

Book Cassettes Now Available At Library

The Lynn County Library now has a limited number of books on cassette tapes, which may be checked out just like regular books, according to librarian Shirley Draper.

"These books on tape are especially good for persons who drive back and forth to work in nearby cities," Mrs. Draper said. "They also are good for persons who have vision problems which make it difficult for them to read."

Seven books are now available on tapes at the library. They include: Deadlock (Sara Paretsky), The Auerback Will (Stephen Birmingham), Possessions (Judith Michael), On Wings of Eagles (Ken Follett), Heartburn (Nora Ephron), The Grapes of Wrath (John Steinbeck), A Farewell To Arms (Ernest Hemingway).

Other new books recently added to the library here include: The Photographer's Handbook (John Hedgecoe), Skeleton Crew (Stephen King), Yeager (Yeager and Janos), Cold Sassy Tree (Oliver Ann Burns), Lonesome Dove (McMurtry), Growing Strong In The Seasons of Life (Charles R. Swindoll), Jubal Sackett (L'Amour), An Excess of Love (Cathy Cash Spellman), Queenie (Michael Korda).

New books for young people include: The Boy Next Door (Vicky Marin), It's Not The End of the World (Judy Blume), Are You There God? It's Me Margaret (Judy Blume), Fifteen (Beverly Clary), Return to Oz (Joan Vinge), Where The Red Fern Grows (Wilson Rawls).

WOODWORK

BY DALTON

A CERTAIN minister lost his job after the church leaders looked at his college transcript. They saw "mass communications" on there and thought he had been talking with Catholics.

On the other hand there was this Irishman who landed in New York for the first time and tried to cross the street and almost got run down by cars. An Irish-American policeman grabbed him and recognizing a countryman, explained to him that he needed to look at the traffic light. "When it's green, you go. When it's red, nobody goes. Understand? You go on green."

"Green. Shure," the Irishman said. He stood and watched the traffic light cycle a few times: green, yellow, red. Noting the short period of the yellow light, he called out to the policeman: "Faith, but ye don't give the protestants much time to get across, do ye?"

These are not very good jokes, but at least they don't have anything to do with our recent vacation, which already is fading into memory. So much so, I'm planning to go someplace else as soon as all

Three Persons Sentenced In Assault Cases Here

Three Tahoka men pleaded guilty of aggravated assault in two separate cases and were sentenced and fined by District Judge George Hansard in Tahoka last Friday.

Jerbacio Rodriguez and Pedro Prieta (Pete) Castaneda were each assessed 10-year prison terms, probated, fined $1000 and ordered to pay $232 restitution in the beating of a 43-year-old Tahoka man they left at the cemetery on June 16.

Porfirio Garcia Garcia also was given a 10-year probated sentence, fined $1000 and ordered to pay $6288 on the hospital bill of another 43-year-old Tahoka man assaulted in May.

A theft report and a case of criminal mischief were investigated by Lynn County sheriff's officers during the week. Margaret Morton told officers that someone entered the garage at her home in the 1000-block of Green St. in Wilson the night of July 15 and took an electric edger and cord.

Tommy Jack Taylor of Slaton reported that someone started up his tractor and ran it into the door of a shop at his farm a mile west of Southland in Lynn County, damaging the door and the tractor. The incident occurred Monday night.

In jail during the week were two persons for public intoxication, and one each for assault and resisting arrest, fleeing and no liability insurance, second offense, and driving while intoxicated and no drivers license.

Tahoka police were busy during the past week investigating a case of criminal mischief as an unknown person(s) fired bb's or pellets through glass fronts of several businesses in Tahoka after business hours on Wednesday, July 10. Plate-glass windows valued at $400 each were reported damaged at Heritage Furniture, located at 1452 Ave. J, Ayer-Way Cleaners located at 1808 N. 5th, Paris Cafeteria, two windows damaged at Jack Miller's Furniture Store located at 1644 Main and one window damaged at both Tahoka Auto Supply and Bill Chancy's Exxon.

Police also investigated a theft at Bartley-Weaver on Monday night as someone entered the business through the ceiling and stole two cases of Banvil herbicide and five cases of Round-up herbicide and one dolly-cart. Value of these items was set at more than $2200.

Police arrested a Tahoka man during the past week for failure to appear on an outstanding warrant in Slaton. The subject was placed in Lynn County jail for failure to appear. Slaton police department confirmed the outstanding warrant.

Tickets issued during the past week include one for no driver's license and running stop sign and one ticket for running stop sign. Several warning tickets were also issued during the past week.

Superintendent Resigns; Gardner Named Successor

Supt. Dale Summitt, who has had a strained relationship with the Tahoka School Board and many members of the school faculty for several months, last Friday resigned as superintendent. Former elementary principal Clifton Gardner, who had retired earlier this year, was named superintendent of the school system.

Summitt, who had been asked by the school board to resign some weeks back, had two years to go on his contract. At that time, Summitt had refused to resign, putting the school board in the position of either keeping the superintendent or paying off his contract for two years.

