Man Found Guilty Of Indecency Charge

A 66-year old Tahoka man was found guilty of indecency with a child after a jury in 106th District Court Tuesday heard testimony that the man had sexually abused an 11-year-old girl who lived in the Draw community of Lynn County at the time of the offense around May 1 of last year.

The jury recommended a sentence of two years in prison for Fred Pierce of Tahoka. The jury in the court of Dist. Judge George Hansard was made up of seven women and five men. Dist. Atty. Joe Smith of Seminole prosecuted the case for the state and Paul Berlanga of Lubbock was court-appointed attorney for the defense.

The girl, who is now 12 years old and lives in Lubbock, testified that Pierce had visited her family's home on several occasions and had molested her "more than one time". She calmly but in a low voice answered the questions of the attorneys in the case. She said that Pierce was a friend of her father, who now is serving a term in state prison for sexual abuse of the child.

The jury was out for an hour and 10 minutes before returning a verdict of guilty in the case. The jurors then were charged with the responsibility of setting the penalty in the case, and after more than another hour of deliberations, returned that verdict.

The defendant showed little outward emotion upon receiving the verdict, nor when he was on the stand, denying all the charges.

The state presented testimony by deposition of Dr. Rafael Garcia, a Lubbock pediatrician and specialist in child abuse cases. He had questioned and examined the girl after she was taken from her home environment by caseworkers. One of the workers, Josephine Longoria of the Children's Protective Services, also was called by the state.

The defense called several character witnesses as well as the child's grandmother who lived in the home at the time of the offenses. The grandmother testified she never was aware of any incidents of the kind specified.

On Wednesday morning another jury in district court began hearing testimony in the case of Raul Atonislado (Rudy) Acosta Jr., 25, of Tahoka, charged with burglary with intent to commit sexual assault.

The victim of the attack last Oct. 1 testified that a man she recognized as the suspect broke into her house. She said she was awakened by a loud noise and encountered a man in the living room when she went to investigate about 4 a.m. The man put a towel around her neck and forced her to the living room floor and raped her, she said.

Testimony was continuing in the case Wednesday. Smith again was prosecuting attorney and attorney for the defense was Enrique Martinez of Lubbock.

On the night of July 2, Donald Jones of Slaton reported a burglary of a house on the county road seven miles north of Wilson. Reported missing was a 19" portable Zenith color television.

Danny Reed Terry of Lansing, Mich. walked into Tahoka Police Dept. on Monday and turned himself in for a rape he said he committed in Michigan. After contact with authorities in Lansing, Terry was placed under arrest and transported to Lynn County Sheriff's Office where he was booked and jailed. The subject was handled without any incidents.

Tahoka police also received complaints from residents about neighbors playing loud music and also investigated a couple of family disturbance calls.

CONCENTRATION--The name of the game is tennis, and C.W. Slone of Wilson is concentrating hard on the job at hand. It must have worked, since Slone and partner Dicky Faught won the men's B doubles title in the Tahoka Open last weekend. (LYNN COUNTY NEWS PHOTO)

Jones - Gaston Win Tahoka Tournament

Gary Jones of Tahoka and Dyke Gaston of Sudan played solid tennis to win the "A" doubles finals of Saturday's Tahoka Open Tennis Tournament over Lubbock brothers Mike and Dusty Earl 6-4, 7-6. The Earl brothers had previously won the event twice in the past three years.

C.W. Slone of Wilson and Ricky Faught of Brownfield paired to win the "B" doubles with a 6-0, 6-2 win over brothers Jim Thomas of Tahoka and John Thomas of Dimmitt. Slone and Faught had a much closer match in the semifinals with a three-set win over Preston Poole of Post and Dayton Parker of Tahoka.

In the women's doubles finals Staci Rodgers and Joni Lassiter of Brownfield defeated Jean Ham and Joan Panuska of Lubbock 6-2, 6-4.

