part of its field of vision. Two simultaneously approaching swats renders the fly immobile because its nervous system cannot compute at which angle to take off.

So, the next time you are bothered by a fly, take a kleenex in each hand, hold your hand equal distances from the fly, do a

Chamber Banquet Plans Discussed

Plans for the annual banquet of Tahoka Chamber of Commerce on Saturday, March 3, were discussed at the monthly meeting of the chamber directors Tuesday noon in Paris Cafeteria.

A "Citizen of the Year" will be recognized at the annual meeting, with this coveted award replacing the former Man, Woman and Student of the Year Awards which have been presented in the past.

Featured speaker at the banquet, which will have a western theme, will be "Cowpokes" cartoonist Ace Reid of Kerrville. Reid last week mailed to the Tahoka chamber an original drawing of his character "Jake," which will be reproduced on the front of the banquet program. Reid said he would autograph programs after the banquet.

Tickets to the banquet are $7 per plate, and are available from any chamber director or the chamber office.

Tahoka High School FHA girls and boys will serve the meal, which will be arranged by John Fisher. Some special guests, including State Sen. John Montford, have indicated they will be present.

The Council sponsored a BYOB (bring your own banana) party for the students during a special "Bulldog Time" Friday. Students who brought a banana were furnished ice cream by Student Council to make a banana split.

A petition was posted on the Student Council bulletin board for students to sign that were against the drinking and driving combination. The petition read as follows:

We, the undersigned individuals (students, teachers, and others), believe that the laws regarding driving and drinking should be observed and enforced.

Over 200 signatures were on the petition when presented by the Council to city hall.

The Council was divided into different committees when calendars, ads, and birthday listings were being sold. CLEANING CRAYON MARKS FROM CHILD'S CLOTHING

The hidden crayon in your child's pocket can cause havoc in the laundry. If crayons go through the laundry, try these remedies:

If there are a few spots on a washable garment, remove the surface crayon wax with a dull knife. Place stained area face down between paper towels and press with a warm iron.

Then place the garment with stain face down on the paper towels and sponge back of any remaining stain with a pre-wash spray or a dry cleaning solvent spot remover. Solvent spot removers can be purchased at drug, grocery or some clothing and department stores.

After sponging with solvent, let dry. Then launder with detergent or soap. If traces of color remain, wash again. Then soak in an enzyme pre-soak product or oxygen bleach (one that says safe for colors) with hottest water safe for fabric. After that, launder the item as usual. If the stain persists, try washing with chlorine bleach if it is safe for the fabric.

When crayon stains have spread throughout a load of clothes, try this: First, wash the items with the hottest water safe for fabric, (preferably hot) using a laundry soap and 1 cup baking soda. If the color remains, soak in an enzyme pre-soak product or an oxygen bleach using the hottest water safe for fabric.

For valuable non-washable items it is advisable to have professionally cleaned as soon as possible after the stain is discovered. Be sure to point out the stain to the dry cleaner.

If your child has applied his creative talents with crayon to your upholstery fabrics (other than leather, suede and vinyl) or other dry clean-only items, use a dry cleaning solvent.

Test the solvent on an inconspicuous area to determine its effect on the fabric before applying to the stained area. If the fabric doesn't seem to be affected adversely, sponge the solvent onto the stained area.

In the case of piled fabrics, rub in the direction of the pile. Sponge again if the stain remains.

Some vinyls are damaged by dry cleaning solvents. For stains on vinyl, try wiping the stained area with a heavy-duty liquid laundry detergent or with a paste made from dry laundry detergent and warm water. If the stains remain, sponge with rubbing or denatured alcohol. Again test solutions on an inconspicuous spot before applying alcohol to the stained area.

It is safest not to attempt any major stain removal at home on suede and leather garments. These items should be taken to professional cleaners.

Hospital, Church to Celebrate 30 Years of Partnership

February is the fifth annual Methodist Hospital Emphasis Month in the Northwest Texas Conference of the United Methodist Church.

This emphasis month is special, because it is a preamble to an important anniversary in the history of the conference and the hospital.

Almost 30 years ago, on April 1, 1954, the Northwest Texas Conference assumed ownership operation of Lubbock Memorial Hospital, renaming the new building on 19th Street "Methodist Hospital."