A compromise evidently was reached, as the minutes of last Friday's called meeting state that Summitt is to be paid for 15 months, plus $1,000 moving expenses. This means the school will pay Summitt $51,490. Such a move was voted unanimously Friday with all seven school board members present.

Board President Joe Hays said Tuesday that school trustees believed the expense of paying off Summitt's contract was justified.

"The board felt that the education of our children is the most important factor to consider in this situation. It all boils down to philosophical differences between the school board and the superintendent. We honestly believe we did the best thing for the students and the community...the positive side of this situation is that we're looking forward to a very good 1985-86 school year with what we believe is a top-notch administrative staff headed by Mr. Gardner for the coming school year."

Summitt, who had vacation time coming, was on vacation this week and was not available for comment. Last Friday, the school board voted 5-1 to lease-purchase an NCR Computer system with three terminals and two printers. A bid by Melvin Lehman to install new fluorescent fixtures in Tubb and Gardner buildings was accepted.

The 1985-86 budget of $2,509,340 was unanimously adopted. This will put expenditures for the coming year at about the same level as this year after amendments to the current budget.

The board also met last Monday and last Thursday, making three meetings for the week. The budget was studied Monday, and several faculty members were hired. There were executive sessions in all three meetings.

Among those hired were Martha Fuller as reading teacher, Donald G. Beard for migrant program, Nita Beard for elementary physical education, Jetty Jo Paul as computer instructor and business teacher and Henry Paul as science teacher.

During Thursday night's regular meeting, Business Manager Loretta Tekell reported a balance in all funds on June 30 of $1,151,623, and that tax collections were 94.4 per cent complete with $764,098 received.

The board voted to buy two used 1982 Pontiacs and to sell a 1978 Oldsmobile. Resignation of Karen Taylor Nichols was accepted.

Texas melons safe to eat, official says

(AUSTIN)—"The only way someone could get hurt eating a Texas watermelon is if they got hit in a seed-spitting contest," Texas Department of Agriculture Assistant Commissioner for Marketing Susan DeMarco has said.

"Texas has been marketing watermelon commercially for 50 years, with half of the 220,000-ton annual crop shipped out of state, largely to the Midwest. We know of no health problems ever associated with eating Texas melons," said DeMarco.

"Every year Texas harvests over 42,000 acres of watermelon. It's a $34 million-a-year crop for our farmers. The recent pesticide contamination problems associated with California-grown melons have hurt consumer sales nationwide. To help ensure the marketability of Texas-grown watermelon, TDA will make special use of its Taste of Texas logo," DeMarco said. "Taste of Texas price cards will be available to Texas melon growers/shippers and produce buyers for use by retail stores in both Texas and in other states. The purpose of the price cards is to help consumers identify Texas-grown melons."

"The red-white-and-blue Taste of Texas logo is a trademark of TDA that Texas food processors and retail stores now use in their individual marketing and sales strategies. By special use of the Taste of Texas logo, Texas melon growers and shippers can reassure consumers that when purchasing a Texas watermelon, they are buying the freshest, sweetest and safest melons grown in the United States."

Scanning Social Security

BY BOOTH ROBBINS

Social Security At 50 Social Security reaches a major milestone on Aug. 14. It was just 50 years ago that the Social Security Act was signed into law. It set into motion a major institution that is just as much a part of America for people who have grown up since the depression as public education or the post office. Just about everyone is affected by Social Security. Over 9 out of 10 workers pay into the program. And well over 36 million people—more than one in seven persons—receive monthly disability, survivors and retirement benefits.

About $1.54 trillion in retirement and survivors payments were made from 1949 through June 1985, and about $191 billion in disability benefits were paid from 1957 through June. The current value of just the survivor protection under Social Security is worth nearly as much as the face value of all private insurance in force.

Under a pay-as-you-go system, Social Security taxes from today's workers finance benefits for current beneficiaries. Using Social Security as a mechanism, it's a way for one generation to care for another.

The impact of Social Security on the lives of our citizens has been nothing short of revolutionary. Benefits provide a modest base of income for most retirees who are able to live more independent lives. Millions of children can count on benefits should a parent die or start getting retirement or disability checks. And four out of five workers are insured for disability benefits and can get payments if they are unable to work for at least 12 months.

Social Security has come a long way in five decades. The program works because it reflects the needs of the people. Social Security is sensitive to needed changes and responsive to challenges. It is a program all Americans can be proud of as it starts its second half century of providing service.

Helpful Hints

Facts From The Society Of American Florists

Q. I have been searching for a long-lasting, colorful, flowering plant for my living room. Do you have any suggestions?

A. Yes!...the brilliant, attractive bloom and exquisite foliage of the bromeliad plant is an exciting addition to any room and sure to be a conversation piece.

Bromeliads have a tremendous will to survive and offer a variety of color combinations including brilliant reds, oranges, and pinks. The beautiful bloom of the bromeliad will last 4-6 months. Most of them will produce offshoots or "pups" and should be removed and replanted when they are about 1/2 the size of the mother plant.

