Burglaries, Fatal Wreck Investigated

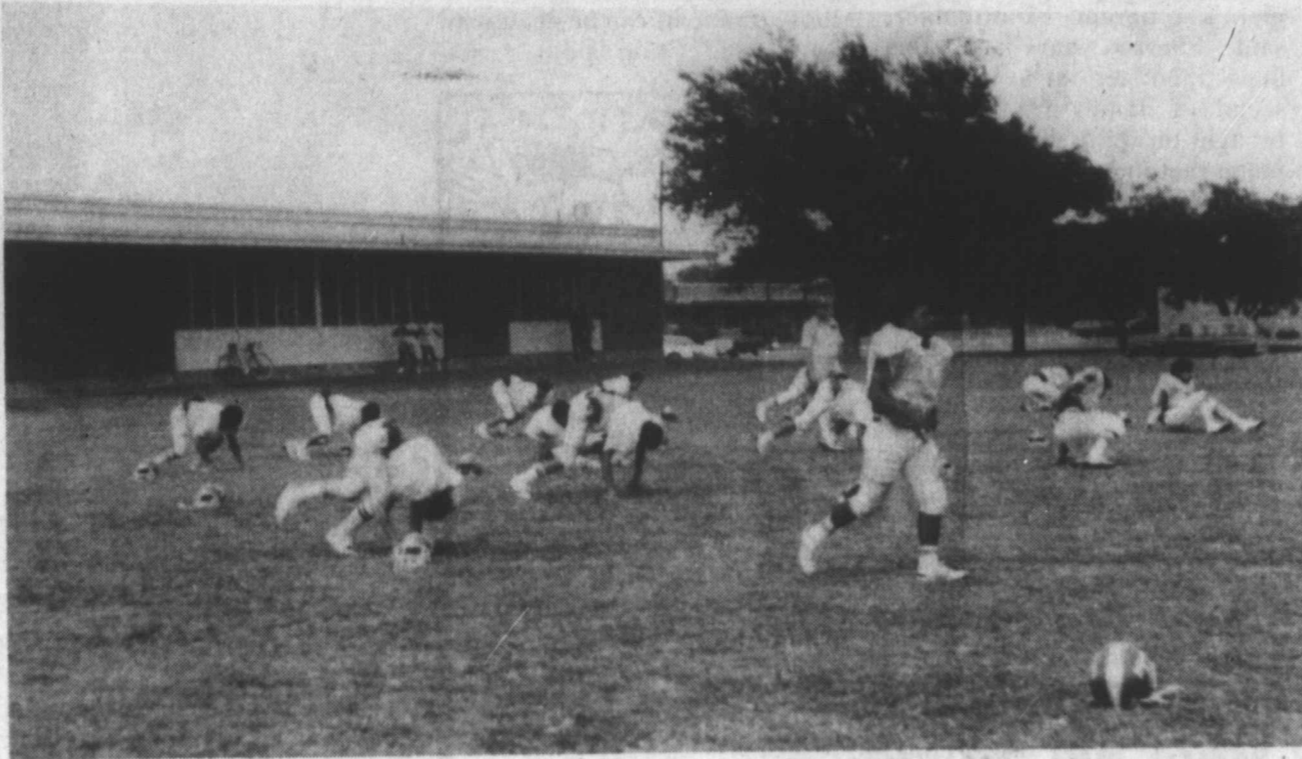

Tahoka police investigated a burglary reported to have occurred on Sunday at Richard White dental office, located at 2428 Lockwood. Suspects unknown broke into the building by twisting off a doorknob on the east side. Reported missing was various dental supplies, including gold and silver totaling $2,000 in value. No other damage was reported.

Crime Line, 998-5145, is offering a $500 reward in the above case, and is offering rewards in two other cases. During the week Dept. of Public Safety officers investigated a one-vehicle wreck in which a 17-year-old youth was killed in the north part of the county.

A reward of $200 is offered for information clearing theft of tools, a portable radio, two batteries and a 20-foot tow chain from a Texas Hwy. Dept. road grader. Someone broke a windshield in the grader between 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. Monday when it was located 4.5 miles east of Wilson on FM 211. The stolen items were valued at about $250.

