WOODWORK

BY DALTON

THERE I WAS, talking to Miles Standish himself, one of the original pilgrims who came to settle this country in 1620, and I couldn't remember enough of my American history to ask intelligent questions.

This happened to me recently when we were privileged to visit a tourist attraction which is really worth visiting, in my opinion, the Plymouth Plantation at Plymouth, Mass. The spelling of the plantation, which is as accurate a replica of the original settlement as they could build, is different from that of the city, probably because it first was spelled with an "i".

If only I had had a chance to visit that place back when I was bored to a catatonic state by American history in high school. This would have made it much more real to me, and I could have learned a lot (I still could, if I had more time to spend there).

What they have done is rebuild the place with the same type of materials and workmanship as the original colonists used. The plantation is supposed to be just like it was in 1627, seven years after the Mayflower anchored a mile or so out in the harbor and the first group came ashore in small boats.

Before they let us into the stockaded enclosure of 15 or 20 structures, we saw a slide presentation and then were told that we would find living in the settlement some of the people who lived there in 1627. Museum personnel, probably college students (although some looked a little older), each have adopted a character from history and is living in the settlement. They have done some astounding historical research to learn all the things they know about each character, his or her background and extent of their knowledge, and to get the accents down perfect.

We were warned not to discuss anything modern; "Remember," said a museum official, "these people know absolutely nothing past the year 1627."

Miles Standish, living in the first house we came to, told me he was one of the original 180 or so persons who came over on the Mayflower. He also noted that many of the original group had died, but others came on other ships later. "It was a rough crossing, and many became quite ill," he recalled.

My wife and daughter unintentionally tested the "no modern knowledge" report. They asked one woman if they could take her picture. She looked at them blankly and replied, "I don't have a picture. Mr. Pitts has a picture, but he wouldn't like for you to take it."

Another young woman answered a question about what was growing in her garden on top of some heaped-up mounds. "Cowcubers," she said. She added that they had learned from the Indians that the mounds heaped up was like the earth giving birth to the plants. I asked her if anyone was in charge of administering local rules. She didn't understand the word "mayor", but pointed across the road saying "the governor lives there," and she added in a tone of wonder, "They have a table!"

In addition to Plymouth Plantation, we saw what is believed to be the original Plymouth Rock, now moved inland and placed in an archway. It is quite small, probably less than 15 feet by 10, and they dropped it twice moving it around over the years, so it has a cement patch.

We also saw the Mayflower II, which was built as nearly like the original Mayflower as possible and sailed from England to Massachusetts in 1959. This must have been quite an event, but I don't recall hearing about it at the time.

Anyway, it was interesting,

Asst. County Agent Resigns

Greg Hanley, assistant county agricultural agent for Lynn County, has resigned and his resignation was accepted by county commissioners in their regular meeting Monday.

Henley plans to work for a Tahoka-based organization, so he is not planning to move, he told commissioners. The Commissioners voted to seek a replacement for Henley as soon as possible.

All commissioners were present Monday. The only other noteworthy item of business was paying monthly bills.

Services Available For Handicapped Students In Area

Parents in the New Home and Wilson school districts are reminded that services are available for handicapped students ages 3-21. Also, students between birth and 22 inclusive, who are auditorially handicapped, or who have a vision problem and whose disabilities are so limited as to require the provision of special services in place of, or in addition to instruction in the regular classroom, will be served appropriately.

For further information call MetroCounty Special Services in Wolforth, 866-4276 or a school principal in Wilson or New Home schools.

Mini-Mall Idea Being Explored

Tahoka Chamber of Commerce directors met Tuesday, and a committee was named to check into a possible mini-mall project, after it was learned that at least two new small businesses might be interested in this kind of operation in the city.

C-C President Dalton Wood named Bernice Phipps, Gary White and Winston Wharton to a committee to investigate the possibilities.

informative and inspiring. So much so that I no longer sympathize with the grouch who said this country might be better off if Plymouth Rock had landed on the pilgrims instead of vice versa.

