Three Accidents Investigated; Headset Stolen/Recovered

Tahoka police investigated three accidents and also investigated the theft of a coach's headset by juveniles during the past week.

On Saturday, Oct. 13, police investigated an accident at 1500 Harper and Ave. H that involved a 1981 Chevrolet pickup driven by Rusty W. Cook of Tahoka who reportedly struck a metal loading ramp. No injuries were reported.

A 1975 Datsun driven by Tom Watson Spears of Tahoka and a 1975 Chevrolet pickup driven by Eddie Alvarado of Tahoka were involved in an accident on Friday at Loop 472 and Harper. No injuries were reported.

Another accident was investigated on Saturday at 1000 S. 3rd and Ave. C where a 1969 Buick driven by Jose Audonio Moya of Tahoka reportedly hit a trailer house owned by Paula Pena. The mobile home was heavily damaged but Moya was not injured. He was taken into custody on charges of DWI.

Police were informed that a coach's football headset valued at $850 were stolen from the pressbox at the football stadium Friday night and also the concession stand was broken into and some candy was stolen. The headset was left in the pressbox during the night due to the cancellation of Tahoka's game because of lightning. Four juveniles were picked up by police and turned over to the Lynn County probation officer. The headset was recovered and returned to Tahoka High School undamaged.

Tickets issued during the past week include one for failure to yield right of way, one for driving without lights and no driver's license and one ticket for exhibition of acceleration.

Two persons were jailed in Lynn County Sheriff's Office during the past week; one for aggravated assault and one for driving while intoxicated.

WOODWORK

BY DALTON

THIS WEEK'S COLUMN really isn't the woodwork, but it is about woodworking. This column was written by Dave Barry for a magazine called New Shelter, and reprinted in the San Francisco Chronicle a couple of years ago. It was called "How to Make A Board" and it reflects some of my own carpentry skills. He also writes in a style similar to my own, except that he no doubt gets paid better. Here is the column:

Most of what I know about carpentry, which is almost nothing, I learned in shop.

I took shop during the Eisenhower administration, when boys took shop and girls took home economics — a code name for "cooking". Schools are not allowed to separate boys and girls like that any more.

They're also not allowed to put students' heads in vices and tighten them, which is what our shop teacher, Mr. Schmidt, did to Ronnie Miller in the fifth grade when Ronnie used a chisel when he should have used a screwdriver. (Mr. Schmidt had strong feelings about how to use tools properly.) I guess he shouldn't have put Ronnie's head in the vise, but it (Ronnie's head) was no great prize to begin with, and you can bet Ronnie never confused chisels and screwdrivers in later life. Assuming he made it to later life.

Under Mr. Schmidt's guidance, we hammered out hundreds of the ugliest and most useless objects the human mind can conceive of.

I regret today that I didn't take more shop in high school, because while I have never once used anything I know about the cosine and the tangent, I have used my shop skills to make many useful objects for my home. For example, I recently made a board.