A $300 reward is offered in the burglary of the home of Louis Luna in Wilson about 4:30 p.m. Monday. A member of the household saw two teenage youths leaving the house through a window and gave a description to officers. Stolen was about $135 in cash and possibly other items.

Terry Hicks, 17, of Kansas, was killed about midnight Friday when a 1972 model pickup driven by Raymond Lee Hicks of Wilson overturned on a county dirt road 3 miles south of FM 41, officers said.

TUMBLERS — Tahoka High School football team candidates practice how to fall down and still be able to get up. The team is working out in anticipation of the first game Sept. 4. A scrimmage is scheduled to begin at 6 p.m. today (Thursday) at Anton, for both varsity and junior varsity teams. (LYNN COUNTY NEWS PHOTO)

Five Tax Rates Same In County

Five of the 10 taxing entities in Lynn County already have set tax rates for the coming year, with all these holding the line at the same rate as before.

Tahoka Independent School District had a public hearing on the 1987-88 proposed budget last Thursday, with three persons attending, and during the regular meeting which followed set the tax rate at 72 cents per $100 valuation, same as for 86-87. With six members present, the vote to keep the tax rate the same was 4-2.

Other taxing entities which have approved rates for the coming year the same as they are now, include the City of Wilson, with a rate of 76 cents per $100 valuation; City of O'Donnell, 86 cents; City of New Home, 45 cents; and Lynn County Hospital District, 15 cents.

Lynn County commissioners have not set a tax rate, pending a public hearing on the budget, but may do so at the Sept. 14 meeting. The City of Tahoka also has not yet set a tax rate.

At the Tahoka school board meeting Thursday, business manager Loretta Tekell reported a balance in all funds on July 31 of $1,812,567. On the same date the 1986 tax collection totaled $607,447, less discounts of $9,802 for early payments.

No bids were received on repair of the school tennis courts, it was noted.

The board voted to have Dr. Duane Carter, superintendent, appoint a committee of teachers and administrators to devise a professional dress code for faculty.

Prior to setting the tax rate, the board approved the proposed budget for next year, totaling $2,862,009, of which general fund expenditures are set at $2,645,300.

The board also voted to hire Melanie Tekell as Chapter I regular teacher, Lila Gassiot as migrant aide in high school, and Eva Benavides as a part time lunchroom aide.

Bulldogs To Try Wishbone Defense

About 60 players have signed up for Tahoka High School football teams, and about 45 have been working out for Coach Ted Wiley and his assistants in pads since two-a-days started last Friday.

The varsity Bulldogs will have 14 players who started on either offense or defense or both at some time last season, when the Bulldogs had a 3-7 record. This mark, while not a winning season, was the best for Tahoka in several years.

"We're going to run a wishbone offense this year for the first time," Wiley said. "They've been looking pretty good with it so far." The defensive alignment also has been changed from a 4-3 to a 5-2 "because it fits our needs a lot better this season."

From the wishbone, the team can throw as well as run, and the man likely to be handling the quarterback duties appears to be incumbent Ramiro Rodriguez, a junior who started as a sophomore. Senior Jim Patterson, a good defensive halfback and wide receiver, is also working well at quarterback, the coach said.

Rusty Jennings, a strong defensive end for the Bulldogs last season, will be counted on this year as the big running back in the wishbone. A senior, he weighs about 200 pounds and also will play the defensive end spot. He will be spelled at the running back spot by Shannon Clift, who also will be a line-backer.

John Aldous is a strong candidate for one running back spot and the other halfback spot has several youngsters vying for the position. Aldous and tight end Joseph House appear to be good receivers.

Probably the strongest lineman around is 225-pound Gary Daniell, defensive tackle and guard on offense. Daniell was 10th in the state last year in weight-lifting for students in his weight division and has bench pressed more than 400 pounds.

Ronnie Dunn, 187-pound line-backer, has been shifted to center on offense. George Morin, a starter in the line for about three years, will be back for both offensive and defensive duties.

