City Still Trying To Get Junk Vehicles Off Streets

Tahoka City Council Monday night took action to enforce a junk car ordinance in the city, seeking to improve the appearance of the city by voluntary or mandatory removal of abandoned or non-operable vehicles.

The Police Department will begin enforcing the City's junk vehicle ordinance March 18. The ordinance allows the city to issue citations against persons keeping junk vehicles inside the city limits.

A junked vehicle is defined in the ordinance as "one which is inoperative, and which does not have lawfully affixed to it both an unexpired license plate or plates and a valid Texas Department of Motor Vehicle Inspection Stickers and which is wrecked, entirely or partially dismantled, or discarded."

The ordinance terms such vehicles a public nuisance.

When a vehicle defined as "junked" under the ordinance is spotted, it will be marked with a red tag. The red tag, along with a letter sent to the owner or custodian, will serve as notice that the vehicle has been deemed to be junked and that the vehicle is to be removed within 10 days. The owner then has an option to either sign a release which will allow the city to pick up the junked vehicle at no charge to the owner or may, within the 10-day period, appeal by filing a written request with the city manager for a hearing before the municipal judge.

If the owner of the vehicle has not signed a release for the city to remove the vehicle or within the 10-day period has not removed the vehicle or filed a written request for a hearing before the judge, the owner becomes liable for a fine not to exceed $200. Each day after the tenth day constitutes a separate offense, so fines could amount to $200 per day.

A junked vehicle which has not been properly removed within the time constraints of the ordinance will be subject to removal by the city. The city, or its authorized representative, will remove the junked vehicle to a suitable city storage area designated by the city council. Any such vehicle that has been impounded will be stored in the storage area for a period of not less than 10 days, after which it may be disposed of.

The ordinance does not apply to a vehicle kept in an enclosed building, or where it is not visible from the street or other public or private property, or is stored or parked in a lawful manner on private property in connection with the business of a licensed vehicle dealer or junk yard.

The City will dispose of junked vehicles upon request, with no charge to the owner. City hall may be contacted for further information.

In other action Monday, the council approved an ordinance giving the city's blessing to a rate decrease by Southwestern Public Service Co., and passed a resolution supporting the idea of a 911 number for emergency use countywide. The resolution approved continued study of the project to determine costs. The theory is that all citizens in the county would have a single telephone number, 911, to call in any type of emergency. There probably would be a fee of no more than 50 cents per call charged to the user, plus a slight surcharge on customers' bills. County officials also have been looking at the possibility of setting up a 911 system.

Representing General Telephone at the meeting Monday were Jerry Slaughter and O.D. Hearn. They presented another suggested agreement on a franchise for GTE to continue serving the city. The council plans to study the proposal before taking any action. Also present at the meeting as guests were members of Troop 721 Boy Scouts of America.

A request to place some dumpsters outside the city limits was denied.

Police Chief Ray Woodall reported on Police Department activities for the month. Chief Woodall also informed the Council that there has been a significant increase in traffic accidents with injuries compared with the same period last year. The statistics also reflected an increase of unlicensed drivers involved in the accidents and other traffic violations. Woodall expressed concern for the safety of all citizens in the city and said enforcement of traffic laws would be increased to protect everyone.

All members of the city council were present.

Miller Wins Sheriff Race; Gerner Victor

Former Tahoka Police Chief Jack Miller defeated incumbent Sheriff Clifford Laws for the Democratic nomination for that job in Lynn County voting Tuesday. Miller had a total of 1,043 votes to 873 votes for Laws.

As results came in Tuesday night, the race was very close until the last voting box at O'Donnell came in, and that box voted heavily for Miller.

Winning the nomination for sheriff is the same as winning the job, since no Republican candidate for the office filed. Candidates elected at the general election in November will take office next January.

In a close race for county commissioner of Precinct 1, two-term officeholder Eldon Gattis was defeated by challenger Gerald (Jerry) Gerner by just 20 votes. Gerner had 239 and Gattis 219.

In the five-man race for county commissioner of Precinct 3, John Chapa Jr. of Tahoka and Bobby Cox of O'Donnell will be in a runoff in April. Chapa had 167 votes and Cox 127. Other Democratic candidates in the race were Don Blair, 118 votes; Kenneth Eaker 86, and Bobby Knight with 27.

Albert Gore won the Democratic presidential preference race in Lynn County, getting 658 of the total 1971 votes cast. Michael Dukakis was second with 449 and Gephardt third with 276. Jesse Jackson had 152 and Gary Hart 127.

