WOODWORK

BY DALTON

HAVING just spent eight days in the New England area, including the states of Pennsylvania, Maryland, New York and the nation's capital city, I now have some new ideas of what those places are like. Some of my preconceived notions of what those Yankee places would be like have changed somewhat after visiting them for the first time. Here are some of my impressions:

It takes forever to drive anywhere, especially if you're a stranger and if you're trying to drive at night...the traffic in and around the major cities is terrible, and it's pretty bad in the lesser cities and even out in the country. My brother-in-law, who was one of our gracious hosts on the trip, said that after he moved from Lubbock earlier this year to Pennsylvania, he discovered that "no matter where you go, even out on a country road, there's another car right on your back bumper."

Driving in Washington, D.C., deserves a paragraph of its own. There are few roads going north, south, east or west; each road goes all of these directions, like individual noodles in a can of spaghetti. We got lost several times in D.C., and the first night there, trying to get out of town, we spent more than two hours driving around in circles trying to escape. We had maps and instructions, but the signs are wierd, or too small to see at night, or non-existent. For example, the map calls a road the "George Washington Parkway" and the signs supposed to tell you where it is simply say "Parkway" and there are other parkways around. And the loop around the city is labeled 495 or some such, but the natives refer to it as the "beltway," probably because by the time you find it, you're ready to belt somebody.

We passed the Jefferson

Memorial three times trying to find our way back across the Potomac.

We should elect only those people to Congress who can demonstrate they can drive around the capital without getting lost. Then we'll know they're smart enough to handle anything.

Poor directions are not limited to D.C. Throughout Pennsylvania and Baltimore, the signs are not plain enough or frequent enough to help the stranger. An example was in Pennsylvania where we saw the oldest covered bridge in the nation, by following directions in a brochure, but near the actual site itself were no signs promoting it.

All the towns, large or small, feature very old, two-story-and-basement homes, usually very well kept and attractive, but tough on folks who have problems with stairs. Also, all the towns have narrow streets, and at this time of the year, lots of leaves all over the yards.

The people we came into contact with, especially in Pennsylvania, were a lot nicer and friendlier than I expected. Pennsylvania, the state of New York, and Maryland are beautiful places (for some reason I had anticipated ugly houses surrounded by coal dust and dead fish).

People in the north are more patriotic than we are; or at least, they put more emphasis on showing evidences of it...They also make a lot bigger thing out of Halloween than we do. Homes everywhere were already decorated with witches and goblins and major festivals, parades, parties and celebrations were mentioned in the newspapers...There are joggers everywhere, especially in the larger cities, on the streets, around the lakes, both men and women. Many of them had plugs stuck in their ears, attached to little cassette players. No matter how hard

Theft Of TV Is Reported

Ricky Yowell of 1810 4th St. in Wilson reported to Tahoka police on Tuesday that someone had broken into his residence and had stolen his television. Nothing else was noticed missing at the time.

George Ramon of 1401 Ave. K. reported that someone has taken a two-three week old black Huskie puppy from his backyard on Monday.

Police investigated an accident on Monday at the intersection of U.S. Highway 380 and East Access Road on U.S. Highway 87 that involved a 1974 Plymouth driven by Melenda Northcut Steele of Lubbock and a 1983 Ford pickup driven by Walter West Gurley of Tahoka. No injuries were reported.

Police also answered several family disturbance calls and one report of "loud neighbors" partying and keeping people awake late at night.

One person was put into county jail during the week, on a charge of aggravated assault with a deadly weapon.

Saturday Turkeywalk To Boost Heart Fund

The Annual Turkeywalk sponsored by the Lynn County Division of the American Heart Association is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 10, at 10 a.m. The course for the walk, which covers one mile, starts and finishes at the Mini-Park.

"So many people are affected by heart disease, either personally or within their immediate families," said Linda Tyler, chairperson of this year's Turkeywalk. "Events like the Turkeywalk either as a walker or as a walk give all of us a chance to get involved and to do something about this number one killer in Texas."

Everyone is welcome to participate in the Turkeywalk, either as a walker or as a sponsor. All interested walkers have to do is show up at the Mini-Park, Nov.

Baby Pageant On Dec. 8 To Aid Newsom Family

Anyway, I have a kinder view of the north than before. It's fine country and fine folks, although I still would rather live here.

Voters To Provide Verdict Tuesday

The talk will stop (or at least slow down for a day or two) Tuesday and voters in Lynn County will join others throughout the nation in making the decisions about who will represent them in government from the county and state level all the way to the President of the United States.

Other than for the race between incumbent Ronald Reagan and Democratic challenger Walter Mondale for the presidency, there are five races on the ballot in Lynn County listing both Republican and Democratic candidates.

State Sen. John Montford of Lubbock, the Democratic incumbent, is opposed by Sol O. Thomas, Republican, also Lubbock attorney.

Democrat Lloyd Doggett of Austin, a liberal candidate who barely beat out conservative Kent Hance of Lubbock for the nomination, will face Republican Phil Gramm, a former Democrat who switched teams.

The other candidates for the contested offices, with the Democrat listed first, are:

Railroad commissioner, Mack Wallace and John Thomas Henderson.

Judge, Court of Criminal Appeals, Place 1, Sam Houston Clinton and Virgil E. Mulanax.

Unopposed on the county ballot are several county officials, including the nominees for commissioners of three precincts.

Also on the ballot are the usual proposed Constitutional amendments, eight of them this time. Briefly they are:

No. 1--To provide statebanks the same rights as national banks.

No. 2--To create a special fund for construction on university campuses and make more universities eligible to get money from the Permanent University Fund.