Tackle Oscar Gutierrez, who was a starter last year until he broke an ankle, is back this year, weighing about 200. Guard Mark Vega, a starter last year at guard, is returning and weighs about 165.

The Bulldogs will open their season at home Sept. 4, hosting the Plains Cowboys, who beat Tahoka 14-0 in last year's opener.

WOODWORK
BY DALTON

WHO HAS already announced they are in the running for President of the United States? Well, lessee...there's Robert Dole and George Bush, and I can't think of any Democrats except Jesse Jackson, since Gary had Hart failure, but I think there are three or four who have announced.

But I found out I was wrong, by reading a Dallas Morning News story by Kevin Merida of their Washington bureau. He checked with the Federal Election Commission (FEC) and learned that 150 candidates already have signed up to run—including one dog and one Houston man who wants to give every U.S. citizen a $50,000 bonus.

He says that utilizing Congress' power to coin money, the Treasury Dept. can simply write everyone a check and put them in the mail. This would solve many of the country's ills, he says. The Harvard economics graduate may not be too serious about that proposal, but says he is very serious about his candidacy as a Democrat. He also ran in 1980 and 1984. His platform includes eliminating the Internal Revenue Service and limiting spending to a fixed percentage of the gross national product.

The reason so many people are on the official list of candidates is that it is easy to get on. All you have to do is fill out a statement of candidacy naming your campaign committee and party affiliation and you automatically are on the FEC rolls with your own microfilm number. Once you raise or spend $5,000—which Merida says very few of the 150 candidates have done—the FEC certifies you as a candidate, without regard to other legal matters such as age (one 14-year-old high school student from New York lists Alan Alda as his running mate).

The dog candidate listed as Punch B. Burger, whose campaign committee is the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Voters. There are 13 Texans on the list, three of whom have raised or spent more than $5,000, proving they are serious. They are former GOP Rep. Ron Paul of Lake Jackson, who has spent more than $100,000; William Dean Allen of Houston and Sherman Lee Tyler Jr., also of Houston.

All the Presidents I can think of in my lifetime got nothing but trouble in the office. When you're president, everybody loads his guns for you, so I don't know why anyone would want the job. They do get paid fairly well, but, it still would be better to be a professional football player taken in the first round of the draft. Or his agent.

Alzheimer's Council Created In State

As many as 160,000 Texans may be victims of the fatal neurological disorder, Alzheimer's disease. And their numbers are growing as the state's population ages, according to the Texas Dept. of Health.

Once generally regarded as a mental disease, sometimes labeled "senility," Alzheimer's is now known to be a physical illness. Its cause has not been traced.

The disorder, characterized by memory loss, disorientation, and total physical dependence in its advanced stages, is the most prevalent single cause of dementia among older people, says the TDH. The tragedy of the long-term disease often extends throughout the victim's family. Few families are prepared, emotionally or financially, to care for the Alzheimer's patient at home in the last stages of the disease. And only in recent years have nursing homes begun to train their staffs and create services to meet the special needs of their Alzheimer's patients.

According to the TDH, however, new legislation promises to ensure quality care for Alzheimer's patients. A central authority also has been established to help families solve the complexities of managing Alzheimer's patient care.

The 70th Texas Legislature passed three bills and four resolutions addressing the problems families face when a member suffers from Alzheimer's or a similar illness. Two of the bills concern certification and specialized training for facilities and staff offering services to Alzheimer's victims. But perhaps most important is a bill creating the Texas Council on Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders, effective Sept. 1.

Morris Craig, TDH Alzheimer's program coordinator, said, "Seven years ago, this department set out to learn the scope of family problems brought on by Alzheimer's. We found that most people trying to cope with a relative's illness were overwhelmed. Over the years, in more than 1,000 meetings—sometimes with hundreds of concerned family members, medical and health care providers and others -- we learned about their most pressing concerns."

Immediate family problems included the need for more information concerning insurance, long-term and respite care, training in behavior management, financial and legal guidance, transportation, and research.

"With the creation of the Council on Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders, most of those problems can be dealt with uniformly," Craig said.

