Wilson Area Vandalism, Arson Cases Reported

Residents of Wilson and surnoticed some activity, possibly by young persons, late last Friday night were urged this week to contact the Lynn County Crime Line, 998-5145, in connection with cases of arson, criminal mischief and attempted burglary which occurred around midnight Friday and early Saturday.

A $500 reward has been offered in the arson incident, where a house described as the "old Klattenhoff place" just over two miles north of Wilson on FM 400 was burned, along with a shed containing two antique autos, which were damaged.

The fire was discovered about 1 a.m. Saturday, and Wilson and Tahoka volunteer firemen answered the alarm. The property is owned by Mary Ann Bridges of Lubbock, and a fire investigator is studying the case.

Although the Crime Line reward is offered only in the arson case, officers believe it is related to three other crimes which occurred about the same named another O'Donnell man general time period late Friday, rounding area who may have so are seeking information on any of the four cases. About the same time, stained glass windows were broken out of the Wilson First United Methodist Church. And about 11:30 p.m. tires were slashed on a vehicle owned by Jose Salvador Rojas on Gouger St. in Wilson. He said he heard a noise outside and went out just to catch sight of a vehicle speeding away.

The fourth incident which may have occurred about the same time was an attempted burglary of a house owned by Hugo Maeker about a mile north of the Klattenhoff place. Apparently someone was injured trying to break in, since blood was found at the scene.

A recent break-in at the Wilson High School agriculture building also was under investigation.

An O'Donnell man was questioned after he reportedly attempted to pass a counterfeit one-dollar bill at Allsup's in O'Donnell early Friday. The man

Three black males, age 31, 32 and 41 were arrested Thursday afternoon by a Lynn County deputy and a DPS officer in a car about 4.5 miles south of Tahoka on U.S. 87, after a description of the car and suspects had been broadcast by Lamesa Police Dept. following a shoplifting incident at Alco store there.

Items found in the vehicle were believed to have been stolen from three businesses in Lamesa and four in Takoka. The three were charged with shoplifting, a misdemeanor, and jailed in Tahoka in lieu of bonds totaling $4400 each, set by County Judge J.F. Brandon.

Tahoka police investigated an accident on Saturday at 1600 North 4th and Ave. K that involved a 1977 Chevrolet pickup driven by Tony Lynn Botkin of Tahoka and a 1982 Pontiac driven by JoAnna Adams Thomas of Tahoka. No injuries were reported.

Danny Cook of 2005 S. 3rd reported to police on Monday that someone had stolen his 1981 brown Ford F-150 pickup from his residence. Cook reported that he heard the vehicle being driven

Phebe K. Club To Celebrate 65th Anniversary April 14

On April 14, the Phebe K. Warner Club of Tahoka will celebrate its 65th anniversary. The club was named after Mrs. Phebe K. Warner of Claude, Texas, "Poet Laureate of the Panhandle" and the "Little Brown Wren of Texas". Mrs. Warner was born in May 1866, in Belle Plain, Illinois. She worked her way through Illinios Wesleyan University and became the first woman in Belle Plain ever to graduate from college. In February, 1898, she came to Claude, Texas to marry her college sweetheart, Dr. W.A. Warner. She fell in love with Texas, particularly the Panhandle. "No place ever seemed so gloriously beautiful to me as the Oceanic Plains of Texas," she wrote. She was a country doctor's wife, the mother of four children, a noted speaker and writer. Although she was an early advocate of women's rights, she had definite opinions to a woman's primary calling. "Motherhood...is the best investment of a woman's life," she wrote. She pioneered in adult education, and she urged women to organize and improve themselves. She originated the first women's club in the Texas Panhandle in 1903. She also organized the first County Federation of Women's Clubs in the world--a unit designed to bring the rural and city women together. Her obituary in the Fort Worth Star Telegram, to which she contributed many editorials as Rural Life Feature Writer, states, "by the sheer force of compelling personality she became one of the most influential prohets of contentment that farm women of Texas have ever known. Her influence spread from the community of Claude to a sphere that became international when she addressed a World Congress on Dry Farming in Peoria, Illinois, in 1917. They still tell the story of the delegate from Hungary who came to her after the lecture and said, 'Mine Gott, Mrs. Warner, I wish somebody would go to my country and do something for my wimmins."

Mrs. Warner was known for her energy and enthusiasm and her love for Texas and its people. Only 4 foot 10 inches tall, she became affectionately known as the "Little Brown Wren of Texas".

