Wreck Kills Bull, Hurts Driver Of Van Carrying 22

Dept. of Public Safety officers investigated a vehicle accident three miles south of Tahoka on U.S. 87 Dec. 23, when a 1986 Dodge van owned by the Border Patrol and carrying 21 Mexican aliens to a detention center struck an 1800-pound black English bull owned by T-Bar Ranch.

Driver of the van, Border Patrol officer Louis Cesar Moreno, 32, of Lubbock, was treated at Lynn County Hospital for a leg injury and transferred to Lubbock. Only minor injuries were suffered by the other passengers, and the 21 aliens were kept at Lynn County jail for about three hours until they were picked up by the Border Patrol. The bull was killed.

John Castellon of Tahoka reported his residence at S. 8th and Ave. B was burglarized Dec. 23 or 24, and two portable television sets were missing.

In jail during the week were the 21 aliens, three persons for first offense driving while intoxicated and one for DWI third offense; one of the DWI firsts was also charged with criminal mischief. Also one person was jailed for public intoxication and two for no drivers license and failure to appear.

The City of Tahoka reported damage to city property that occurred during the night of Dec. 29 (Monday), and reported that an unknown vehicle had damaged four stop signs valued at $340 and one yield sign valued at $85 in the city limits. Lynn County Crime Line is offering a $200 reward to information leading to the arrest and conviction of person(s) responsible for this incident.

Joe Vega of Tahoka reported to police on Monday that a 1976 Ford owned by T-Bar Farms had been broken into while the vehicle was located in a storage barn located at 1002 Lockwood. Reported damaged was one left rear window valued at $100 and also an eight-track tape player had been pulled loose from the dash, with damage estimated at $100.

Police arrested a 27-year old Brenham, Tx. man on Sunday for running over a stop sign at North 3rd and Main Street. The man was charged for DWI and criminal mischief.

Sales, Gasoline Taxes Going Up In State

State Comptroller Bob Bullock has reminded Texans not to forget the increase in the sales tax rate that begins New Year's Day, Jan. 1, 1987.

"Only the rate has changed. In every case, what is and what is not taxable under current sales tax law remains the same when the new law goes into effect Jan. 1," reminded Bullock.

A special session of the Texas Legislature raised the state's sales tax rate one and one-eighth percent to deal with a shortfall of tax revenue caused by the collapse of oil prices.

The state sales tax rate goes from 4.125 to 5.25 percent. This means that taxes in most area cities, including Tahoka and Wilson, will go to 6.25, since these cities add a one per cent sales tax. In making accounting changes to collect the new tax rate, businesses should have adjusted cash registers and alerted and trained their personnel to collect sales tax at the new local rates. Free 6 1/4 percent tax charts are available at the Lynn County News.

The new law also raised the motor fuels tax 5 cents — from 10 cents to 15 cents a gallon.

OUT OF THE WOODS

By Juanell (Wood) Jones

I'VE BEEN TRYING to think of some really momentous event (involving me) that happened in 1986, and try as I might, I haven't come up with anything. Surely something important happened at least once in 365 days...now what was it?

I guess I'll just have to do another of my not-so-famous "JJ's Year In Review." (My family gets nervous when I do this. They wonder what I might say about them ... and with good reason, too!) So, here follows the wit and wisdom of 1986 in my little corner of the world:

In the beginning (of January) I was elected to office. I didn't campaign for it. I didn't even know I was in the running until the last minute. And when asked if I wanted it, I said I wasn't sure I could do it justice. So with these qualifications, in the good ol' democratic way, I was promptly elected to be president of a women's organization. Now that I have fumbled my way through the year, and my term is up, I think I've just about got the hang of it...All I really needed to do was organize committees and tell them to take care of things.

In February my husband had his 30th birthday. Since I'm a few months older than him, I'm not telling any ages. I can't recall March at all. Did we have one last year?