Murder Suspect's Story Clears Eleven Burglaries

Eleven Lynn County burglaries, dating back as far as October 1982 and as recent as October 1984 have been cleared by information given by a man charged with murder in San Angelo, Sheriff Stanley Krause said this week.

A 42-year-old Lubbock man accused of shooting two persons to death in an altercation at San Angelo a few months ago admitted many area burglaries, including the 11 in Lynn County, mostly during 1983. He has not been charged with any of the burglaries because he faces the murder charges, but the cases have been marked as cleared by officers. None of the stolen items have been recovered, because mostly the man took tires, batteries and cigarettes and sold them immediately, Krause said.

Among the burglaries cleared were five break-ins at New Home

Phillips 66 station, two burglaries of Das Kraut Haus in Wilson, one at Draw Paymaster Gin and three at Grassland Butane Co.

Carries Pistol

A 26-year-old Houston man was charged with unlawfully carrying a weapon after a clerk at Allsup's in O'Donnell reported a man came into the store with a gun stuck in his belt, then left early Sunday morning. Deputies Rex Childress and Randy Smith, who already were in the area, stopped a car five miles east of O'Donnell and arrested the suspect.

Ronnie Nolte reported to sheriff's officers that he had found a safe in a field in the north part of the county, about a mile east of a package store on U.S. 87. The safe still had some papers in and around it, and it was learned that it was missing from a home in Amarillo.

Molly Helmlinger of Lubbock reported to Tahoka police on Tuesday, July 2 that her billfold apparently was stolen while she was teaching summer classes at the high school between 1 p.m. and 5:15 p.m. It is described as maroon leather, square shaped with a coin purse on the outside.

Richard Sanchez of Tahoka reported that an unknown vehicle hit his legally parked 1974 Ford pickup at 2504 N. 2nd on Saturday.

Donald Williams of 1628 N. 3rd reported that a window on his 1973 Dodge RV camper had been broken on Wednesday.

Police arrested one Tahoka man for disorderly conduct and one Tahoka man for public intoxication during the past week.

Tickets issued during the past week include four for exhibition of acceleration, and one ticket each for defective vehicle and expired driver's license.

Tahoka Police Dept. received five complaints of fireworks being exploded in the city on July 4, and during the week there were two complaints of loud music and one of drag racing on S. Ave. J. Also a woman called police to tell them that her husband had thrown hot beans on her during a family argument.

In jail during the week were four persons for public intoxication, and one each for carrying a weapon and disorderly conduct.

The county has been handling all dispatch for the county and the city of Tahoka in the last two months. In May there were 186 calls, with 86 for the county and 100 for the city. In June there were 178 calls, with 85 for county officers and 93 for the Tahoka Police Dept.

Museum Board Elects Officers

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Green hosted a luncheon preceding the regular meeting of the Tahoka Pioneer Museum Board on July 8, at the museum.

All members were present except Maurice Huffaker and James F. Roberts. Jim Solomon was elected to fill the opening on the board, so the completed board now consists of 15 members.

The nominating committee consisting of Mel Leslie, Winston Wharton and Mary Louise Louder had presented a slate of officers at the meeting of June 10 and these officers were elected: Harold Green, president; Mable Gurley, vice president; Lottie Jo Walker, secretary-treasurer.

Harold Green reported that a new nominating committee, under the three-year revolving method, would have Wharton and Mrs. Louder continuing, and the board elected Weesie Carroll to the three-year term to complete the committee.

A donation of $500 by John C. Powell of Los Angeles, Calif. to recognize the pioneer Tahoka family of W.E. Henderson - 1902, Fannie N. Henderson - 1902, Odessa J. Powell - 1902, Johnnie Scott - 1902, was acknowledged and Dr. Kenneth Durham displayed the plaques for the special honor.