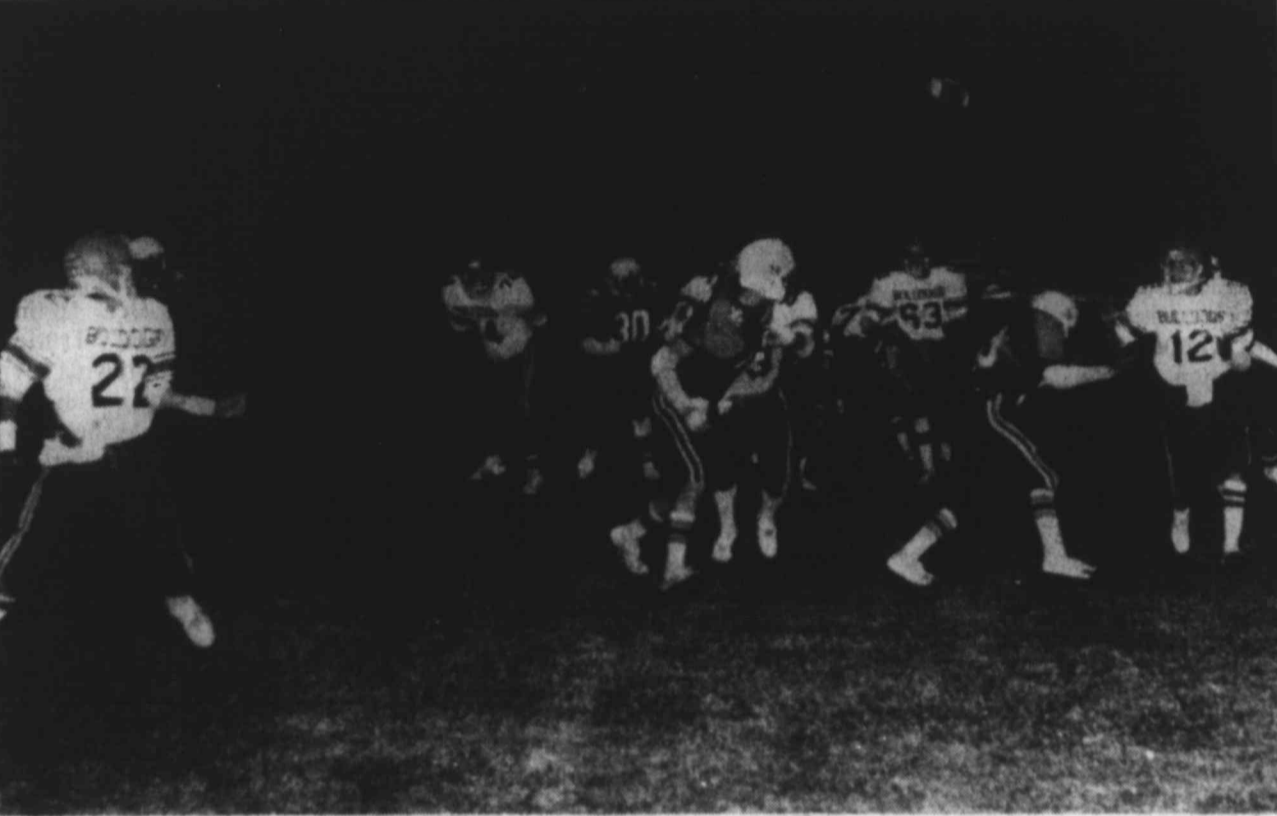

I use my board in many ways. I stand on it when I have to get socks out of the dryer and water has been standing in our basement around the dryer for a few days.

I also use my board to squash spiders. (All spiders are deadly killers. Don't believe any of the stuff you read in National Geographic.) Generally, after I squash a spider, I leave the board in the water for a few days, spider-side down, to wash it off, assuming the scum isn't too bad.

If you'd like to make a board, you'll need:

Materials: A board, paint.

Tools: A chisel, a handgun. Get your board at a lumber yard, but be prepared. Lumber-yards reek of lunacy. They use a system of measurement that dates back to Colonial times, when people had brains the size of M&Ms. When they tell you a board is a "two-by-four", they mean it is not two inches by four inches. Likewise, a "one-by-six" is not one by six inches. So if you know what size

JERRY'S OPEN — Junior halfback Jerry Alvarado of Tahoka is about to receive a pass from quarterback Trey Teaff, also a Junior, during Friday night's district game against the Plains Cowboys. The Bulldogs came close but lost by a score of 19-12.

Bulldogs Lose No. 7 To Plains

The Tahoka Bulldogs found some offense, but lost another football game, Friday night, 19-12, to the Plains Cowboys, who have now won 3 games and lost 4, while Tahoka is 0-7 for the year.

The Bulldogs will host New Deal here Friday night. New Deal last Friday lost 26-0 to Seagraves.

In other district action last week, Morton beat Shallowater.