I guess the main event in April was my Mom's birthday. I can't tell her age either because she looks so young that nobody would believe me if I said it. (You're welcome, Mom.)

My sweetheart and I celebrated our 8th wedding anniversary in May, and he may kill me for this, but I can't remember what he got me. I really did like it though, honey, whatever it was.

In June my brother turned 32 years old! Of course, he's much, much older than I. (You should have been nicer to me, Terry.)

(In July I had a birthday.)

I believe it was in August that we acquired the newest, most troublesome member of our family: Miss Maggie, our over-energized, soulful-eyed Cocker Spaniel puppy. She was such a cute little ball of fur when my sister first brought her to us. Little did we know that small packages can cause big disasters. That cute dog has chewed her way through everything she could get her canine teeth around, including shoes, books, lawn chairs and several other non-edible items. I guess it's a miracle she's still with us.

September and October must have been pretty dull at our house, because nothing dazzling leaps into mind.

After our son turned five in November, he sang "Happy Birthday" to his food every night. I guess he thought we were singing to his birthday cake, so now he sings to his hamburgers, chicken and potatoes.

Dad had a birthday in December, and although I can't say his age either, I will say that when he was born not only were there no microwaves in every American household, but also no television sets. I'm reasonably sure, however, that they had electricity.

Well, that's my year. And although there were no earth-shattering events, it was a good year for me. I'm glad I lived it, with the people I love, in a town I love, and a country I'm proud of. Happy New Year and God Bless America!

DPS Estimates 41 Deaths Over Holidays

The Department of Public Safety is estimating that 41 traffic deaths will mar this year's peak holiday travel periods in Texas.

"Christmas and New Year's should be two of the best times of the year for everyone, but each holiday season, many traffic deaths that could have been prevented occur on our roads and highways," said DPS Director Jim Adams. "Our intention in reminding Texans of the grim possibilities is not to sound a discouraging note as people prepare their travel plans, but to encourage driving safety by showing what could happen. I hope our estimate proves to be too high."

During the 54-hour Christmas holiday period, an estimated 23 persons may die in traffic accidents in the state, Adams said.

The estimate for the New Year's period, which also is 54 hours, is 18 traffic deaths.

In 1985, because of the day of the week on which Christmas fell, the prime travel period was 30 hours long. During that time, 15 persons were killed in traffic mishaps. Two other persons later died of injuries suffered during the period, bringing the final 1985 Christmas death toll to 17.

Last year 17 persons died in traffic accidents during the 54-hour New Year's period, with seven later deaths making a total of 24 fatalities associated with the period.

Wal-Mart Plans New Store In Brownfield

Plans are underway to open a Wal-Mart Discount department store in Brownfield, company officials announced this week. The 40,000 square foot store will be located in the former TG&Y building at 1401 Tahoka Road and is expected to open in late 1987. Construction is scheduled to begin early this spring.

"We are extremely excited about our plans to open a store in Brownfield," said David Glass, president.

Glass also stated that approximately 80 jobs will be added to the Brownfield community upon the store's opening. There are currently more than 130,000 Wal-Mart associates nationwide. Interested applicants will be advised of interview dates and locations by local media closer to the store opening.

SPC Schedules Spring Registration

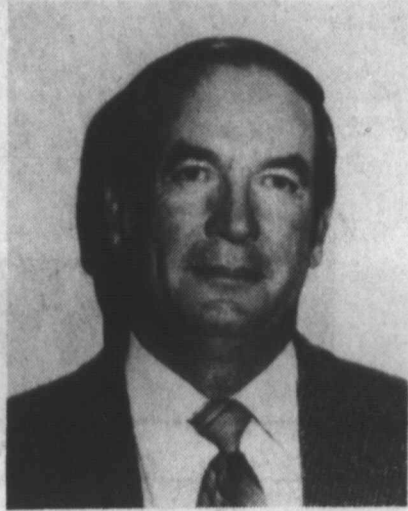

South Plains College has scheduled spring 1987 registration Jan. 12-13.