No. 3--To allow payments of assistance to surviving family members of some public servants killed while on duty.

No. 4--To abolish the office of county treasurer in Bexar and Collin counties.

No. 5--Allowing the state senate to fill a vacancy in the office of lieutenant governor.

No. 6--To permit use of public funds on certain insurance contracts of mutual insurance companies.

No. 7--Related to authority to discipline judges.

No. 8--To change the per diem for legislators.

Proposed Pesticide Rules Draw Fire

The president of the state's largest farm organization Friday called proposed state pesticide regulations "unnecessary, unreasonable, and unworkable."

S.M. True, a Plainview cotton and grain farmer, said existing state and federal regulations on pesticides give adequate protection.

Farm Bureau policy on the subject reads in part, "Regulations governing application of agricultural chemicals must be workable and effective, and should always be accompanied by an economic impact statement proving that they will solve more problems than they create."

True said that the proposals announced Oct. 19 by the Texas Department of Agriculture are "ambiguous" and contain "a number of traps for the unwary farmer or rancher."

"They (the proposals) appear to have been drafted by individuals without a working knowledge of agriculture, or by someone intent on multiplying the problems of farmers and ranchers," True said. "Some one wishing to harass a farmer will find happy hunting in the requirements of these regulations."

True discounted the claim by the TDA that farmers had input in the regulations which the Department has been developing for the past year.

True said that the Texas Farm Bureau, representing 313,000 member families, found out about the proposals "by accident" in August.

On Sept. 20 TFB met with leaders of 20 agricultural groups to discuss the proposals.

"Only three of these organizations knew that TDA was developing these regulations," True said.

"It is a fact that the Department did not make its plans known to agriculture until after we discovered what was being proposed, and only then because members of the Legislature requested that TDA talk to us," the Farm Bureau leader said.

True said a public statement by Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower concerning pesticides "raises the question of Mr. Hightower's motives for these regulations."

He said Hightower was quoted in The Dallas Morning News earlier this year as saying "the weaning of Texas Agriculture from chemicals" is a high priority of his administration.

"Careful use of pesticides keeps the consumer's food supply safe from rot, worms and rodents," True said. "Con-to Jaime made it difficult to concentrate on my work...I have the highest regard for the hospital and the people out there," Mrs. Newsom said.

Categories for the entrants in the baby pageant are 1-6 months; 6-11 months; 1-2 years and 3-4 years. Entry fee is $2. Contestants must register by Nov. 9.

There will be a first place beauty winner in each division. Prince, Princess, Personality Plus, Dimpled Darling and Dumpling Dandy awards will also be given. Trophies and ribbons will be given in all categories.

For more information or to enter the contest, call 998-5023 or write Baby Pageant, Attn. Jerry Beth McKibben, Box 1322, Tahoka, TX 79373.

A rummage sale will be held at the United Pentecostal Church, 1120 Ave. J. in Tahoka beginning Thursday, Nov. 1.

Saturday, Nov. 3, at 8 p.m. the Story Brothers band of Muleshoe will stage a western musical in the Muleshoe High School auditorium. There is no admission charge but donations for Jaime will be accepted.

THS Students Take PSAT/NMSQT Tests

Twenty-seven Tahoka students took the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT) on Tuesday, Oct. 23.

"Students take the PSAT/NMSQT for several reasons," said Miss Molly Helmlinger, Tahoka's counselor. "The PSAT/NMSQT is the qualifying exam for students wishing to participate in competitions of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. Students also can find out, by taking the test, how they rank among their peers in other parts of the country."

The test also provides an opportunity to become familiar with types of questions similar to those on the Scholastic Aptitude Test, which many college-bound students take. In addition, the test is the first step in qualifying for the National Hispanic Scholar Awards Program and the National Achievement Scholarship Program for outstanding Negro students.

Before taking the test, students receive a student bulletin containing a complete practice test with an answer key and scoring instructions. After the test, they receive another booklet, that helps them to interpret their results and plan for college.

"I was very pleased with the number of Tahoka students that took the test. These students are making an effort to prepare for college early and that is super. One needs to begin planning now for post-secondary schooling and not wait until the spring of their senior year," states Miss Helmlinger.

Soapy Solution to Pest Problems

During the upcoming months, gardeners turn their energies indoors where houseplants provide rooms with leafy greenery. But as with exterior plants, indoor gardens can also become infested with insect populations which can destroy lush foliage.

The most common houseplant pests are aphids, whitefly, mealy bugs, soft scales, thrips and spider mites. The key to avoiding plant damage is to prevent populations of these pests from building up.

How can you get rid of these harmful insects without harming your plants, and more importantly, without exposing your family and pets to harsh chemicals?

There is an alternative to petrochemical insecticides approved by the Environmental Protection Agency. The alternative comes in a familiar form - soap. Insecticidal Soap - to be exact.

Pure soaps are made from fatty acids that occur naturally in the cells of all living things... thus form a part of our daily diet. There are hundreds of varieties of fatty acids, but research conducted by Safer Agro-Chem Inc. found that specific combinations of fatty acids are lethal to certain insects.

Based on these findings, Insecticidal Soap was developed, a highly specialized soap made from 100% natural substances which control many types of harmful insects on almost all types of plants. It is non-toxic to humans and pets, leaves no harmful residue and has no harsh chemical odor. Unlike cleaning soaps, Safer's product is not a random mixture of compounds that may injure plants. Thus, it not only controls pests but keeps plants clean and healthy.

Plants are a welcome addition to any indoor environment, but care should be taken year round to insure lush, healthy foliage free from harmful insects.