Tailback Billy Curtis of Plains ran 46 yards for a touchdown in the first quarter and later in that period, Cowboys QB Shane McMinn passed 19 yards to Jim Baum for a TD. There was no scoring in the second period, and Plains led 13-0 at halftime.

In the second half, Tahoka narrowed the gap when Johnny Morin ran 3 yards for a TD, with the try for 2 points failing. Plains came back to score on a 15-yard run by Curtis, who gained 242 yards rushing in the game.

Tahoka scored again the last quarter on a 3-yard run by halfback Jerry Alvarado.

The Bulldogs rushed for 206 yards and had 117 yards passing for a total of 323 yards. Tahoka completed 7 of 23 with 6 interceptions and punted once for 38 yards.

Morin had 27 carries for 101 yards and two touchdowns. Alvarado had eleven carries for 75 yards followed by Norwood with seven carries for 26 yards.

Sean Todd and Kevin Bailey stood out defensively for Tahoka with 11 tackles each.

On Thursday night the Tahoka JV team played Plains and came out with a 46-0 victory.

board you want, tell the lumberperson you want some other size.

You should paint your board so people will know it's a home carpentry project, as opposed to a mere board. I suggest you use a darkish color, something along the lines of spider guts. Use your chisel to open the paint can. Have your gun ready in case Mr. Schmidt is lurking around.

Once you've finished your board, you can move on to a more advanced project, such as a harpsichord.

But if you're really going to get into home carpentry, you should have a home workshop. You will find that your workshop is very useful as a place to store lawn sprinklers and objects you intend to fix sometime before you die. My wife and I have worked out a simple eight-step procedure for deciding which objects to store in my home workshop:

1. My wife tells me an object is broken. For instance, she may say, "The lamp on my bedside table doesn't work."

2. I wait several months, in case my wife is mistaken.

3. My wife notifies me she is not mistaken. "The lamp on my bedside table still doesn't work," she says.

4. I conduct a preliminary investigation. In the case of the lamp, I flick the switch and note that the lamp doesn't go on. "You're right," I tell my wife. "That lamp doesn't work."

5. I wait six to 19 months, hoping that God will fix the lamp, or the Russians will attack us and the entire world will be a glowing heap of radioactive slag and nobody will care about the lamp anymore.

6. My wife then alerts me that the lamp still doesn't work. "The lamp still doesn't work," she says, sometimes

Don't Forget To Set Your Clocks
Back 1 Hour
at 2:00 a.m. Sunday

The time changes at 2:00 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 28 to Standard Time. Don't forget to set your clocks back one hour before retiring Saturday night (or you may get to church before the preacher does on Sunday morning).

late at night.

7. I try to repair the lamp on the spot. Usually, I look for a likely trouble spot and whack it with a blunt instrument. This often works on lamps. It rarely works on microwave ovens.

8. If the on-the-spot repair doesn't work, I say: "I'll have to take this lamp down to the home workshop." This is my way of telling my wife she should get another lamp if she has any short term plans — say, to do any reading in bed.

If you follow this procedure, after a few years you will have a great many broken objects in your home workshop. In the interim, however, it will look barren. This is why you need tools. To give your shop an attractive, nonbarren appearance, you should get several thousand dollars' worth of tools and hang them from pegboards in a graceful display.

Basically, there are four kinds of tools:

Tools You Can Hit Yourself With (hammers, axes).

Tools You Can Cut Yourself With (saws, knives, hoes).

Tools You Can Stab Yourself With (screwdrivers, chisels).

Tools That, If Dropped Just Right, Can Penetrate Your Foot (awls).

I have a radial arm saw, which is like any other saw except that it has a blade that spins at several billions revolutions per second and therefore can sever your average arm in a trice. When I operate my radial arm saw, I use a safety procedure that was developed by X-ray machine technicians: I leave the room.

I turn off all the power in the house, leave a piece of wood near the saw, scurry to a safe distance, and turn the power back on. That is how I made my board.

Once you get the hang of using your tools, you'll make all kinds of projects. Here are some other ones I've made:

A length of rope.
Wood with nails in it.
Sawdust.