Former Lynn Resident Earns Degree In Social Work

When Rux Hensley was a small boy growing up on a farm near Tahoka, his great-aunt, who claimed she could tell a person's future by reading bumps on a head, ran her fingers over his skull and announced that young Rux was going to be a minister.

"Even then, being a minister didn't fit with the way I saw myself," Hensley said, "but I did become a social worker. I suppose even at a young age it was apparent that I had a great interest in helping others. Today, my social work values are an integral part of my religious beliefs."

Raised a Methodist, Hensley is now working for a Baptist institution, and he has just earned a master of social work degree from Yeshiva University, America's oldest and largest university under Jewish auspices.

Hensley is one of 57 students who graduated July 24 from the Block Plan of Yeshiva University's Wurzeiler School of Social Work in New York City.

The Block Plan allows students to complete degree requirements during three consecutive summers of study in New York while working during the traditional academic year at social service agencies in or near their hometowns.

Hensley is director of social services at Buckner Children's Home in Lubbock, a 72-bed facility operated under the auspices of the Southern Baptist General Convention of Texas.

"At the Home, we get children who are very troubled," Hensley explained. "Some are brought in by their parents, others are sent to us by social service agencies, and still others come to us from the court system."

Hensley said that the ultimate goal of the work at the Children's Home was restoration of the child to his family, but, at times, that is impossible.

"Sometimes the family has dissolved by the time the child gets to us," he said. "One parent or perhaps both may have disappeared. Those are the saddest cases."

The 33-year-old Hensley earned his undergraduate degree in psychology at Texas Tech University in 1975. He has been with Buckner Children's Home for more than 10 years.

At Wurzeiler, Hensley was required to take courses in Jewish social philosophy and the Jewish family.

"To me, those courses were very broadening and exciting," he said. "I have always had an abiding interest in Judaism."

Getting used to New York City, however, was difficult at first. "The first couple of weeks was a real adjustment for me," he said. "All the noise. And the city truly never sleeps. But, after a while, New York City gets under your skin."

After his New York experience, Hensley has returned to his job and his home in Lubbock. He has not lived on a farm since 1972, but finds an occasional visit back home with family and friends to be a relaxing experience. "Especially, he said, "after an exciting summer in New York City."

Wurzeiler School of Social Work, America's only university-based graduate social work program under Jewish auspices, offers Master of Social Work degree plans that combine study with supervised field instruction.

The School also offers a Doctor of Social Welfare degree program ad, through the Yeshiva University Gerontological Institute, a one-year course for the Post-Master's Certificate in Gerontology.

Wurzeiler is an integral part of Yeshiva University, which has just completed its Centennial celebration.

OUT OF THE WOODS

By Juanell (Wood) Jones

I RECEIVED in the mail a few days ago a book I had ordered that sounded interesting: "Bright Ideas for Creative Parents." Although I don't consider myself to be especially creative, occasionally I astound those who know me with bright ideas, and I am, without a doubt, a parent. The title of the book is rather silly, though, because if I was already a creative parent, I wouldn't need a book to give me bright ideas.

Anyway, as a parent of a soon-to-be kindergartener, I've already had a couple of bright ideas. One is, when shopping for school supplies required by the teacher, don't, repeat don't, take your children with you. They don't want plain pencils or erasers or lunch boxes. No, no. They demand high-priced Garfield pencils, Snoopy erasers, and Mickey Mouse lunch boxes, please, please, please Mommy.

My other bright idea deserves a gold star: mention to your child's grandmother that you plan to shop for her grandson's school clothes pretty soon, and it sure would be nice to have her come along (as long as she brings her checkbook). My mother, who is almost as excited as my child about his starting school, has promised to buy everything he needs to wear to school. Wonderful! I wonder if I could persuade her to buy me a new dress to commemorate my son's glorious entry into the world of education. I may need it, after all, to attend a PTA meeting.

