Heavy Damage Caused By Fire At O'Donnell

The Myriad wholesale ceramics business operated in O'Donnell by Bobby and Sandy Cox and Margaret Beckham was destroyed last Thursday night by a fire which also destroyed another building and damaged two others downtown.

More than 40 firemen from O'Donnell, Tahoka and Lamesa fought the blaze in 15-degree temperature and a wind chill factor well below zero.

Owners of the Myriad business were getting it back into operation this week at its former location after replacing some of the items destroyed in the fire. "We lost everything except some of the files," Cox said.

A building owned by Wayne Noland which was being used to store antiques and other items was also burned out with everything destroyed, and a building which until recently had housed O'Donnell Auto Supply was damaged. There reportedly was also some damage to the roof of another structure nearby.

The fire reportedly started in the Myriad building, and may have been caused by a defective heater. O'Donnell area resident Kirby Williams reported the blaze about 10:50 p.m. and it was not brought under control until after 1 a.m. Friday.

"We were on top of it real quick, but couldn't get water where we needed it," said O'Donnell Fire Chief Shag Garrett. Multiple ceilings installed in the Myriad building over the years hampered efforts to get water on the blaze.

Garrett said that while the main

O'Donnell pumper was providing water directly on the fire, a smaller booster truck was used to wet down weeds and other downtown structures until help could arrive from Tahoka and Lamesa.

Cox, Noland and Garrett all expressed appreciation for the assistance from both Tahoka and Lamesa. "We can always count on Lamesa and Tahoka for help when we need them," said Garrett.

CHIEF WISE OWL, Medicine Man for the Tuscarora Indian Tribe at the Drowning Creek Reservation in North Carolina, has sent us an advertisement he wants run in the paper so he can sell Indian blankets. He sent no wampum; he wants to trade us a blanket for running the small ad several times.

This may be a case of Red Man getting even with White Man for past injustices, but I think I will take him up on his offer, mainly as a matter of curiosity, because normally we wouldn't run advertising for any deal that sounds slightly suspicious. Right here I would like to warn any of our readers to wait until I get my blanket and check with me before sending Chief Wise Owl any money, unless, like me, you figure you can get $39 worth of fun out of the whole deal regardless.

This is no ordinary blanket, according to Chief Wise Owl's letter and ad. It is billed as the "only blanket offered to the public blessed by Indian Medicine Man." Which, of course, is the chief himself.

Well, golly, everybody ought to have a blessed blanket, so I'd better get mine. This could be a really super deal. Or it could be something made in Pakistan (me gettum free advertising and you gettum wool pulled over eyes). Or perhaps it will be made in Calcutta, so it could legitimately be labeled as made by Indians.

Anyway, it will be interesting to see if the blanket draws "ahs" of admiration from our friends, or just the old Indian comment of "ugh."

AN OKLAHOMA farmer, Elmer Graham, 73, of Walters, has offered Russia a million dollars worth of wheat if they will let him ride in one of their spaceships.

The unusual offer by an obviously adventuresome soul was brought to my attention by Tahoka resident Bettye Green, whose first cousin is Graham's wife. Mrs. Green supplied clippings from stories in Wichita Falls and Oklahoma City newspapers about Graham's proposal to the Soviet embassy in Washington. As of mid-January, he had not had a reply from the Russians, but he views that as a good sign, and he is perfectly serious about wanting to go into space.

"If they were going to turn me down, I would have already had a response by now," said Graham. "I think they are checking me out."

He should check out okay. He is a member of the Oklahoma Turpike Authority, chairman of the board of

City Looking At New System With Computer

The City of Tahoka, looking into the possibility of a replacing an outdated posting system with a new computerized water billing setup, opened bids on a new system Monday night, but did not accept any of the bids at this time.

Instead, the city council authorized City Manager Barry Pittman to investigate a couple of the proposals further and then to go ahead and accept one if he considers it feasible.