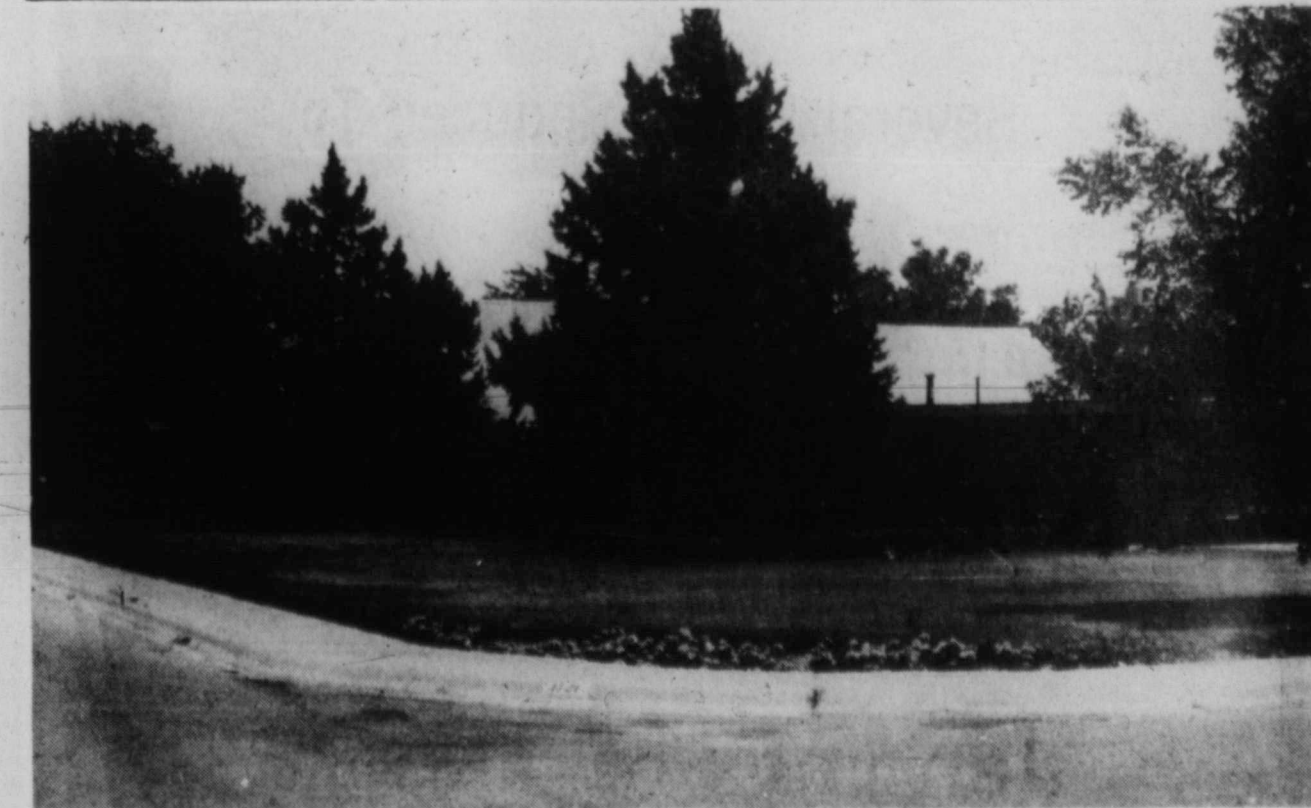

Following a discussion of the dedication of the Frank P. Hill Memorial Hall and the successful program that was presented by Harold Green in dedicating the hall it was agreed unanimously to make the dedicatory speech part of the minutes of the museum board and also, that a copy be presented to Mrs. Mae Hill.

A vote of appreciation was given to Solomon and Carl Reynolds for the "clean-up" job in the yard, and to Wharton for arranging for the painting of the outside of the building and to Auda Norman and Mrs. Mable Gurley for the ground cover, honeysuckle and iris plantings. Dr. Durham is preparing a complete history of the museum and would appreciate any assistance that is offered relative to the original records at the time of organization.