For further information on Insecticidal Soap, contact Safer Agro-Chem, Inc., 728 Center Street, Box 550, Lewiston New York, 14092.

DID YOU KNOW?

By James H. McNeal
President & CEO
The Budd Company

Here are a few facts about trucking that might just haul some people up short. For instance, did you know:

• A loaded 18-wheel tractor-semi-trailer combination truck and a 115-pound woman wearing high heeled shoes both exert the same pressure per square inch—about 65 pounds. The truck spreads its weight on some 53 square inches on each of its 18 wheels, while the lady with the high heels concentrates the 65 pounds into one square inch at point of impact. It is this "spread the load" concept which governs truck weight regulation in the United States.

The big truck, and the little lady exert about 65 pounds per square inch on the ground below them.

• The trucking industry employs seven million people; drivers to warehousemen, mechanics, computer operators and systems analysts, dispatchers, dock workers, salesmen, rate clerks, terminal foremen, service managers, claims clerks, safety directors, accountants and upper management.

In 1971 the Maurice Bray Scholarship was established and Frank Barham received the first award. Several continuing scholarships have also been given.

The recipients in 1983 were Sheila Crawford, who is now attending South Plains College, and Steve Pierce, who is attending the University of Texas at Austin.

The project committee members for this year are: Mrs. Ray Adams, Mrs. Gene Ingle and Mrs. Robert Warren. This committee along with Phebe K. Warner members, urges citizens to be a part of this project. Eliminate the time and expense of sending Christmas cards in Tahoka.

LOCAL NEWS

Visitors in the Ava Lichey home over the weekend were her son-in-law, Don Boggus of Corpus Christi, Roddy Boggus and Marty Huntington, students at Texas Tech. The group attended Sunday services at Wilson First Baptist Church where Mary Lou Boggus sang a special song.

G.W. "Buddy" Hickerson, a former resident, underwent surgery at Scott White in Temple Oct. 1. He is recuperating at his home in Tyler.

The loudest noise created in a laboratory is 219 decibels or 400,000 acoustic watts, reported by NASA in October 1965. The noise came from a 48-foot steel and concrete horn at Huntsville, Alabama. Holes can be bored in solid material by this means.

Reduction noise levels for the residents of communities surrounding airports is the goal of an extensive pilot-awariness program, sponsored by the National Business Aircraft Association (NBAA). Pilots are encouraged to use techniques especially on approach and takeoff, such as avoiding low flying around populated areas near airports whenever possible, or cutting back on power when flying over noise sensitive areas--flying techniques that can make a real difference in the amount of aircraft sounds people on the ground can hear. It's a program that's helping many Americans enjoy the benefits airports bring to their areas--more jobs and better business--with far less noisy interference.

Travelers and consumers may each benefit from some recent experiments conducted under railroad tracks. The experiments tested the use of Hot Mix Asphalt as a base for railroad trackbeds. The tests showed asphalt offers a more secure, lower-maintenance alternative to the traditional ballast-type construction, as well as permitting heavier-loaded rail cars.

Railroads are also becoming Hot Mix Asphalt customers for the paving of transfer terminals for piggyback traffic. As piggyback (truck trailer) traffic increases on the railroads, large paved areas are needed for the storage and movement of trailers into and out of the terminals.

New Gasoline Helps Older Cars

Drivers and automotive experts alike have long recognized the primary reason automobiles knock. It's that their engines need more octane than they are getting.

Most new cars run on regular unleaded gasoline without problems. But as mileage and engine deposits build up, that now-older car begins to call for fuel with increased octane. The signal? Engine knocking.

Now, a unique new gasoline has been patented. It reduces the critical engine intake deposits that can cause knocking. Tests show, the longer it's used, the better the results for the engine.

The scientists at Shell who developed this new fuel are so enthusiastic about the product they're calling it their new Gold Standard. The public may know it more familiarly as SU 2000™, the gasoline that's one of the highest octane super unleaded on the market. It removes the critical intake deposits that can cause engine knock. That results in lower octane requirements.

They're also finding that as cars age, if they've been using this new gas, they don't have to constantly increase octane levels to keep from knocking.

In these older cars, the gas inhibits the buildup of intake port deposits. It also helps reduce existing deposits. That helps engines run more efficiently and can do away with annoying engine knock.

Those are some very good reasons for counting our blessings as drivers.

Wet Weather Slows Harvest

Wet weather held cotton harvesting at a very slow pace. Generally cloudy skies kept daytime temperatures low and kept evaporation at minimum levels all week, according to Mack Bennett, Area Director for USDA's Marketing Services Office at Lubbock.

Seed cotton back logs on gin yards did not last long when harvesting stalled.

High Plains growers sold a few small mixed lots of mostly grades 32, 42 and 52, staples 30-32, mostly mike 35-49 at around 9;; to 1200 points over 1984 loan rates.

New crop supplies remain limited and difficult to buy, Bennett continued. Heavy rains in the Mississippi Delta states gave growers new hope for higher prices.

Gins paid growers $85 to $100 per ton for cottonseed.

Meanwhile, USDA's Marketing

Services Office at Lubbock classed 12,250 samples during the week ended Thursday, Oct. 25. This brought the season's total to 14,800 and compares with almost 50,000 classed by the same date last year.

Predominant grades during the week were grade 41 at 26 percent, grade 32 accounted for 12 percent and grade 42 was 36 percent. About 2 per cent was reduced one grade because of prep and 5 per cent for bark.

Predominant staples were staple 32 at 23 percent, staple 33 was 23 percent and staple 34 accounted for 18 percent for an average of 32.9 thirty-seconds of an inch.