The 30-year partnership begun on that day has been a successful one, with the 549-bed hospital leading the region in quality health care.

More than 26,000 patients were admitted in 1983, and more than $1,189,000 of hospital revenues were used for declared charity cases.

The history of how the church and hospital formed a partnership is a story of two entities looking for the best ways to do their jobs.

Two of the forerunners to Methodist Hospital, Lubbock Sanitarium (1918-1941) and Lubbock General Hospital (1941-1945) were for-profit institutions. In 1945, the hospital became Lubbock Memorial Hospital to reflect changes in both the management and direction of the facility. At that time, the hospital was realized into a not-for-profit corporation without capital stock.

The name was selected as a memorial to early day physicians and to the medical professional generally. The char. for the institution described the hospital as "a private corporation for purely public charity."

In 1946, plans were begun for a new, more spacious facility for the hospital, to be located on West 19th St. on the outskirts of the city. Those plans became reality in 1953, when the $3,500,000 facility was opened.

Lubbock Memorial Hospital, even during the planning and construction of the new building, had experienced management difficulties. The physicians who owned and operated the facility were hard pressed to find time to operate a hospital and carry large patient loads at the same time.

On Sept. 16, 1953, scarcely six weeks after moving into the new building on West 19th St., the hospital's board voted to turn control of the hospital over to the church.

On Jan. 29, 1954, the Methodist conference announced acquisition of the hospital.

The official "transfer of authority" took place on April 1, 1954, beginning at 9 a.m. in the hospital's board room.

Elmer Paul then began his 1.5 year tenure as administrator, to be followed by Phil Carter (1956-1960), and George M. Brewer (1961 to present).

U.S. Savings Bonds Sales Are Up

Sales of U.S. Savings Bonds during the period of January through November 1983 in Texas amounted to $246,681,983 an increase of 27.6% over the same period a year ago, T.J. Morrow, District Director for the U.S. Savings Bonds Division in Dallas, announced recently. These sales represent 109.9% of the state's 1983 assigned dollar goal of $224,700,000.

In Lynn County, sales of Series EE Bonds amounted to $1,916 during November, 1983, R.B. Hegi, Volunteer County Chairman, said. Total eleven-month sales of $27,717 represent 50 % of the county's 1983 assigned dollar goal.

Nationally, January through November 1983 sales of Series EE Bonds totaled $3.5 billion, an increase of 21% over 1982 sales, representing 102.0% of the nation's $3.5 billion goal. Savings Bonds held by the public amounted to $71 billion as of Nov. 30, 1983, the highest in three years.

The deer family includes about 60 species, ranging in size from the huge Alaska moose down to the Chilean pudu, which is almost as small as a rabbit.

Local Youths Participate In Calf Scramble

Bryan Bednarz and Abram Vaca, 16 year old FFA members of Wilson and Tahoka, will participate in the 1984 Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo calf scramble March 3 in the Astrodome.

Bryan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Bednarz of Wilson and Abram is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Vaca of Tahoka. They will compete for one of the 280 calf purchase certificates to be awarded at the 1984 Rodeo.

The calf scramble involves turning loose of two dozen or more youngsters and half as many young calves in the arena. Those who manage to grab a calf, halter it and drag it across the finish line are provided with a $600 calf purchase certificate which is used to purchase a pure-bred, registered beef or dairy heifer.

The calf is raised by the winner for a special showing competition to be held at next year's show.

Methodists Announce Scholarship

The administrative board of First United Methodist Church of Tahoka announced the forming of a Scholarship Trust Fund, made possible by two gifts made to the church.

L.O. (Pete) and Louise Smith of Tahoka gave to the FUMC a gift to begin the trust fund in December of 1983. This past week, Nina Short presented to Trustees Chairman, Binie White, a gift in memory of her husband, Oran Short. This gift to the scholarship fund fulfills a dream of Oran's and Nina's to help the young people of Tahoka, according to Gene Wisdom, Pastor of First United Methodist Church.

He said the earnings from the trust fund will be used to provide scholarships to deserving students regardless of religion or race.

The church's scholarship committee will begin receiving applications this Spring through the church office and through the counselor's office in Tahoka High School.