The roots of the bromeliad like to be kept moist but never soggy. Bright, diffused light is needed by most genera.

Taxes For Schools Highest In History

State aid to local schools increased by $1 billion last year to a total of $4.6 billion. To pay for it, the special session of the legislature last summer enacted the largest tax bill in the state's history.

Not to be outdone, school trustees in the 1,068 local school districts levied the largest school property tax increase in history--$519 million--for a total tax bill of $4.1 billion.

Locally, the Tahoka ISD's tax levy was increased by 4.9 percent for 1984-85 as compared to a 14.3 percent increase for the average school district in Texas.

The figures come from the latest issue of "Bench Marks for 1985-86 School District Budgets in Texas", an annual publication of the Texas Research League, an Austin-based, educational corporation engaged in governmental research.

School budgets adopted last year called for spending $3,103 per student for current operations. Tahoka's budget provided for $2,874.44 per student based on the 740 students in average daily attendance in 1983-84.

Four of each five of these dollars were spent for salaries. Statewide payroll expense averaged $2,487 per student, as compared to $2,168 in Tahoka ISD. Payroll expense is a combination of salary levels and staffing patterns.

The average salary for classroom teachers paid by Tahoka ISD in 1983-84 was $18,203. The average among all school districts in Texas was $20,117 per classroom teacher.

There was an average of one teacher for 14.6 students in Tahoka ISD compared to a statewide pupil-teacher ratio of 1 to 16.2. Because of small classes, especially at the high school level, and abbreviated teaching schedules, many classes have more than the average number of students. The new law requires no more than 22 students in kindergarten, first, or second grade classes next year.

School property tax rates in 1984-85 average $0.622 per $100 of market value (selling price). The school tax on a property selling for $100,000 was $622 in the average school district. Locally, the rate on market value in Tahoka ISD was $.849 or $849 on a property selling for $100,000.

O'Donnell's tax levy was increased by .8 percent; Wilson's 20.5 percent; and New Home's reduced by 1.3 percent.

O'Donnell's budget provided for $4,109.95 per student based on the 392 students; Wilson $3658.45 for 254 students; and New Home, $4,453.56 for 208 students.

Payroll expense averaged $2962 in O'Donnell; $2730 in Wilson and $3290 in New Home. Average salary for classroom teachers paid by O'Donnell was $19,847; Wilson, $15,226 and New Home, $16,559.

O'Donnell had an average of one teacher for 12.7 students; Wilson, 12.4 and New Home, 11.6.

The rate on market value in O'Donnell ISD was $.856 or $856 on property selling for $100,000;

Wilson, $.811 or $811.00; New Home, $1.069 or $1069.00.

If the property were a home-stead or owned by a senior citizen, the school tax would be less because of various exemptions. Open-space land that qualified would be valued on its productivity value rather than market value.

Revenue lost from exemptions totaled $780 million, which was $99.5 million more than the total for the previous year. To balance school budgets, the revenue loss from exemptions was imposed upon other taxpayers in the school district.

As compared to the billion-dollar increase in state aid last year, only $129 million more state funds will be distributed to schools next year. Only 492 districts will get more; the other 576 districts will receive less. This strategy to equalize pre-supposes that local property taxes will remain about the same. However, the large property tax increase last year, the report concludes, substantially negated the equalization improvement that the legislature tried to achieve.

Dear Friends,

Many, many thanks for your very kind thoughts of consideration, and sympathy towards us, on the sad loss of our Mother, and wife to our Dad, and also, the wonderful things that you all did to help our Dorothy get over here, we will never forget, and we thank you from the bottom of our hearts.

Wales is such a little place,
Not big like the USA.
With miles of sea between us,
We're so very far away.

But with friends and neighbors such as you,
Those miles don't seem a lot.
And you have a slight advantage,
You have our sister Dot.

But all her family thanks you,
For all your love and care,
Of thoughts of sympathy to us,
We'd like you all to share.

So God bless you all, and thanks again
And a special thanks from Mother,
For she will rest in peace today,
Knowing we were all together.

DAYTON PARKER

HEALTHY HEART

In Monroe County, Florida, the water supply for years was rain water (1/2 parts per million hardness), then was changed to deep well water (200 ppm hardness). Within four years, deaths from cardiovascular diseases were 60% fewer. This indicates that hard water (containing calcium, magnesium, iron) is healthier for heart and blood vessels than soft or distilled water. Your pharmacist can supply mineral supplements for your soft water.

JULY 18 85

TDA to direct Task Force for Water Study

(AUSTIN)—A national organization has chosen Texas for a comprehensive study on rural water quality problems. Additionally, the Texas Department of Agriculture has been picked to coordinate this year-long project, and Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower has been named chairman of the 24-member Texas Rural Water Task Force which will oversee the effort.