Anyway, one of the bright ideas in the book concerned the weekly grocery shopping, where lots of children, including mine, lose all grip on self-control and behave like little terrorists. The book said, in order to cut down on noise and grabbing things off the shelves, to make a game of selecting groceries by giving the child a flashlight and two rules: (1) the child cannot speak, and, (2) cannot grab things off the shelves. They are supposed to shine the flashlight on the object they wish Mom to purchase, and Mom can either smilingly oblige, or shake her head "no." She's not supposed to speak, either.

Well, I don't know. It might work ... especially if you could persuade the store manager to dim the lights so your flashlight would show up better. That way, you wouldn't see the price, either — might make grocery shopping lots more fun.

I've saved my best and brightest idea for last: I'm fresh out of ideas. If you've got a good "bright idea for creative parents," let me know.

CALL 998-4533 FOR APPOINTMENT

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of ten women in the United States will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as the result of breast cancer.

Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10-year survival rate.

A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, even before it can be felt.

Appointments can be made by calling 998-4533. The Mobile Breast Cancer Detection Unit will be in Tahoka on Tuesday, September 1, 1987.

The American Cancer Society has established guidelines for mammography in asymptomatic women. (Women who have no symptoms of disease). Those guidelines have been adopted by the American Academy of Family Physicians, American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, and the American College of Radiology. Those guidelines are:

I. 35-40 years of age - One baseline mammogram.

II. 40-50 years of age - A mammogram every 1-2 years depending on breast type and risk factor.

III. 50 years of age and over - An annual physical examination and annual mammogram.

IV. Asymptomatic women under 50 years of age with significant high risk factors should be examined at appropriate intervals. These risk factors include previous breast cancer and family history of cancer.

V. A symptomatic woman should have a mammogram at any age when she experiences a mass, nipple discharge, skin changes or unexplained breast pain.

A screening mammogram is an x-ray of the breast using extremely low dosages of radiation (usually comparable to dental x-rays) and is designed to find very early cancers.

A female technologist who is highly trained in mammography will perform the examination.

The charge for the screening mammogram is $50.00. The Unit accepts cash, check, Visa, MasterCard and American Express.

Workfest Week Planned Sept. 13-19

Activities being planned for the Take Pride in America "Workfest Week '87" throughout the United States the week of Sept. 13-19 are as varied as the interests of local planners and their communities.

The workfest will focus on projects that protect and improve the nation's natural resources, points out Stanley Young, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Texas A&M University System. The Extension agent emphasizes that the special weeklong workfest follows a mid-May period that was designated as Take Pride in America Awareness Week which keyed on an informational campaign designed to motivate all citizens to join in achieving program goals. Besides private individuals, many youth and adult groups are deeply involved in Take Pride in America campaign efforts which got under way in the U.S. last year, Young says.

Among projects that were initiated earlier this year as part of the Take Pride in America observance in Texas counties were outdoor learning centers, national forest clean-up projects by 4-H Clubs, adopt-a-highway programs conducted by many groups, poster contests, park beautification efforts, educational programs and exhibits, tree-plantings by many groups, city and county clean-up campaigns, soil and water conservation projects, landscaping of school and park areas, and agricultural media campaigns.

Nationally, the Take Pride in America effort is being promoted by some dozen or more government agencies in cooperation with private groups. The U.S. Department of Agriculture is coordinating its efforts through local Food and Agriculture Councils and county Extension agents are serving as key contacts for local FAC groups in Texas.

Tahoka I.S.D. Lunch Policy

Registration for the Free and Reduced Lunch Program will begin on August 21, 1987. Beginning at 9:00 in the Tahoka School Cafeteria. Bring with you the papers needed for verification of your application: W2 Form, Check Stub, or some other proof of income.

The Tahoka School will begin serving nutritious meals on September 1, 1987.

The prices will be for Regular Breakfast 40% and Lunch 75%. Children from households that meet Federal Income guidelines are eligible for the Free meals or the Reduced Breakfast 20% and Lunch for 25%.

LETTER TO PARENTS ATTACHMENT B

Dear Parent or Guardian:

The Tahoka Public School serves nutritious meals every school day. Students may buy lunch for 75-cents and breakfast for 40-cents. Children from households that meet Federal Income guidelines are eligible for free meals or reduced-price meals at 25-cents for lunch and 20-cents for breakfast. To apply for free or reduced-price meals, complete the enclosed application, sign it and return it to the school.