The Association carries on varied programs of education and training, community service, and public affairs aimed at increasing the highest ethical standards and professional competence in the sale and service of life insurance.

Wes Owen To Retire From Lyntegar

Wes Owen of Tahoka, an electrical engineer for Lyntegar Electric Cooperative, Inc., for the past 32½ years, will retire Friday, Jan. 2, 1987. He has handled the engineering responsibilities with the Coop since June 16, 1954.

Owen will be honored with a reception from 3 until 6 p.m. Friday, Jan. 2 in the Cooperative's meeting room.

He grew up and finished high school in San Antonio. During World War II he served in the Navy for three years. After his years in service he went to Hardin Simmons University and later transferred to Texas Tech where in June 1954 he received his degree in electrical engineering. In January 1960, Owen became a registered professional engineer while handling the duties and responsibilities as engineer for the Cooperative and taking part in the plans for extending electric service to the rural areas of the 11 counties the Cooperative serves.

Owen met and married the former Janet Turner from Haskell while they were attending Hardin Simmons University in Abilene where Janet graduated in 1948. They have four daughters, Jane Graham and Mary Ann Owen of Fort Worth, Betty Pope of San Francisco, Calif., and Barbara Owen of Lubbock, and one son, Jerry, of Lubbock. They have four grandchildren.

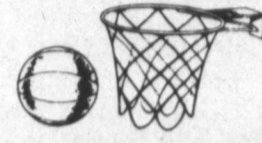

Wes and Janet are members of the First Baptist Church of Tahoka, where he is a Deacon and Sunday School teacher.

Owen says after retirement he will have more time to spend on his rent properties, and he plans to enjoy his hobbies of building, woodwork, camping and spending some time on his photography projects.

RETIRING FROM LYNTEGAR — Wes Owen, electrical engineer for Lyntegar Electric Cooperative, Inc. for the past 32½ years, will retire Jan. 2, 1987. He will be honored with a reception from 3-6 p.m. Friday, Jan. 2 in the cooperative's meeting room.

Fifth Graders Attend Christmas Open House

The annual Tahoka Elementary Fifth Grade Christmas Open House was held Dec. 16 at the home of Nan Adams.

After touring the home, students were served refreshments by Mrs. Jim Wells and Mrs. Terry Laws. A Christmas story, "Timothy's Song," was told by Joan Knox.

The students attended the affair during their English class period.

Other mothers who assisted with refreshments were Ms. Bob Ferguson, Mrs. Edwin Pebsworth and Mrs. Gary Morrison.

GETTING A "SUGAR HIGH" — Contrary to popular belief, you are no more likely to experience a "sugar high" from refined sugar than from the natural sugar in foods. According to nutritionists, raisins and other foods containing natural sugars elevate blood sugar and create a "sugar high" just like refined sugar.

CATARACTS — VITAMIN E

"It's possible that vitamin E could stop the growth of and possibly reverse the damage caused by cataracts. We've found this true in test animals," says Kailash C. Bhuyan, MD of NYC, Mt. Sinai. That vitamin E prevents formation of cataracts in test animals is also noted by John Trevithick, PhD of U. of Western Ontario. Consult your doctor or pharmacist about Vitamin E supplements.

LOCAL NEWS

Mrs. Alta White is a patient in South Park Medical Center in Lubbock. She fell and broke her hip Dec. 20.

TEXAS AG SHOULD IMPROVE IN '87 — Texas farmers and ranchers should see somewhat better times in the year ahead, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Higher cattle prices and better cotton markets are the main reasons for the improved prospects. Although grain prices will remain under pressure from too many supplies, government payments will support income. Production expenses will be held in check by low rates of inflation. Because market prices will remain depressed, participation in farm programs will be high.