Council members also heard a proposal from Dr. Duane Carter, superintendent of Tahoka Schools, to close permanently the block of roadway between the two existing elementary schools. The district is planning to join the two schools by construction going across the street, with the addition to house an elementary library and other facilities.

The council agreed to the permanent closing of the street when construction begins later this year. The street now is closed to through traffic during school hours.]

Also approved was an agreement with the South Plains Regional Narcotics Task Force which would allow the city to call in help from a Lubbock-based group which would conduct narcotics investigations in Tahoka if necessary, at no cost to the city.

Police Chief Ray Woodall reported on police department activities for the previous month.

All council members and Mayor Jim Solomon were present.

two banks, has been in oil drilling and construction and owned two wheat elevators. And when he was 65 he climbed the Matterhorn in Switzerland and he has on display in one of the banks a Polar bear and Kodiak bear he shot near Siberia.

He says he would rather ride in a U.S. spacecraft, but the U.S. now prohibits sending common civilians into space as a result of the Challenger disaster which killed teacher Christa McAuliffe and six others.

The Daily Oklahoman noted that singer John Denver had offered $10 million to the Soviets for a ride into space. But Graham figures the Russians want something more than money.

A lot of folks (such as my wife, who wouldn't make a space trip if they paid her a million dollars) think Graham must be nuts, but many others admire his audacity. If I had a million dollars worth of wheat I didn't need, I don't think the idea would go against the grain.

Burglars Get Cash At New Home, O'Donnell Offices

Burglars got away with cash in break-ins at O'Donnell and New Home during the last week, and other items were stolen in a burglary of a residence near New Home.

Cash totaling $610 was stolen from a safe taken from O'Donnell city hall after doors on the west side of the building were pried open. Officers found the safe where it had been moved outside and then forced open with pry bars and a chisel early last Wednesday morning.

Another building nearby was burglarized the same night as a door on the east side of P&D Products was pried open, and a fire file then pried open. Stolen were $90 in bills and a man's gold Seiko watch.

At New Home High School the office of the superintendent and tax collector was entered after a knob was forced early Monday and then a hole was knocked in a concrete block wall to get into a vault, where about $400 cash was stolen.

On Thursday night or Friday morning a storage room at New Home Co-Op Gin was burglarized, but nothing was reported missing. It was believed that the intruders fled after a burglar alarm was tripped. Delton Moore of Rt. 1, Wilson, reported his residence burglarized early in the afternoon Feb. 1. Missing were rings, watches and other jewelry and a Toshiba VCR.

Rudy Chapa, owner of a garage at S. 9th and Main in Tahoka, reported that a 9 mm pistol had been stolen from the garage Sunday.

Police investigated an accident on Sunday at Main and N. 7th in Tahoka, involving a 1979 Pontiac driven by David Alan Cook of Tahoka and a 1968 Ford driven by Valentin M. DeLeon Jr. of Tahoka. Both drivers and a passenger in the DeLeon vehicle, Charlie Vega of Tahoka, were taken to Lynn County Hospital for treatment.

Police arrested a 41-year-old Tahoka man on Friday for driving while intoxicated and arrested a 21-year-old Tahoka man Friday for driving while license suspended. Both were booked and jailed.

Also in county jail during the last week were one other person charged with DWI, and three on outstanding warrants, including two for seat belt violations.

Sentry Savings Taken Over By Consolidated

Consolidated Federal Bank of Dallas has acquired the assets and assumed all of the deposit accounts of 15 savings and loan institutions in Texas which were placed into receivership on Dec. 22, 1988, by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

One of the institutions whose deposit accounts were assumed by Consolidated Federal is Sentry Savings Assn. of Slaton and its branch office in Tahoka.

In a letter to depositors dated Jan. 25, Consolidated assured customers that it is "fully insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp. (FSLIC), with more than $3 billion in assets." Funds at Consolidated Federal are insured up to $100,000.

