Insurance Ruling Hits Farmers

Farmers and ranchers with one or more employees have until midnight March 16 to buy workers' compensation insurance or face very serious liability without common law defenses should they be sued by an injured employee, according to Leland White of Tahoka, president of the Lynn County Farm Bureau.

Any farm or ranch employee injured after March 16 could claim his right to sue his employer if that employer does not have workers' compensation insurance, White said.

White pointed out that this situation came about as a result of the ruling March 7 by State District Judge Harley Clark of Austin that the exemption of farm and ranch laborers from workers' compensation is unconstitutional.

White noted that any employer liability policy (employer liability endorsement on farm and ranch owners, homeowners or farmer's comprehensive personal liability) covering farmworkers as approved by the State Board of Insurance states that it will not pay claims of injured farmworkers if they are covered by the workers' compensation law.

He added that "Texas Farm Bureau has and will continue to oppose removal of the exemption of farm and ranch employees from workers' compensation. The Texas Attorney General has indicated that his office will appeal the ruling."

Pending final disposition of this case, attorneys who have reviewed the judge's ruling have advised that the only safe course of action is for employers to acquire workers' compensation insurance immediately, White said.

"Judge Clark's ruling will cost farmers about $5 per $100 coverage more than they recently are paying for employer's liability," White said.

Teachers Rehired; Drivers Ed Fees To Be Increased

Contracts were approved for teachers, secretaries, lunchroom workers and custodial personnel for the coming year as Tahoka school board met last Thursday evening in a session which only ran about three hours.

The board also approved an increase in fees for drivers education courses taught at the high school.

The action came after Supt. Jim Coulston advised the board that "the state board of education says that no tax dollars are to be spent on drivers education." He pointed out that the $55 fee which was in effect last year will not cover the expenses of operating the program, and recommended a fee of $80 per student, which was approved by the board.

A textbook committee report and school calendar for next year were approved. Also given approval was a contract with the regional Education Service Center and application of Mrs. Ellen Wisdom as a substitute teacher.

Mrs. Loretta Tekell, business manager, reported tax collections at 85.8 per cent, higher than at the same time the previous year.

A policy setting out written standards of conduct for substitute teachers was approved by the board.

All board members were present.

Jury Finds Man Guilty Of Sexual Abuse Of Child

A 64-year-old Draw resident was found guilty of sexual abuse of a child and sentenced to 20 years in state prison by a 106th District Court jury which heard testimony in court in Tahoka Monday and Tuesday.

The jury, unusual in the respect that all 12 members were women, heard the testimony of the victim, a girl now 12 years old, who said she was sexually mistreated by the defendant, William Whitehead, 64, over a period of more than two years.

A verdict of guilty was reported before noon Tuesday and the jury Tuesday afternoon assessed the maximum penalty of 20 years allowed by state statutes for the charge as listed.

District Attorney Joe Smith, who prosecuted the case, said it was only the second time he could recall in 12 years as district attorney that a criminal case jury had no men on it.

Court-appointed attorneys for the defense were Javier Alvarez and Paul Berlianga of Lubbock. District Judge George Hansard of Lamesa presided.

Pleads Guilty

Pleading guilty before Judge Hansard Tuesday was Manuel Faris Garcia, 23, of Tahoka, who was assessed a 10-year prison term, probated, on a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. He also was fined $1,000 and ordered to make restitution to the pickup owner, Wade Implement of Tahoka.

During the last week city police investigated one wreck, a bicycle theft and other incidents and the sheriff's office checked into a burglary of a residence and a trailer house fire.

The home of Mrs. E.R. Blakney, four miles north and a mile west of New Home was burglarized during the night Saturday after intruders broke two doors to gain entry. Stolen were a Zenith beta format video cassette recorder, Panasonic stereo, Yashica camera, Litton microwave, a .38 caliber pistol, Zenith color TV and some Sterling silverware.

A trailer house burned northeast of Tahoka Saturday night on the George Wright farm and officers were investigating the possibility of arson. A reward of $200 is being offered by Crime Line, 998-5145, in this case, and a reward of $300 is offered in the Blakney burglary.