If you'd like plans for any of these projects, just drop some money in an envelope and send it to me.

Tahoka Museum Receives Items

The 1984 Homecoming brought a few acquisitions to the Tahoka Pioneer Museum from Florence King Smith of Spokane, Wash. and Kathleen King Holtwick of Longmont, Colo. A large oil painting of the home of the Reuben Lee King family, painted by Florence King Smith, depicts a lovely home, a windmill and outbuildings and the typical sandy yard, that once stood at the northwest corner of the Brownfield Highway and Ave. P. This house burned on June 4, 1931, but there is another home in Tahoka that is just like it; also a beautiful quilt that Mrs. Smith said belonged to her dad, Reuben Lee King, and was made by his mother, Florence Harris King, probably around 1900, and a very fashionable dress of the 1920s that had been worn by Mrs. R.L. King. Kathleen King Holtwick sent a 1938 annual called the SKY-LINE, from Tahoka schools, it will bring many memories of the individuals and activities to Tahokans.

Thelma Sherrod was volunteer hostess at the museum for the homecoming and fall festival.

The Oct. 15 board meeting brought a progress report on the small garden area from Winston Wharton. He indicated that more poles were needed to complete the fence and that a work night should be scheduled to complete the brick walkway. A new refrigerator was installed and ice trays are needed for it. The City of Tahoka, under the guidance of Carl Reynolds, dug the trench for the pole fence.

To clarify possible disposition of items on loan to the museum, Mildred Abbe reported that she had been advised that a clause be added to the acquisition sheets covering this problem by having the donor designate a person to receive the items, and if no one was designated, the items would revert to the museum.

It was suggested that board members visit other museums and bring back ideas on how best to expand the local displays. Reproduction of some of the items on display, such as dolls, was considered, and also the display of private collections of Tahokans for a short period of time will be promoted in the near future.

All board members, with the exception of Bill Craig, were present.

SEN. JOHN MONTFORD STAYS WITH THE JOB.

Sen. John Montford Stays with the Job Until It's Done!

Last year Sen. John Montford faced a choice. He could have run for Congress as many urged him to do ... or he could have stayed put in the Texas Senate.

John Montford chose to stay put in Texas so he could be close to the voters and continue to fight for West Texas in Austin. JOHN MONTFORD DOESN'T WALK AWAY FROM UNFINISHED BUSINESS ... AND A WORKABLE WATER PLAN IS JUST ONE PIECE OF UNFINISHED BUSINESS IN AUSTIN.

Home Economics In The '80s

BY TAMERA OVERCAST

Beware Of Child Safety Seat Bargains

Parents who feel that they cannot afford the $30 - $40 cost of a new child safety seat may be tempted to search the garage sales and want ads looking for a bargain.

The recent passage of the Child Safety Seat Law by the Texas Legislature now requires the use of child restraints for transporting children younger than four years old.

"But a used child safety seat that could be defective is no bargain," says Tamara Overcast, County Extension Agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Parents need to shop very carefully to avoid buying a defective used seat which can endanger the life of their child if they are involved in an accident.

The first test of a child restraint device is whether it has a label stating that it "meets or exceeds all federal safety standards."

Beginning in 1981, the federal standard governing child safety seats required crash testing of the devices to insure their safety. All seats that meet the standard can be considered good ones.

Some car seats manufactured prior to 1981 meet these requirements, while others do not. Many seats now on the used market were made before 1981, so parents should always look for that label.

In addition to the federal safety label, parents should look for the following defects in used child restraint devices.

Check the harness to see if it is torn at any point. A torn belt system can be easily repaired on most safety seats with replacements ordered from the manufacturer.

Also examine the padding to see if it is torn. If so, it should be replaced with new padding from the manufacturer.

A child restraint system with these defects will not adequately protect a child until the belt system and padding are replaced. Parents should not purchase a used seat with these problems unless they actually intend to repair them.