Scholarships will be awarded for the Fall semester of 1984.

SOIL COMPACTION CAN REDUCE CROP PRODUCTION

Soil compaction can act as an unseen enemy to farmers and reduce crop production.

Commonly called a "hardpan" compacted soil can literally "choke off" plant roots so that they're unable to get water or nutrients.

A shallow plant root system often indicates compacted soil. Plant roots may be unable to penetrate a severely compacted soil and may grow horizontally, resulting in what some farmers call "crow foot" in such crops as cotton that have a tap root.

Along with stunting plant roots, soil compaction may affect seed germination, seedling emergence and other phases of crop growth and production.

Poor stands, poor plant growth, discolored plant leaves and premature wilting may signal problems due to compacted soil. However, many of these same symptoms can also be due to dry weather, nutrient deficiencies and other factors.

Excessive soil compaction also reduces water penetration and increases run-off and soil erosion. Water standing in a field may signal a soil compaction problem since water infiltration is slow in a hardpan area.

The best way to identify a hardpan is to dig a hole at least three feet deep and look for crop roots in the subsoil. If roots have penetrated the subsoil, then the next crop should also be able to move to that depth.

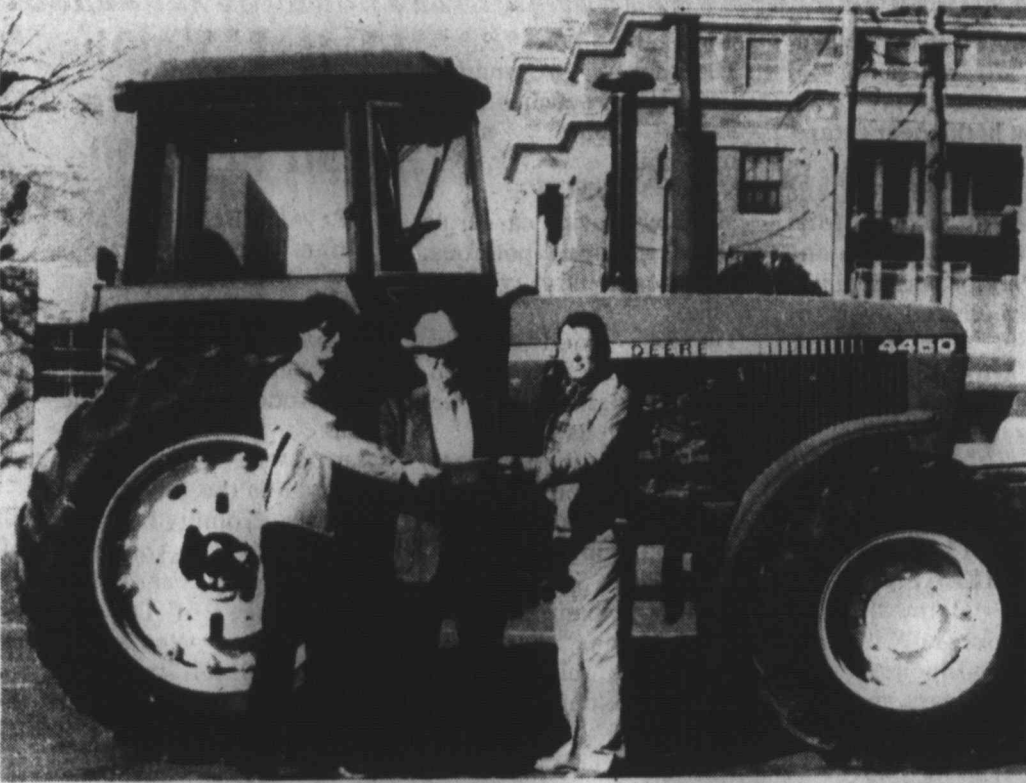

A farmer can also use a sharp rod or soil probe to check for hardpans. A person should be able to push the rod into the soil at a fairly constant rate until it hits compacted soil. The average person will have trouble pushing the rod through a hardpan.

What causes soil compaction?

Some soils are naturally compact, especially subsoil material. Excessive tillage, which reduces the size of soil granules, and tillage or other field operations when soil is wet are two major causes of soil compaction.