Accident Reported

Tahoka police investigated an accident Wednesday at 1500 Ave. L and South 1st that involved a 1978 Chevrolet driven by Dorothy Louise Kidwell of Tahoka and a 1982 Pontiac driven by Jesus Martinez of Tahoka. No injuries were reported.

Flora Resendez of 1921 S. 1st reported to police that sometime on Monday someone had stolen a BMX bicycle with gold rims and gold handlebars valued at $119. The bike was reportedly stolen from her back yard and has not yet been recovered.

Police also answered a couple of disturbance calls during the past week including one in the 2300 block of N. 1st on Thursday night and another at approximately 2 a.m. on Sunday in the 1400 block of Ave. K involving a fight in which two Tahoka residents were taken to Lynn County Hospital for treatment of injuries. Both were later released. No one was charged in the incident, however.

Police also investigated an incident at 1321 S. 4th on Saturday night where an unknown vehicle had driven into the front yard and ran into a wooden support beam on the front porch and had also damaged a woodburning stove that was on the porch. There was no damage estimate reported, nor did anyone see the vehicle.

Lela Bailey Named to A-J Honor Team

Lela Bailey, who led all South Plains area girls basketball teams in Class AAA in rebounding last season, was named to the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal's seven-player All-South Plains team this week.

Miss Bailey is a 5-10 senior who averaged 13.2 points per game for the Tahoka Dogettes, who finished third in the district and had a won-loss record of 16-8, the best in many years for the Tahoka girls. She averaged 12.9 rebounds per contest, tops in AAA in the area.

Others on the team are Vicky McKenzie and Phoebe Dunn of Abbernathy, Doris Pringler of Post, Penny Elkins of Slaton, Susie Gaither of Cooper and Von Tucker of Childress.

It was the second straight year for Miss Bailey to be named to the All-South Plains team.

Bingo Petition Fails To Qualify

County Commissioners were advised Monday that a petition had been presented to the county requesting another bingo election in Commissioners Precinct 3, which includes O'Donnell and part of Tahoka, but that the number of names on the petition was not sufficient to require that an election be called.

Judge J.F. Brandon explained that the 41 names fell short of the 10 per cent of the total who voted in that precinct in the last governor's election, as stipulated by law. However, there was some indication that the petitioners would seek to get more names and present the petition for local option bingo at a later date.

A previous election in the precinct failed by just a few votes of approving legalized bingo.

Commissioners approved the revenue sharing budget of $143,201, agreed to pay Texas Assn. of Counties $2,840 for the second quarter workman's compensation, and agreed to have the accounting firm of Love, Hays and Schaffner assist county employees in book-keeping procedures.

WOODWORK

BY DALTON

A RECENT ISSUE of U.S. News & World Report contained an interesting article on "10 Forces Reshaping America," and no, it was not chocolate pie, French fries and eight other fatty foods although many of us are constantly reshaped by such things.

One of the forces mentioned was "A Maturing Society," in which it was pointed out that for the first time in U.S. history, there are more people 65 and over than teenagers (by cracker, we finally got 'em outnumbered). And by 1990, said the report, the number of older citizens is expected to surpass 31 million, while the teenage population shrinks to 23 million. This undoubtedly will cause a marked decline in gasoline sales and horn-honking.

The article observed that "Don't trust anyone over 30" was a slogan of the youth culture a few decades ago. Much of the nation's commerce is slanted toward youth, who may be fewer in numbers, but who are more affluent.

I remember that the emphasis on youth used to be more prominent than it appears to be now. I even recall a book (I think it was Logan's Run, which also was a movie) in which society was run by young folks, and when you reached age 30, an assassin was assigned to do you in.

That seems a little bit extreme, although it would do wonders for the Social Security budget and virtually eliminate prostrate operations.

It may be that the "generation gap" brings some conflict between the young and the old, but we doubt that most younger folks would condone shooting all the oldies. Nor would we older folks want to shoot all the youngsters. Perhaps just those who ride high-pipe motorcycles down the street at midnight, or who park their cars on the drag and open the doors so the radio can be heard six blocks away.

