NOBODY ASKED the federal government to louse up everybody's telephones, but that is what they did, so far as most common folks are concerned, when they decided that it wasn't right for American Telephone & Telegraph to own the Bell systems everywhere and monopolize things, even if they were operating efficiently and keeping the rates low for the public.

What they did was fix things so that all the local telephone companies had to raise their local rates sky-high because somebody else now gets most of the money from long-distance calls, which were the most profitable and which in effect subsidized the local operations.

The telephone companies have ruptured their insides trying to explain to their customers why they have to raise local rates, all about such weird things as access charges and why you can own your own phone or rent one from them or buy one at Joe's supermarket or wherever.

Most of us liked things just like they were before the government messed things up. I don't really care whether I own the blamed phone or rent it or whether my long-distance has to go through MIC, Bell, AT&T or IRS, just so I get the party I want on the other end of the thing.

It also didn't bother me that AT&T was making all the money instead of having it spread around between 47 different companies as long as my phone rates stayed reasonable.

I remember that Ronald Reagan commented a few years back that in the 30s, a phone call across country cost about $10 and a post card sent the same distance cost a penny. Now, he noted, the same call cost about a dollar and the same postcard cost 10 cents (which it was at the time.) So, he observed, the government felt like it needed to do something about the way the Bell company was operating.

Well, they did it. I wish they hadn't.

Telephones, though, are going to be making what some view as progress in the future, according to an article in the current issue of U.S. News. Some hotshot communications consultant said that the standard telephone console would be the only computer terminal most people will need, with text and pictures viewed on a video screen attached to the phone, and data delivered via synthesized speech.

Not only that, he said automobiles will have telephones as standard equipment. Good grief. There will be no escape from the ringing monster which already won't let you take a bath or finish your meal without interruption.

I would say more, but I gotta answer the dumb phone.

Patrol Cars Damaged In Smashup Here

Tahoka Police Dept. and the Lynn County Sheriff's office both have policies of working closely with each other on calls in or near the city, but last Friday night, their operations were just a little too close.

City Patrolman Joe Rodriguez was headed south on Main seeking a driver whose vehicle had fled from the scene of a minor collision, when the city patrol car, a 1979 Plymouth, was involved in a collision at N. 7th St. as sheriff's deputy Rex Childress was coming off 7th in answer to the report of the hit-and-run.

Investigating officer Jerry Griffin of the Department of Public Safety said Childress' vision was obscured by two vehicles making a U-turn at N. 7th and Main, where young drivers commonly turn around at night while "dragging Main."

Both Childress and Rodriguez were treated for apparently minor injuries at Lynn County Hospital and released. Both patrol units were badly damaged, with the 1981 Olds driven by Childress coming off second best.

The driver being sought by the two officers did not get away for long. He was arrested in Post and charged with driving while intoxicated, police here reported.

On Wednesday morning, someone had chained an old bicycle with a radio and antenna on it in front of the police station, labeling it as "Dukes of Hazard Patrol Unit No. 2."

DPS also investigated a one-vehicle accident 10 miles west of Tahoka on U.S. 380 early Sunday. A semi-trailer truck driven by Frank Antillo of Las Vegas, N.M. overturned after the lights on the truck went out and the load shifted. The driver was not injured.

J.B. Franks of 2102 N. 7th reported to police that two tires had been slashed on his Mercury while parked in the Senior Citizens parking lot at approximately 9 p.m. on Monday.

Police investigated a backing incident at the intersection of Lockwood and Conway where Luke Dunlap of Tahoka was reportedly involved in a one-car mishap. No injuries were reported.

Tickets issued by police during the past week included one for no driver's license, one for contest of speed, one for expired license plate, and one ticket for exhibition of acceleration.

In jail during the week were one person each for disorderly conduct and driving while intoxicated.

Phebe K. Warner Study Club Meets

Mrs. Abbe received an award for her original poetry at the district meeting.

Eva Kennedy from Southwestern Public Service presented a most interesting demonstration on microwave cooking. Each club member enjoyed sampling the foods prepared.

Sixteen members and one guest were present for the meeting.