CERTIFICATE OF APPRECIATION — Tahoka Mayor Jim Solomon, right, awards Tom Cooper with a certificate of appreciation for Cooper's service as a member of the city council. Cooper has accepted the new elementary principal position at Prosper, Tx. this fall. "Tom has been dedicated to the citizens of Tahoka as a leader in our school, church and civic activities and he has been instrumental in all these activities," Solomon said.

Child Centered Approach in 4-H

The child-centered approach applies to all of 4-H.

Project leaders, organization leaders and parents find the child-centered approach helpful when working with youth, says Greg Henley, county 4-H program leader with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

The child-centered approach means that:

*focus is on the interests and needs of youth.

*members set their own goals.

*members make plans to reach their own goals.

*members carry out their plans.

Goal assessment is done with help, guidance, understanding, encouragement and recognition from leaders and parents.

The child-centered approach does not mean that children should do whatever they want. Young people need guidance, direction and help. This approach applies to general club rules, project and activity plans and operations, and special events in which 4-H'ers are involved. 4-H is a youth program, with guidance by adults.

The child-centered approach encourages the child's natural curiosity, enthusiasm, in-quisitiveness, energy and willingness to do the tasks at hand.

This approach helps leaders and parents to:

*consider individual needs and desires of youth.

*listen to what youth are saying.

*try to see things as a child sees them.

*provide a chance for your child to be involved in doing something.

*help youth decide what is reasonable.

*make youth feel wanted and respected.

*accept young people for what they are rather than expecting them to be what you want.

Leaders and parents using the child-centered approach for the first time may need to change leadership style. Different styles of leadership are appropriate at different times. When the group is formed, it usually depends on leaders for structure and guidance. After the initial organizing, a leader can work towards increased group decision making.

As the group members gain experience, the leader needs to be more group-centered to allow for maximum development of members.

Cotton Trade Team Set: Bob Squires, Lubbock cooperative leader, will head a Cotton Council International trade team that leaves July 12 for Taiwan, Hong Kong, Indonesia and Malaysia.

Joining Squires on the trip to discuss U.S. cotton export sales possibilities will be Al Barnett, Lubbock merchant; Clark Burnett, Memphis merchant; and Layton Woolf, Litchfield Park, Ariz., cotton producer. The team will be accompanied by Ed Deariso of USDA's Foreign Agricultural Service, Washington and Frank Waddle, director of CCI's Far East Operations, Hong Kong Cotton Council.

East Europeans To Visit: Cotton Council International, the overseas arm of the National Cotton Council, is making efforts to capitalize on new opportunities for U.S. cotton exports in eastern Europe.

It's bringing a group of textile representatives and fiber buyers from Hungary and Romania to the Cotton Belt July 13-17 for a special orientation tour. Stops will include Washington, D.C.; Memphis; Greenwood, Miss.; Harlingen and Lubbock, Tex.; and Bakersfield and Fresno, California.

U.S. cotton exports to eastern Europe have traditionally been low because of the area's political and geographic proximity to Russia. The Soviet's limited export potential in recent years, however, has opened up new possibilities for U.S. cotton sales.

Jones Heads Cotton Foundation: Frank B. Jones, Lamesa, Tex., cotton grower, has been named president of The Cotton Foundation. He succeeds Harlingen producer Tommy R. Funk who is now board chairman.

L.P. Corn, Columbus, Ga., warehouseman, was elected treasurer, and Dr. Arlie L. Bowling, Memphis, executive director and secretary.

Cotton Extension Award Created: A $10,000 award will be presented annually to the public Extension worker or team whose educational activities contribute significantly to progress in the U.S. cotton industry.

The award has been established by the Agricultural Chemical Group of Hoescht-Roussel Agri-Vet Company and The Cotton Foundation which will give another $5,000 to the recipient's employer to support the recipient.

NOTICE OF INTENT TO IMPLEMENT RATES

General Telephone Company of the Southwest in accordance with the Public Utility Regulatory Act and the Rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas gives notice of its intent to implement new exchange access rates for the provision of shared tenant and tenant resale services.