One interesting possible benefit of a steadily growing-older population: The crime rate, says the article, is dropping because young people commit more crimes than older ones.

My first reaction to that statement was that the younger ones are just more likely to get caught. But I guess the statistic would be true especially for strenuous crimes like purse-snatching, strangling, burglary and assault. As we get older, we may consider these activities, but somehow they just don't seem worth the effort.

Signup For 1984 Program: Signup for participation in the 1984 farm program will continue until March 16, 1984. An operator or owner must sign the farm into the program no later than March 16 for the farm to be eligible for program benefits. All other interested producers must sign the binding contract no later than March 30 or the farm will be ineligible for program benefits. There are about 300 farms in Lynn County not signed into the program.

Changes of ACR Requirements: Some changes have been made in the requirements for cover on ACR. The following are the up to this date requirements including the changes: Approved covers and practices include forage sorghum and sorghum-grass crosses not classified as feed grains. Legumes including peas and guar are also approved covers. Existing residue from 1983 crops such as sorghum or sudan is eligible, if managed in such a way to leave the residue on top of the soil in amounts that prevent erosion. Cotton stalks will not work. Small grain stubble can be clipped by May 2 and used as an approved practice. By paying for a field visit by May 1, the small grain can be allowed to mature and stand as the cover. The farm visit is to ensure that no harvesting is done. The cost is $20 per farm for the field visit.

Mechanical tillage is not approved for use on ACR except when a producer uses a skip row pattern of at least 4 blank rows for ACR. Discing is not approved, only clod forming operations.

Producers with a severe weed problem may make a request on an individual basis to use mechanical tillage in these areas only. Your application must give weed problem, show area and give practices that will be applied. Discing will not be approved, a cover will be required.

Please review your plans for management of ACR. With all the attention given to control of weeds and covers required on ACR, a producer could lose program benefits over his ACR.

Measurement Service: Slides for measurement service will be taken beginning soon after April 1. If you will have a field of small grain that needs to be divided because of different uses, you need to plow a through before the slides are taken. A tandem sould make a line that can be seen on the slide. (Example: Wheat for harvest and ACR with wheat cover in same field) The cost for measurement on the slides this year is $20 plus 5 cents per acre over 25 acres.

Swine Short Course Slated

Show pig production and a discussion of important factors in buying and selling boars will highlight the annual Texas A&M University Swine Short Course for producers on the High Plains. The course, April 11, will be at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center, just east of I-27 on FM 1294, at the Shallowater exit.

Dr. Robert Cohen, Texas Agricultural Extension Service swine specialist, noted that the Lubbock course differs entirely from those to be presented April 10 at Stephenville and April 13 at Luling.

Registration begins at 8:30 a.m., followed by a morning session on production, selection, marketing and feeding of show pigs. This will include facilities for small swine operations, boar and sow management to optimize pig production, the influence of the show date on the farrowing date, and ration selection for show pigs.

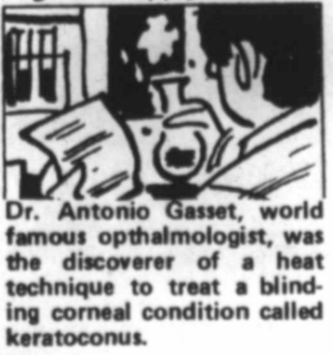

Also to be covered will be preventative vaccination programs for show pigs and preparing show pigs for sale.

Farmers May Be Eligible For SBA Loans

Farmers in several Texas counties who are eligible for financial assistance from the Farmers Home Administration as a result of agriculture related disasters may be eligible for assistance from the U.S. Small Business Administration.

Under new legislation signed by President Reagan in Nov. 1983, SBA has been directed to provide financial assistance to farmers in Lynn County who suffered losses caused by severe drought beginning April 1, 1983 through Dec. 31, 1983.

Philip J. O'Jibway, district director of Lubbock's SBA office, cautioned, however, that only those farmers who did not receive assistance from FmHA due to ineligibility reasons and have a letter of referral from FmHA are eligible to apply to the SBA. Farmers who were declined by FmHA for credit reasons are not eligible to apply.