If the device has a metal frame, check to see if it rattles. Ask the owner if you may tighten the screws on the frame. If the frame is still loose after tightening, do not buy it.

Also, check the seat bars. If they are twisted or bent, do not buy the seat, since full protection cannot be guaranteed.

The manufacturer's directions for using the safety seat should be provided by the owner. Most seats made after 1981 have a place on the seat to store instructions. For effective use of the seat, parents must carefully follow the manufacturer's instructions.

Finally, try the seat in your car before buying. Certain types of safety belts may cause installation problems. Bulky seat-belt buckles, for example, will not fit through the belt slots on some safety seats.

When it comes to the safety of our children a 'bargain' may not be the best buy.

Simply using a child restraint device is not enough. Parents must also make sure that the device itself is safe and used properly in order to protect their children from injury or death in an accident.

Lynn County Extension Home-maker Council sponsors an infant seat rental program. The safety seats are for babies up to 17 pounds. The seats rent for $1 per month and a $5 deposit.

For more information contact County Extension Agent Tamara Overcast, 998-4650 or Donna Willis, Extension Homemaker Council President, 998-4495.

While there, they spent approximately 30 minutes elk hunting. They were caught in a snowstorm while high in the mountains, had to abandon part of their gear, and lost one of their horses when his foot slipped and he fell into a gully. For more information on elk hunting, feel free to contact the hunters.

FALL BRINGS COLORED LEAVES-- A quiet revolution takes place every fall. Slowly but surely, leaves of trees and shrubs become a riot of red, purple, orange and yellow for a spectacular fall display. It's all tied to chemical processes in leaves as the summer season gives way to fall and the approaching winter, notes a forestry specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Changes in temperatures and daylight hours cause the chlorophyll--the green pigment in leaves--to break down, allowing other pigments, mainly yellows and oranges, to become more visible. Leaf colors can vary due to weather conditions and the amount of pigments in leaves.

JAMIE NEWSOM

Scanning Social Security

Note Survivors Protection
People planning their family insurance protection should be sure to figure in the value of their Social Security survivors benefits. The program provides partial replacement of the earnings lost because of death of the working member of the household for the surviving members of the family.

Among those who may qualify for benefits are:

*Unmarried child under 18, or at any age if disabled before age 22.

*Widow or widower or surviving divorced spouse age 60.

*Disabled widow and widower or disabled surviving divorced spouse age 50.

*Dependent surviving parent age 62.

*Widow, widower or divorced spouse at any age with surviving child under 16 or disabled in his or her care.

An aged or disabled surviving divorced spouse can get benefit if the marriage to the deceased worker lasted 10 years or more. Retroactive benefits may be paid in certain cases where a person does not apply for survivors benefits when he or she first becomes eligible. However, such back benefits are generally limited to 6 months. And people under age 65 cannot get back benefits if such benefits would result in a permanent reduction of benefit amount.

A lump-sum benefit of $255 is payable on the average earnings of the wage earner over his or her working life. The average benefit currently being paid to a young surviving family, including a nonworking spouse with two children in his or her care, is $953. The average benefit for an aged widow or widower is $399.

People who need additional information on survivors benefits should be sure to call the Social Security Office.

WIND STRIPS OF WHEAT need to be seeded now so good growth may be obtained before the blow season starts. Personnel of the Soil Conservation Service documented that 148,000 acres of good Lynn County soil was damaged by wind erosion from November 1983 to May 1, 1984. A good practice that works, according to the service, is to seed strips of wheat on terraces, turnrows and field borders. The object is to get something to grow on any area that has no cover at this time. A light seeding of wheat can be blown on now and plowed out or killed with chemicals in mid February. A Herd seeder can be used to seed strips in any field. For good wind control, let sudan or grain sorghum stalks stand.