Consolidated Federal will continue to operate the branch office in Tahoka, and officials said "we want to be known as a community oriented institution with superior customer service."

In December, Omar Harvey was elected chairman of the board and chief executive officer by the directors of the newly-created Consolidated Federal Bank. Harvey had been chairman and CEO of Commodore Savings Assn. since July 1988.

Brad Oates was elected president. He joined Commodore Savings at the same time as Harvey and was president and chief operating officer.

Consolidated has formed a task force charged with the responsibility of integrating 15 different operations into one streamlined customer-oriented company.

"We have the opportunity to build a model of service and efficiency and our task force will be planning to see that Consolidated repays the FSLIC, creates an attractive return for our investors, offers the best in services (See SAVINGS, page 3)

Electric "Smart House" Project To Show Service, Safety, Convenience

Imagine a home where a toddler can't get shocked playing around an electric outlet because the socket is shut off until an appliance is plugged in and turned on; where the lights automatically switch off when you leave the room; where the dishwasher starts itself after the electric utility's cheaper evening rates take effect; and where repair calls take less time because service people can make contact with a microchip in the appliance, telling them what the problem is before they even leave the shop.

Several electric utility groups have joined together to set up a demonstration "Smart House" outside Washington, D.C., in late 1989. The Electric Smart House should be commercially available in three years.

The Smart House Project is being sponsored jointly by the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, which represents the nation's 1,000 consumer-owned rural electric utilities; the Edison Electric Institute, representing investor-owned utilities; and the Electric Power Research Institute, the research arm of the

In Sincere Appreciation...

"Above and beyond the call of Duty" is an inadequate saying for all the firemen who came to our rescue Thursday night. People who have never had to use the fire department just really don't realize how valuable they are to our community. Our Thanks and "God Bless You" goes out to each of you who braved sub-freezing weather to aid a neighbor.

The response from our friends is unbelievable. To the ladies who brought coffee and a kind word Thursday night, "Thank You". To each individual who has brought in and offered, office supplies, desks, heaters, equipment, food and a kind thought, you will never be forgotten. Thank God for people like you.

The Wilson News

By PAM WILLIAMS - (806) 628-6330

The Wilson FHA/HERO Chapter of Wilson High School, an affiliated chapter of Future Homemakers of America, joins with 11,000 other local chapters in a nationwide observance of FHA/HERO Week, Feb. 12-18. Observed a part of Vocation Education Week, this annual event gives members an opportunity to show how their background in home economics, along with their participation in Future Homemakers of America, equips them with leadership skills for life.

The theme of this year's National FHA/HERO Week is "Future Homemakers of America: Leaders on the Move." It describes the Future Homemakers of America membership, its spirit and its drive to make a difference in society. Through involvement in chapter projects, members learn to channel their leadership skills to achieve personal goals and improve the quality of life in their communities.

During the week, members plan and carry out activities that also show the relevance of Home Economics to their overall education. Projects also involve career exploration, family communication and community service.

Chapter members are planning a series of activities during the week-long observance. To kick off the week, the chapter's 35 members will meet in front of the high school Monday, Feb. 13, at 8 a.m. for a ribbon cutting ceremony. The mayor of Wilson, Jackie Bishop, along with other distinguished members of the community will be present for this ceremony.

The chapter will host a reception for school board members at 7:30 Monday evening in the Home Economics building. Following the reception, Mindy Isham will "Speak Out for Future Homemakers of America" in a presentation to the school board.

Tuesday, Feb. 14, the chapter will deliver balloon bouquets, carnations, and musical telegram special Valentines from that person's admirer.

On Wednesday, Feb. 15, the chapter members will adopt a grandparent, in which they will choose an elderly person in the community and present that person with a special gift and a visit.

Then on Thursday evening, Feb.

16, the chapter will sponsor an AIDS awareness seminar in the school auditorium at 7 p.m. The public is invited.