Vitamin C Tablets Linked To Dental Problems

People who munch on chewable vitamin C tablets to ward off the common cold could be damaging their teeth, says a nutritionist. Until recently, vitamin C tablets were not thought to be related to dental erosion, says Mary K. Sweeten. But the marketing of chewable vitamin C tablets containing mega-dose levels may present dental health problems, says the specialist. A recent American Dental Association report indicated that the acidic level of three 500-milligram chewable vitamin C tablets, when dissolved in distilled water, is about equal to that of stomach acid. While saliva has a certain buffering effect, it can provide only limited protection when there is daily direct contact between ascorbic acid and teeth. If you are using chewable vitamin C tablets regularly, check with a dentist for any sign of a dental problem, advises Sweeten.

Tips On Fertilizing Shade Trees

Shade trees seldom need extra fertilization when a good lawn maintenance program is followed. But when shade trees do need fertilizer, proper application is important.

Over-fertilization of trees can force excessive top growth, making them vulnerable to storm damage.

Trees rarely need fertilization more than once every three years except in extremely sandy soils and under special conditions.

The hard December freeze injured some trees, and those should receive additional nitrogen fertilizer to speed up the healing of damaged tissue. Also, trees occasionally may need extra nutrients when their roots are confined by street and curb installations and other structures.

Fertilizer recommendations are generally based on trunk diameter and make no allowance for the fact that the root zone may be confined to a small area. Thus fertilizing according to such instructions may result in over fertilization and tree damage.

The safest method of computing the amount of fertilizer to apply at any one time is to base it on the number of square feet included in the branch spread of the tree. Young recommends two pounds of actual nitrogen per 1,000 square feet of branch area per application.

When fertilizing, make several applications—one in the fall at the usual killing frost, another just before new growth starts in the spring, and a third applied as ammonium nitrate or ammonium sulfate in midsummer.

Spread fertilizer evenly beneath the branch spread of the tree and water thoroughly. Without moisture, roots cannot use the nutrients.

If the tree's root zone is confined by buildings, curbs, walks or other obstructions, base the fertilizer application on the actual root zone. Under these circumstances it may be necessary to fertilize every year to provide an adequate supply of nutrients.

New Sculpture To Be On Display At Show

The Cotton Arts and Craft Show this year is introducing a new sculpture, renewing memories of a past time. This sculpture will be on display at the Lubbock Civic Center during the Texas Cotton Ginners Convention, April 12-14.

Buster Jones, Lubbock sculptor and recipient of the 1983 Classic Award, expressed his thoughts in creating the work called "Cotton Weigh at Dusk".

"My aunt and uncle were responsible for a great part of my upbringing. They managed a small dairy and cotton farm in Arkansas. Everyone had his share of work and 12-year-old boy like me was no exception. Back in that part of the country we picked the cotton, as opposed to pulling bolls, and the measure of a good day's work was 200 pounds minimum.

"One memory really jumps out at me anytime I think back on those hard, but good old days. Having never worked harder in my life, and even as a young boy, I can still remember how every muscle in my body hurt. My last weigh of the day was three pounds short of that magic figure 200. What the heck, there was always tomorrow and besides, the sun was almost down and supper was on the stove.

"I met my uncle as I was leaving the field and proud I was of the man's day work nearly done. 'Guess how much, Uncle Tom,' I told him 197 before he could answer. He looked up at the sky and said, 'There's a little daylight left son!' I went back and got three more pounds.

"I didn't think much about it then, but I was really learning an important lesson. Don't settle for anything less than the best you can do and when you've done your best, apologize to no one...."The feeling that came with that last weigh at dusk of 200 plus was a feeling of accomplishment seldom since experienced."

The Cotton Arts and Crafts Show will also have and will welcome paintings, photography and fiber arts. A style show and demonstrations are scheduled, and also a chance to shop at the craft booths. For further information contact: JoAnn Mock, 996-5415, Rt. 2, Post, Tex. 79356.

Swine Short Course Set

Show pig production and a discussion of important factors in buying and selling boars will highlight the annual Texas A&M University Swine Short Course for producers on the High and Rolling Plains. The course will be held April 11 at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center, just east of I-27 on FM 1294, at the Shallowater exit.