These proposed rates are applicable to customers of General Telephone Company of the Southwest, excluding hotel/motel customers, who provide local exchange telephone service of General Telephone Company of the Southwest to their tenants or patrons on a resale or shared use basis. This resale or shared arrangement is normally provided utilizing a customer-provided PABX or other similar control switch capable of common control processing of other features commonly associated with a PABX "Smart" switch.

These proposed rates are designed to recover costs on a usage basis for local exchange telephone service access and are identical to General Telephone's "Optional Measured Service" rates. The monthly access rate will be $28.95 per trunk line and the usage rates are as follows:

Over	Up To and Including	Band	Set Up	Full Rate Period Each Minute
0	7 miles	A	$ .025	$ .015
7	14 miles	B	.035	.021
14	21 miles	C	.050	.030
21	28 miles	D	.070	.042
28		E	.090	.054

As this is a new service offering, we are unable to determine the number of customers who may be affected. Currently, there are no known prospective customers. Until any customer utilizes this new offering, there will be no effect on the revenues of the telephone company, and in any event, the telephone company does not expect revenues to be affected by more than 2 1/2 percent. These proposed rates, where applicable, will provide tariffed local exchange access to customers who then will provide shared or resale services to tenants.

These proposed rates have been suspended by the Public Utility Commission of Texas and will become effective as proposed or modified by order of the Commission on a date to be determined by the commission.

The proposed rate schedule is on file with the Commission for public inspection and is also available at any business office of General Telephone Company of the Southwest. Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumers Affairs Division at (512)458-0223 or (512)458-0227, or (512)458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

Queries to Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, indicate more than a little confusion in the countryside about Texas requirements for agricultural workers' compensation coverage.

And with the annual influx of migrant and seasonal hoe-hands underway, notes PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, a review of those requirements is in order.

Until early in 1984 when a state district judge ruled the exemption unconstitutional, farmworkers generally were exempt from compensation coverage requirements in Texas law. The ruling was appealed by Attorney General Jim Mattox, after which the Workers' Compensation for Farmworkers bill was passed during the Texas Legislature's 1984 special session.

Provisions of the law, according to Johnson, are the result of a compromise between agricultural employer representatives and labor groups who for many years have fought for blanket coverage of all farmworkers under workers' compensation law.

The new law, which became effective January 1 of this year, provides that all "migrant" workers, those whose work requires them to be away from home overnight, are to be covered, as are seasonal workers doing the same work at the same time and at the same location as migrant workers. A seasonal worker is one employed temporarily to do seasonal work but not required to be away from home overnight.

However, seasonal workers not working with migrants, if the employer's annual payroll is less than $25,000, are exempt unless employed on a truck farm, vineyard or orchard. The $25,000 seasonal worker exemption is to be adjusted each year for inflation.

Coverage for non-migrant, non-seasonal workers, such as permanent employees, is to be phased in over a six-year period. For the first three years, 1985, 1986 and 1987, workers are to be covered only in operations where the employer's annual payroll is $75,000 or more. In 1988, 1989 and 1990, the payroll exemption level drops to $50,000.

Beginning in 1991, all workers employed by an employer with a payroll of $25,000 or more are to be covered. In future years the same $25,000 payroll figure will be used to determine coverage requirements, except that it will be adjusted each year for inflation.

However, beginning with 1991, the number of exempted, non-migrant, non-seasonal employees will be limited to two, whatever the employer's payroll.

Farm or ranch workers covered by workers' compensation insurance will be entitled to payment of medical expenses and disability pay if he or she loses more than one week's work as the result of an on-the-job injury. Disability pay, called a "temporary total disability payment," is to equal two-thirds of regular pay but not to exceed $189 per week.

SPS' TOLK STATION UNITS NO. 1 AND 2 — Near Muleshoe, Texas, both are producing electricity now. Wyoming coal is burned in steam boilers in the 20-stories-tall boilerhouses, center. Then steam flow drives each of the 561,000-kilowatt turbine-generators, which produce the electricity. The boiler flue gasses are cleaned in baghouses before exiting 400-foot stacks, right.