On Friday, Feb. 17, the chapter will enjoy an afternoon in Lubbock. Chapter president Lori Duenez points out the significance of the week's theme "Tomorrow's Leaders Today". "Since the founding of the organization in 1945," Duenez says, "Chapter members have taken leadership in making their communities better places to live. But the public doesn't always associate Future Homemakers of America with community service. During this week, chapters nationwide sponsor one or more community service projects, tackling issues that affect the family such as substance abuse, AIDS prevention, nutrition and fitness." She concludes, "Our members are 'Tomorrow's Leaders Today' this week to showcase their contribution to the community."

Girl Scouts, Brownies and Daisies will meet this Thursday, Feb. 9. The girls will be decorating the First Baptist Church in preparation for Daddy Date Night to be held Friday at 7 p.m.

Girl Scout Cookies should be in the last week of this month. Orders are still being taken.

Kim Martin placed fourth in the Cookie Division of the Baked Goods Contest at the Lynn County Stock Show. Congratulations, Kim.

The Wilson School Board of Trustees will hold its regular meeting Monday, Feb. 13. They will be guests of honor at a reception in the Home Economics building at 7:30 prior to the meeting.

PTO officers will meet at the school library at 5:30 Monday, Feb. 13. Plans for running the concession stand at the Cub Scout Pinewood Derby will be finalized.

The 4-H Club will meet Tuesday, Feb. 14, in the school cafeteria immediately after school.

Wilson High School is offering a computer course for anyone interested in purchasing a personal computer in the near future. The course is scheduled for 7 p.m. Monday, Feb. 27. The cost of the course is $15.

Topics to be covered include an overview of the most common personal computers, appropriate terminology, selection of hardware and software, and cost comparisons. Time will be allowed for a question and answer session, also.

American Heart Association

Heart Attack Warning Signals

During a heart attack, your body usually sends out warning signals that your heart is starving for oxygen. An uncomfortable pressure, fullness, squeezing or pain in the center of your chest for more than two minutes is one signal. Chest pain that spreads to your shoulders, neck or arms is another. Dizziness, fainting, sweating, nausea or shortness of breath may also occur. Sometimes the signals may subside only to return later.

Help your heart! Learn to recognize these signals and take fast action. Remember that each year 350,000 Americans die from heart attacks before reaching the hospital. So don't ignore the warning signals. Act immediately.

If you are having chest discomfort that lasts for two minutes or more, call the emergency rescue service. If you can get to a hospital faster by car, have someone drive you. Find out which hospitals in your area offer 24-hour emergency cardiac care. Select in advance the facility nearest your home and office and tell your family and friends so they will know what to do. Keep a list of emergency numbers next to your telephone and in a prominent place in your pocket, wallet or purse. If you are with someone who is experiencing the warning signals, and if they last for two minutes or longer, insist on taking prompt action. Expect the person to deny the possibility of anything as serious as a heart attack. Call the emergency rescue service, or get to the nearest hospital emergency room with 24-hour cardiac care. Give mouth-to-mouth breathing and chest compression (CPR) if it is necessary and if you are properly trained.

THEN-NOW!

Here's a story of one picture perfect love affair—Americans and the movies.

Then: By 1929, 110 million Americans attended the movies each week. During the 1930s American moviegoers turned to screen magazines to find out more about the off-screen lives of the heroes and heroines of the big screen. Magazines such as Modern Screen and Photoplay shared the latest gossip on the romances, antics and glamorous lifestyles of the insiders of Hollywood.

Now: The latest response to Americans' fascination with the movies comes from The Movie Channel. During breaks between movies, the station offers a dazzling look at what's hot in Hollywood behind the scenes and on the screen. Viewers find news and reviews on movies playing in local theaters, and off-beat surprises such as lawsuits of the stars, how movies are dubbed, who does what on a movie set or profiles on the top dog stars!

More colorful than its predecessors, movie news on TMC covers all aspects of the Hollywood experience.

