

Man Jailed In Robbery Here

An 18-year-old Tahoka man was arrested and jailed just one day after an elderly Tahoka resident was robbed at gunpoint in her home last Wednesday.

Paul E. Garcia, 1608 Ave. M, was charged with aggravated robbery with a deadly weapon and he remained in jail this week in lieu of $25,000 bond set by Justice of the Peace Ed Hamilton.

Mrs. Inez Garner, who lives on N. 6th St., said a young man came to her front door last Wednesday morning and asked to use the telephone. She let him in and he pulled a pistol and demanded money.

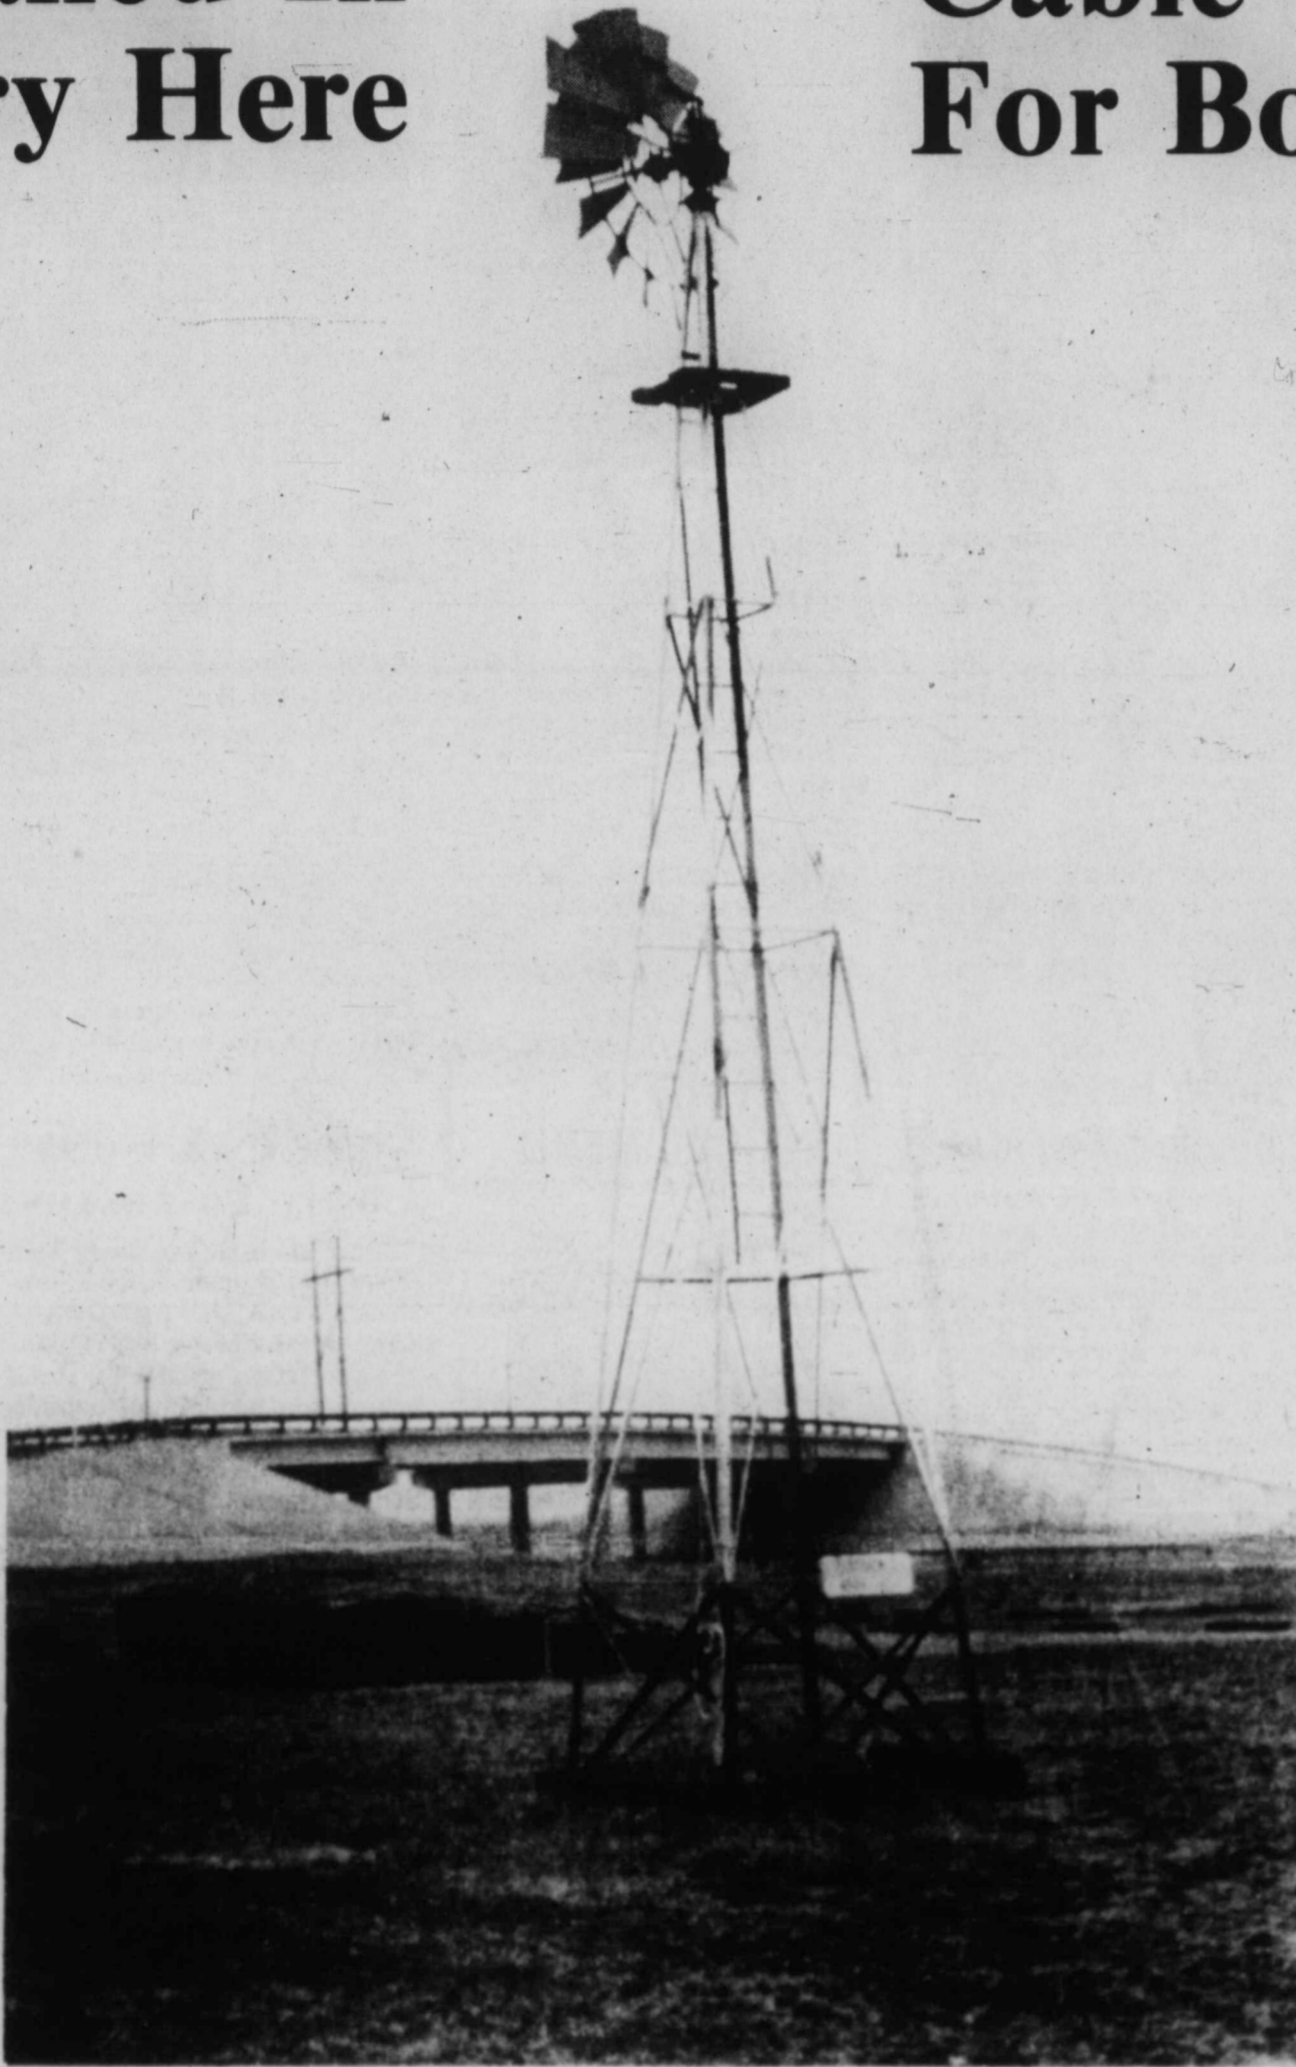

The woman said she told him she had just $3.50 in her purse, and he took $3, then asked her to sign a check in a checkbook he took from her purse. She said she could not sign the check, and he then pulled the phone cord out of the wall and left, warning her not to call police or he would come back.

She waited about half an hour, then went to a neighbor's home to see about reporting her phone out of order. The neighbor realized something was wrong and she finally told him what had happened and he called police.

Police officers and deputies conducted an investigation which included showing photo layouts to employees of businesses where a man tried to pass a check on Mrs. Garner the next day. Eventually they came up with a name and Garcia was arrested Thursday by a Tahoka Police officer and deputy. Officers said Garcia signed a statement admitting the robbery, and a gun was turned over to officers.