FOOD STAMP/AFDC HOUSEHOLDS: If you currently receive Food Stamps or "Aid to Families with Dependent Children" for your child, you only have to list your child's name and food stamp or AFDC case number, print your name, and sign the application. Since you have already given income information to the welfare office, the school can confirm your eligibility.

ALL OTHER HOUSEHOLDS: If your household income is at or below the level shown on the enclosed scale, your child is eligible for either free or reduced-price meals. To apply for meal benefits, you must provide the following information and sign the application: (1) list the names of everyone who lives in your household. Include parents, grandparents, all children, other relatives and unrelated people who live in your household, (2) list the social security number of each adult age 21 or older. If an adult does not have a social security number print "None", (3) list total monthly income and amount of income (BEFORE deductions for taxes, social security, etc.) each person received last month and where it is from, such as wages, retirement, or welfare. If you have a household member for whom last month's income was higher or lower than usual, list the person's expected average monthly income.

VERIFICATION: The information on the application may be checked by school officials at any time during the school year.

REPORTING CHANGES: If you list income information and your child is approved for meal benefits, you must tell the school when your household income increases by $50 or more per month ($600 per year) or when your household size decreases. If you list a food stamp case number or AFDC number, you must tell the school when you no longer receive food stamps or AFDC for your child.

FOSTER CHILD: Your foster child may be eligible for meal benefits. If you wish to apply for meal benefits for a foster child, contact the school for help with the application.

NONDISCRIMINATION: Children who receive free or reduced-price meal benefits are treated the same as children who pay for meals. In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color, national origin, age or handicap. If you believe you have been discriminated against, write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

FAIR HEARING: If you do not agree with the school's decision on your application or the result of verification, you may wish to discuss it with the school. You also have the right to a fair hearing. This can be done by calling or writing the following official:

Loretta Tekell, Business Manager, Box 1230, Tahoka, TX 79737 — Phone 998-4600

CONFIDENTIALITY: The information you provide will be treated confidentially and will be used only for eligibility determination and verification of data.

REAPPLICATION: You may apply for benefits any time during the school year. If you are not eligible now but need to apply later in the year, please fill out an application at that time. You will be notified when the application is approved or denied.

Sincerely, Loretta Tekell

(These guidelines should be used by the school to determine eligibility for free or reduced-price meals and should be provided to the media for public release.)

Good Eating Habits When You're Older

If you're one of those older folks who thinks teenagers eat too much fast food and sweets, take a closer look at your own diet.

Many in the over-65 age group also have some bad eating habits which can affect their nutrition and health. Answer these questions and see if you fit in this group.

Are you salting your food more and more? We often get into the habit of heavily salting food to compensate for the loss of taste with age. This can worsen any pre-existing hypertension. It's better to learn how to use more herbs and spices for flavor.

Have you started eating mostly soft foods? When you restrict your diets to easy-to-chew foods, it becomes difficult to get adequate amounts of needed nutrients. Typically, poor teeth and gums makes the soft foods seem more attractive. But good dental care and well-fitting dentures may help the older you enjoy crisp foods again.

The softer, high-carbohydrate foods preferred by many elderly can also lead to an increased incidence of constipation since they contain little fiber. Adding cooked whole grain cereals to a "soft" diet will greatly increase its fiber content and help this problem.

LAUGHLINS TO CONDUCT REVIVAL — Evangelists Dave and Gloria Laughlin of Chandler, Texas, will conduct revival services at the Assembly of God Church, 1929 Lockwood, according to Pastor Charles McCause. Services will be held at 7:30 p.m. nightly, Aug. 23-30. Rev. and Mrs. Laughlin conducted a revival at this assembly 37 years ago. Mrs. Laughlin is the former Gloria Gray and was born in Tahoka and attended school here. Rev. Laughlin is a graduate of Southwestern Assemblies of God College in Waxahatchie. The couple have pastored churches and conducted revivals across the Southwest for many years. Special music and singing will be a feature of the nightly services.