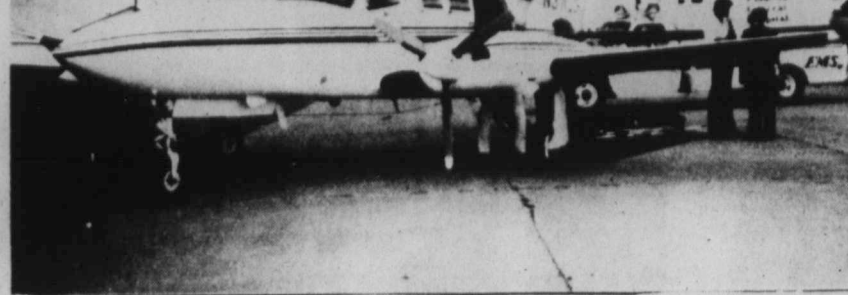

Those three announcements were made June 26 by Kathi Stanley, deputy director of the National Demonstration Water Project, Inc., a Washington-based organization which has assisted numerous rural areas to develop and maintain water supply systems and has conducted several national groundwater studies. Funding for the Texas Rural Water Task Force and its technical study totals $150,000 and is being provided by the Ford Foundation and the William H. Donner Foundation. TDA will also provide some staff and in-kind support for the project.

"To most of us in Texas, getting a clear, clean glass of water simply means turning on the tap," Hightower said at the first meeting of the task force. "But over 1 1/2 million Texas farmers, ranchers, farmworkers and other rural residents still cannot take their water quality for granted. According to an EPA-funded study, two-thirds of these water sources may be contaminated at levels above federal standards. The goal of this task force is to develop legislative and administrative steps that will bring these 1 1/2 million Texans into the 'mainstream' of water quality standards that most of us now take for granted.

"This is truly a blue-ribbon task force," Hightower said. "The NDWP has named to the 24-member panel various rural residents who must depend on rural water supplies, including farmers, water supply corporation officials, conservationists and consumers. These individuals reflect a wide diversity of experience, expertise and geographic interests. I look forward to working with them—and the appropriate state and federal officials—in the months to come as we try to find answers to problems that have gone unaddressed for too long," Hightower said.

"And don't think parts of rural Texas don't have water quality problems," Hightower stressed. "We have focused a lot of attention on the growth problems of this state recently. But in planning for the future, we have forgotten that 10 percent of our population must still get its drinking water from individual wells. For these million-and-a-half people, there currently is no government agency—state or federal—which is responsible for monitoring or improving the quality of their water," Hightower said.

"Here are just a few examples of how serious the water quality problems in Texas still are:

- A State Health Department official says at least half of approximately 3,000 water systems, each serving fewer than 500 people, fail to meet minimum health standards every year.
- Up to 40 percent of the residences served by independent wells or small water systems may have bacteria levels which are greater than national standards. Nearly two percent of these drinking water systems are in violation of the standards for swimming or water skiing.
- In 1982, according to the State Health Department, 51 of 86 public water systems that were non-compliant because of high nitrate levels were in rural areas.
- In 71 Texas counties, five percent or more of all households still have no indoor bathrooms.

"The Texas Department of Agriculture first became concerned about the water quality issue last year when arsenic showed up in the ground-water supplies of Howard and Martin counties," Hightower said. "The 'experts' said it would never happen. TDA is also monitoring for DDT and DDE under EPA contract and working with the Texas Department of Water Resources on the State Ground Water Strategy, also funded by EPA. Rural water quality is also being affected by municipal, hazardous or nuclear waste disposal, oil and gas operations including waste and brine injection, and strip mining," Hightower said. "These are just a few of the problems this task force must confront over the next year."

In announcing that Texas has been chosen for the rural water quality study and that TDA and Hightower will direct the task force, Stanley, the NDWP deputy director from Washington, said, "We are very excited about this project and are particularly encouraged by the support and cooperation we've received from the Texas Department of Agriculture. Our staff will be sharing our experiences and expertise with the Texas Rural Water Task Force and sharing this Texas experience with other states. Under the leadership of Commissioner Hightower and TDA, Texas appears well on the way towards building a constituency for rural water quality and a national example worth talking about."

Air Ambulance Service Begins

In response to the growing medical needs of the South Plains, Lubbock General Hospital recently inaugurated the first formal air ambulance service based in West Texas that includes a comprehensive flight team.

The twin-engine Cessna 402B bears the name REACT (Regional Emergency Air Care Transport) and provides safe and rapid transport for patients requiring emergency or urgent specialty medical care. REACT is also available for the transport of patients to and from other area hospitals.

Area physicians are invited to call for more information on REACT at 1-806-743-4444.

FACTS & FIGURES

The senior citizen population of the United States is growing. Between 1980 and 1983, the number of those 65 and older grew by 7.2% from 25.5 million to 27.4 million. In the next five years, their numbers are expected to increase by nearly a third.

This year, July 30 marks the 20th anniversary of a program designed to help senior citizens: Medicare. The next 20 years, however, not the first, are expected to be the hard ones for the program. The Federation of American Hospitals points out that its members, the nation's 1,200 tax-paying investor-owned hospitals, have saved Medicare millions of dollars through sound management practices designed to provide high quality care at a reasonable cost.