In the only other offense reported during the week, a convenience store reported a man left without paying for $8 worth of merchandise.

Also in jail during the week were one person for public intoxication and one for driving while intoxicated, first offense.

DRY WINDMILL--This windmill won't pump much water, but it makes a nice addition to an otherwise empty area between two highways just south of the north overpass at Tahoka. Local highway department workers are in the process of making this an attractive spot for viewers travelling on U.S. 87 or coming south on FM 400 over the overpass. (LYNN COUNTY NEWS PHOTO)

WOODWORK

BY DALTON

WE HAVE TWO dogs, both of them useless. Mostly they mess up the yard and bark at midnight and 6 a.m. One of them is strong and healthy and muscular; the other is getting so skinny you can see all of his ribs from either side.

The reason is that the strongest one doesn't let the weakest one eat, unless we stay out there and scream at him or threaten him with a 2x4. Poor Freddie, who is the weaker of the two, doesn't look healthy at all, but we don't plan to take him to a vet, because that costs more than Freddie is worth.

Something else I don't plan to do, even if he keels over in the back yard, is give him mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, as I read about a dog owner doing recently. This story in the daily paper said a guy saved his dog's life after the hound collapsed (after swallowing a tennis ball or something), by giving his dog mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. Anybody who has ever smelled a dog's breath can appreciate that this dog owner must have loved his dog more than could be considered reasonable. His wife probably will never kiss him again. (Lips that touch canine will never touch mine....)

I saw a woman kiss a poodle once. It made me ill.

That guy who breathed air into his dog by now probably has developed the first stage of Dogemia, evidenced by recurring howlucinations, after which you go arf and die.

WHEN CASEY STENDEL was 70 years old, the Yankees suddenly dumped him as manager five days after the 1960 World Series, which New York had barely lost to Pittsburgh in the last inning of the seventh game. Up to then, Stengel had won seven Series and 10 pennants in just 12 years as Yankees manager, a record so far unsurpassed.

I've been fired because of my age," Stengel said. "I'll never make the mistake of being 70 again."

Cable TV Gets Okay For Boost In Rates

Permission to increase the base rate of cable television service in Tahoka by $1.50 per month was given to Signet Cablevision Monday night by Tahoka city council, after no citizens showed up for an announced public hearing on the matter.

The vote was 3-1 to allow the cable company to increase its base rate and at the same time add four new channels, bringing to 13 the total number of basic channels offered, not counting another channel which gives local weather information.

The changeover adding the new channels, offering two more pay-TV channels and boosting the basic rate to $12 per month, will take place by April 1 or shortly thereafter, said Jim Strange, owner of Signet's Tahoka franchise.

Voting to allow Signet to increase its rate were council members Dalton Wood, Jim Solomon and Tom Cooper, with W.O. Whorton voting against the proposal. Richard White was absent.

Strange said converter boxes will be required for all customers whose television sets have just 13 channels plus a UHF setting with a separate dial for channels 14 and up. Some persons with newer TV sets with settings going through 83 channels will not need the converters and also can continue to use their remote control devices as before. Remote control devices on the older sets will only work for the present channels 2 through 13; when those customers want one of the newer channels on numbers higher than that they will have to switch the converter on manually.

There will be no charge for the converters, Strange said. He also said the cable company will connect the converters without charge, but noted that any customer who wishes to connect his own may come by and get the converter and printed instructions on how to connect it. The office here does not yet have the converters, however.

Channels to be added will be Nashville (country-western related material), MTV (video rock), Spanish International Network and Cable News Network (news 24 hours a day). These will all be part of the basic package.

Strange said that when the changeover is made, Signet also plans to offer two more pay-TV channels--the Disney channel and either Showtime or The Movie Channel. Currently the company offers Home Box Office (HBO) for an additional $11 per month, and HBO will be continued to be offered.

Council members approved a resolution supporting the position of Energas in that company's dispute with Westar gas pipeline company over rates charged by Westar.

Applications for housing assistance to several local residents under a federal program were approved, and the council officially designated April 6 as election day. Terms of Mayor Mel Leslie, and councilmen Wharton and Wood are scheduled to expire, and anyone wishing to file for any of those positions may do so at the city hall now through March 6. So far, nobody has filed for any of the posts, according to City Manager Carl Reynolds.

NHS To Sponsor Tennis Tournament

The Tahoka Chapter of National Honor Society will sponsor a tennis tournament March 8-9 at the Tahoka Mini-Park. Divisions will include Womens' Doubles, Mens' Doubles and Mixed Doubles. Womens' tournament will begin at 6 p.m. with the mens' tournament at 8 p.m. Friday, March 8. Mixed doubles will start at 9 a.m. Saturday morning along with any other matches needed to be played.

Refreshments will be sold by NHS.