COTTON NEEDS ADEQUATE FERTILIZER — A well-managed fertility program is one of several key practices essential for profitable cotton production, says a cotton specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Adequate amounts of nutrients at the right time or growth stage are essential in developing healthy, productive plants. Producers should order fertilizer now and get some of it down early this winter. All the phosphate, potash and a portion of the nitrogen needed can be applied now. Producers should follow soil test recommendations and should take into account yield goals and soil types.

Hospital Worker Of The Week

(Lynn County Hospital opened its doors in January of 1971. The facility now employs 57 persons in a variety of departments, 49 fulltime and 8 part time, and has 24 beds available for patient care. Because of the importance of the hospital to the Tahoka and Lynn County economy and medical well-being, one employe or department per week will be spotlighted here.)

TERRI McELROY

Terri McElroy has worked in Medical Records for three years. She transcribes for all three doctors, the radiologist, and the surgeon on call. In addition, she does Home Health billing and is an EMT on the ambulance service.

The word "admiral" comes from the Arabic amir-al-bahr, meaning "commander of the sea."

Letters to the Editor

Letters to the editor do not necessarily express the views of this newspaper. All correspondence must be signed, and in good taste before it will be published, and the name of the writer must be published also. Letters to the editor may not be more than two double-spaced typewritten pages.

Dear Dalton:
I should like to thank you and the staff for the wonderful way in which you cooperated with us in publishing the Community Christmas Card. We members of Phebe K. Warner Club do appreciate this.

We also are most grateful for the help of the tellers and other staff members of Tahoka First National Bank for their help. We wish to say a heartfelt "Thank You" to everyone who gave your money to this project. You have helped us to help some of our young ones on the way to equip themselves for life.

Thank you, everyone.
Yours most sincerely,
Lois White

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Sophomore students of Mrs. Barbara Foster's English class recently wrote letters to the editor as a class assignment. Following are some of the letters, and some others may be used later.)

Dear Mr. Wood:
I am wrjting in concern of the Tahoka football team. For the past few years, the people of the community have been putting the team down. This past season however, the team got a little more support than it had been getting in the past few years. I believe that with more support from the community, the team can have more confidence and start winning more games.

Sincerely,
Mike Ramirez

have a recreational building in Tahoka. The building should stay open 24 hours a day. The reason is because everyone is complaining about all the kids going down Main Street raising Cain and drinking beer, so if we had a recreational place that could give us something else to do.

Yours truly,
T.C. Spruiell

Dear Mr. Wood:
I would like to express my feelings on the Tahoka School System. The past few years the school has gone downhill all the way. They have done nothing to improve the teaching system. Some teachers, that teach in the high school have no reason of being here unless they want to finally get their diploma. When teachers wake up every morning and say to themselves that so-and-so will flunk, because he or she doesn't run track, then something should be done. It is like we have to participate in every little thing or some teacher will flunk us. Justice should be served on the students part.

Very concerned,
Kurt Bryan

Dear Editor:
I'm writing on behalf of the 1986-87 Tahoka High School basketball teams. We would appreciate it if the community would attend the games and cheer on the Mighty Bulldogs. Your support is necessary for a winning basketball year.

Yours truly,
Rochelle Reid

Dear Mr. Wood:
More people should mind their own business. If a person does something wrong the whole town knows about it. There are too many rumors. Some rumors aren't even true, but they still hurt a lot of people.

People should think before

The following events, selected by Mari Schnell of the Texas Tourist Development Agency, are but a few of the many excellent recreational opportunities offered by communities across the state.

Year-Round Tours — Gladys Porter Zoo, Brownsville. Opening to the public in 1971 as one of the premier zoos of the world, Gladys Porter has become a unique haven for rare and endangered species. The 31-acre preserve has over 2,000 mammals, birds, reptiles, amphibians and invertebrates. Dedicated to education, research and recreation, the zoo is open every day of the year from 9 a.m. till one hour before dusk. Admission: $3.50 adults; $1.50 children. Wheel chairs and strollers available; tour train on limited schedule. Free brochure from Gladys Porter Zoo, 500 Ringgold St., Brownsville 78520 (512-546-2177).