Registration begins at 8:30 a.m., followed by a morning session on production, selection, marketing and feeding of show pigs.

Also to be covered will be preventive vaccination programs for show pigs, preparing show pigs for sale.

Following lunch, a panel of commercial producers and purebred breeders will discuss qualities they consider important in buying and selling boars.

FROM THE CEA'S DESK BY GREG HENLEY

4-H Bicycling Offers Fun, Adventure

With the spring season comes the yearning for the out-of-doors and exploring the beauties of nature.

That yearning goes hand in-hand with bicycling and the 4-H bicycle program has a lot to offer youngsters.

Youth who are bicycling fans or who are looking for something new in camping might combine the two pastimes and join the many thousands of 4-H ers who are already enjoying the sport of bike camping and 4-H bicycle clubs.

These young 4-H outdoorsmen have discovered a new inexpensive and pleasant way to see the country, says Greg Henley, county 4-H program coordinator. Riding a bicycle over familiar routes will undoubtedly reveal sights continually missed at 55 miles per hour in an automobile. Thanks to the bicycle's low speed, you will never notice before.

Bicycling allows a whole new panorama to flow leisurely past. From a bike's "saddle", backroads which you may have been avoiding with your car can become the most pleasant of sightseeing routes. Chances are that you will find more pleasure in a 20-mile bike ride than in a 500-mile auto trip at high speed.

So, for fun and adventure, saddle up that two-wheeler and go on a family picnic or afternoon ride, suggests Henley.

More information on the 4-H bicycle program is available at the county Extension office.

Home Computer Can

Create Insurance Needs: If you're the proud owner of a new home computer, you may need to check your current homeowner's insurance coverage, says home economist Nancy L.

Granovsky. Under a typical homeowner's policy, a computer is insured against fire, theft and lightning, just as any other appliance in the home. But if your computer is used for business purposes, such as farm or ranch management, running a home business or just doing work you bring home from your place of employment, the homeowner's policy may not cover the machine at all, she says. Also, the typical policy will not cover computer equipment damaged by an electrical surge, extremes in temperature or other perils that can damage sensitive data processing equipment.

Wally's business has expenses ... so does ours.

When Wally's milk shake business expenses are less than his sales, he earns a profit. At the end of the day, he counts his money and subtracts his costs. If his expenses for ice cream, milk, syrup, cups and straws are less than his total income from sales, he earns money. Otherwise, he loses money.

When you pay Southwestern Public Service Company for your electric service each month, you help pay the expenses of making and delivering electricity. Two-thirds of this money helps pay the expenses of running the power plants that use coal and natural gas as boiler fuel to make your electricity, and the expenses of getting the power to you. Other expenses are taxes, interest and any earnings which help build the power plants, transmission and distribution systems for your electric future and which pay stockholders and other investors for the use of their money.

Letting you know how your payment is spent is another way we're ...

County Cancer Drive 'C-Days' Set April 23-27

"Volunteers of the Lynn County Unit of the American Cancer Society will be waging a door-to-door battle against cancer during C-day(s) on April 23 through 27," declared Mrs. Kenneth Turner, chairman of the 1984 Cancer Crusade Drive.

C-days are the door-to-door aspect of the annual month-long educational and fund-raising campaign of the American Cancer Society when volunteers call on their neighbors and friends to distribute information about cancer.

"This year, trained volunteers will be carrying information on the two most common and deadly forms of cancer," said Mrs. Turner. Area chairmen this year will be: Mrs. Delbert McCleskey, Grassland; Mrs. Jimmy Bragg, West Point; Mrs. Boyd Barnes, Draw; Howard Moore, Wells and New Moore; Wendell McClendon and Connie Smith, O'Donnell business; O'Donnell Study Club, O'Donnell residential; Mrs. Pearl Davidson, Wilson; Stanley Gill, New Home; Sherry Tilley, Tahoka business; and Mrs. Kenneth Turner, Tahoka residential.

A folder offering a "Quick Test on Cancer Risks for Lung, Colon, and Rectum" will be handed out to all residents.

"This short test may help save some lives here in Lynn County," said Mrs. Turner. "The tests help people find out how lifestyles, medical history, and health habits could affect their risk of getting lung and colorectal cancer."