But private funding alone, such as for investor-owned hospitals, can't meet the growing health needs of our elderly. That requires a continued strong commitment from our government as the Medicare program begins its 20th year.

JoAnn Mock Selected Artist Of The Month

(From Post Dispatch)

The Post Art Guild Inc. selected JoAnn Mock as Artist of the Month and her paintings will be displayed at the First National Bank of Post during the month of July.

JoAnn and brother "Shug" grew up in Grassland, the daughter of a farmer and cotton gin owner with both parents being area pioneers. Claude Thomas and Willie McCord Thomas provided her with a full and carefree life. Her habit of drawing on every scrap of paper in sight was given direction under the teaching of Mrs. Gladys Presson of Post during the summers.

Upon graduation from Tahoka High School, she married and raised her family in Lubbock, Denver City, Seminole, Tahoka and Grassland.

Her marriage dissolved and she married Robert Mock of Southland where she still resides.

Her children, Mark Martin of Lubbock teaches school, James Martin pastors a United Methodist Church in Amarillo, Dana Williams, a mother and housewife in Lubbock and David Martin who works for Bush Hog Continental at Lubbock, all applaud her art endeavors as does her step-children, Robert Lee of Slaton, Barbara Gossett of Post and David of Midland.

Being encouraged by husband Robert, a farmer, to pursue her art, she began to study again. Taking workshops from Jennie Lewis of Houston, Bettie Fielder of Dallas, Mac Carow, Pat Khran, Jennie Elliot and Jean Green of Lubbock as well as the advice and help from members of the Post Art Guild and the excellent judges that have judged the Spring Art Show over the years.

Her interest in cotton and in preserving the farm scene in West Texas led her to initiate and coordinate the "Cotton Arts and Crafts Show" at the Ginners Convention annually at the Lubbock Civic Center. This show has proved very popular and unique. Craft booths, art, original fiber style show, and unusual demonstrations has caused this show to be copied in several other like conventions.

JoAnn has won numerous awards and ribbons at area art shows. She is most proud of the popularity of her two prints and five different stationary scenes.

"Farmers Dream" the print of a cotton plant, has been sent to almost every town in Texas and Oklahoma as well as Mississippi, Indiana, California, Louisiana, Montana, Kansas, Tennessee, and New Mexico. This painting received the "Peoples Choice" award in the Post Art Show of 1982. The prints were advertised in "Farmer Stockman" magazine in 1983 and 1984.

JoAnn is currently the president of the Post Art Guild Inc.

She has just completed a successful drawing class for children with a total of 17 students from Post and surrounding area attending.

"The Post Art Guild has meant so much to me," says JoAnn. "Not only the association with persons that enjoy art, but each and every program is a learning experience."

"Persons that take full advantage of the Guild also have the opportunity to meet and hobnob with artist, both great and small.

NOTICE OF INTENT TO IMPLEMENT RATES

General Telephone Company of the Southwest in accordance with the Public Utility Regulatory Act and the Rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas gives notice of its intent to implement new exchange access rates for the provision of shared tenant and tenant resale services.

Until any customer utilizes this new offering, there will be no effect on the revenues of the telephone company, and in any event, the telephone company does not expect revenues to be affected by more than 2 1/2 percent. These proposed rates, where applicable, will provide tariffed local exchange access to customers who then will provide shared or resale services to tenants.

These proposed rates have been suspended by the Public Utility Commission of Texas and will become effective as proposed or modified by order of the Commission on a date to be determined by the commission.

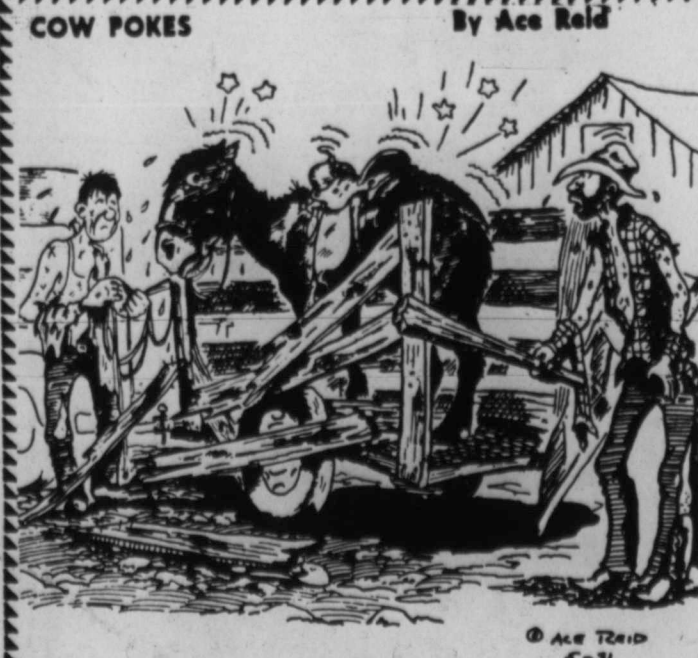

The proposed rate schedule is on file with the Commission for public inspection and is also available at any business office of General Telephone Company of the Southwest.