SPS 'TOLK 2' Now Operating

Southwestern Public Service Company (SPS) recently put into commercial service a power plant generation unit that can meet the electricity needs of 225,000 people.

The coal-fueled, 561,000-kilowatt unit, located at SPS' Tolk Station near Muleshoe, was brought into service June 30 for about $287 million, on schedule and under budget.

It is the second unit at the Muleshoe site. The first unit was put into commercial service in August 1982.

'Tolk No. 2' is Southwestern's fifth coal-fueled unit. The steam generating boilers of all five units burn low-sulfur, Western coal from Wyoming mines.

"We are particularly proud that we can build and finance plants at far less eventual cost to consumers than can most electric utilities," said Bert Ballengee, president and chief operating officer of Southwestern Public Service. "We strive to keep electricity affordable, and our efficient, lower-cost plants help us achieve that goal."

Tolk No. 2 was constructed for $512 per kilowatt of installed capacity -- significantly below the $1,086 projected national average cost per kilowatt of comparable coal-fueled units coming into service this year, Ballengee said.

"The use of more coal and less natural gas as boiler fuel in the plants also saves our customers money," the utility president added. "Coal is the least-expensive boiler fuel practical for Southwestern. We estimate that using coal in our fuel mix will save our customers $215 million this year alone."

The relative fuel-cost savings will continue to increase, Ballengee said, because Tolk Unit No. 2 in fiscal 1986 will increase generation by coal to about 76 per cent of SPS' total electricity production.

SPS designs, engineers and oversees construction of its own power plants, Ballengee notes. "We are one of only a handful of electric utilities in the United States that can control costs to customers by using an in-house group to design power plants. Almost all other utilities must rely on consultants, making those utilities' power plant cost more."

Tolk Unit No. 2 is almost a duplicate of Unit No. 1, said Jim Matthews, SPS vice president, generation plant design and construction. The units share some large equipment, including the on-site coal-handling system, water treatment facilities, and offices and control room. A major difference between the units is that Unit No. 2's 'Baghouse', the fabric filter system that prevents coal fly ash from entering the atmosphere, was designed by SPS engineers.

General construction contractor for Tolk Station was Missouri Valley Inc., of Amarillo; the electrical contract work was by

CLEANING TIPS

Along with backyard barbecues, bike rides, trail hikes and beach outings, come special cleaning problems that need special cleaning solutions. Here are a few tips to make your cleaning jobs easier.

Problem: Crusty barbecue grills

Solution: Put on your rubber gloves. Place grill in plastic garbage bag with hot water and one-half cup of Cascade or Top Job. Soak for several hours. Rinse until clean.

Problem: Soils—garden dirt, grass, clay

Solution: Pre-treat stains with Biz, an all-fabric oxygen bleach that is used for extra stain removal power. Soak garment in warm water—hot water will set some stains. The heavier the stain, the longer the garment should soak. HINT: Soak white garments separately from colored ones. Machine wash with a heavy-duty detergent like Tide, safe for cleaning all fabric types.

Problem: Cleaning greasy dirt from lawn furniture and screens

Solution: Apply Top Job or Mr. Clean directly on a sponge. Liquid cleaners are the quickest, most direct way to get rid of greasy dirt. They leave surfaces shiny.

Problem: Blood, ketchup, and grease stains on clothes

Solution: For localized spots and stains, pre-treat with Era-Plus directly on the spot and rub it in. Launder as usual. Enzymes will break down the stains so soils will easily come clean in the wash cycle.

Problem: Ring around the tub/mildew stains

Solution: Use Spic and Span Pine straight from the bottle. It disinfects and deodorizes at the same time. For really tough stains on your porcelain bathtub, use a cleanser like Comet with chlorine bleach. It literally "bleaches out" stains.

ASPIRIN + C

If you take aspirin, chew or crush the tablets before swallowing, advises Dr. M.I. Blake of the U. of Ill. College of Pharmacy. Aspirin is most apt to cause bleeding if large particles contact the stomach lining. Dr. Blake suggests the crushed aspirin be taken suspended in orange juice to replace vitamin C which aspirin tends to extract from the human system.