C-days also will provide an opportunity for people to contribute toward the support of the Society's year-round cancer control program which includes research, public and professional education, and patient services and rehabilitation.

"C-days are important to the entire community. We're urging everyone to become involved. We need enough people to make sure that every home in Lynn County is visited. Become a C-day volunteer by contacting the American Cancer Society at 998-4146," said Mrs. Turner.

Officers of the Lynn County Unit of the ACS are McClendon, president; Moore, vice president; Mrs. Davidson, secretary; Mrs. Turner, treasurer.

Chairmen are Dr. Richard White, Public Education and Medical; Mrs. Claudia Flippin, Service and Rehabilitation; Mark McAfee, Public Information; Mrs. Turner, Crusade and Memorial; and Mrs. Mark McAfee, Special Events.

Saving On Hot Water

High energy costs mean that when you turn on the hot water faucet, there may be money as well as water going down the drain. The Soap and Detergent Assn. suggests several ways that the consumption of hot water can be reduced any time a faucet is turned on whether it is for showering, hair shampooing, hand washing or the like. First, without sacrificing cleanliness or comfort, consider using cold water or cooler water temperatures whenever possible to conserve energy and costs.

Encourage family members to take quick showers instead of tub baths. In many instances, about half as much hot water can be used as in a bath.

Consider installing a device that reduces the water flow at the showerhead to save on the amount of hot water and the energy required to heat it. A flow restrictor placed in the pipe of the shower head is an inexpensive and easy-to-install unit that reduces the amount of water flow from the pipe to an adequate three to four gallons per minute.

Or there are water-saving shower heads that screw onto the shower arm. In addition to reducing the water flow, some models can cut off the spray while you soap and others have several types of spray.

Letting hot water run constantly while shampooing hair, shaving or washing hands can be wasteful. Instead, close the drain and fill the basin.

Stress to family members the importance of turning a hot water faucet or any faucet all the way off as soon as they are finished using water. Water is wasted by failing to close the tap all the way.

Repair dripping faucets and pipe leaks promptly. The Texas Department of Water Resources says that a slow drip can waste 170 gallons per day and up to 5000 gallons a month.

IN TAHOKA, WILSON MEETINGS Montford Seeks Views On School Proposals

State Sen. John T. Montford has announced he will be holding Town Hall Meetings throughout the 28th Senatorial District in order to get input and ideas from the public concerning the recent report issued by the Governor's Select Committee on Public Education. Sen. Montford will be in Tahoka at the high school auditorium Monday, April 16, at 6:30 p.m.

The Select Committee, headed by Dallas businessman H. Ross Perot, recently issued a detailed report with recommendations for changes in the public school systems in Texas.

"As a result of this Perot Committee Report, we are expecting the Governor to call the Legislature into special session to enact many of these recommendations," Sen. Montford said. "These town meetings will give me the opportunity to visit with people and get their ideas on these various changes which have been suggested. I hope everyone will make an extra effort to attend one or more of these town hall meetings in the District."

Some of the suggested changes in the public schools as recommended by the Select Committee are to add 10 days to the school year, open school to 4 year olds for an optional pre-kindergarten program, lower the compulsory age for beginning school from the current 7 years old to 5 years of age.

Other proposals include a reduction in state funding for vocational programs, a requirement that all teachers pass a basic skills test, establish a career ladder for teachers that would take them through four rungs from beginning teacher to master teacher, replace the current State Board of Education which is now elected, with an appointed board, require annual testing of all students in Texas Public Schools to measure educational progress and require all students to take a set number of academic courses and fewer electives.

"Indications are that Gov. White will call a special session to discuss these education proposals in mid-May or early June of this year. Now is the time for public response and that is the reason for these town meetings," Senator Montford said. "I would like educators, parents, school board members, taxpayers and even the students to attend and give me their views. Then when I go to Austin during special session, I will have the views of the district, the people I represent, when I make the decisions," he added.

Montford is a member of the Senate Education Committee which will be directly involved in shaping the legislation effecting public education.