Entries may be made to Shawn Stotts, Box 10, Tahoka, TX 79373 or by calling 998-4816. Entry fee is $6.

Trophies will be awarded to first and second place in each division.

Youth-Adult Basketball Game Slated

The youth of the First Baptist Church will play the adults in basketball Thursday night, Feb. 28, at 7:30 p.m. in the North Elementary gym. In the first and third quarters the girls will play the women and second and fourth quarters will be the boys against the mens' team.

Tickets are $1 per person and may be purchased at the door or from the First Baptist Youth. A refreshment stand and an auction of cakes and pies will be featured. Proceeds will go toward the Youth Ski/Bible Retreat during spring break.

Local Merchants Set Sidewalk Sale

Several Tahoka merchants will have special bargains Friday during an all-day Sidewalk Sale, weather permitting.

Among those planning to take part are Heritage Furniture, Geny's, The Tahoka Daisy and Jennings of Tahoka. Some other firms also may join the sale.

It has been estimated that about 2.5 billion copies of the Bible have been sold in the world since 1816.

Resignations Highlight School Board Meeting

Tahoka schools lost a band director, basketball coach and elementary principal as resignations from these three were accepted by the school board Tuesday night. Meanwhile, contract extensions were voted for two other administrators.

Submitting resignations effective at the end of the current school term were Tom Cooper, principal of Tubb Elementary School and Felix Fabila, head basketball coach for boys. Already gone from the school is band director Tawnya Perry, who resigned effective Feb. 15.

Carroll Rhodes, music director at Tahoka First Baptist Church, is handling band classes temporarily.

Contract extensions to the 1986-87 year were voted for John Haines, high school-junior high principal, and for A.D. Shaver, assistant principal and head coach. Action on a contract extension for North Elementary Principal Clifton Gardner was delayed temporarily at Gardner's request.

The board earlier voted approval of a request by the senior class to use the school gymnasium for a concert by the Maines Bros., popular country-western band from Lubbock, on March 29, to raise funds for a senior class trip to Florida. Appearing before the board to make the request was Daron Norwood.

The meeting started in the school library because of a crowd of 14 visitors, mostly teachers, who told the board they were there just to listen to proceedings. About half of them left after the board went into closed session to discuss the contract extensions and resignations.

Business manager Loretta Tekell reported current tax collections 82.7 per cent complete on Jan. 31, about the same as the previous year. Total taxes collected to date are $669,528, she said, adding that the balance in all funds was $1,030,102, up about $300,000 from last year, mainly because of additional state money received this year.

Haines reported to the board on about 10 courses which the legislature has said must be offered in secondary schools next year if as many as 10 students sign up for them. The courses include either world history or world geography, plus some "correlated English" classes, and computer science. Haines also said he plans to offer an advanced typing class, including some word processing.

Supt. Dale Summitt reported that the school system still is losing students, with a total of 788 now counted in all campuses. He said this is 26 less than were counted just before Christmas, with half of the loss in secondary schools.

He also reported that as of Tuesday, three people had signed up for the school board election scheduled April 6. Terms of Bob Haney and Robert Smith are scheduled to expire. Smith has filed for re-election, and also signed up so far are Billy Davis and Ernesto Morales Jr. Deadline for filing for the school board is March 6.

All school board members were present for the meeting.

Litter Pick Up Is Costly To Texans

Litter along Texas streets and roadways continues to be a problem. In 1984, the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation (SDHPT) spent $20 million to pick up roadside litter. Closer to home, the 17-county Lubbock district of the SDHPT spent over $418 thousand dollars removing litter from roadways. That's an average cost of $85.82 per mile for litter pickup.

Meanwhile, the cost of litter pickup in Texas continues to go up. Highway officials estimate that the cost of picking up litter is increasing 17 percent to 20 percent each year.

"We're trying to save money where we can on litter pickup here in West Texas," said District Engineer William M. Pope. "But the fact is it's an expensive thing to do both in terms of money and manpower. And the sad thing is, litter is a manmade problem."

"When A Beneficiary Dies ... Then What" — Most of us have experienced, at one time or another, the loss of a close friend or loved one. It is a time of sorrow, of bringing family and friends together, and remembering. But after the memorial services are over and everyone has gone home, we are faced with all the unfinished business — what to do with personal belongings, tending to unpaid bills, bank accounts, etc. And what should be done about the deceased's Social Security benefits? Following are several frequently asked questions and answers to situations you may face in the future.

Q. When a beneficiary dies, does the funeral home automatically notify the Social Security Office?

A. Most of the time, the funeral home does notify Social Security (SSA) of deaths; however, this is not true 100 percent of the time. For this reason, a family member should also report the death as soon as possible.

Q. What information is necessary to report the death of a beneficiary?

A. The name of the beneficiary, the date of death, and the claim number (not necessarily the deceased's own Social Security number) on which they drew benefits — the worker's Social Security number plus a suffix, usually a single letter or a letter and a number — i.e., B, D6, etc.