Micronaires 35-49 accounted for 47 percent, 33-34 was 18 percent, 30-32 amounted to 22 percent and 27-29 was 10 percent for an average of 34.

High Volume Instrument break strength at Lubbock averaged 24.9 grams per tex for the week ended Oct. 25.

Cotton Today

Chairman of MOC Judges Named: Sherrye Henry, hostess of a radio talk show aired over a New York radio station with the nation's largest audience, will head the panel of judges for the 1985 Maid of Cotton selection, according to the National Cotton Council.

Ms. Henry has interviewed national and international guests on her week-day program, broadcast for the past 11 years over WOR-AM, New York. A native of Memphis, Tenn., and a graduate of Vanderbilt University, she returned to her home town two years ago to introduce her first novel, "Alone together," published by Doubleday.

Applications for the 1985 Maid of Cotton selections are now being accepted by the National Cotton Council. The selection is set for Dec. 27-29 at the Anatole Hotel in Dallas.

The winner will receive a $10,000 educational award and an all-cotton wardrobe. The first Alternate will receive $4,000; second alternate, $2,500; and all other finalists, $500 each.

Awards are being made possible through a special grant to The Cotton Foundation by Ciga-Geigy Corporation. Information and application forms are available from the National Cotton Council, P.O. Box 12285, Memphis, Tenn. 38182. The deadline is November 9.

Cottonseed Oil Report Issued: A report presenting information on production stocks, offtake, and prices of cottonseed oil and major competing commodities has been published by the National Cotton Council. The data covers the 1978-1982 marketing years. During that period, cottonseed oil prices averaged 2.2 cents per pound more than soybean oil prices but were only 1.2 center higher in 1982. Over 90 percent of cottonseed oil is used in salad or cooking oils and baking or frying fats.

Barr, Grant Named To Export Commission: Two cotton industry leaders are serving on the National Commission on Agricultural Trade and Export Policy.

EVERGREEN TREES--are observed by conservation board of directors Paul Sherrill, Norman Ledbetter, W.R. Steen, and T.B. Mason. The Lynn County Soil and Water Conservation District has reached an agreement with the Texas Forest Service to sell evergreen trees and hardwoods, starting this fall and going to Feb. 8, 1985. These trees will be used mainly for windbreaks around farmsteads, but are not limited to that use. Persons living in town (Tahoka, O'Donnell, New Home, Wilson) who would like a few trees for their homes may order them from the district office in Tahoka. Trees must be paid for in advance and will be available for delivery about March 1. For more details and information call 998-4622. Order blanks can also be obtained at the district office. Trees are guaranteed to be in good condition when delivered.

They are National Cotton Council President John S. Barr III, Oak Grove, La. Grower and Marshal Grant, Garysburg, N.C. grower.

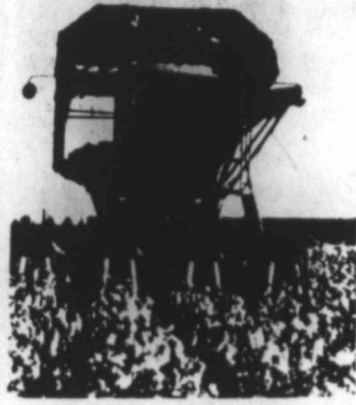

The 35 member commission will study and make recommendations concerning agricultural related trade and export policies. It is scheduled to submit a report on its initial findings and recommendations to the President and Congress by March 31, 1985, and the final report by July, 1986.

Cotton Orientation Program Set: Twenty-four representatives from 14 European and North African countries have accepted invitations to participate in the orientation program. The program begins in Washington, D.C. Oct. 14 and concludes in Bakersfield Oct. 26. Participants will visit Cotton Incorporated's Memphis, Greenville and Green-facilities in Raleigh Oct. 15. The wood, Miss., Dallas, Lubbock, itinerary also includes visits to Phoenix, and Fresno.

Farmers Co-Op Association NO. 1, TAHOKA A Good Place to Do Business.

It makes sense to stay involved with your cotton after it leaves the farm. That's why taking your cotton to your co-op gin is a good idea—for a couple of reasons:

First, when you take your cotton to a co-op gin, that gin becomes a part of your business. You have a voice in how it's run and you share in the profits. The more cotton you bring, the more it pays.

But, even more importantly, when you bring your cotton to your co-op gin you become part of a system that takes your cotton all the way to the market. A system that joins your local co-op gin with other co-op gins to give you a voice in the market. Being a part of that system is important to you now and it's even more important to the future of cotton farming.

Take your cotton to your co-op gin. After all, it's just good business to do business with yourself.

Office Efficiency

Customer Service: It's Crucial to Your Company's Success

Few individuals impact the bottom line and influence the company's public image more than customer service representatives and others who deal directly with the public.

If your job involves dealing with your company's customers, how well you handle those encounters represents an important contribution to the business. If calls from customers with problems and requests are handled appropriately, it can mean the difference between satisfied customers and those who might take their business to a competitor.

"Because of the increased number of households with two working adults, more customer-business encounters take place over the phone. Add to this the increasingly competitive marketplace, and the quality of customer service a company provides becomes a major factor in consumers deciding with whom they continue to do business," says John Franco, president of Xerox Learning Systems, a leading provider of sales, management, and customer service training.

A Few Tips
Franco offers these tips for improving your telephone technique from his company's popular training program, Customer Satisfaction Telephone Skills:

1. Ask Questions. "Too often people assume they know what the customer wants when they do not," says Franco. "As a result, they often end up handling a problem with incomplete information." Ask questions to confirm information you already have about the customer's question or problem, and obtain basic factual information. An example: "What is your account number?" You may also want to ask more open-ended questions which encourage the customer to provide details about their request, such as "What was the problem with the merchandise you received?"