The Town Hall meeting is on Monday from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. The public is encouraged to attend and express their views directly to Sen. Montford. After the meeting in Tahoka, Montford will go to Wilson, where he will conduct a similar meeting at the high school cafeteria at 8 p.m. Monday.

"I encourage you to attend any of these meetings. If you cannot be there in person, I would still like your views. You may write me at this address: Sen. John T. Montford, P.O. Box 1709, Lubbock, Texas, 79408," Montford said.

President Ulysses S. Grant was once arrested during his term of office. He was convicted of exceeding the speed limit on his horse and was fined $20.

Cotton Today

Task Force Urges Research Funding: A strong plea for expanding federal funding of agricultural research to adequate levels was voiced recently by the head of the National Cotton Council's task force on cotton research.

Robroy Fisher, Mississippi cotton producer, in testimony before the House Appropriations subcommittee noted USDA's proposed budget for fiscal 1985 calls for only a nominal increase in agricultural research despite the fact that efforts are being sharply reduced by inflation and other added costs.

Fisher also urged restoration of funding for the Extension Service's pest management and pesticide impact assessment;

Called for restoration of funds for the USDA farmer boll weevil program in the Texas High Plains and the federal-state pink bollworm program;

Urged an appropriation to allow construction to begin on a Plant Stress and Water Conservation Laboratory at Lubbock;

Stressed the need for continued funding of foreign market development programs;

'Don't Waste Electricity' Theme of New SPS Program

Southwestern Public Service Company (SPS) is redoubling efforts to help customers prevent waste of electrical energy. The SPS program supports the "State of Texas Residential Energy-Cost Control Program" announced by Gov. Mark White last week in Lubbock. Goal of the program is to help Texans control residential utility costs.

State of Texas and local government agencies, energy suppliers such as SPS, and community organizations are joining the statewide, voluntary, cooperative program. Staff members of the governor's office and of the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUCT) are coordinating the effort. The PUCT regulates electric utilities in Texas. "The most effective way to control costs of energy in a home," said Gary Gibson, SPS vice president, marketing and administration, "is to avoid waste of energy. We at Southwestern Public Service Company have always encouraged our customers to use all of the electricity they need—but not to waste it. "We're hoping that the new Texas Residential Energy-Cost Control Program will help us spotlight that message." As a compliment to the state's advertising, Gibson said, "SPS is developing special public service announcements that will offer tips on using electricity energy wisely, and on avoiding waste of energy. "We're also offering various programs on energy-cost-control. The presentations will be available to civic groups, schools, senior citizens, church groups, etc. For instance, the SPS speakers' bureau has prepared a new program on conservation. Its theme, 'Wrapping Up Your Home,' emphasizes proven methods of saving energy." SPS home economics and marketing representatives also will present informational programs on preventing waste of energy, Gibson said. Customers who see the SPS presentations will be given "energy-cost-control packets' containing "draft stoppers" that fit behind electric outlet covers and prevent air infiltration. The conservation "starter kits" also will contain shower-water 'flow restrictors', Gibson said. SPS also will offer "walk-through audits" of homes the company serves. The "walk-through audits," by either SPS personnel or volunteers from local community groups, will help residential customers identify energy-loss trouble spots in their homes. The company already offers customers extensive home energy audits, called Residential Conservation Service (RCS) audits in Texas cost $15; the "walk-through audits" will be free of charge. SPS recommends RCS audits to anyone planning extensive home remodeling. The "walk-through" energy auditor will point out ways the customer can control energy losses—and thereby, control the cost of heating or cooling a home, Gibson said. Civic groups, senior citizens groups such as RSVP, and church groups are being contacted for potential volunteers for the program, he said. SPS will train the "walk-through audit" volunteers. The company also will participate in a statewide "telephone energy-talk" program. Customers interested in energy-cost savings can dial a toll-free number, request information on a particular "energy-savings" topic then listen to a pre-recorded message. Brochures on energy savings will continue to be available in local SPS business offices, Gibson said. The company is offering the "residential energy-cost-control program" information not only to SPS customers, but also to area customers of other energy suppliers, for instance, to customers of rural electric cooperatives, Gibson said.