Are you skipping meals because you're depressed, it seems like too much trouble to cook, or you're just not hungry? It doesn't have to be this way! Try trading off with a friend to cook and eat at each other's homes.

Maybe your church or a senior citizens' center has a noon meal where you can eat in pleasant company. Or you may qualify for a "Meals-On-Wheels" program, where a friendly visitor will bring you a meal each day.

A Visit With Your County Agent

By Stanley Young

Soil preparation is probably the hardest part of growing a fall vegetable garden because it's got to be done during the summer heat.

But getting the soil ready early and planting at the right time is vital to a successful fall garden. If there's one overriding cause for failure in fall gardening, it's simply because the necessary activities of soil preparation, fertilizing and planting are done too late.

Soil preparation for a fall garden is basically the same as getting the soil ready in the spring. Regardless of the type of soil, you can improve it by adding plenty of organic matter. Liberal amounts of organic matter added to a sandy soil will help it hold water as well as nutrients.

Organic matter includes such materials as peat moss, compost, hay, grass clippings, barnyard fertilizer, shredded bark, leaves or even shredded newspapers.

When adding organic matter to your garden soil, be sure to apply enough to physically change the soil structure. If you added the recommended 2 to 4 inches of organic material to your garden soil in the spring, then about half that much is generally sufficient in the fall. Otherwise, till in a minimum of about a 4-inch layer of this magical material to your soil and work it in to a depth of at least 6 to 8 inches.

Apply fertilizer at the same time you incorporate organic material. If you used the recommended amount of a complete fertilizer in the spring, you probably won't need anything but nitrogen this fall. For every 100 square feet of garden surface, apply about 1 pound of a complete fertilizer, such 10-10-10 or 13-13-13; and till it in with the organic matter.

Slaton Air Show Will Recreate WWII Events

On Sept. 6 at Slaton Municipal Airport/Gaulding Field, more than 50 World War II vintage "warbirds" along with aerobatics performers, hot air balloonists and remote control modelers will stage the first annual West Texas Air Fair, an all-day event that will climax with a three-hour recreation of some of the major air war events of World War II, complete with the explosions.

Centering around the flying museum pieces brought in by Confederate Air Force (CAF) members from throughout Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma, the show is being staged by the Slaton Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the CAF—particularly the Panhandle Squadron of the CAF—and the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce. It is being staged to honor the late Jack L. Gaulding, a CAF colonel and general staff member, a Lubbock banker-businessman and the man who was revitalizing the Slaton airport before his death in a plane crash May 9, Gaulding had staged a small air show at the field just north of Slaton on FM 400 in 1986, an air show that rededicated the airport. Working with the Slaton chamber, he was the catalyst for the expanded annual event. With his death, the show was dedicated to his memory.

Part of the show will be the dedication of a monument to Gaulding and ceremonies honoring him for his role in general aviation, the CAF and Slaton's airport.

Among the aircraft expected for the show are: A Curtiss P-40 Warhawk a Grumman Wildcat, Vought F-4U Corsair, North American P-51 Mustang, B-25 Mitchell, and several members of the CAF's "Tora, Tora" group, Japanese Zeros and VALS, that will help recreate the Pearl Harbor attack. The airport will open at 8 a.m. Sept. 6 for guided tours of the aircraft, hot air balloon rides provided by members of the Lubbock Balloon Club, and various other activities.

The air show itself will be from 1 to 4 p.m.

Tickets are $3 per person or $10 per carload at the gate.

Advance tickets will entitle the holder to "on-airport" parking. Those buying tickets the day of the show will be parked away from the airport and shuttled to the airport.

General aviation pilots wishing to fly in for the show are advised that due to limited aircraft parking space at Slaton Municipal Airport, the field will be closed to general aviation on Sept. 6 and fuel will not be sold at the airport on that date.

Band Rehearsals Begin Monday

Members of the Tahoka High School Big Blue Band are asked to be present at the pre-school rehearsals beginning Monday, Aug. 17, and running until school starts, according to Tony McGowan, band director.