2. Acknowledge. The best way to eliminate the emotional "atmosphere" surrounding many customer problems and complaints is by acknowledging and expressing your concern for the customer's problem, says Franco. After you have recognized the customer's problem, tell him or her what you will do to resolve it. For example: "I understand how upset you must be, Mrs. Jones; it is terribly frustrating to continue receiving bills when your balance is paid. Let me pull out your file and see what I can do to solve the problem."

3. Inform. Let the customer know what the problem was (once you have determined this), why it happened and what results they can expect. Deliver this information in a clear, concise manner, so as not to confuse the customer. Afterwards, ask a question to ensure the information you conveyed was understood.

4. Conclude the call. Before you hang up, review any commitments or agreements you and the customer have made, to eliminate any misunderstandings that may exist. "Mrs. Jones, as I told you, I will have your bill corrected and returned to you. You should receive this within a week. Will that be all right?"

Finally, says Franco, thank the customer for their business, and tell them that you are available whenever they need help.

Bulldogs Drop 9-0 Contest To New Deal

The Tahoka Bulldogs, still playing good football most of the time but still unable to come up on the long end of the scoreboard, will journey to Shallowater this week in their penultimate shot at winning a game this season.

Last week, the Bulldogs played good defense and fair offense before finally bowing to the New Deal Lions in a close 9-0 contest. It was the seventh straight loss of the season for Tahoka.

Shallowater last week gave Seagraves a good tussle before losing 20-15. This leaves Seagraves and Morton, Tahoka's final opponent of the year, tied for first place in the district, and they play each other this week.

Tahoka's defense, led by the linebackers, Johnny Morin, Sean Todd, Scott Isbell and Randy Taylor, played tough against New Deal. The Lions managed a 27-yard field goal by Darrin Goen in the first quarter and the score still was 3-0 at halftime. In the third period, Alfredo Rameriz ran 1 yard for the game's only touchdown, and a kick for extra point was no good.

Tahoka had several good opportunities to score, but just couldn't get the ball across.

Morin carried the ball 25 times for 73 yards and Johnny Alvarado rushed 51 yards in 13 carries. Quarterback Trey Teaff completed 2 of 7 passes for 20 yards, both of them caught by Daron Norwood.

HINTS FOR HOMEOWNERS

WORK-EASY TOOLS

If caring for your home has become a special source of satisfaction, you're probably taking more pride in your growing use and mastery of tools.

Quality hand tools make a job easier and safer. Before purchasing, get the feel of them in your hands. Those with good balance, weight and size allow you to work better.

A good grip often makes the difference between finishing a job comfortably or with aching hands and skinned knuckles. The cushion grip on many Crescent pliers and wrenches helps to prevent slippage in your hands. And Crescent screwdrivers with oversize handles also give you more and easier turning power.

Keep your work area accessible, clean and clutter-free to avoid untimely interruptions while you work. A pegboard provides an effective and simple storage system.

Keep all tools clean and cutting edges sharp. Remove nicks from screwdriver tips with a file, and prevent damage to file teeth by keeping them in their plastic cases or other wrapping.

Hints For Homemakers

Are you all fired up over the cost of heating your home?

Don't do a "slow burn." Look to an efficient, affordable and highly reliable gas-fired condensing furnace.

A condensing furnace is designed to capture more of the heat that results from combustion, substantially improving its energy efficiency.

One such gas-fired condensing furnace is the Weathermaker SX from Carrier Corporation, the company that pioneered condensing furnace technology nearly 60 years ago.

A company spokesman explained that the secret to the efficiency of a condensing furnace is found in its two heat exchangers. By increasing the amount of heat transfer surface area, the firm's new model is able to recover even more of the heat that normally escapes with flue gases. That heat is put to work heating household air, thereby reducing overall operating cost.

It also saves energy by drawing in outside air to mix with gas for combustion instead of using household air that has already been heated. Using outside air prevents the displacement of heated household air, which can allow cold air infiltration.

costs were the dominant positions adopted by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. at the PCG Board's quarterly meeting in Lubbock October 24.

TDA formalized its intentions to impose extensive controls on pesticide use in Texas agriculture by publication in the Texas Register on October 23 after months of haggling over the proposal with PCG, other commodity groups, aerial applicators, chemical companies and others.

PCG's unanimous vote against the new regulations followed a vigorous denouncement of almost every paragraph in the six-page proposal by Tommy Fondren of Lorenzo, PCG Board Chairman. Fondren also is Chairman of the Texas Association of Cotton Producer Organizations which resolved to oppose TDA's actions at a meeting in Dallas October 9.

Fondren expressed his opinion that the detailed notification requirements, field re-entry intervals and protective clothing requirements proposed by TDA are not needed. Producers, he said, already take the necessary precautions to avoid unreasonable risk of pesticide injury to workers, applicators and themselves.

For this "we don't have to have a law," he stated. Fondren went on to note that TDA's proposed re-entry intervals differ from either or both the labels printed on pesticides and the intervals required by Washington's Environmental Protection Agency. "How is the producer to know what's required of him?" he asked. "This inconsistency and the vague wording of some of the other rules will just encourage lawsuits and make attorneys rich."

Texas law requires at least a 30-day comment period following Register publication before the rules can take effect. Earliest possible date for adoption, according to the Register notice, is November 23.

PCG will follow up on the Board's resolution, according to Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, by filing formal objections with TDA during the comment period and by presenting testimony at any public hearings scheduled in the interim.