Sales Tax Rebate Told

State Comptroller Bob Bullock sent checks totaling $53.5 million in local sales tax payments to the 985 cities that levy the one-percent city sales tax. "Texas is pulling out strongly from the trough we were in last year," Bullock said. "Along the border, January sales were well above last year in Laredo, Brownsville, and El Paso. Among the 20 biggest sales tax cities, only Midland and Odessa are still running behind last year. Overall, sales tax receipts are up more than 12 percent."

COTTON TODAY

Increase Seen In World Cotton Supply: The International Cotton Advisory Committee has revised its 1983-84 world cotton production estimate to 67.49 million bales from last month's 67.2 million.

The hike is based on a further increase in China's output which is now placed at 20.7 million, up 1.1 million from a month ago. Partly offsetting the increase are lower production estimates for Pakistan, India, Russia, Australia, and Zimbabwe.

According to the National Cotton Council, the ICAC has lowered its world consumption forecast to 69 million, down 200,000 from an earlier estimate. However, this would still be record-high and 1.5 million above last season. World carryover stocks on Aug. 1 are estimated at 23.4 million

Judge's Order Unreasonable Burden On Texas Farmers

(The Lynn County Farm Bureau believes that the information in the following release from the state organization is of vital importance to all farmers and ranchers, and the Farm Bureau presents this in the public's interest.)

WACO — The president of the 300,000-member Texas Farm Bureau charged March 9 that a judge's order extending workers' compensation benefits to farm and ranch hands "stretched the court's authority to the breaking point."

"Courts are to interpret laws, not to create them," said S.M. True Jr. of Plainview.

State District Judge Harley Clark of Austin Wednesday ruled that the exemption of farm and ranch laborers from workers' compensation is unconstitutional. The order takes effect March 17.

Judge Clark's ruling giving farmers and ranchers only ten days to obtain workers' compensation insurance is "unreasonable," True said.

"Working with our county organizations, we are doing everything we can reasonably do to inform farmers and ranchers with one or more employees that they have until midnight, March 16, to purchase workers' comp insurance or face very serious liability without common law defenses in the event of a suit by an injured employee," the TFB president said.

"This certainly is not a case of ethnic or racial discrimination," True said. "Government surveys show that only about one-fourth of farmworkers are of Hispanic origin. The argument used by the plaintiffs that the law is racially biased is absurd."

True said the Texas attorney general's office has indicated it will appeal the judge's ruling.

"We do not believe the ruling will stand up under the scrutiny of higher courts," the farm leader said.

The TFB president further questioned Judge Clark's ruling that he will retain jurisdiction over all similar cases in the future.

"Such is not the role of a state district court," the farm leader said.

True said information being sent by TFB to county Farm Bureaus warns that any farm or ranch employee injured after the March 17 effective date of the ruling could claim his right to sue his employer if the employer does not carry workers' compensation insurance.

Also being pointed out, he said, is that any state-approved employer liability policy covering farm workers states that it will not pay claims of injured farm workers if they come under the workers' compensation law.

True said that attorneys reviewing the ruling have suggested that, pending the final determination of this case, "it is felt that the only safe course of action is for employers to buy workers' compensation coverage immediately."

THS Student Joins Honors Band at ACU

Tahoka High School freshman Katie Kays was a participant in William D. Revelli's high school honors band last Thursday evening at Abilene Christian University.

The 92 piece band was selected from top high school players throughout the state.

Katie was recommended by THS Band Director Mike McGhee.

Dr. Revelli, responsible for recording more American band works than any other band conductor, served as conductor and chairman of the wind instruments department from 1935 to 1971 at the University of Michigan.

He began his career in Indiana, conducting the Hobart High School Band, where he won six national championships from 1929 to 1935.

Katie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hays, played the xylophone in three of Dr. Revelli's Americanism numbers. Also she played the bass drum and cymbals each in one number.

Katie attended "An Evening With Dr. William B. Revelli," a special reception for band members.