Q. If a husband and wife draw benefits on the same record (i.e., the husband's record), and he dies, does the wife receive more money?

A. Yes. However, the amount depends on the widow's age at the time of the worker's death. If the widow is age 65 or older, she will begin receiving the amount the worker was receiving; if she is under age 65, her benefit will be reduced for each month she has not attained age 65. This benefit will be paid in lieu of the amount she was receiving before the worker's death, not in addition to her benefit.

Q. If a husband and wife both draw benefits and one dies, does the spouse automatically start receiving the higher benefit?

A. Not always. If the husband and wife receive benefits on the same record and both are age 65 or older when the worker dies, the report of death by family or funeral home will cause a computer input that generates an "automatic conversion." What this means is that, for instance, a wife who was drawing benefits on her husband's record automatically begins drawing a higher widow's benefit when the computer system identifies the death of the worker. Because specific requisites apply to this computer capability, the surviving spouse should contact SSA to determine whether an application is necessary or whether an "automatic conversion" applies.

Q. Upon the death of a beneficiary, what benefit checks should be returned?

A. Your local SSA office should always be consulted when benefit checks are received after a beneficiary's death. Generally, the checks should be returned. Benefits are not due for the month of death. This is because survivor's benefits are paid beginning with the month of death.

Q. What if a beneficiary dies on the first of the month? Does the check still have to be returned?

A. Yes. Benefits are not payable for the month of death, regardless of what part of the month the death occurs. For instance, if a beneficiary dies on Oct. 1, 1984, the check he/she receives on Nov. 3, 1984 must be returned, since it was due/payable for the month of October, 1984. (Social Security checks are paid on the third of the month for the preceding month.) However, if the beneficiary died on Oct. 1, 1984, and received a check on Oct. 3, 1984 for September, 1984, that benefit check would be due since it was not for the month of death, but for the previous month.

Q. Who can receive the $255 burial benefit?

A. The burial benefit, or lump sum death payment ($255), is payable to: (1) a surviving spouse who was living in the same household with the worker at the time of death; or (2) a widow(er) or child(ren) eligible for benefits on the worker's record for the month of death.

Q. Doesn't the funeral home qualify for the lump sum death benefit?

A. No. Legislation in 1981 changed this policy and funeral homes are no longer eligible for this benefit.

Most death reports and related questions can be handled by phone efficiently and effortlessly, making this most trying time less burdensome for those left to tend to the "unfinished business." However, it is important to remember that the sooner a report of death is received, the sooner all the necessary adjustments can be made. So, we encourage that SSA be notified as soon after a beneficiary's death as possible.

CARBON MONOXIDE -- "The Silent Killer" -- Because you can't see, taste or smell it, carbon monoxide has earned the name, "The silent killer." It is usually produced whenever any fuel is burned and can kill you if your breathe it because it displaces oxygen in the blood, says a safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. To protect your home from deadly carbon monoxide, have your heating systems checked annually, make sure heating devices are not starved for air, don't close the fireplace damper until the fire is out, make certain the attached garage is well sealed-off from the rest of the house, and never run a car engine in a closed garage. Make sure heating devices requiring venting are installed properly, and use charcoal grills only in well ventilated areas.

TRAINING SESSIONS ON FARM COMPUTERS—To enhance the profitability of microcomputers as farm and ranch management tools, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station is offering a number of seminars and short courses in the coming weeks. Three-day short courses on specific computer applications will be at the Stiles Farm at Thrall Feb. 12-14, April 16-18, April 24-26, and May 7-9. Two-day seminars on the use of microcomputers in farm and ranch management will be March 19-20 at the Texas A&M University Research and Extension Center, Dallas; April 22-23 at the Marriott Hotel, Austin; and May 22-23 at the Civic Center in Lubbock.

HOG BUSINESS DECLINING IN TEXAS—The hog business in Texas is declining rapidly, mainly a victim of dwindling markets. Texas hog and pig numbers stood at 415,000 head last December, down 30 percent from a year ago, notes a livestock marketing economist. Swine numbers have been declining sharply in Texas in recent years after peaking at 3.1 million head in 1944. Texas was dropped as a major hog production state by the Statistical Reporting Service in 1982. The problem is that procurement or assembly costs of Texas hogs for slaughter have been relatively high because of the state's wide disbursement of hog production.

CARROTS GET TOP BILLING—Carrots are high in Vitamin A and low in calories and are a nutritious snack food for children as well as adults. And they are currently a good buy in Texas supermarkets, so consumers should stock up on them, says a horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Texas boasts some 15,000 acres carrots with the crop valued at $26,000 annually. Carrots are harvested in the fall, winter and spring, with peak harvest months being November through April. Carrots have a long shelf-life when stored in plastic bags in the crisper of a refrigerator.

Soil Compaction Can Reduce Crop Production

Soil compaction can act as an unseen enemy to farmers and reduce crop production. Commonly called a "hardpan", compacted soil can literally "choke off" plant roots so that they're unable to get water or nutrients. A shallow plant root system often indicates compacted soil. Plant roots may be unable to penetrate a severely compacted soil and may grow horizontally, resulting in what some farmers call "crow foot" in such crops as cotton that have a tap root.