On energy costs, the Board heard a report from Vice President Bennie Claunch on PCG's countinuing efforts in Austin to correct demand charge and other inequities in the cost of electricity used in agricultural pursuits. "We think we are already seeing some results from our work," Claunch said, stating that at least one utility company had altered its method of computing power charges to gins.

Ray Joe Riley of Sunnyside and Texas Corn Growers President Carl King of Dimmitt updated the Board on activities of the Texas Agricultural Energy Users Association (TAEUA). That organization, an outgrowth of the 24-year-old Plains Gas Users Association, had engaged the services of former Texas Representative Billy Wayne Clayton of Springlake to seek state legislation beneficial to both natural gas and electricity users in agriculture.

The PCG Board voted its unanimous support of TAEUA activities.

Also on the PCG Board's agenda was a reminder of Proposition 2 that will appear on Texas ballots in the November 6 election.

If passed, the proposition will amend the Texas Constitution to expand the number of universities eligible to share in the state's Permanent University Fund (PUF), Johnson explained, "and its passage is important to the Texas A&M University System, Texas Tech and other institutions," he said.

Currently, only Texas A&M and Texas University can utilize PUF funds. Repeal of the ad valorem tax three years ago left non-PUF institutions without a dedicated source of building funds, and an extension of PUF eligibility is essential to the state's continued progress in the area of higher education, Johnson says.

Traffic lights were developed by Detroit policeman William L. Potts in 1920.

Taxes: Poor Pay Less

Despite all the propaganda and political pandering to the more populous have-nots by Washington politicians, a thorough study by the non-profit Tax Foundation in Washington shows that the Reagan tax-reduction legislation of 1981 has reduced the taxes of the poor more than those of the rich.

A spokesman recently observed: "The rich are paying more, not less, taxes in the wake of the Economic Recovery Act of 1981, contrary to some forecasts....more of the federal income tax burden has apparently been shifted to high earners."

"Taxpayers in the top five percent of income levels in 1982 saw decreases in their bills averaging 0.2 percent. All other taxpayers combined enjoyed tax reductions averaging 3.9 percent that year."

Taking all income groups into account, there was an overall tax reduction in 1982 of 2.5 percent. Although the 1981 law provided for a 8.75 across-the-board cut, rising incomes and the progressive tax rate kept the reduction from being anywhere near that much.

As to the share of total U.S. income taxes paid by the various income groups, the Tax Foundation study showed that:

"The top ten percent of income earners ($39,000 and up) paid about 50 percent of the nation's taxes. There were 9.5 million returns in this group. The average tax bill in this group was $14,000—down about 1.1 percent."

"Over ninety percent of the 1982 tax total was paid by the top fifty percent of taxpayers—those earning $14,500 and up. Their share of the 1982 tax bill was exactly the same as it was in 1981—though their average tax dropped 2.5 percent."

"The lower fifty percent of wage earners—with incomes less than $14,500—paid only 7.4 percent of the tax total, in both years, and in 1982 saw their average tax drop 3.1 percent."

In a nutshell, what this new Tax Foundation study shows is that repeated charges that President Reagan's tax reform and reduction of 1981 helped the rich at the expense of the poor is a totally false, political claim.

Rather, 1981 tax reduction legislation produced remarkably fair and even results.

Life would be very simple if more people are willing to be themselves. *****

Scanning Social Security

Return To Work Incentives

Social Security does more than provide help to disabled individuals in the form of monthly assistance and health benefits. It also encourages individuals to return to the productive work force through several provisions in the law. These provisions help ease the transition for those disabled people who try to work, often in spite of a handicap condition.

Some of the provisions designated to assist people in attempting to return to work include:

- * a trial work period
- * impairment-related work expense exclusion
- * reinstatement of Social Security benefits
- * continuation of Medicare health benefits

Generally, after the completion of nine months of work activity earnings more than $75 per month or totaling more than 15 hours per month of self-employment activity, an evaluation is conducted to determine if the disabled individual is able to engage in work considered by Social Security to be substantial gainful activity. Earnings are the main factor in this evaluation. However, other factors such as duties and hours worked are considered.

Certain impairment-related work expenses can be deducted from gross earnings in determining whether an individual is engaging in substantial gainful activity. Deductible items are generally medical devices, attendant care, drugs and medication, and services required because of impairments.

If monthly disability checks stop because of a return to substantial gainful activity in spite of a disabling condition, the Medicare coverage already in effect often can continue for 24 months after payments stop.

If benefits are stopped, they can be reinstated within 15 months after the trial work period ends if the disability continues and earnings fall below the substantial gainful level. If a worker becomes disabled a second time within five years after the end of the previous disability period, benefits can begin immediately, without the five-month waiting period. Medicare can also resume immediately, without the two-year Medicare waiting period.

Details on these work provisions for disabled individuals are available free from any Social Security office. Your Social Security office in Lubbock area is located at 1611-10th Street, Suite 100, Lubbock.

Roy Nieman

Services for Roy W. Nieman, 64, of Lubbock were held at 3 p.m. Friday, Oct. 26, at Franklin-Bartley Chapel with the Rev. James Hamilton, pastor of First United Methodist Church in Wolfthorpe, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Darrell Patterson, pastor of the Idalou United Methodist Church.

Burial with military honors was in Resthaven Memorial Park. Nieman died at 1:30 a.m. Wednesday at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock after a lengthy illness.