The rehearsal schedule is: Monday, Aug. 17 - 9:00-11:00, 8th grade; 3:00-5:00, 8th-9th grade. Tuesday, Aug. 18 - 9:00-11:00, 8th, 9th, 10th; 3:00-5:00, 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th. Wednesday, Aug. 19 - 9:00-11:00 all grades; 3:00-5:00 all grades.

All grades will rehearse from 9 to 11 a.m. and again from 3 to 5 p.m. on the following dates: Thursday, Aug. 20; Friday, Aug. 21; and Monday through Friday, Aug. 24-28.

All students are encouraged to be present at their specified times. Ex-band members who have dropped in the past are encouraged to join back and become a member of this year's organization.

"All members past and present are asked to check closets and dresser drawers as parts of some uniforms are missing," says McGowan. If any parts are found, please return to the school or call Mr. Mac for it to be picked up.

In jail during the week were one person for revocation of probation, two each for theft by check, speeding, and public intoxication, and three for driving while intoxicated.

Dear John: John Deere Answers Your Lawn and Garden Woes

Fall Flower Funk

Dear John: Seeing flowers come to the end of their season makes me want to sing the blues. Are there any flowers that will still bloom in September?

Dear Blues Brother: There are a number of late-blooming flowers that will jazz up your garden after summer.

Let a chorus of yellow and pink snapdragons—with colorful phlox and verbenas humming along—be an encore to your summer arrangement. As soloists or a harmonized group, these annuals perform well in cool weather and add lasting color to your home long after other flowers have canceled their summer shows.

Dear John: I live in a beautiful, wooded area. But no matter how well I care for my lawn, my trees are always thicker and greener than my grass. What could the problem be?

Dear Shady Lady: Sounds like your lawn is competing with the trees for sunlight. If shade is heavy enough, trees will almost always win.

To grow a lawn successfully in partial shade, select a shade-tolerant grass like red fescue, St. Augustine grass or roughstalk bluegrass. Also, choose trees that cast filtered shade, and don't overplant.

A few changes in regular lawn care maintenance will also help a partially shaded lawn to grow in thicker and greener. Mow a shaded lawn higher than usual so it can develop a deeper root system. Prevent overfertilizing by injecting fertilizer near the base of trees rather than on the grass.

Water deeply but infrequently and only when the lawn really needs it. Deep, infrequent watering will allow grass plants to develop deep root systems. This will prevent the tree roots from robbing the lawn of nutrients.

Sometimes the easiest solution to a shade problem is to prune the trees' lower branches. Pruning will allow filtered sunlight to get to the grass, and help it become as green and healthy as your trees.

Dear John: How can I tell if my muskmelons are ready to harvest?

Dear Melon Monitor: If a muskmelon separates from its stem with the slightest pressure of your thumb, you know the melon is ripe and that you're in for a real taste treat! Also, when the melon turns a dull, cream color without any trace of green left, the fruit is ripe. The real ripeness giveaway, however, is the wonderful aroma you'll smell throughout your garden when the melons are ready for picking.

SCS Scheduling Appointments For Conservation Plans

The conservation compliance provision of the Food Security Act of 1985 disqualifies certain U.S. Department of Agriculture programs if crops are produced on highly erodible cropland without a conservation system approved by the local conservation district.

The Soil Conservation Service is now scheduling appointments for farm visits to help write a conservation plan on highly erodible land.

BEEF PRODUCTS CHANGING TO MEET CONSUMER TRENDS

When it comes to beef, there are big changes at the meat counter—and even more to come, according to meat scientists, producers and retailers. "Beef products are being produced, packaged and prepared differently to give consumers leaner beef that is quick and convenient to prepare," said Dr. Dan Hale, meat scientist, speaking to the 1987 Beef Industry Conference, held Aug. 10-11 at Texas A&M University. He said that consumer demand for less fat is being met both with leaner beef and beef that has been closely-trimmed. Boned, trimmed cuts packaged for smaller families and singles reduce both preparation and clean-up time. For consumers interested in reduced preparation and cooking time, beef already trimmed and cut for stir-fry or shis kabobs and breaded for beef cutlets can be found.