Letter to The Editor

Dear Editor,

We attended the old settlers reunion on June 22, enjoyed the lunch and saw many old friends, but it's amazing at the Lynn County people that don't attend, we know many are busy at that season of the year.

We also went to the Three Lakes Reunion, and enjoyed it very much. I would like to express my appreciation to the people of the Methodist Church of Tahoka for letting us use their building for this reunion. They must be a wonderful and understanding group of Christian people. I believe I can safely say, all who attended felt the same way that I do, so let us thank you again.

Sincerely,
G.W. and Myrtle Hickerson
Tyler, Texas

Dear Mr. Dalton Wood:

Just a note to tell you I am a long-time reader of the Lynn County News and to tell you how pleased I was to see the two articles in the June 20 issue of "The News" about birds, 'Hummingbirds' and 'Where Birds Hide.' I hope you will continue with these types of articles. I long ago became interested in birds and wildlife; since living in California I have been associated with a local Audubon Society (San Fernando Valley).

To go on bird walks is a wonderful way to forget the troubles of the world for a few hours, and enjoy the beautiful outdoors. Even at home it is a joy to step outside early in the mornings, to see and hear the birds and be able to identify them, and their songs. Also identify beautiful butterflies, etc. I have seen six species of hummingbirds in California and have something over 400 species of birds in my "Life List."

I grew up in the Draw-Redwine community, moving to Ropesville for a short time before coming to California. My husband (William Newton Lewis) grew up at New Home and came to California to work for McDonnell-Douglas Corp. for 38 years. He also enjoyed the beautiful outdoors and wildlife. There are so many beautiful places here to enjoy nature.

By the by, I never miss reading your article "Woodwork". Thank you for it!

Sincerely,
Mrs. Thelma Jo Lewis
Woodland Hills, Calif.

BUG ALERT

Thanks to science, help has arrived for those who have faced a household flea invasion. Research demonstrated the need for a product that would control fleas by actually breaking their life cycle.

Now, an insect control product has been developed to do just that. It kills adult fleas on contact and contains an insect growth regulator (IGR) that prevents hatching flea eggs from becoming adult, reproducing fleas.

For effective flea control, it is important to understand their life cycle. Fleas require a blood meal to survive and produce eggs. The eggs can become larvae within eight to ten days. An insecticide that stops these larvae from developing into adults effectively breaks the life cycle. Thus, it helps control recurring flea problems.

The new flea control product is Raid Flea Killer Plus. It's designed for use in the home and on pet bedding areas. It works with long-lasting residual action for as long as 120 days to prevent pre-adult fleas from developing.

Effective flea control also includes treatment of the pet and outdoor areas. In fact, experts recommend a system approach that covers these three target areas: the home, the pet and the yard. For the pet, choose a product approved for use on pets by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). After treating the pet, use an outdoor product designed for hose-end application to treat the lawn and shrubbery.

Indoors, launder the pet's bedding, then treat it and other infested areas (carpet, upholstered furniture) with Raid Flea Killer Plus. Pay special attention to cracks and crevices around baseboards. Then, use an insecticide room fogger to flush adult fleas from their hiding places. This technique activates the fleas and helps assure that they contact treated areas—and die.

Finally, vacuum floors and upholstery in treated rooms. Destroy removable vacuum bags and treat the inside of permanent ones with the flea killer. This helps assure that no flea finds a new home in the vacuum cleaner!

For a free copy of a pamphlet, "The System Approach to Flea Control", write: Raid Flea Killer, P.O. Box 8 - Dept NP, Racine, Wisconsin 53401.

WATCH UP FOR POWER LINES

Out on the job, power lines bring needed electricity to the site. But they can be dangerous... if you don't watch up! You need to be especially careful when you are handling re-bar, pipes, scaffolding, or tools that are long enough to contact overhead lines. Contact with power lines is also a potential danger to operators of front-end loaders, dump trucks and any other equipment of unusual height.

Keep an eye up for power lines. Watch up, for safety's sake.