Sixty-eight persons voted in the Lynn County Republican primary, and George Bush led the presidential race with 47 votes. Pat Robertson was second with 11 votes. Beau Boulter of Amarillo led the county in the race for nomination for the U.S. Senate, getting 42 votes to 11 for Gillbreath.

In the railroad commissioner race on the GOP ballot, Sam Ervin led with 18 to 16 for Emmett. Kent Hance got 63 votes for railroad commissioner. In Supreme Court judges races, Barbary beat Murphy in the county and Hecht led. Tom Mason had 4 votes for county chairman and E.L. Blankenship 3.

Republicans voted 58-1 for making English the official language and Democrats voted 1145 to 97 for continuing to elect judges.

Open House Set Today In Tahoka Schools

The Tahoka Public Schools are among 1100 public school systems in the state observing Texas Public Schools Week this week, March 7-11, with open house scheduled today (Thursday) when student work is being displayed in homerooms.

"Although parents and the public are invited to visit our schools throughout the school year, we extend a special invitation during Texas Public Schools Week join in a powerful, partnership that will make a difference for the future of our state," Dr. Duane Carter, superintendent, said.

"The youngsters who entered kindergarten in September will be the graduates of the year 2000. But last year, 86,000 Texas students dropped out of school. That's 86,000 dropouts who lost their options in life. That's 86,000 dropouts whose survival will cost you--and your children--billions of dollars in welfare, in unemployment and in crime," Dr. Carter said.

"More and more, we are coming to realize that the key to the economic well-being of Texas is our education system. Texas needs useful, educated citizens to meet the challenge of the future. We want everyone to join the partnership with the schools. The task is too important for the schools to tackle alone; we need the support of parents, businesses and all citizens to insure a brighter future," Dr. Carter said.

All classrooms in the Tahoka Public Schools, elementary through high school, are hosting open house during this week, and the community is invited to see first-hand how the school system operates.

The open house schedule today (Thursday) is:

- Elementary School- 6:30 p.m.- 7 p.m.
- Junior-Senior High School 7 p.m.- 8 p.m.

All Funds Accounted For, Says County Treasurer

County Treasurer Cynthia Bryan told commissioners Monday afternoon that all county funds are accounted for, despite rumors of a missing $7500.

Mrs. Bryan requested the called meeting with commissioners and County Judge J.F. Brandon because, she said, she had some inquiries from citizens during the last week regarding the supposedly missing money, and relating the situation to advertisements from Sheriff Clifford Laws and from the four county commissioners which claimed very different amounts of budget overrun by the sheriff's office.

Mrs. Bryan said she supported the sheriff's figures. "I know where he got his figures; I don't know where some of the figures published by the commissioners came from," she said.

She also noted that television channel 28 in Lubbock, which filmed the meeting Monday, reported Monday night that

More Irrigation Pipe, Other Items Stolen

Another major theft of irrigation pipe was reported in Lynn County during the week as owner David Ehlers of Tahoka reported 32 joints of 4-inch pipe missing from a location 7.5 miles northwest of Tahoka sometime in the last two weeks. The pipe was valued at more than $3200.

A tool box with wrenches was stolen from a farm shop a mile east of U.S. 87 on FM 211 Thursday, it was reported by Lonell Roberts of Slaton.

Steve Fillingim reported four guns and a knife stolen from his residence east of Lakeview on FM 211, probably on March 1. Two of the guns were owned by Bobby Clem of New Home. Total loss was estimated at $1285.

A witness saw a suspect getting tools from a county-owned pickup parked at Draw Paymaster Gin Sunday. The suspect fled the scene as the witness fired shots at the suspect's dark blue pickup.

The office of St. Pius Catholic Church at O'Donnell was burglarized and a safe containing about $265 in cash taken, about 2 p.m. Tuesday afternoon.

Spruiell-Carpenter Vows Exchanged

Constance DeShawn Spruiell and Randall Leon Carpenter were married at 7:00 p.m., Friday evening, Feb. 26, 1988, at the First Baptist Church in Tahoka. Dr. George Ray, minister at Trinity Baptist Church in Lubbock, officiated the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Jessie and Linda Spruiell, grand daughter of the late Tom W. Hale and Constance Muriel Hale and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Spruiell, all of Tahoka. Parents of the groom are Nelva Lawrence and Jimmy Carpenter of Phoenix, Ariz., and grandson of Sadie and Eddie Oliver and Alley and Leland Darnell of East Texas.

The sleeves and bodice were buttoned with tiny white pearl buttons. The full gown was of white satin and the huge satin bow below the waistline in back was the top of the 4 ft. long satin train. The headpiece was white net with tiny white pearls mingled through it and flowers around her head. The veil was worn over the bride's face during the ceremony. The dress was made by June Brooks of Tahoka. Her bouquet was cascading made of tiny silk peach rosebuds and white roses, with white lace and peach ribbon.