Outstanding Citizen Of The Year: _____

Comments: _____

By MABEL GURLEY

Our town had few scenic wonders, the water tower being the tallest structure, which, when climbed, provided a panoramic view of the whole town. Somehow the absence of majestic things didn't matter; youth had a way of evading boredom.

At a certain age kids are not skeptics, but believe in themselves and their abilities. A ridiculous example remembered was the experiment of jumping off the hen house with Mama's big black umbrella, never doubting we would be airborne, at least for a loop around the yard. Skinned knees and bruises were minor compared to the disappointment of failure. But to be "invited" to go down in our neighbor A.J. Thomas' cistern, feet in bucket, cleaning it out in preparation for a rain, compensated to a degree for not being able to fly.

It seemed our sister Gladys was forever decorating a box for the very popular box suppers. These beautiful creations made of crepe paper possibly made the sale of this product outnumber that of pills in the drugstore. The prettiest boxes didn't necessarily get the auction's highest bid, for "designing" girls cued boy friends as to which box to bid on.

Spelling bees were also very popular, and did produce some good spellers. Whether by a stroke of genius, or purely accidentally, one girl spelled "asafetida" without a bobble. This incredible feat remains vivid because of a personal experience with the substance. After spending the night with a friend, her little grandmother insisted that we wear a wad of this odorous medicinal concoction on a string around our necks to school, to ward off the infectious epidemic of diphtheria which was rampant in town. Few self-respecting germs and no humans would come near us. This was noted as being the most unpopular day in our school career.

School was not all books and study. Our intuitive civics teacher, G.H. Nelson, knew that taking his class to court sessions helped teach us the judiciary system, first hand. While in the courthouse, ascending those spiral stairs to the third floor and viewing the hangman's noose and trapdoor was a creepy finale to our excursion. This form of capital punishment was never used in Lynn County, but the possibility loomed large in our imaginations.

Sports occupied a big part of our time. Football was played on a dirt field as hard as concrete, without benefit of bleachers. Eventually two were built for the band. The tuba player, several sizes smaller than the instrument, finally got to sit down. Minimum protective equipment was provided for the players, and few penalties were invoked. During one game a star player got his gold front tooth knocked out, which ironically had only been "installed" the day before. Money and gold were extremely scarce in those days, and half the student body joined in the search for the tooth. Happily, it was found.

"Assembly" offered a platform for both patriotism and talent in school. The pledge of allegiance was recited, and then students exhibited their "would-be" talents. Our problem was preventing Mr. Baze, our superintendent, from up-staging us with his musical saw. Sitting in a straight backed chair with the handle of the saw under his knee, he would knock out a quivering refrain of "Carolina Moon" with a mallet. Though a pleasure on stage, he was violently bitter about chewing gum. Should a Wrigley addict be caught chewing, two demerits were issued without exception. A quote often used by him was: "The difference between a gum-chewing girl had a cud-chewing cow is the intelligent expression on the face of the cow." The Chicago Bears' coach Mike Ditka, would have been suspended before recess.

Summers, our "fellers" occasionally "cowboyed" at the T-Bar Ranch during round-up time. Sometimes some of us joined them at noon around the chuck-wagon. The stench of the branding iron on those "dogies" hides did not impair our appetites. Mrs. Cass Edwards often came out from Fort Worth to her ranch at this time, supplementing the cook's menu with her own king-sized apple cobbler.

It is strange how odors and tastes are recalled after decades. Often our noses led us to Joe Bovell's Bakery because of the wonderful aroma of fresh-baked bread that permeated the town. This was the era after the invention of the wheel, but prior to that of sliced bread. Joe met us with knife and butter, cutting each a slice of that marvelous hot bread.

The welcome mat was always out at the Children's home, where we listened or danced to phonograph records. In high school we had a chorus line which danced exclusively to the lyric "Am I Blue." Though asked to perform in various occasions, we were never interviewed for the Rockettes. Music was a big part of our entertainment. A ukelele was all that was needed for "sing alongs." In later years "jam sessions" with Ike Keltner, A.D. Sanders, and Maurice Small were the greatest. Who could ever forget Maurice's clarinet playing!