Buckel elected president of Texas Press Association

Walter Buckel

Walter Buckel, publisher of the Lamesa Press Reporter since 1968, was elected president of the Texas Press Association (TPA) during the group's 106th annual summer convention in Austin.

Buckel succeeds Fort Stockton Pioneer publisher Frank Baker, who becomes chairman of the association's board of directors.

Buckel became a newspaperman in 1967 after a seven year stint in radio station sales and management. Prior to his radio work, his past reads like a miss-match of a number of careers which culminated with his entrance into the newspaper field.

Born on a dairy farm in the Imperial Valley of Southern California on November 22, 1921, his parents had 100 acres of alfalfa and sixty to seventy head of cows to milk each day.

His father, two brothers and himself made up a four-person milking team that kept things moving until the great depression set in and the family lost farm, cows and home in the early '30s.

But, putting most of their belongings on the surviving model T Ford, the four, along with a sister and mother moved to Holtville only a few miles away where they rented one of the biggest houses in town for $10 a month.

The family never went hungry. An older sister found work as a bookkeeper, the older brother became a mechanic, and Buckel and a younger brother mowed lawns and threw newspapers on the side. He says: "we were too happy or too ignorant to know we were poor."

His dad went out each day to do what work was available from mowing lawns to milking cows and the family sustained itself until full-time employment was found after some five years.

It was during those years when folks were too poor to go to movies that the family's attention turned to baseball. Out on the farm or in the vacant lots, kids gathered to play baseball and Buckel was determined to play professional baseball.

Quitting high school his senior year, he hitch-hiked the 10 miles to El Centro each day during the spring training sessions of the San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast League. Padre officials allowed him to tryout and workout with the team for several weeks before they broke camp. However, feeling he was not ready for professional baseball, they advised him to go to Kansas to play in one of the best amateur leagues during the summer of 1940.

Manhattan, Kan. is where he wound up and played the summer of 1940 before going to a tryout camp for the St. Louis Cardinals at the end of the season. He caught a bus to California when the camp ended.

Working in a grocery store allowed him time to get his high school diploma.

In the spring his thoughts turned to baseball again and with encouragement from his parents, he packed a suitcase and hitch-hiked to Lamesa for a tryout with the Lobos of the Class D, West Texas-New Mexico League.

After two workouts with the team he was signed to a $75 per month contract. Being a minor, his mother had to sign for him.

After a full season in Lamesa, he had saved $100 and hitch-hiked back to Holtville and a proud dad who couldn't get over anyone being paid to play baseball.

Buckel went to San Diego during the winter months to work at Consolidated Aircraft and was there when the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor to thrust America into WWII. Buckel in fact, was playing winter league baseball for the Padre Juniors on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 7, 1941 when the game was stopped, all servicemen were notified to report to their bases immediately and the announcement was made of the bombings at Pearl.

He returned to baseball in the spring with Pampa (Tex.) and played until wartime conditions forced cancellation of the league's schedule on July 4 while playing in Amarillo. From there he caught the Denver Rocket for Idaho Falls, Idaho where he played for that New York Yankee farm team until late August when he was called into the service at San Diego.

He went into the Air Force and served with the Army Airways Communications System as a radio operator in North Africa. After two years overseas he returned to the states and was discharged in November 1945.

Odd jobs around Holtville kept him busy until he signed in the spring with the Montgomery (Ala.) Rebels of the Class B Southeastern League. At the conclusion of the 1946 season in Montgomery, Buckel was sold to the Dallas Rebels of the Texas League.

Prior to leaving for spring training in March 1947 in Dallas, he married Rubye Neile Mitchell in Montgomery. From Dallas he was optioned to Lubbock where his classification as a three-year player forced his sale to Lamesa, in the same league. He reported on opening day 1947.

After 1947, '48 and part of the '49 season in Lamesa, he was released to become the business manager of the team and got involved in radio play-by-play as a sideline.

From there it was a stint with the public schools of Lamesa directing cafeterias and transportation and a run for the County Clerk's office where he won two-year and four-year terms before resigning in 1957 to enter the insurance business. All the while, he was continuing a daily sports program on radio and doing play-by-play of all sports.

When the radio station sold in 1960, Buckel was approached to become station manager and he jumped at the opportunity. From there he entered the newspaper business in the summer of 1967 with the purchase of the tabloid Dawson County Free Press.

With his wife at his side calling people for local news items, and with daughter Barbara, now 13, helping with ads and other chores, and with son Bob, 11, out on the streets selling subscriptions at $3.00 per year, the paper flourished and had good acceptance in Lamesa.

After five months, newspaper broker Ted Taylor met Buckel in Lubbock to see if he would be interested in selling his paper to James Roberts at Andrews who also wanted to purchase the Lamesa Reporter from Ben Woodson and merge the two publications.