Along with stunting plant roots, soil compaction may affect seed germination, seedling emergence and other phases of crop growth and production.

Poor stands, poor plant growth, discolored plant leaves and premature wilting may signal problems due to compacted soil. However, many of these same symptoms can also be due to dry weather, nutrient deficiencies and other factors.

Excessive soil compaction also reduces water penetration and increases run-off and soil erosion. Water standing in a field may signal a soil compaction problem since water infiltration is slow in a hardpan area.

The best way to identify a hardpan is to dig a hole at least 3 feet deep and look for crop roots in the subsoil. If roots have penetrated the subsoil, then the next crop should also be able to move to that depth.

A farmer can also use a sharp rod or soil probe to check for hardpans. A person should be able to push the rod into the soil at a fairly constant rate until it hits compacted soil. The average person will have trouble pushing the rod through a hardpan.

What causes soil compaction? Some soils are naturally compact, especially subsoil material. Excessive tillage, which reduces the size of soil granules, and tillage or other field operations when soil is wet are two major causes of soil compaction.

In fact, any machinery operation results in soil compaction, whether it's planting, cultivating, fertilizing or harvesting.

Farmers should limit the use of heavy equipment and the number of tillage operations to those required to keep soil productive. Avoid tillage if it does not improve soil physical conditions, promote water infiltration and aeration, help weed control, incorporate crop residues into the soil, prepare a seedbed, or help control wind and water erosion.

CANCER: The Good News - Part 1 Progress In Perspective

Cancer dates to the days of the dinosaurs.

Yet only during the past decade have scientists made the discoveries that demonstrate this dreaded disease can be conquered.

No longer does curing cancer equate to an elusive, seemingly impossible dream. Achievements are reported with regularity as researchers patiently pry cancer's secrets out of the complex components within a single living cell.

Cure rates have greatly improved for such cancers as childhood leukemia, Hodgkin's disease, melanoma and bone cancer, which were usually fatal just 20 years ago. Today, those types, along with testicular, cervical and thyroid cancers, are largely curable.

The one big cloud marring the overall outlook involves cancers caused by smoking -- and that's an estimated 30 percent of all malignant diseases.

Smoking-linked lung cancer remains the chief cancer killer of American men and women combined, but tobacco products also contribute to at least six other kinds of cancer along with a variety of other diseases.

Cancer is this country's second major medical killer. Almost 1 million people will learn they have cancer this year. Estimates are that one in every four Americans will be affected by cancer during their lives. Stated another way, cancer will touch about three out of every four families.

"With the exception of lung cancer, which is mainly preventable, there is a lot of appropriate optimism about current cancer therapy and some of the newer treatment techniques on the immediate horizon," notes Dr. Irwin H. Krakoff, head of the Division of Medicine at the University of Texas M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute at Houston.

"We must be realistic in our anticipations, however. Because cancer is more than 100 different diseases, it is highly unlikely we will find a single cure for all types," he says. Surgery remains the cornerstone of initial treatment for most tumors that have not spread beyond the point of origin. Many operations are combined with radiation therapy and drugs, and sometimes all three types of treatment are used. Newer techniques that depend on biologic agents to boost individual's cancer-fighting abilities and such selective procedures as bone marrow transplants also are helping extend survival for many patients.

The current trend among cancer surgeons is toward less-radical operations, particularly for saving limbs, sparing breasts and preserving vital functions of the head and neck area. More conservative surgical procedures are not for all patients, but may be possible when tumors are relatively small and localized.

The approach to treating osteosarcoma, a type of bone cancer most common among teenagers, has altered dramatically in the last few years so that now amputating an arm or leg can be avoided in many cases. Aggressive chemotherapy, usually containing high doses of three potent drugs, sometimes is sufficient to cure these cancers. In other cases, the drug-reduced bone tumors are removed and an artificial metal bone takes the place of the diseased one. In early breast cancer, limited surgery to take out small tumors is being combined with follow-up radiation in many cases and producing treatment results equal to the more common radical operations. For those women treatment results equal to the more common radical operations. For those women with more extensive disease, reconstructive breast surgery can be offered to many after mastectomies, thereby enhancing functional and emotional recovery.

Even for advanced oral cavity cancers, refined surgical techniques in concert with radiation and chemotherapy can spare some vital tissues, and newer artificial face parts are available to improve patients' appearance.

As many as one-half of all cancer patients in some centers get radiation therapy, the majority on an outpatient basis. High-energy cobalt units are the mainstay of many radiotherapy programs.

No place has progress been more spectacular than against cancers that strike children, including childhood leukemia and lymphoma, and rarer tumors of the eyes and kidneys. Increasingly successful combination chemotherapy for many childhood cancers has paved the way for curing more malignancies in adults, too. Almost 50 anti-cancer drugs are now being used.