Dear Mr. Wood:
I think this town is okay and it is a bit small, but I think with some money and a little work we could make this town grow. All we need is like a Pizza Hut and maybe a movie theatre. This way we would have something to do besides drive and drink.

Yours truly,

Smith To Represent Texas On Board

Farm Credit Banks of Texas Board Member Wilmer Smith of New Home has been chosen by his peers to represent the Texas Farm Credit District on the 13-member board of the Central Bank for Cooperatives.

There are 13 Banks for Cooperatives which provide almost $3.5 billion in financing to agricultural cooperatives and rural utilities throughout the U.S. and abroad. The CBC, located in Denver, extends the credit services of 12 district Banks for Cooperatives by participating with them in loans which exceed individual district lending limits. It also provides the centralized coordination for the CBC's international services.

Smith was first elected to the Texas board in 1966 by cooperatives in Texas. He became a part of the CBC board for the first time in 1987 and will have served 24 years on that board as of January 1987.

A graduate of Texas Tech University in Lubbock, Smith holds a bachelor of arts degree in government and history.

Smith has been active on the boards of a variety of cotton cooperatives and trade organizations including Plains Cooperative Oil Mill, the New Home Cooperative Gin, USDA National Cotton and Cottonseed Advisory Commission, Texas Cotton Ginners Association, American Cotton Growers Association, the State Seed and Plant Board of Texas, Plains Cotton Growers, and the National Cotton Council.

President Eisenhower appointed Smith to the National Agriculture Advisory Commission, and he also served on the board of directors of Texas Tech University for six years. He was a member of the Texas Agricultural Cooperative Council for 35 years.

The Smiths farm just south of Lubbock, with principal crops being cotton and sorghum. They have one daughter, two grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

SCIENTISTS TO MEET JAN. 12-15

Some giants of agricultural research will be among featured speakers at the annual conference of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (TAES) Jan. 12-15 at Texas A&M University. Researchers based at the main campus and TAES facilities around the state will be on hand for the meeting which will have as its theme "Agricultural Research: A Glance Back, A Look Ahead." Dr. Neville P. Clarke, interim deputy chancellor for agriculture at Texas A&M University System and director of TAES, will address opening and concluding sessions. Other major speakers will include Dr. D.F. Bateman of North Carolina State University and Dr. J.B. Kendrick of the University of California.

WINDOW SHUTTER REDUCES HEAT COST

A do-it-yourself insulating shutter can be a low-cost method for reducing heat lost through windows, advises a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service housing specialist. "For about 40-50 cents a square foot, you can use foil-faced insulation board, foam weather-strip and duct tape to make a pop-in shutter that reduces heat loss dramatically," explains Dr. Susan Quiring. The shutter pressure-fits inside the window casing or trim and is typically installed at night and taken down in the morning.

Introducing the new Smith Corona typewriter with Spell-Right!

Incredible is the word for the new Smith Corona electronic typewriter with Spell-Right II dictionary. Because that's just one of the 50,000 words you won't spell wrong. Inside this sleek exterior is a complete correction system that catches your typing boo boos before you do. Better still, before anyone else does.

Sure it's advanced. But it's easy to use. While you type, your spelling is constantly proofread by a built-in dictionary memory. It beeps the instant you misspell or even mistype a word.

The Find feature locates your error anywhere on the line. And if you've made several mistakes, it finds them, too.

Next, WordEraser™ lifts the whole word off at a touch. Just touch twice for two words.

There's more technology at a touch: Full Line Memory Correction, Automatic Relocate, Auto Return, Auto Centering and Automatic Underline.

You get Dual Pitch, Programmable Margins and Tabs and electronic end-of-page warning.