The merger became official on March 1, 1968 with Buckel as president and publisher of the Lamesa Press Reporter. The Roberts family and Buckel family continue to own all stock in the Lamesa paper.

As James Roberts built his string of newspapers, Buckel was named secretary and a director of each property. He currently serves as secretary and on the boards at Azle, Brownfield, Gatesville, Granbury, Hereford, Levelland, Littlefield, Lovington, N.M., Vernon, Snyder, Seminole, Quanah, and at offset plants at Snyder, Hereford and Lamesa. He also owns shares of stock in many of the papers and plants.

Buckel is also president of South Plains Printing Co. and an equipment leasing firm, Ruhela Leasing Co.

He is a past president of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce, The Lamesa Kiwanis Club, Lamesa Industrial Foundation, Dawson County United Way, served as a member of the Board of Trustees of the Lamesa Independent School District, was founder and president of the Lamesa Little League program in 1953, and was president of the West Texas Press Association in 1982-1983. He and his family are members of the Church of Christ.

From the marriage to wife Rubye, daughter Barbara was born in 1953 and son Bob in 1956. Barbara is a computer operator for a large insurance agency in Lubbock. Bob is managing editor of a new weekly newspaper started in June in Gainesville known as the Cooke County Leader. He and two others founded the publication after he served a year as managing editor at the Muenster Enterprise, and after news editorships at Andrews and Lamesa. He actually got into newspapering with Fred Barbee at El Campo after doing graduate work at the University of Texas following graduating from Lubbock Christian College.

Barbara also attended LCC before entering the work force in her senior year.

The Buckels have a granddaughter, Kara Marie, born Aug. 3 of last year in Gainesville.

If he has a hobby past newspapering, it would have to be his yard and workshop where a bevy of power tools are awaiting future use.

Texas Housing Agency To Offer Low Interest Home Loan Funds

Approximately $276 million in low interest mortgage loans will become available to home buyers in Texas beginning July 29, Gov. Mark White announced.

The money will be offered to eligible low and moderate income borrowers at a fixed rate of 9.75 percent for 30 years through the Texas Housing Agency in cooperation with numerous lending institutions throughout Texas.

The housing agency has established maximum income limits and a ceiling on home prices to direct the program more effectively to households least able to afford conventional interest rates.

An individual applicant must have an adjusted gross income in 1984 of $33,000 or less; the combined income limit for two or more individuals (with each under $33,000) or for a family is $42,000. For homes in most areas of the state, borrowers may not have owned a home at any time during the last three years.

Lenders will begin accepting applications on July 29, 1985 for mortgage loans on homes costing $80,000 or less. Applications on homes priced higher than $80,000 will be accepted beginning Aug. 5, 1985; however, for the first 60 days of the program, lenders are required to give priority to applicants buying homes costing less than $80,000. The maximum home acquisition costs vary from area to area.

Prospective buyers may call (512) 475-4005 to obtain a program brochure and a list of participating lenders.

Art & Science Of Skin Care

Scientists have recently discovered a surprising fact about looking young: It's the amount of sun you get, not the amount of sunsets you see that makes the big difference between youthful and older looking skin.

The sun emits a wide array of radiation, called the solar spectrum. Though most of the dangerous rays are screened out before they reach earth, the small portion of the solar spectrum that reaches earth is harmful. It is the ultraviolet portion.

As radiation passes through the top layer of skin into lower layers, skin cell destruction occurs. The natural signs of aging—flaccidity, transparency and wrinkling—come on faster. The skin looks older than it is.

Since the effects of ultraviolet radiation begin in early childhood and are cumulative, the skin and your appearance eventually pay the price for years of casual, incidental and deliberate exposure to sunlight. The damage is insidious and there is no signal alerting you to the

Products with Age Protection System from Avon are designed to reduce the total amount of ultraviolet radiation penetrating the skin. They are made to block at least 90% of the sun's ultraviolet radiation and so help prevent accelerated aging. The company believes putting this system in many of its cosmetics can help to keep skin younger looking longer.

Keeping the sun out it seems, can brighten the lives of many people.

NATIONAL 'NIGHT OUT' IS AUG. 13--People who are fed up with crime should make plans to join in the 1985 National 'Night Out' scheduled for Aug. 13. Neighborhoods across the country will light up against crime that evening starting at 8 p.m. Families and friends will sit on lawns or front porches of their homes and apartments to observe any suspicious activity in their neighborhoods and to serve as an extension of the eyes and ears of local law enforcement agencies. The project will highlight the value and importance of law enforcement-community crime prevention programs and crime watch efforts, notes a community development specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System.

Strawberry Cheesecake First In Texas Ice Cream Crank-Off

(AUSTIN)—A retired school teacher from Longview cranked her way to the top of the first Texas Ice Cream Crank-Off with a rich, creamy Strawberry Cheesecake Ice Cream that took the judges' fancy and the title National Ice Cream of Texas.