"We're steadily improving our cure rate for childhood leukemia -- now more than 60 percent in some places -- through better classification and target therapy. Understanding that there are seven or eight different classes of leukemia in children and planning treatments tailored to each sub-set and age group can mean a big difference in outcomes," explains Dr. Jan van Eys, head of M.D. Anderson's Division of Pediatrics.

Dr. van Eys is especially excited about progress in treating brain cancers, which account for one in three childhood malignancies, and he wants to clear up "that awful misconception that nothing can be done for these patients." Intense chemotherapy, radiation for some older children and highly selective surgery mean about 40 percent of childhood brain cancers can be cured today.

Producers Sought For Farmers Market

Lubbock County area fruit and vegetable producers are invited to discuss the plans for a Lubbock County Farmers Market Thursday, Feb. 21, at 7 p.m. at the South Plains Electric Cooperative, 110 N. Ave. A, Amarillo Highway.

"The purpose of this meeting," Agriculture Marketing Specialist David R. Currie said, "is to see how many area fruit and vegetable producers would participate in a retail farmers market. It takes at least 20 sellers to support a successful two or three day a week market."

FARM PROGRAM FOR GRAIN PRODUCERS-- Faced with plentiful supplies of wheat and feed grains, farmers need to give careful consideration to participate in the 1985 farm program, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Farmers have until March 1 to decide whether or not they want to participate in the government farm program, which mainly offers income and price protection for those agreeing to cut base crop acreage by 10 percent in the case of feed grains and 30 percent for wheat. Since participating farmers may receive near maximum deficiency payments, the program appears fairly attractive.

MOBILE HOME VENTILATION IMPORTANT-- A new rule by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) requires manufacturers of factory-built housing to offer a ventilation improvement option with each home. Formaldehyde emissions released from pressed wood products used in mobile homes have been known to cause eye, nose and throat irritation, says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service housing specialist Dr. Jane Berry. Since adequate ventilation is critical in reducing a build-up of formaldehyde gas, especially in an new mobile home, Berry urges buyers to consider additional ventilation carefully.

SOIL MANAGEMENT FOR DRYLAND CROPS-- Because drought during the growing season is the biggest cause of reduced yields in Texas, water conservation through soil management is critical. Farmers should follow soil and crop management practices that increase the water holding capacity of soil, says an agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Organic matter aids the soil in holding water, it decreases runoff and improves aeration, so crop residue management is important. Conservation tillage practices also help conserve soil and water along with contour farming and furrow diking. Chiseling and subsoiling can reduce soil compaction to increase water infiltration and storage.

Letter To The Editor

Mr. Dalton Wood:
Please find enclosed my check for another year to the Lynn County News.

On March 4, at about 7:20 a.m. I had an accident on the street here in Turlock. I waited at the curb to let the traffic pass, when it was safe and clear I started across the street, but, I didn't make it. I tripped on a bad place in the pavement then my right eye seemed to hit the pavement before my knees did. It broke my glasses and cut my eyebrow. I needed six stitches to close it. My eye is still black.

Fay (Mayberry) Boydston had open heart surgery on Oct. 25, 1984 and again on Dec. 5. She is in fair condition now. (She was B.J. "Bill" Mayberry's daughter) of the Dixie area. Eaye's husband was a barber in Tahoka (Glenn).

Two members of the Bill Hibdon family, formerly of Tahoka in the 20s and 30s, passed away within four months of each other. Wanda (Hibdon) Tittle, 57, died Oct. 1, 1984 and Jake Hibdon, 70, died Feb. 2, 1985.

If I can stay in one piece I'll make my 16th trip to the Old Settlers Reunion in June. I have traveled over 51,936 miles just on these trips. Altho I have made around 50 trips from California to Texas from June 1931. I was 72 last Dec. 15. I have walked 4,152 miles since April 10, 1979. My weight has gone down from 237 to 202. So, all of you heavy weights, start walking.

Very Sincerely Yours,
Raymond Griffin

There's Still Time To Soil Test

It's not too late to collect soil samples for testing to determine fertilizer needs for this year's crops.

Collecting soil samples now and getting them tested can help farmers get a jump on the spring rush at soil testing labs.

Once fertilizer needs are determined, farmers can place their orders. Again, by ordering early, they can avoid the spring rush. Also, fertilizers usually cost more in the spring when demand is greater and supplies tighter.

With fertilizer at hand, farmers can begin application when field conditions permit. This minimizes spring planting delays because of tight dealer schedules and reduces the potential for moisture loss just prior to planting. For more information concerning soil testing, contact the county Extension officer.

ALL 4-H'ERS CAN ENJOY A DOG PROJECT

Whether living in the city or on a farm, a 4-H member can take part in the 4-H Dog Care and Training Program and gain valuable learning experiences.

This program is one from which all 4-H members can benefit, points out Greg Henley, county 4-H program coordinator with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. It enables any youngster with an interest in animals to learn responsibility and basic care and management practices.