Farm Debt Restructuring Meetings to Begin Soon

A farm debt restructuring program for farmers experiencing severe financial difficulty can be in operation in most areas of Texas next week. J. Lynn Futch, State Director for the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) said. Debt restructuring is a key part of the farm credit initiatives announced by President Reagan on Sept. 18. Under the program, FmHA can set aside up to 25 percent or 1200,000, whichever is less, of an FmHA borrower's debt for five years without interest. For a non-FmHA borrower, the agency can guarantee part of a new loan if the lender will write off a minimum of 10 percent of the existing debt. In both cases, the goal is to restore the borrower to a positive cash flow situation. Borrowers will begin receiving letters in a few days asking them to contact the FmHA County Office about an appointment to review their loan, the first step in the restructuring process.

High Plains Cotton Harvest Begins

The 1984 cotton harvest on the Texas High Plains began in late September where harvest-aid chemicals had been used, according to Mack Bennett, Area Director for USDA's Marketing Services Office in Lubbock. Earliest harvesting stalled when generally light showers fell across the High Plains last week. Machine harvesting resumed early this week as fields dried. The main surge of field activity should begin after a general killing freeze, Bennett continued.

The Marketing Services Office at Lubbock had classed 2,560 samples this season through last Thursday. This compares with about 22,500 classed by the same date last year. Predominant grades for the season to date were grade 31 at 18 percent, grade 41 accounted for 22 percent, grade 32 was 20 percent and grade 42 amounted to 23 percent. About 2 percent was reduced one grade because of bark. Predominant staples were staple 31 at 20 percent, staple 32 amounted to 27 percent, staple 33 accounted for 23 percent and staple 34 was 15 percent. The staples averaged 32.5 thirty-seconds of an inch. Micronaire 35-49 accounted for 53 percent, 33-34 was 17 percent, 30-32 amounted to 19 percent and 27-29 was 8 percent for an average of 35. High Volume Instrument Breaking strength at Lubbock averaged 23.6 grams per tex for the season. Spot quotations at Lubbock moved up 75 to 150 points on Thursday. Grade 41, staple 34, mike 35-49 was quoted at 60.45 cents per pound or 525 points over 1984 Commodity Credit loan rates. Grade 32, staple 32 was quoted at 58.35 or 900 over. Grade 42, staple 32 was 56.70 or 900 over loan also. Trading of new-crop so far this season has been slow to inactive. Prices paid farmers for cottonseed at gins have not yet been established.

CCI Budget Approved: The U.S. Department of Agriculture Foreign Agricultural Service has approved Cotton Council International's program and budget of $5.5 million for fiscal 1985. CCI is the overseas arm of the National Cotton Council.

Plans call for CCI programs to be conducted in 43 countries, including 12 in the Far East, 24 in eastern and western Europe and Africa, and seven in North and South America.

Major activities will include cooperative advertising, material development, orientations, trade teams, Maid of Cotton promotions, market research, and operations in Brussels, Hong Kong, and Montreal.

New Cotton Textile Conference Slated: The National Cotton Council will conduct a special conference on cotton textile processing Jan. 7-8 in conjunction with the Beltwide Cotton Conferences at the Marriott Hotel in New Orleans.

On the agenda is a session on fiber assessment and instrumentation that will include updates on techniques for measure ment of maturity, dyeability, and neps. Other sessions will cover yarn and fabric formation and dyeing and finishing. Reports will be given on application of durable press finishes, assessment of formaldehyde release, foam sizing, package dyeing of cotton yarns, and cold pad-batch dyeing of knits.

On the same dates, the Beltwide conference also will feature a special cotton dust conference for the ninth consecutive year. It will include reports on research aimed at finding the active agent or agents in cotton dust and how they may cause respiratory ailments.

Also scheduled are a special session on dust control in U.S. textile mills, a review of OSHA's current rulemaking on cotton dust, and reports by medical experts on recent epidemiologic studies of byssinosis in the U.S. and the United Kingdom.

Dr. Phil Wakelyn, the Council's manager of safety and environmental technology, and Dr. Robert Jacobs, Cotton Incorporated's manager of environmental health and safety research, are co-chairmen of the dust conference.