Two husband and wife teams are scheduled to decide the mixed doubles winner as Gary and Juanell Jones of Tahoka were 6-1, 6-0 winners over Nick Summitt and his sister, Sherrie of Lubbock, in one semifinal and Dyke and Ann Gaston of Sudan were 6-1, 6-4 winners over Dusty and Debbie Earl in the other semifinal match.

Daron Norwood Wins Star Search Competition

DARON NORWOOD

Daron Norwood was quick to give Tahoka credit as his hometown on July 4 as he accepted applause for winning the Lubbock Star Search male vocalist championship. Daron, 18, son of Hugh Jack and Margaret Norwood, grandson of J.T. and Mary Jo Miller, warmed up the crowd with an original composition, "I Need You", from his new album, "Tahoka Is My Home." Then the young man sealed his victory with a crowd pleasing rendition of the 1983 song of the year, "Wind Beneath My Wings."

There were 80 competitors from the West Texas area. Runner-up was David McReynolds of Stanton.

When asked about his victory, Daron said, "I'm very grateful for the opportunity to have won the Star Search competition. I'm looking forward to the opportunity to have a shot at the National Star Search program. I'm also looking forward to performing in Lubbock and the West Texas area. I really appreciate everyone's support and I'm especially glad to call Tahoka my home."

Daron's new album "Tahoka is My Home" will soon be available at Hasting's in South Plains Mall. They are available in Tahoka at J.T. Miller's residence, 998-4478.

Energas Wants To Raise Rates

Energas Company has notified the 63 cities on its West Texas City Plant System, including Tahoka, Wilson, O'Donnell and New Home, that the company is filing for a 7.7 percent increase in the general service rate for natural gas service to domestic and commercial type customers, effective Aug. 10, 1984.

The average increase to a domestic customer on the basis of the proposed new rates would be 35.8 cents per thousand cubic feet (Mcf), or $3.57 for a monthly consumption of 10 Mcf.

About 186,000 general service rate customers are affected, in an area extending from Pampa, Hereford and Lubbock to Midland and Odessa. Such customers include single and multi-family dwellings, retail and service establishments, public authorities such as schools and health facilities and all other customers who are not on larger volume interruptible service contracts with the company.

Customer classes not affected by the proposed rate increase would be industrial and large air conditioning classifications.

The basis for the rate filing is a study by an independent consulting firm on the costs and revenues of the West Texas City Plant System for the calendar year ending Dec. 31, 1983. Energas says the study reflected that the cost of service exceeded the revenue at present rates by $8,914,983.

By law, Energas is entitled to recover its cost of service through its rates to customers and those costs include cost of gas purchased for distribution, operation and maintenance expenses, depreciation expenses, taxes and a rate of return on rate base.

The overall rate of return being requested by Energas in the current filing as related to a net original cost rate base is 11.63 percent.

The last rate filed by Energas for the West Texas City Plant System was in 1981 and the subsequent increase of 35.2 cents per Mcf was effective for all bills rendered on or after Dec. 15, 1981.

Energas officials claim that while the company has been able to hold cost increases to a level below general inflation rates since the last rate request, the ad valorem and miscellaneous taxes, operation and maintenance expenses, and prices for needed new equipment and plant facilities have increased above the 1981 cost levels. Cost increases, coupled with lower sales volume than anticipated in 1981, have resulted in the revenue deficit, said company officials.

Governing bodies of the 63 cities and towns in the West Texas City Plant System will be provided with additional information from Energas as supportive documentation for the company's rate increase request.

In its application to the cities to increase the general service rate, Energas has proposed an effective date of Aug. 10. However, the cities are expected to suspend the operation of the rates filed for a period not to exceed 90 days beyond this date in order to provide more time to study the filing.

"We feel the rate request is valid and that the company has demonstrated a commitment to hold costs down," said Vaughan.

County Votes Hike In Auto License Fees

County Commissioners Monday took their first look at a preliminary budget for the coming year in a work session which closed out the first regular meeting of the month.

Commissioners voted a $5 increase in license fees for vehicles in the county, effective next Jan. 1. License fees are scheduled to be increased soon anyway as a result of a bill passed last week by the state legislature, but this $5 amount will go into the county funds, while the rest of the increase, scheduled to be up to an additional $25 per vehicle in three years, will go to the state.