It was fun going to the Aycock farm, riding horses and anticipating Mae's (our second mother) sausage and crusty biscuits for breakfast. Housewives bought flour in twenty-five pound sacks, for they did a tremendous amount of baking. When empty, the pretty cotton flour sack with its flowered border was washed and made into tea towels and aprons. Innovative mothers utilized everything usable.

On Saturdays, Lynn County turned out and came to town! Streets were milling with people, and cars were honking for curb service in front of drug stores. The "soda-skeet" delivered many a nickel coke (in a glass) with possibly a little sack of peanuts. The drug store had a big ceiling fan over the front door to keep out the flies, and one swirling over the ice cream table to keep the customers cool. Strangers in town were either visiting friends or relatives or else had missed the turn in the road. All men over thirty wore hats, which they gallantly tipped in the presence of women. One very dedicated hat tipper whose attention was directed at two visiting girls, while tipping and ogling, tripped over a crack in the sidewalk, and in a crouched position stumbled all the way from Thomas Brothers Drug to the old First National Bank. Entertainment was not always planned. Whittling was customary among men, which seemed to stimulate conversation. Likely, everything was discussed from politics to when the weather would be cold enough to kill hogs.

The old Howard Theater attracted everyone with its silent movies and the very nimble fingers of the pianist, Cricket Baldrige, who played at intermission or when the scenario required emphasis. It seemed she instinctively knew when to change the tempo or tune to accommodate the scene. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" necessitated a sad refrain of "Old Folks at Home" or "Swanee River." Seeing our first "talkie" with Al Jolson in "The Jazz Singer" was no less incredible than viewing the first astronauts orbit into space on television.

A lively but gullible crowd would gather around "Tate's Medicine Show," which came to town frequently. Their bottled product would heal any ailment known to man—or at least the spirits in the potion gave the recipient a feeling of well-being. Before and after dispensing a few bottles out of the back of the van, a "B" rated performer entertained the crowd.

In contrast, the entire county anticipated the appearance of the nationally known Harley Sadler Tent Show, which featured talented actors and good plays. Several teenagers chose to go early to each performance in order to sit near the orchestra pit. With our "ironing board" figures and Buster Brown bobs, we hoped we were as dazzling to that handsome saxophone player as he was to us.

Chautauquas also came to town with a group of entertainers consisting of magicians, vaudeville, and slap-stick comedy. A touch of burlesque was sometimes included, provoking local ministers. "Mixed" swimming was also frowned on by the clergy.

Hayrides to the sand hill north of town was choice entertainment. It is uncanny how that mountain of white sand totally disappeared.

Essentially, we created our own amusements. Entertainment, like good art, is in the eyes or minds of the beholder.

Use Humor To Promote Health

Although sickness, disability and caregiving are serious situations, humor is definitely not out of place.

Humor can relieve stress for both patients and caregivers. It's not a substitute for medical care, but may help lower blood pressure or ease muscular tension. And humor certainly improves communications and create goodwill caregiver and patient.

Add humor to daily routines by watching humorous television shows, or renting funny movies to watch on a VCR. Laurel and Hardy and W.C. Fields movies are funny and may have especially great appeal to elders who remember seeing these films as young people.

Listen to cassette tapes of classic comedy radio programs, such as Jack Benny or Burns and Allen. These are sold in book stores or available in many public libraries.

Read the newspaper comics or books of collected comic strips, such as Peanuts and Snoopy.

Ask children or grandchildren to share jokes and riddles; read from joke and riddle books.

Reminisce about amusing family times and stories. Also look for ways to putting some humor into the conversation and happenings of the moment.

Looking on the lighter side has always been a way of helping us deal with difficult situations.