Fresh ivy interwoven in candelabra and white satin bows decorated the whole church. Tommy Sue Pebsworth made all of the corsages, boutonniere of white roses, bride's and maid of honor's bouquets. She also did all the decorating at the church and reception. The unity candle was in a heart shaped candelabra, also decorated by Tommy Sue Pebsworth, aunt of the bride.

Joan Cox of Houston, aunt of the groom, played the piano and sang "Let It Be Me" and "Where Ever Thou Goest." Hazel Bennett played the organ and chimes.

Holly Carpenter, sister of the groom of Lubbock, served as matron of honor. She wore a long southern bell dress, colored with roses and ruffles, the same color, and teal headpiece. Bouquet was peach roses (nosgay) and peach ribbon. Colors were peach, teal and white.

5th Grader Wins With Editorial On Americanism

Anne-Marie Midkiff, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. David Midkiff of Tahoka, tied for first place in the elementary division of a "Write an Editorial" contest sponsored by the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, announced in Sunday's newspaper.

A 5th grade student in Lubbock's Smith Elementary, Anne-Marie entitled her editorial "Being an American Means..."

The editorial is reprinted as follows:

Can you imagine getting out of bed on a gray day, going to a job or school you did not choose, wearing clothes you do not like, obeying laws you disagree with, or not being allowed to worship as you wish? I can't, because I'm an American! I have freedom of choice and individual rights that many people in the world would never know. Being an American means I have the freedom to say or write whatever I want, as long as nobody else gets hurt. When I'm older I'll be able to vote for President or may even run for President.

As an American I can wear mini skirts or long dresses, wear my hair long or shave my head, enjoy baseball or ballet without government interference. Everyday freedoms are often overlooked, but these are the freedoms that many have died for. I Am Proud To Be An American!

West Point Home Extension Club

Thursday, March 3, West Point Home Extension Club went to Slaton and were shown through Flo Rees dress manufacturing plant where their original pattern are used and all work done on ladies dresses, slacks, skirts and blouses and are marketed. This business was the original dream of two ladies who started on a "shoe string" so to speak, and with their determination and hard work have made a successful business of it. We learned that with such abilities things can be accomplished.

The meeting was held at the Dairy Queen over coffee-Annis Brown and 4 other ladies attended the meeting.

Monday, March 7, five West Point Club members and a guest led by Annis Brown agent, event to Roaring Springs on a tour. Thacker Jewelry Manufacturing Company, which is located in an old bank building, was the first stop. This business employs 20 people, all trained in one phase or another in the jewelry making process, very interesting indeed. We learned why diamonds and gold jewelry is expensive. The ladies had the noon meal at the Wagon Train Restaurant and museum which was a homey and friendly place. The Jam and Jelly Factory, also a family owned business, who grow their own fruits gave a tasting party. The Wes Day family has a thousand peach tree orchards of old and new trees, also berries, plums and grapes are grown there. They make a wild plum jam that is tasty.

They use their own recipes with Lano Estacado wines and it is all non-alcoholic. Their pepper wine jellies, hot n' mild, is their own recipe idea made with Texas jalopino peppers used with cream cheese and crackers, or to marinate wild game on a grill. These "Day" ladies escorted the group out to the Matador Ranch Park, which is owned by 500 members and were shown the sights-such a treat to the "High Plains." The swimming pool was originally built by the Matador Ranch in 1929 and is spring fed.

Our part of the state has many interesting places to see if only time is taken to view.

Surprised People

We have studied previously on people who were surprised when events happened that they had been warned over and over about yet they would not believe nor accept the teachings of the Lord and His messengers. So far we have looked into the Old Testament and found some (not all of them by any means) who were surprised because they failed to obey. Let us now look at some of today.

1. The Atheist is going to be terribly shocked in the presence of the God whom he/she has repeatedly denied and rejected. Some people are foolish enough to believe or think that God and Christ can be obliterated by merely refusing to admit that they even exist! Others have gone so far as to decree that their ashes following cremation be sprinkled over the seas and then blasphemously challenge by saying, "Now, let's see if anyone or anything can find enough of me for a judgment day!" to which we say how sad! The Russian cosmonaut who said, "I looked all over the skies but I could not find God anywhere!" to him a believer might say, "Just take one or two steps outside that space capsule without your life supports, and you shall find God soon enough!", surely this is a true statement. "For it is written, as I live, says the Lord, every knee shall bow to me, and every tongue shall confess to God." (Romans 14:11).