During the session, commissioners heard a request from Lynn County Republican Committee Chairman T.B. Mason that some Republicans be named to the precinct election officials' list for the general election. No action was taken on the item not on the agenda.

Payment of $724.96 for reserved space at the Lubbock Youth Center through Sept. 30 was approved, as was payment on carpet mats in the adult probation office. Payment of regular bills also was approved.

Also discussed were disposition of an obsolete photostat copier, use of revenue sharing money for a new courthouse roof and payment to attorneys for collection of delinquent tax money.

All commissioners and Judge J.F. Brandon were present.

WOODWORK

BY DALTON

NORMAN VINCENT PEALE publishes a little magazine called "Plus," and just trying to read it is a good test of how positive your attitude is.

It's not that the reading material is hard to understand; it is just hard to get the pages open where you can read them. It is printed in some weird way that you can't open the pages until you take a letter opener or something and separate the pages. Then when you open it up, there are two more little magazines inside it, all with front covers of their own.

He probably does this to satisfy those people who always want everything on page one. The answer is to have three front pages in each publication.

DR. PEALE has some really good ideas. Next week I may just try to write a column which has no negative thoughts, only positive ones.

If there is no column here next week, you'll know I couldn't think of anything good.

THIS TOPIC has been mentioned before in this column, but there seems to be no end of the junk mail I get, especially these envelopes that suggest you have just won a bunch of money and all you have to do is open the envelope and it's yours.

The thing that really irritates me is all the literature they send you each time. Busy people simply don't have time to read all that hogwash.

You get an envelope and on the outside it says you just won (a chance to get) $25 zillion dollars, plus two new Cadillacs, a Boeing 747 and 10,000 feet of runway and a six-month vacation in the Bahamas. You open it up and they want to sell you something. It tells you also to peel back the black label from the upper left-hand corner of the registration form, and you'll find a red star underneath; send it in and "you automatically have a chance to win an extra $24,000 cash." There's also a super bonus card to peel something from, a mile-long letter to wade through and when you've finished, you have a sore thumb and a sneaking feeling that you've been had.

I HEARD ON the boob tube the other day that a lot of Michael Jackson concert ticket envelopes were delivered somewhere the other day, only about half of the envelopes had no tickets in them. Of course, the unluckier ones got their tickets.

Maybe I shouldn't say that, since I've never heard the guy. Up to about a month ago, I thought he ran a restaurant in Post.

A Visit With Your County Agent

By Stanley Young

Along with hot temperatures, mid-summer in Texas may bring special lawn problems -- drought, weeds, insects and disease.

These lawn problems can cause concerns for homeowners unless accurate diagnosis and proper treatment takes place before they become severe.

Dry spots, thin turf and weeds can result from improper watering, fertilizing and mowing practices. Follow recommended cultural practices before applying a chemical to correct lawn problems.

Drought stress most often occurs in mid-summer and shows up as wilted, discolored turf. Adjusted watering schedules to wet the soil to a depth of four to six inches, and water only when grass shows symptoms of moisture stress.

Also, raise mower heights one-half inch to improve drought tolerance in mid-summer. Lack of nitrogen or iron often creates a lawn problem. Grass with a nitrogen deficiency may have a pale color and be heavily infested with weeds. A light application of a nitrogen fertilizer will improve the lawn's appearance.

Grass leaves that have yellow stripes parallel to the leaf margins may be deficient in iron. A foliar application of iron sulfate at six ounces per 1,000 square feet will usually solve this problem.

Leaf spot diseases are generally a problem when lawns are under stress and increase with high temperatures. Drought heavy shade and close mowing. While proper mowing and watering will reduce these problems, fungicides may be required to prevent serious damage.

Chinch bugs and white grubs feed heavily on lawns during mid-summer and their damage resembles drought injury. If turf does not respond to applications of water, suspect these insects.