And with optional Messenger module your typewriter becomes a 10 cps letter-quality printer when you hook it up to a computer.

Best of all, you get this letter-perfect portable at a perfectly affordable price.

Farm Records Meeting Set Jan. 8

Farm records, types and keeping systems, will be the subject of a training session to be held on Thursday, Jan. 8, beginning at 7 p.m. in the meeting room of Lyntegar Electric Cooperative.

Objective of the training session will provide an opportunity for ag-related individuals to gain information that will enable them to more objectively evaluate their present operations to determine if alternative farming methods would provide an avenue to stabilize profits and hopefully help create additional profits.

The use of microcomputers in their application in record systems and the mechanics of their application to the record keeping methods will be discussed.

Dr. Jackie Smith, area Farm Management Specialist, and Michael Gerst, area Computer Specialist, will be present to provide the training. The new portable computer of the Lynn County Extension Office will also be available for use.

This meeting offers an opportunity for individuals to review their present record keeping systems or to evaluate other types of systems to adapt to their present systems. It is also an opportunity to use and determine if a microcomputer will fit into your systems. The knowledge gained from the session will hopefully allow individuals and their financial institution to more objectively evaluate their agricultural operation. The meeting is sponsored by the Lynn County Extension Service.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

GO BULLDOGS!

Brownfield C-C Banquet Slated

The annual Brownfield Chamber of Commerce Banquet will be held Saturday, Jan. 10, at 7 p.m. in the Brownfield High School Dining Commons located at 701 North Fir.

Guest speaker will be Clyde Harris, humorist from Fort Worth.

The Outstanding Citizen for 1986 will be recognized and new officers and directors introduced.

Cotton Today

Gray To Address Cotton Meeting. House Budget Committee chairman William H. Gray, III, (D-Pa.) will address the National Cotton Council's 49th annual meeting Jan. 25-27 in San Diego.

First elected to Congress in 1978, he quickly established a reputation as a coalition builder on federal budget issues--being key figures in arranging a budget compromise acceptable to majorities in both Houses in 1983, and working out a budget this year that sliced the federal deficit by $56 billion.

Born in Baton Rouge, La., he has degrees from Franklin and Marshall College, and Drew Theological Seminary, and Princeton Theological Seminary. He is chief minister of the 4,000-member Bright Hope Baptist Church in north Philadelphia, where he preaches on two Sundays of each month.

Agriculture Secretary Richard Lyng also will be a guest speaker at the Council meeting at the Sheraton Harbor Island.

NCC Program Chairmen Named. National Cotton Council program committee officers have been named by President Lloyd Cline.

Sykes Martin, Courtland, Ala., Cotton producer, will head the Industry Practices and Policies Committee. Serving with him as vice chairman will be Frank Jones, Lamesa, TX, producer. Chairmen and vice chairmen, respectively, of the Council's three other key committees are: Foreign Operations--H.L. Hodges, Greenwood, Miss., cooperative, and Samuel T. Reeves, Fresno, Calif., merchant; Technical--Bruce Brumfield, Inverness, Miss., producer, and Chess Howard, Augusta, Ga., textile manufacturer; and Public Relations and Promotion--Hollis Sullivan, Harlingen, Tex., cooperative, and Jerry Calvani, Carlsbad, N.M., producer.

The committees will meet Jan. 23 in San Diego to draft recommendations for delegate action at the Council's annual meeting.

Ginning Conference Set. Findings from a recently completed cost analysis should help ginners attending the Beltwide Cotton Ginning Conference Jan. 7, in Dallas decide if their operations are cost-efficient. The study, conducted by Dr. O.A. Cleveland, Extension economist, and Dr. Earl Stennis, Mississippi State University economics professor, covers depreciation, interest, labor, utilities and other factors.

Another conference feature will be a half-hour discussion on computer communications within the cotton industry and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The Beltwide Cotton Conference will be Jan. 5-8 at the Loews Anatole in Dallas.