Barbara Gilbert outdid 13 other entrants, including runners-up Carolyn

Croom, Austin, who created an ice cream for wine lovers—Texas Strawberry Riesling—and Kaufman County Elizabeth Lott, whose Peanut Butter Fudge Ice Cream took third place.

Every entry had two things in common: each contained real dairy products and eggs and each was flavored by products from Texas with the exception of chocolate and vanilla. Flavors included fresh Texas peaches, oranges, yams and (why not?) jalapenos and cottonuts.

Contest sponsors were the Texas Department of Agriculture, the Texas egg and dairy industries, Southwest Airlines and K98 Radio, Austin.

Gilbert won a trip for four via Southwest to San Francisco and a deluxe ice cream maker. Croom received two tickets to New Orleans and a deluxe ice cream maker, and Lott was awarded a trip for two to Corpus Christi and a year's supply of eggs and milk.

Contest judges were Dr. Philip Keeney, professor of frozen desserts at Pennsylvania State University and one of the world's foremost experts on ice cream; Liz Carpenter, Austin writer and former press secretary to Lady Bird Johnson; Ann Criswell, Houston Chronicle food editor; Candy Sagon, Dallas Times-Herald food editor; Guich Kooek, actor and historian; and Olga Campos, Austin television reporter. Every recipe they tasted was an original that you won't find in the supermarket freezer. Here are the winners and one other worth making while summer lingers.

Devotional

By Rev. Hazel House

SCRIPTURE:

Isaiah 42:13-16; John 9:1-5
"I am the Light of the World."

The disciples of Jesus did not understand what was going on, as Jesus was "passing by" and saw the man which was blind from birth. So they pointed to the man and asked Jesus, "Now who was the one who committed the great sin which caused this man's blindness? His parents, or he himself?"

And Jesus answered, "Neither of them has sinned, not his parents or him. This man is burdened with problems and blindness, but not because he sinned, or that he is being punished by an angry God." In him the works of God shall be manifested.

The Jewish thought in that day was that if a person suffered, it was because that person had sinned. (Remember Job, and his friends in a time of Job's suffering?) And a few persons today still have a similar idea. But, if we are Christians, we are forgiven sinners, and the shed blood of Jesus, God's Son, still cleanses us from all sin, totally erases it and it is completely obliterated, even in this present moment. We are a delivered people — freed from sin even from the guilt and penalty of our sin.

For Jesus was saying, "This affliction came, and through it God can affirm His power. This blindness is permitted so that I might affirm my love. Upon this blind man I will perform a miracle so that men may see who I really am!"

"Upon this sightless beggar I will do this miracle so that others may learn what I can really do, not only for the beggar, but also for them."

"We, I and you twelve, must work the works of Him that sent me before the night comes and the working day is ended. In spite of the bad condition of your hearts, in spite of the sad condition of his eyes, you and the beggar are in mission with me." What an honor!

And that honor has not bypassed us today. For all and each of us who are Christians are in mission with each other and with the Lord. Remember God forgave Paul, and this shows us that if He can forgive a man like Paul, He can also forgive me and forgive you, and Christ restored sight to the blind beggar, to show us that, if He helped the beggar in his dilemma, He will also help us in ours. So both Paul and the blind man, and Lazarus, to name a few, became the Lord's instruments for the ongoing of His mission.

Thus, every Christian, the church, is chosen by Christ to be the means of His ongoing mission; in mission with each other and with God's Son to tell the world the Gospel Good News that Jesus saves and keeps us.

A mud plaster was laid on the blind man's eyes, and Jesus said, "Go wash in the Siloam pool, and come back seeing." What a silly act this seemed to be, but the man went — and it was so. He could see! What faith!

They persecuted the man, and still he answered their questions in simple faith. "I don't know much ... this one thing I know, whereas I was blind, now I see."

When we accept Jesus as our Savior, and go to Him in faith believing, He forgives our sins. We will be justified, given His righteousness, by this faith, and God's Holy Spirit will guide, comfort, and take care of us and will help to preserve our faith.

When the blind man was put out of the synagogue, Jesus sought and found him, and told him who He was. The man looked at Him and said, "Lord, I believe," and worshipped Him.

So, my Christian friends, all of us are chosen, and given the gift of everlasting life by God's Grace, through our faith to believe in Christ, the divine Son of God, our Redeemer, our justifier, our Saviour and Lord.

The Pharisees screamed, "You're a no-count beggar!" But he was not just that, at all. He was a crown jewel in the crown of the King of the Universe. So are we all as children of God...

We are each one a very special unit, a special instrument of God's love, when we have accepted Him.

"With the heart man believes unto righteousness, but it is with the mouth that confession is made unto salvation." Rom. 10.

The Soil Conservation Services runs an excellent voluntary soil and water conservation program," Scaling said. "I'm proud to be named the agency's new chief and I am confident in my knowledge and understanding of the strong partnership between SCS and conservation districts.

Conservation districts are governed by locally elected landowners who coordinate conservation work within their districts. Scaling said he firmly believes soil and water conservation is the key to America's long-term productivity in agriculture.