Chinch bugs and white grubs can be controlled with insecticides. Water the lawn thoroughly prior to applying an insecticide for chinch bug control, and follow with a light watering. Drenching of the lawn is advised after an insecticide is applied for grub control, since grubs feed in the soil.

Spider Mites--Tiny Pests Cause Big Problems

Spider mites are tiny but they can cause big problems in home gardens.

These pests prefer tomatoes, beans and peas and do most of their damage in hot, dry weather.

Spider mites, also called red spiders, are only 1/60 inch in length and vary in color from white to green to red.

The tiny pests can build up quickly and completely engulf plants. They lay eggs on the underside of leaves, which hatch in four to five days. A complete life cycle takes three weeks, and as many as 20 overlapping generations can occur in a single year.

Mites spin a thin web which often can be seen on the underside of an infested leaf. They feed by inserting their mouthparts into the tissue and sucking juice from the plant. While feeding, they inject toxic substances into the plant.

Infestations of spider mites can be identified by tiny white spots on the underside of a leaf. Heavy infestations cause bleaching or yellowing, first along the main leaf veins

Pietz Is Lutheran Pastor

Gregory Lee Pietz was installed as pastor of St. John Lutheran Church in Wilson on July 1.

He received a Bachelor degree in Art Education from Arizona State University in December 1979 and his Master of Divinity degree from Luther Northwestern Theological Seminary of St. Paul, Minnesota in May of 1984. He was ordained at First Lutheran Church of Pomona, Calif. Sunday, June 17.

Greg and his wife, Barbara, have one son, David, 1.

and then throughout the plant. The plant may also shed buds and small fruit. Spider mites can completely defoliate a plant if not controlled.

Control of spider mites is often difficult and requires from two to four applications of insecticide at five-day intervals. Plants should be checked frequently for spider mites since the pests can build up rapidly.

Insecticides registered for controlling spider mites in gardens are diazinon, kelthane, malathion, ethion and sulfur. However, avoid using sulphur on vine plants as severe plant change could occur.

WEED CONTROL—Good rains are necessary for good crops. However, there is one bad side effect which is weeds. One effective method of treating weeds on dryland farms is to use the rope-wick or wiper. Where white weeds, johnsongrass and other plants are growing well above dryland cotton they can be easily and safely treated with a high degree of control. Several other methods can be used with equally good results. The least effective is hoeing. While it does make a field look good and provides some relief to the young crops, they will grow back in a short time. For further information, call the Soil Conservation Service in Tahoka, 989-4622.

Experiment Station Cotton Program Benefits Farmers

As cotton farmers labor from dawn to dusk, so do scientists at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (TAES) at Lubbock, who are dedicated to their research of breeding and improving cotton for the benefit of farmers and consumers.

Advancements by the Lubbock station was the perfecting of the stormproof boll. This eventually resulted in a cotton adapted to stripper type harvesting. "This is an example of the farmers and the experiment station working together," said Dr. Levon Ray, professor of emeritus of cotton breeding.

Thanksgiving day of 1926 brought one of the worst wind and sand storms ever recorded, Ray said. At that time, wind storms resulted in severe economical losses because the boll conformation of the current varieties were non-stormproof. High winds would blow the cotton out of the mature bolls and onto the ground. "H.A. Macha, a Tahoka farmer, was going through his field after the 1926 storm and found a plant in which the cotton

Farm Policy Meeting Set

The fifth in a series of U.S. Department of Agriculture "listening sessions" to discuss future food and agriculture policy will be July 19 in Dallas. The session will begin at 10 a.m. at the Ramada Hotel, 1055 Regal Row in Dallas.

It is designed to give the public an opportunity to express views to the Secretary of Agriculture and other U.S. Dept. of Agriculture policy leaders.

hadn't blown out." Macha planted seed from this plant in his garden and worked to improve the seed-cotton retention qualities of the plant for six years, Ray said. However, Macha was not satisfied with his progress and in 1934, he brought seed of this plant to the superintendent of the Lubbock experiment station, D.L. Jones.