Maid of Cotton Judges Named. Mrs. Trenton Shelton, who was 1961 Maid of Cotton Linda Lackey and is now a resident of Jackson, Miss., will chair the judging panel for the 49th annual Maid of Cotton selection in Dallas Dec. 28-30.

Other judges will be John D. Miller, board chairman of Sanger Harris department stores, Dallas; Thomas W. Smith, president of Calcot, Ltd., Bakersfield, Calif.; George W. Felker, III, board chairman of Walton Monroe Mills, Inc., Monroe, Ga.; and Dorothy Roberson, the National Cotton Council's communications director, Memphis.

The 17 Maid of Cotton finalists will participate in three days of judging activities, with the winner to be named in ceremonies at the Majestic Theatre on the evening of Dec. 30. The new Maid will make her first official appearance on national television during the Cotton Bowl parade on New Year's Day, and then make an international promotion and goodwill tour on behalf of the U.S. cotton industry. The program is sponsored by the Council with the cooperation of Ciba-Geigy Corporation, which contributes a $70,000 grant through the Cotton Foundation.

Thomas To Address Annual Meeting: Rep. William M. Thomas (R-Calif.) will address the National Cotton Council's annual meeting in San Diego, speaking to the general session on Monday afternoon, Jan. 26. First elected to Congress in 1978, Thomas is a member of the House Ways and Means and Administration committees.

A resident of Bakersfield, he has bachelor and master's degrees from San Francisco State University. Thomas was a professor at Bakersfield Community Wildlife species need your help to survive the winter months here on the High Plains of Texas. These wild turkeys are just one example. SCS personnel are seeing more deer, pheasants, turkeys, and quail throughout the county. Most of this increase in population of wildlife species is the amount of sudan and grain sorghum being planted. There is one important practice you as a landowner or operator can do to help the wildlife, especially birds. Leave your sudan and grain sorghum stalks as long as possible before plowing. This is both food and cover for birds and very important for their survival. For more information call or come by the local SCS Office.

College for nine years, and served in the California State Assembly for four years before being elected to Congress.

Other Council annual meeting speakers will include House Budget Committee chairman William Gray (D-Pa.) and Secretary of Agriculture Richard Lyng. Committee meetings will begin at the Sheraton Harbor Island on Jan. 23, with general sessions slated Jan. 26-27.

Beltwide To Kick Off New Year: Six growers from across the Cotton Belt will report on their experiences with different short-season systems in a special session opening the 1987 Beltwide Cotton Conferences in Dallas on the morning of Jan. 5. Participating in the discussions will be Gerald Stoltenberg, Firebaugh, Calif.; Scott Tollefson, Coolidge, Ariz.; Claude Hill, Dexter, N.M.; Richard Kotzur, Edinburg, Tex.; G.C. Goldman, Waterproof, La., and David Harris, Senath, Missouri.

Also slated the morning of Jan. 5 is a special session on quality improvement. The Cotton Production Conference begins in the afternoon with a theme of "Profitability through Technology and Management." Presentations will cover production, harvesting, ginning, marketing, and quality/processing management. Bruce Brumfield, Inverness, Miss., producer, is general chairman of the conference which continues through next day.

Ten technical conferences and other special sessions will follow Jan. 6-8. All sessions will be at the Loews Anatole Hotel.

NCC Planting Survey In Mail: National Cotton Council's annual planting intentions survey has been mailed to a selected sample of growers throughout the Cotton Belt. Results will be presented at the Producer Steering Committee meeting Jan. 23 in San Diego, and will be included the next day in economic outlook presentations to delegates at the Council's annual meeting.

The survey was not made last year because complete details of the 1986 cotton program had not been announced by that time. The Council's Economic Services initiated the survey six years ago after USDA decided to discontinue its early planting intentions report.