Born in Wills Point, he later married Velma Cato on Oct. 19, 1946, in Reno, Nev. He served with the U.S. Navy from 1939-59 and was a veteran of World War II and the Korean War. He participated in the Bikini Atoll nuclear project in 1946. After leaving the service, he worked for the U.S. Postal Service from 1959-81, and he also farmed in the Idalou area. He and his wife moved to Lubbock in 1975. He was a member of the Idalou United Methodist Church. He was also a member of the Fleet Reserve Association of the U.S. Navy and the Rural Letter Carriers Assn.

Survivors include his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Barbara Coganougher of Floydada and Mrs. Debbie Greaves of Seminole; a brother, Ray Charles of Sonoma, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. Mary Snodgrass of Idalou; and four grandchildren.

OBSERVING PARENTING SKILLS

One way to learn something about how you parent is to observe your friends who have children near the ages of your children, says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist Diane T. Welch. As you observe, ask yourself, how do these parents act toward their children? Do they appear to enjoy the children and approve of what they are doing, or do they appear critical, impatient and nagging? How many parents request their children to stop doing something and how many habitually order their children around? How many embarrass their children in front of others? How many expect conduct beyond their child's years? How often do you see parents who show approval more often than they correct? How many give orders endlessly and then punish children for disobedience when the child fails to know which order was important enough to follow? Then think about your own parenting behavior and ask the same questions, she suggests. The comparison can help parents see areas where they are satisfied with how they are bringing up their children, and areas where they would like to change.

WHY MR. GRAMM?

On April 4, 1984 -

WHY did you vote to reduce price supports and loans to farmers 60% or $16 billion dollars over the next three years?

On June 6, 1984 -

WHY did you vote to SLASH the Agricultural Research Service, the Extension Service and a variety of other federal and state research programs?

WHY were you one of ONLY TWO Texas Congressmen that voted for the Dannemeyer Amendment on April 4, 1984? (The other was Republican Steve Bartlett) The Dannemeyer Amendment was the substitute budget which would have done the following:

- Slash agricultural price supports and eliminate deficiency payments.
- Reduce federal price support payments and loans to farmers by $16 billion (60%) over three years.
- Phase out farm ownership and operating loans by the Farmers Home Administration and replace them with loan guarantees.
- Eliminate the wool and mohair payment program.
- Eliminate the honey price support program.
- Increase federal crop insurance premiums by an estimated 10%.
- Establish new user fees or increase existing ones for Agricultural Marketing Service cotton grading and warehouse licensing, federal grain inspector service fees, and Agricultural Cooperative Service publications and technical assistance.

WHY HAVE YOU CONSISTANTLY VOTED AGAINST FARMERS AND FARM PROGRAMS? STAND ON YOUR RECORD, Mr. Gramm, you were running on it early in the campaign.

- WEST TEXAS NEEDS A NATIVE BORN TEXAN WITH FARMING IN HIS HERITAGE.
- WE NEED A SENATOR WHO HAS RELATIVES STILL FARMING IN POST, TEXAS.

HEAD LICE INCREASING--

Head lice are once again becoming a problem in many areas of Texas and are presenting a real nuisance in public schools and private day care centers. The tiny grayish, flattened, wingless insects suck blood, causing intense skin irritation and itching, says an entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Adult females attach 50 to 100 eggs, or nits, to hair near the scalp where they hatch in a week. Lice spread by physical contact and use of such personal items as combs and hairbrushes. Person hygiene can prevent lice infestations. Medicated shampoos can provide effective control.

Eagles To Host Mustangs In District 7-A Showdown

Coach Gary Lewis' Wilson Mustangs shut out Klondike 19-0 Friday night to become 2-0 in district 7-1A North and remain tied with Odessa Summers' O'Donnell Eagles, also 2-0 in district, who were idle last week.

From Wilson's outlook, a win in either the O'Donnell game this Friday or a win at home against Ropes Nov. 9 would assure Wilson of making the zone playoffs. O'Donnell would be assured of a playoff berth with a win over Wilson or a win over Klondike on Nov. 9. Overall, the Eagles are 5-2 for the season, already assured of having their best win-loss record in years.

There was no scoring in the first quarter of the Wilson-Klondike game. With 5:45 left in the second quarter, Brian Bednarz ran 72 yards for a TD and PAT kick by Robert Williams made it 7-0 at the half. With 7:10 left in the third period Bednarz scored again on a 3-yard run and the PAT was no goodmaking it 13-0. The Mustang's final score came with 39 seconds remaining in the third quarter on a 24 yard TD pass from Bednarz to Abram Vaca. The PAT was no good. There was no scoring the fourth quarter.

Individually for Wilson, Bednarz had 20 carries for 153 yards and two touchdowns and was 2-2 passing for 38 yards and one TD. Greg Spears passed for 43 yards and was 5-13 with four interceptions. Vaca caught four passes for 55 yards and one TD.

Adult Classes Are Planned

The Wilson High School Homemaking Dept. will sponsor two adult classes in November.

Nov. 6 at 7 p.m. a Christmas flower arranging class will be held at Murray's Florist in Tahoka.

On Nov. 8 at 7 p.m. Southwest Public Service Home Economist Chryste Waters will present a Christmas food class in the homemaking department of Wilson High School.

For more information contact Martha Alexander, Wilson High School, 628-2801.

Defensively, Mark Burch had two interceptions and Justin Bednarz made 24 tackles.

Brucellosis Vaccinations Required-- Effective Nov. 5, heifers sold for breeding, grazing, dairying or feeding in non-quarantined feedlots will have to be vaccinated for brucellosis, a major disease of cattle that often results in abortions. The new vaccination requirement recently adopted by the Texas Animal Health Commission applies to 113 counties in eastern, central and southern sections of the state that are in the Class C Area of the Brucellosis Control Program. The requirement applies to heifers between four months and a year of age, notes a veterinarian with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Producers can have heifers vaccinated free of charge by a veterinarian or TAHC official.