Jones was looking for a plant having better seed-cotton retention characteristics. From this "Macha plant material" Jones developed the Macha storm proof variety which was released in the late 1930s. "This variety was the basis for all future storm-proof cotton," Ray said.

Brownsville To Host Texas 4-H Congress, July 17-19

Theme for the 1984 Texas 4-H Congress, set for July 17-19 in Brownsville, will be "4-H - Fiesta International," says Greg Henley, county Extension agent, Texas A&M University System.

More than 500 4-H delegates, their agent advisors, and members of the Texas 4-H Council which assists with the operation of 4-H Congress are expected to take part in the activity, to be headquartered at the Fort Brown Motor Hotel.

Representing Lynn County in the 4-H educational activities will be Patricia Davis of Tahoka 4-H Club.

While seminar sessions are scheduled at Jacob Brown Auditorium, adjacent to the host motel, other features of the program will include a study of the interrelationship of the U.S. and Mexico in regard to trade, and educational tour to study the shrimp industry and a boat manufacturing company near Brownsville, and the Gladys Porter Zoo in Brownsville, a source zoo for restocking other zoos around the country.

Featured speaker for the 4-H Congress will be Michael Broome of Charlotte, N.C., a humorist and futurist, who will discuss "Tomorrow's America."

Other special attractions of 4-H Congress include a chartered bus tour into Mexico to study agricultural facilities near Matamoros; a simulated air-sea rescue program coordinated by the U.S. Coast Guard just off South Padre Island, and a tour of historic homes in that area.

Texas 4-H Congress is an annual highlight of 4-H careers of many 15-to-18 year-old club members, points out Henley. It is held in different Texas cities each year to enable use of various unique educational aspects of programming.

FmHA Seminar Slated

Neal "Sox" Johnson, National Deputy Administrator of Program Operations of the Farmer's Home Administration, is among the speakers discussing the program to dispose of FmHA properties held as a result of mortgage foreclosures during a July 16 seminar to be held from 8:30 a.m.

to 3 p.m. at the Holiday Inn Casa Grande in Lubbock. The cost is $30 per person, including lunch. Registration in advance is required.

Topics include enabling legislation, program administration and implementation, and participation and special assistance from Realtors and Farm and Land Institute members. Open to the public, the seminar will interest bankers, attorneys, real estate practitioners, savings and loan executives and others involved in agricultural and commercial financing.

Museum Board Has Meeting

The Tahoka Pioneer Museum met Monday, July 9 at the museum with Harold Green, president, presiding. Reports on museum activities were given by Mable Gurley, Bill Craig and Winston Wharton. Mrs. Gurley reported that a few large items had been moved into the new annex and that a picture of Frank Hill, donated by Mrs. Hill, will be hung appropriately in the near future. She also requested possible donations of stuffed animals or birds that depict the wild-life of Lynn County.

Craig reported on the mural and that his co-artist, Robert Chennault, had a heart attack and would be unable to help for a while. The sign made by Craig for the Frank Hill Memorial Hall is installed and Green offered the appreciation of the museum board for the sign. Wharton reported that the concrete work in front of the museum would be started this week, and that work in the small garden area adjacent to the new annex, had been started. Wharton extended appreciation to the City of Tahoka for assisting in the removal of excess dirt from that project.

Approximately 75-80 persons visited the museum during the Old Settlers Reunion and Rodeo parade and were served lemonade by Madeline Hegi. The museum hostess, Annie Bell Stice, was costumed in a gown and bonnet appropriate to the "olden days". The parade entry was a horse and buggy driven by Don Dawes. Election of officers for the coming year proceeded with the new officers as follows: Harold Green, president; Mable Gurley, vice president; Lottie Jo Walker, secretary-treasurer.

Board members present for the meeting were Madeline Hegi, Harold Green, Kenneth Durham, Mel Leslie, Weesie Carroll, Bill Craig, Mable Gurley, Winston Wharton, Auda Norman and Mildred W. Abbe. Absent were Lottie Jo Walker, James F. Roberts, Maurice Huffaker and Mary Louise Louder.

The first state to allow 18 year olds to vote was Georgia.