HAY WEATHERING LOSSES

A demonstration in Gonzales County by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service last year showed the severity of weathering losses of hay stored outdoors. Large round bales of hay were stored by several different methods from July to January during which time about 20 inches of rain fell. Weathered parts of the bales were removed, weighed and checked for quality. Largest losses were in bales stored on top of the ground because the hay acted as a wick and soaked up moisture from the ground. Uncovered bales on the ground lost 220 pounds on the average (16 percent of their weight) while covered bales on the ground lost 110 pounds. Those that were uncovered but stored on pallets off the ground lost 80 pounds on the average while covered bales on pallets lost only 35 pounds. Energy content of the weathered hay was reduced by 50 percent of the energy in the unweathered hay.

STANLEY GLEN BUTLER

Stanley Glen Butler, born May 13, 1956, was arrested at a south Austin shopping center by DPS narcotics agents on May 16 last year on charges of Delivery of a Controlled Substance.

The charges stemmed from an undercover investigation of Butler that culminated when he tried to sell nine grams of methamphetamine to a DPS agent.

While Butler was being searched by DPS agents, a second quantity of methamphetamine was found in his billfold and he was additionally charged with Possession of a Controlled Substance--less than 28 grams.

Prosecutors added one more serious charge to Butler's list--Habitual Criminal--prior to his grand jury hearing.

When Butler failed to appear for a Nov. 13 1984, court hearing, a warrant was issued for his arrest.

Law enforcement officials say at least three additional warrants have been issued for his arrest.

On Oct. 31, 1984, he was charged with Theft by Appropriation in connection with the disappearance of a stereo system from an Austin business where he had been employed.

Nov. 14, 1984, a warrant was issued charging him with Possession of Dangerous Drug.

On Feb. 11, 1985, Butler was charged with Theft by Check out of Travis County.

Investigators believe Butler might be driving a 1972 white over orange Chevrolet blazer.

A reward of up to $1,000 is being offered for information leading to Butler's arrest. Anyone with information about Butler's location is asked to call the Texas Crime Stoppers Advisory Council toll-free at 1-800-252-8477 or their local Crime Stoppers program.

INCREASING FOOD SAFETY AT HOME

To avoid the possibility of contracting food-borne illness from foods prepared at home, Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionists recommend the following: Be sure to wash your hands carefully before handling food and wash raw food very well. Be especially careful to wash your cutting board and knives after each use, since cooked foods are often contaminated with raw foods that have been cut on the same board. Heat foods at least 155 degrees F. before serving and keep cold foods well-refrigerated until serving time. Refrigerate or freeze left-overs immediately after a meal, and never allow foods to stand at room temperature for more than 2 hours.

Facts From The Society Of American Florists

Q. I've noticed that some of the leaves on my Alstroemeria are beginning to yellow, even though the flowers are fine. Any ideas how I can prevent this?

A. The leaves on the Alstroemeria, also known as Inca or Peruvian Lily, often yellow and die before the flowers do. You can help prevent this by removing the lower leaves and using a cut flower preservative.

Alstroemeria which come from South America, are relatively new to the florist industry. They should be kept cool, especially at night and removed from both heat sources and drafts.

Two very popular types of Alstroemeria are the pink "butterfly" type and the "Orchid". There are three basic color groups of this lovely flower...red, pink and yellow, with intermediate shades also available in apricot, salmon, purple and white.

HOME FOOD SAFETY IMPORTANT--"We have a far greater chance of contracting a food-borne illness as a result of our own negligence than from unsafe food products," says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist. The recent tragic food poisoning incidents involving cheese and milk have left many consumers concerned about the safety of foods they buy at the grocery store, says Marilyn Haggard. But these incidents are very small in number when compared to the Food and Drug Administration's estimate of 60-75 million cases of food-borne illnesses per year, most of which occur at home, she says. "The bacteria that cause most food-borne illnesses occur naturally in raw foods, so it's up to the consumer to make sure these bacteria are destroyed through proper handling and preparation," says the specialist.