Specific objectives of the dog care and training program are these:

1. To learn about major dog breeds and be able to identify their characteristics.
2. To study the responsibilities of dog ownership.
3. To demonstrate dog care and management in feeding, care, handling, grooming and fitting.
4. To keep records of all costs and management practices.
5. To learn and follow dog health regulations, including first aid and simple treatments for ailments not requiring veterinary attention.
6. To train a dog to follow simple commands.
7. To understand the role of scientific research in dog husbandry.
8. To develop sportsmanship, cooperation, decision-making ability and public speaking skills through participation in demonstrations, tours, judging and exhibits.

strations, tours, judging and exhibits.

4-H'ers in the program can exhibit their animals at various dog shows over the state, including the annual State 4-H Dog Show, to compete for awards. Also, those who excel in the program can win awards provided by Ralston Purina Co., including an expense-trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago each fall and one member per state and six $1,000 scholarships at the national level.

More information about the 4-H dog care and training program is available from the County Extension office.

4-H Dairy Program Focuses On Animals, Products

Both the production and marketing of dairy products are emphasized in the 4-H dairy program.

This program offers 4-H members an opportunity to raise dairy animals and also to learn about the processing and marketing of dairy products and their nutritive value, points out Greg Henley, county 4-H program coordinator with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

The dairy program can offer an exciting challenge for 4-H'ers and can present numerous learning experiences.

Objectives of the 4-H dairy program are these:

1. To become aware of the scope and economic significance of the dairy industry.
2. To acquire skills in dairy production through ownership and care of dairy animals.
3. To learn marketing, processing, distribution, consumption and use of dairy products.
4. To learn and practice principles of cleanliness and sanitation as applied to the production and care of dairy products.
5. To learn the nutritive value of dairy products and promote their use.
6. To appreciate contributors and applications of scientific research to the dairy industry.
7. To develop sportsmanship, cooperation, decision-making ability and public speaking skills through participation in demonstrations, tours, judging and exhibits.

For those who excel in the dairy program, numerous awards are provided by the National 4-H Council, says Henley. These include expense-paid trips to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago each fall for state and regional winners and six $1,000 scholarships at the national level.

Additional information on the 4-H dairy program is available at the county Extension office.

4-H Commodity Marketing Program Teaches Marketing Skills

"Marketing" is a key work in today's world. People are involved in marketing products as well as themselves.

The 4-H commodity marketing program focuses on the marketing of various farm products and provides valuable learning experiences which youth can apply in their daily lives, says Greg Henley, county 4-H program coordinator with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Specific objectives of the 4-H commodity marketing program are these:

1. To learn basic economic marketing and management principles of a free marketing system.
2. To investigate the cash and futures markets.
3. To apply economic marketing and management principles and tools to other 4-H projects.

4-H'ers who excel in the program can reap a number of awards, including an expense-paid trip to one member per state to attend the Commodity Marketing Symposium held in Chicago each spring sponsored by the Chicago Board of Trade.

Henley points out that additional details about the 4-H commodity marketing as well as other 4-H projects and activities are available at the county Extension office.

NUTRITION ADVICE NOT ALWAYS ACCURATE--

Advice on nutrition has become almost as common as advice to the lovelorn in many popular magazines. "Most people wouldn't think of experimenting with their health, yet that's just what happens when they indiscriminately follow the advice given in many of these stories," says nutritionist Dr. Dymple Cooksey. A recent study by the American Council on Sciences and Health (ACSH) indicates the accuracy of information in magazine nutrition stories ranges from 20 to 95 percent. "Unfortunately, the ACSH study also indicates that some magazines with the most nutrition coverage are often the least reliable," adds Cooksey.

FARM DEBT PLAGUING AG--

Farm debt is like a heavy weight on the shoulders of many farmers today and has been the cause of increased farm liquidations, farm bankruptcies and agricultural loan delinquencies. Eighteen percent of the nation's farmers and ranchers have debt-asset ratios of more than 40 percent, notes an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System. The Great Lakes, Corn Belt and Northern Plains states have the highest concentration of debt-asset ratios greater than 40 percent. The Southern Plains, including Texas, is below the national average.

Texas was the first state to evolve a highway beautification program which made use of native trees, shrubs, and flowers, and which linked landscaping with safety measures and erosion control.

Weekly Health Tip

SMOKING AND PREGNANCY
 Placental abruption — the premature separation of the placenta from the uterus wall — raised the risk that the baby will die before or soon after birth, or be born prematurely. Doctors Penn State College of Medicine found that smoking during pregnancy is strongly related to one type of fatal abruption. Studying 45,470 pregnancies, the doctors found the date rate from this type of abruption was 3.3 per 1000 for babies of non-smokers, 4.7 per 1000 when mothers smoked 1 to 10 cigarettes a day while pregnant, and 5.2 per 1000 when smoking 11 to 20 cigarettes daily.