STORED GRAIN QUALITY

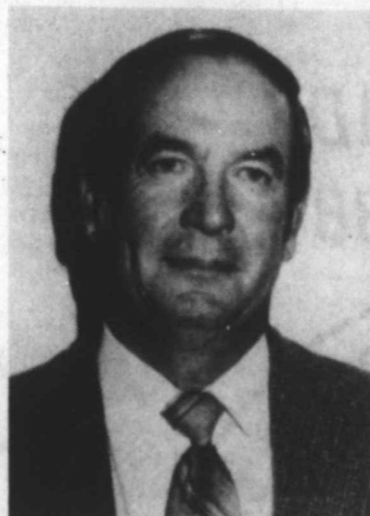

Good management of grain crops in storage will minimize quality deterioration after harvesting, says an agricultural engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Mechanical drying must be done when grain is harvested at a high moisture content. Moisture content for safe storage varies with crops: corn, 13 percent; rice, 12.5; sorghum, 12-14; soybeans, 11-12; and wheat, 12-14.

AFTER THE HOLIDAY FAMILY REUNION

"Even a long-awaited holiday family reunion can leave you feeling down," says Dorothy Taylor, a family life specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economics program. She points out that family gatherings may require travel which leaves some family members tired and irritable. Even the most wonderful family reunion disrupts mealtime and bedtime routines and can overwhelm us with more people than we're used to being with at the same time. "Sometimes unresolved emotions among family members surface under the pressures of holiday tension, and lead to depression for those involved," explains the specialist. She advises trying to settle back into your usual routine as soon as possible. "Practice tolerance and forgiveness," she says, "since people say and do things under pressure that are not typical." Remembering the good things that happened over the holiday will also help cure the January blues, Taylor remarks.

PAT GREEN Farm Bureau Agent In Lynn County Receives National Sales Achievement Award

PAT GREEN

The Texas Farm Bureau and Southern Farm Bureau Life are proud to announce that Pat Green, Agency Manager of the Lynn County Farm Bureau, has been named recipient of the prestigious National Sales Achievement Award offered by the National Association of Life Underwriters.

The NSAA Award was established in 1966 and is presented annually. The Award recognizes successful life insurance underwriters who provide substantial amounts of life insurance on a large number of lives during a calendar year.

Green is a member of the NALU. The Association is one of over 1,000 local affiliates. The Association carries on varied programs of education and training, community service, and public affairs aimed at increasing the highest ethical standards and professional competence in the sale and service of life insurance.

Better Business Bureau

Christmas Eve And Later With the opening of Christmas presents comes often the problem of knowing what to do with unwanted presents. Alan Bligh, President of the South Plains BBB offers these tips:

ALWAYS keep the wrappings, warranties, certificates and other papers that come with a present. Even if you like the present you should keep these items for awhile until you are sure everything is satisfactory.

There are many reasons that you may have received a present that you want to exchange. You may have received more than one of the same item. A present may be the wrong size, color, etc. By law, you have a right to request an exchange of merchandise only if:

1. The item is defective.
2. The item was misrepresented in advertising...or
3. The purchaser was told that you, the recipient of the present, could exchange the item.

If none of these three items apply, you still should make an attempt to achieve satisfaction but remember the merchant is NOT required to help you unless he so chooses. Also remember that it "may" be important to furnish a sales receipt etc. This, of course, must be obtained from the gift presenter. If you run into problems, please call the BBB.

CARD OF THANKS

What wonderful doctors and nurses we have at our Lynn County Hospital, Dr. Wright, Dr. Vickers and Dr. Banerjee, and hospital staff. Thanks to all our friends and neighbors for the prayers, cards, flowers and food, and for being concerned about me.

CARD OF THANKS

At this time we would like to thank Dr. Vickers and nursing staff for the care of our son during his stay in the hospital. Thank you for all the people who sent flowers and came by to see him, and kept him in their prayers. And a special thanks to C&M TV Video.

Thank you,
Mr. and Mrs. Cruz Rivas, Jr.