2. Those who deny Christ and mock His coming again to judge this world will be shocked at the fulfillment of such passages of the Scriptures as these, and others: Romans 14:10 - "But thou, why dost thou judge thy brother? Or thou again, why dost thou set at naught thy brother? For we shall all stand before the judgment seat of God!" and Matthew 25:31-32 - "But when the Son of Man shall come in His glory, and all the angels with Him, then shall He sit on the throne of His glory; and before Him shall be gathered all the nations; and He shall separate them one from another, as the shepherd separates the sheep from the goats!" and read for yourselves these verses from II Peter 3:3-12.

Scoffers have always mocked, scoffed, and ridiculed, they still do, and they always shall! BUT, think on these lines for a moment - all the scoffing and mocking and horse-laugh's I am certain were received by Noah as he built that ark for the saving of his house YES, ALL OF IT, did not deter or prevent the flood from coming on the earth because God's powerful hand was behind it!

Salute to Nursing Home Volunteers

For some senior citizens and the infirmed, the nursing home serves as a haven, often as a last resort. Even the best do not fill the feeling of being snug in one's home.

The boredom and out-of-place feeling is eased somewhat by the work of individuals and groups making regular visits with breaths of fresh air. The activity may be very basic or it can blossom into programs of music and theatrical presentations.

The programs are organized and filled with community volunteers. The songs and instruments may be one individual playing the piano or guitar or a group of singers and music makers.

Our community entertainers are of all ages, from school students to adults normally making public appearances.

The other important part of community volunteers are those putting on hours of activity in which the nursing home residents take part. Bingo, card parties, table games and contests of skill and knowledge are often offered by the visitors. A favorite at the nursing home is always a birthday party.

There are those, too, that come by with a flower arrangement, a small gift or just to visit and chat. Nursing home volunteers do the work of angels and add a wealth of good feeling to our community.

Tax Reform Act Causes Changes In Conservation Practices For Farmers

The Tax Reform Act made some changes in how farmers and ranchers deduct expenses for installing conservation measures.

Producers who want to claim a deduction for the cost of a conservation practice on their 1987 income tax returns need to make certain that the practice is listed in the county plan or that they have a site specific plan. They will also need to complete Internal Revenue Service form 8645 "Soil and Water Conservation Plan Certification" to file with their return.

Eual G. Davis, District Conservationist for the USDA Soil Conservation Service at Tahoka said management practices such as fencing, brush management, range seeding, and many more are listed in the county plan. For such practices, a dated site specific plan is not necessary. "However, practices that require technical design and layout need to be a site specific plan," Davis said. "These include terraces, waterways, and grade stabilization dams." Davis said he has copies of the county plan as well as a few forms 8645. Producers who use the form certify that soil and water conservation expenses paid or incurred after Dec. 31, 1986, were made according to a plan approved by SCS.

"If anyone needs a site specific plan, we will be glad to try to schedule a date to work out one," Davis said. "However, we will not be permitted to back date a plan just to help someone claim a deduction."

The deductible amount is limited to 25 percent of the gross income from the agricultural activity during the tax year.

For more information, producers should talk to their tax consultant.

News From ... Home Economics Agent Annis Brown

Lynn County Extension Office

Even in our money-oriented society, thousands of people take jobs for which they receive no pay. Why? Mostly because the want to help others and make their communities a better place to live.

But volunteers get other things from their work—things that "money can't buy," as the old saying goes.

Volunteer work gives a sense of achievement. It can be a wonderful feeling to accomplish something, whether it's teaching an illiterate person to read, filling grocery bags at a food bank or conducting a successful fund-raising drive.

Doing volunteer work can help you have an impact of influence on the community. Rather than simply being concerned about drunk driving, drug abuse, historic preservation, new parks or any number of issues, volunteer to become involved in organizations seeking to individual behavior and community action.

Volunteering is a wonderful way to meet people and make friends too. For full-time homemakers or retirees, volunteer work can provide contacts outside the home. But employed people may also find volunteer work appealing because they get to meet with people they wouldn't ordinarily know.

You'll also receive recognition for giving your time and talents. Recognition may come in the form of a certificate, a pin, a party for volunteers of a simple handshake that says "we appreciate your help." But the greatest "recognition" may be intangibles like a big smile from the nursing home resident you visit.

Finally, you can enjoy the positive self-esteem that comes from doing something that contributes to the general good or public interest. Some say that "altruism" is an old-fashioned concept, but volunteers prove every day that it exists.

If you haven't done volunteer work, consider it both as an investment in your community and an investment in yourself.

They told about how the Indians lived years ago from the information they had gotten from the dig at the Lubbock Lake Site. The class really enjoyed having the resource people in their class.