In fact, any machinery operation results in soil compaction, whether it's planting, cultivating, fertilizing or harvesting.

Farmers should limit the use of heavy equipment and the number of tillage operations to those required to keep soil productive. Avoid tillage if it does not improve soil physical conditions, promote water infiltration and aeration, help weed control, incorporate crop residues into the soil, prepare a seedbed, or help control wind and water erosion.

FARM BUREAU WEEK—Lynn County Judge J.F. Brandon, center, has proclaimed Feb. 13-17 as Lynn County Farm Bureau Week, which is a part of a statewide observance. Leland White, left, president of the county organization, states, "The Farm Bureau is a general farm organization that seeks to improve income and living conditions of farm and ranch families." Loyd McCormick, right, is chairman of the membership committee which is responsible for membership acquisition and maintenance. Other committee members are Fred Martin, Jimmy Bragg, Kenneth Eaker and Wayne Carpenter. White said the Lynn County Farm Bureau has 1113 member families and is seeking to exceed that figure in 1984. Letter to The Editor

Dear Editor:

Hats off to the THS Student Council who recently sponsored an "Alcohol Awareness Week". The contracts between parents and children can be effective if we abide by the guidelines. The BYOB event hopefully helped our teenagers realize there are enjoyable alternatives to drinking.

Keep up the good work STUCO.

Joe and Glo Hays

To the editor:
Lynn County voters probably already know what a great U.S. senate candidate we have in Kent Hance. He has been a friend of mine for nearly 15 years and I regard him with admiration and respect.

His record bespeaks a broad understanding of Texas values, a deep commitment to achieve real progress for all our people and a natural ability to deliver on his promises.

I hope Lynn County voters will support Kent because he's good for Texas and he'll be good for the U.S. Senate. He has the right combination of age, experience, intelligence and instinct. He is incorruptible.

When Lynn County suffered $20 million in losses to the latest drought disaster, Kent Hance was there helping in the House Agriculture Committee. He helped include Lynn County in relief payments, even though Lynn County isn't in his district. No other candidate has done so much for Lynn County.

Kent has campaigned twice in Grayson County—more than any other Senate candidate—and his strength here is building as the Democratic primary approaches.

Study all the candidates and you'll have no doubt that Kent deserves your vote and your endorsement.

Yours to serve,
Perry Flippin
Sherman, Texas

It is anticipated that work will proceed the first of March on FM 1328 in Lynn County from FM 1317 south 8.022 miles, H.C. (Doc) Brown, supervising Resident Engineer, of Brownfield, stated. Work stopped in early January due to the heavy rains in the fall. Soil conditions prohibit any further work until the soil is dry.

FROM THE CEA'S DESK BY GREG HENLEY

Animal projects are an important part of the 4-H program, and 4-H'ers need to give careful attention to protecting these projects as well as their pets from accidents.

Broken bones, puncture wounds and accidental poisonings occur with alarming frequency among household pets and farm animals, says Greg Henley, county 4-H program coordinator.

Through the 4-H veterinary science program, youth can learn more about animal safety and how to protect their animals from accidents.

Among animal safety tips are these:

*Be certain pastures and yards are free of baling wire, nails and poisonous plants. Get rid of toxic houseplants.

*Store pesticides, cleaning compounds, sewing pins and knives where animals can't get to them. *Check backyard and pasture fences for protruding splinters. Are there concrete abutments that could cause stumbling or physical injury?

*Keep animal living quarters and bedding free of sharp edges, nails and wires.

Young animal lovers 9-19 learn to understand and appreciate all facets of veterinary science in 4-H projects and activities supervised by the Extension Service and supported by the Upjohn Co.

4-H members study characteristics of the normal animal, symptoms and causes of animal disease, and the relationship between animal and human health.

They also develop practical skills by caring for their own animals, working in community clinics, and even assisting the local veterinarian—who often serves as their 4-H project leader. And they investigate career opportunities in such areas as veterinary medicine, farm management and public health.

The 4-H veterinary science program has wide appeal to youngsters no matter where they live—on farms, in suburbs or cities.

More information about the 4-H veterinary science program is available at the county Extension office.

The word "volume" comes from the Latin word volvere, meaning "to roll," because in ancient times, books were written on sheets rolled on a pin or roller.