Scanning Social Security

Annual Report Deadline Nears

April 16, 1984 is the deadline for those who need to file an annual report of earnings with Social Security. This report is entirely different from the Income Tax return most people file with Internal Revenue Service. The purpose of this report is to determine if Social Security correctly paid you in 1983 and whether or not to pay you in 1984, and if so, how much.

If you reached age 70 in 1983, you show only the wages or self-employment income earned before the month you became age 70. The amount a person between age 62 and 65 could earn and still be entitled to benefits was $4920 in 1983. For those over 65 but not yet 70, the allowable amount was $6600. In 1984 those 62-65 can earn $5160 and those 65-70 can earn $6960 and still get all their benefits.

If a person is in doubt about how much they will earn in 1984, it is advisable to estimate high. This is to prevent them from being overpaid. Many individuals estimate their expected earnings too low and Social Security pays them based on this estimate. At the end of the year they find their earnings to be more than they estimated, thus causing them overpayment. Any overpayment must be refunded. It is a good idea for a person to keep account of their earnings and let Social Security know if it appears they may earn more than they previously estimated. The sooner you let Social Security know, the smaller the overpayment, if any, will be because when Social Security receives the revised estimate, they will adjust payments being made to a beneficiary. If it turns out that a person estimated too high on his earnings, then when an annual report for 1984 is filed, any refund will be made to the individual or applied to any outstanding overpayment that may have already existed. Experience has shown that overpayments can be eliminated if people will just keep in mind their responsibility to let Social Security know if they expect to earn more than they reported initially.

Clothing Buying Patterns-- Knowing something about the textile industry timing can help you get more for your clothing dollar, says a clothing specialist. Over a six month fashion season, consumers seem to fall into four categories: the innovators want to be first and don't worry about the price; the early majority buy merchandise at regular prices when they need it; the late majority are price-conscious and like to keep their dollars for as long as possible; and the laggards are discount-oriented and do not buy until there is a break in price. Sales are often used about the end of the third month to draw the late majority into the market. Retailers will also drop prices substantially during the last weeks of the season to attract discount-oriented buyers and clean out their inventories, she says.

(Doc) Brown, Supervising Resident Engineer, State Department of Highways and Public Transportation of Brownfield, stated today. The work area will be from U.S. 380 north to the center of the project until that area is complete. It is anticipated that the hauling and placing of base-material will be completed this month. Work is continuing on the north end to shape, finish and prepare for the surfacing treatment. If weather conditions permit, it is anticipated that the surface treatment will be placed in May.

The public is urged to watch for warning signs and haul trucks in the construction area. TUESDAY BRIDGE The winners of Tuesday night duplicate bridge March 27 were: First, Betty Taylor and Auda Norman; second, Margie Maddox and James McAllister; third, Lottie Jo Walker and Carol Maule; fourth, Maxine Edwards and Mildred LeMond.

NOTICE TO PUBLIC OF RE-EVALUATION OF ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT RECORD
City of Tahoka
1612 Lockwood
Tahoka, Texas 79737
806/998-4211

TO ALL INTERESTED AGENCIES, GROUPS AND PERSONS:
The City of Tahoka proposes to use Block Grant Funds from the U.S. Department of Community Affairs, for public facility and housing improvements in an area bounded on the north by the City Limits, on the east by Avenue B, on the south by South Tenth and on the west by the City Limits. An Environmental Review Record respecting the above projects has been made by the City of Tahoka in May, 1981, which documents the environmental review of the projects. This Environmental Review Record has been re-evaluated by the City and it has been determined that the original assessment is still valid. In February, 1984, the City submitted the 1983 application and additional streets were added to the list of streets to be paved: South 9th Street, from Avenue J to Avenue L; South 3rd Street, from Avenue O to Avenue P; South 2nd Street, from Avenue P, from South 2nd Street to South 3rd Street. This change in work does not alter the scope, location, objectives and scale of the originally approved activities and beneficiaries has not changed. Construction of these projects will not constitute an action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment. This Environmental Review Record is on file at the above address and is available for public examination and copying upon request. All interested agencies, groups and persons disagreeing with this assessment are invited to submit written comments for consideration by the City of Tahoka to the office of the City Secretary. No objections received after April 20, 1984 will be considered by the City. 14-1tc