She was an early advocate of the state park system and was one of the first to envision a state park in Palo Duro Canyon. In 1929, Governor William P. Hobby appointed her the Texas. representative to the National Congress of Farm Women. In 1929 President Hoover appointed her to the National Homebuilders' Committee.

She died in May 1935, only 10 months after Dr. Warner's death. Lucille Smith, a former resident of Claude, Texas, concludes the brief history she has compiled of Mrs. Warner's life with this thought, "I believe our lives are a little brighter and fuller for having known her, and I think our club should strive to be a little better after having been named for her."

Sirens To Sound

Weather permitting, there will be a tornado warning siren test today (Thursday) at 12 noon. There will be several different tests conducted to determine the best warning signal. After the right signal is determined, it will be sounded Friday, March 27, at 12 noon.

Chamber Banquet Tickets Still Being Offered

Tickets to the annual Tahoka Chamber of Commerce banquet, which will feature Texas Tech Coach Spike Dikes as principal speaker next Friday night, April 3, still are available at the chamber office on Ave. J or from any chamber director.

Tickets to the banquet are $8.50 per plate, and also may be purchased at the door for $9.50. Features of the banquet other than the address by the new Texas Tech head football coach will include announcement and recognition of the Man of the Year and Woman of the Year.

Dinner music will be by a band including Zane Curry and Dalton Wood of Tahoka, Billie Mires of Big Spring, John Wood of Center Point and Bob Kern of Slaton.

President Weldon Self will turn over the leadership of the chamber to incoming President Bernice Phipps, and new directors also will take office.

KAMC, Channel 28, Lubbock, has indicated it may have a representative at the banquet, and Brownfield radio station and the Lubbock Avalanche Journal also have been contacted.

Lousy Weather Makes Comeback

High winds, marble-size hail and cold temperatures put a halt to Spring which officially began Friday with a nice sunny day in the Tahoka area.

The brief hail, accompanied by some rainfall, struck in Tahoka about 9:30 p.m. Sunday. On Monday an icy northwest wind kept people indoors for most of the day, and there were even some snow flurries.

Winds Sunday afternoon and Monday were about 60 mph in gusts.

The Lynn County Hospital Auxiliary's Seventh Fun and Food Festival will be held Saturday, May 2, from 4 to 9 p.m. in the Lynn County Show Barn. The festival features various food booths run by different groups and organizations in the county. There will also be health awareness booths and activities and booths for children. The auction features donated items and crafts of every description--"something for everyone". All of the proceeds this year will go toward the purchase of a fetal heart monitor for the hospital's equipment for the hospital and labor and delivery unit. This monitor will enable the close and continuous monitoring of a baby's heart rate throughout labor. Sudden changes in the fetal heart rate registered by the monitor quickly alert the medical staff to possible fetal stress.

Auxiliary President Nadine Dunlap stated the Auxiliary's appreciation for the county's past involvement with this fundraising project. The Lynn County Hospital Auxiliary was organized in April, 1979, and over the past years has raised over $55,000 for the purchase of ambulance. "Small, rural hos-

New Action To Keep Rail Spur Mapped

Lamesa Chamber of Commerce is spearheading a campaign to keep the rail service now provided by Santa Fe from Slaton to Lamesa through Tahoka in operation.

Santa Fe has indicated it would shut down the spur line sometime soon, and businesses in Wilson, Tahoka and Lamesa would be affected.

Lamesa chamber executive Luke Nichols said several industries would be lost if the rail service is discontinued.

Nichols said the group which met in Lamesa last week set as its first priority getting Santa Fe to continue operating the line.

Santa Fe trains on the spur line are restricted to traveling at 5 mph because, Santa Fe says, the line needs repairs which are too expensive to make in view of the revenue generated by the service. The Lamesa task force plans to hire a consultant on freight rail service and also to ask that an engineer from the Texas Railroad Commission inspect the safety of the line and determine the cost of repairs needed to allow faster travel, which would increase profit potential.

Another alternative mentioned was for Santa Fe to sell the spur line to another carrier specifically in the spur rail market.

Bill To Combine Primaries Backed

Cookies, Milk

Sen. Cyndi Krier of San Antonio and Rep. Richard Smith of Bryan have introduced bills in the Legislature to conduct th the Democratic and Republican primaries in a single location in each election precinct, a proposal which Secretary of State Jack Rains says will save the Texas taxpayers $5 million.

Rains says the savings would result from lower polling place rental costs, reducing the number of election workers and provide for election administration by county officials as opposed to the political party workers usded in the past. The bill would only desegregate the polling place while retaining a separate ballot and separate machines for eachparty.

It is said to be good luck to throw a shoe over your left shoulder without looking.