DIFFERENCES IN DUAL-INCOME LIFESTYLES--

Having children, as well as having two pay checks, creates some major lifestyle differences among dual-income families, says a home economist. Researchers have developed profiles of dual-income families with no children, those with young children and those with older children, explains Diane T. Welch. According to the profiles, families with no children have work and spousal relationships as top priorities, while children dominate the lifestyle of couples with young children. For many families, the years with young children are the greatest financial strain. A more manageable lifestyle characterizes dual income families with older children, observes the home economist. While family relationships are important at this state, the research shows that many men and women also make personal time a high priority.

AMMONIATED HAY BOOSTS COW PERFORMANCE--

A study on the Billy Traylor farm in Jackson County has shown that treating low quality hay with anhydrous ammonia can improve the hay's feeding value. Ammoniation increased the hay's crude protein content 3.5 percent and boosted its energy level 5 percent. Cows on native ranges fed treated hay had an average weight loss of .48 pounds per day compared to .79 pounds per day for those getting untreated hay. This adds up to a net profit from the ammoniation process of $1.62 per cow, says a beef cattle specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

ALCOHOL & STILL BIRTH

Even moderate drinking during pregnancy greatly increases the risk of stillbirth, report separate medical researchers in N.Y. and California. Pregnant women who drink even small, non-intoxicating amounts of alcohol twice or more each week, having about a 30 percent chance of aborting. As drinking more than 1 oz. of alcohol (1 can of beer, 1 glass of wine, or 1 small cocktail) more often than once a week can be so very toxic to the fetus, it is wise to avoid alcohol entirely during pregnancy.

White Lauds State Role In Registering Voters

By Governor Mark White

AUSTIN—A record 7.7 million Texans are expected to register to vote in November's general election—and despite criticism from the federal government, I am proud of the state's role in that effort.

Last week I testified before the House Subcommittee on Manpower and Housing in Washington, D.C., reviewing Texas' legislative mandate for state agencies to assist in the non-partisan voter registration of any Texas resident.

Donald Devine, director of the U.S. Employment and Training Administration, ignored this mandate in a September 24th letter to my office in which he warned that federal regulation does not allow voter registration drives in state employment offices during working hours.

Devine expressed concern that voter registration activity on state government property would coerce employees for partisan political purposes or allow them to "use their official authority for the purpose of interfering with or affecting the result of" the upcoming general election.

Voter registration in Texas is non-partisan. At no time is any person registering to vote asked to express a political party preference. In encouraging voter registration in state agency offices, I cautioned agency administrators that voter registration must remain scrupulously non-partisan.

I strongly resent Devine singling out Texas and two other states for reprimand when no instance of illegal activity was reported to his office.

Voter registration in Texas is conducted primarily by mail. The majority of voter registration occurring in state agencies entails making available to employees and the public the postage-free voter registration application forms prescribed by the Secretary of State. Individuals registering to vote mail the application forms themselves to county voter registrars.

DIRTY CHIMNEYS CAN CAUSE FIRES--Chimneys with heavy creosote deposits are a leading cause of home fires, so an annual chimney inspection and clean-up is in order, notes a safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Creosote is produced when wood burns. It collects on the inside walls of the chimney and is highly flammable. Once ignited, creosote can burn at temperatures up to 3,000 degrees F. and can be pulled out of the chimney by a strong upward draft and onto the roof. Since chimney cleaning is messy and requires special tools, the job might best be handled by a professional chimney sweep.

PAT GREEN, AGENCY MANAGER

Did Lloyd Doggett, and the State Democratic Executive Committee, lose not just their hearts, but also their memory, in San Francisco?

That might explain how they could "forget" to mention, in any of their mailings or TV ads asking West Texans for support of their liberal candidates, that the OFFICIAL DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM THAT THEY PASSED IN SAN FRANCISCO:

*on page 35, lines 23-46, approves the use of boycotts against farm produce as "an effective tool" in attempts to unionize farm workers, and calls for repeal of Section 14B of the National Labor Relations Act, which would invalidate our Texas right-to-work law.

*on page 38, lines 1-13, recognizes homosexuals as a federally protected minority, prohibiting "discrimination in the workplace based on sexual orientation" (homosexuality), even in our U.S. Armed Forces, and encourages their immigration to the U.S. and their application for U.S. citizenship.

*on page 42, lines 14-18, allows the federal government to infringe upon your Second Amendment Constitutional right to own a handgun for your family's self-protection?

Perhaps Mr. Doggett, and Texas Democratic Party officials in Austin, "forgot" to tell you their "San Francisco" platform contains these items because they are afraid West Texans believe, as do Republican candidates for federal office,

*that boycotts on the movement and sale of farm produce are unfair because they hurt all farmers raising the boycotted commodity, even those not targeted by the union strike; and that we should keep our Texas right-to-work law to prevent "closed" (union-only) shops in which a union official can decide whether an individual gets, or keeps, a job.

*that homosexuality should not confer federal minority status on an individual.

*that the writers of our Constitution had good reasons for prohibiting federal gun control in the Second Amendment, thereby reserving that power only to state and local government.

When you vote next Tuesday, November 6, remember that people in San Francisco already have U.S. Senators and Representatives promoting their viewpoint in Washington, so you needn't elect another who will represent them from Texas! Instead, VOTE FOR THE CANDIDATES THAT WILL BEST REPRESENT YOUR VIEWS in Washington! VOTE REAGAN/BUSH AND PHIL GRAMM FOR U.S. SENATE.