READ THIS CLASS ACTION NOTICE ABOUT A LAWSUIT AGAINST FARMERS IN THE BROWNFIELD, SEAGRAVES AND TAHOKA, TEXAS AREA CAREFULLY.

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS LUBBOCK DIVISION
CIVIL ACTION NO. CA 5-87-057-C
(Consolidated with CA 5-87-139-C)

GREGORIO R. SALINAS, GREGORIO G. SALINAS, JESUS CHAVEZ, individually, and on behalf of all others similarly situated, Plaintiffs,

v. JIMMY RODRIGUEZ, JR., et al. Defendants,

TO: ALL FARM WORKERS WHO WORKED FOR JIMMY RODRIGUEZ, JR., DURING 1984, 1985 OR 1986 HOEING COTTON IN THE BROWNFIELD, SEAGRAVES OR TAHOKA, TEXAS AREA.

A lawsuit has been filed in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Texas in Lubbock, Texas against the following cotton farmers: GOODPASTURE, INC. PST, BOBBY HARLAN, SCOTT HAMM, J.W. HAWKINS, DOYLE MOSS, GRADY HERRON, individually and as representative and administrator of R.G. HERRON ESTATE, HERBIE MARCHBANKS, KEITH ADDISON, LYNN ADDISON, EARL BROWN JR. III, R.H. CLEMENTS, EVANS & CLEM, P & B FARMS, KENNETH PURTELL, ROY A. SEXTON, T & S SKAINS FARMS, RALPH SPAIN, E.H. WOOD, BOBBY WELCH, BILLY JACK WELCH.

The lawsuit has been filed by three farm workers who worked in the cotton fields. These workers are claiming that the farmers and Santiago Jimmy Rodriguez, Jr. violated their rights and the rights of other hoe hands under the Migrant and Seasonal Agricultural Worker Protection Act. They are suing for damages to be paid to themselves and the class of all farm workers who were employed by any of the 21 farmer/defendants and Santiago Jimmy Rodriguez, Jr. to hoe cotton during 1984, 1985 or 1986 whose rights were violated under the Migrant and Seasonal Agricultural Worker Protection Act.

You will automatically included in the class of workers seeking to receive damages unless you notify the Court that you do not want to be part of this class. If you do want to be included you do not have to do anything.

If you do not want to be included in the class, you may be excluded from the class if you file a written objection with the Court on or before March 1, 1989.

The Judgment in this action, whether favorable or not, will include all members of the class who do not request exclusion.

You are further notified that the United States District Court in Lubbock, Texas, has also received a motion from the named plaintiffs seeking an amendment of their class action lawsuit against Santiago Jimmy Rodriguez, Jr. and the 21 farmers listed above. The plaintiffs seek to delete the pending breach of employment contract claim concerning the wages, terms, and conditions of employment. This would include deleting claims concerning the failure to provide field sanitation facilities.

The granting of plaintiffs' motion to amend means that the named plaintiffs will no longer seek damages on behalf of the class for the alleged breach of the employment contract in 1984, 1985, or 1986. If the members of the class desire that the named plaintiffs continue representing the class on these claims or wish to pursue their claim individually, they should do the following:

a. File a written objection with the Court stating that you want the plaintiffs to continue representing the class on the employment contract issue on or before March 1, 1989.

b. File your own law suit within the statute of limitations. The statute of limitations for a breach of an employment contract is usually four years from the date the contract is broken. However, you may have additional time because the case was originally filed as a class action. You should immediately contact a lawyer to determine when you should file your own case.

Any class member who has objected to plaintiffs' motion to amend or desire to be excluded from the class should file their written objections with the United States District Clerk, Room C-221, 1205 Texas Avenue, Lubbock, Texas, 79401, and send a copy by U.S. Mail to: Stephen C. McIntyre, Attorney at Law, Post Office Box 1658, 114 E. 7th St., 2nd Floor, Plainview, Texas 79072, counsel for the plaintiffs and 22 classes, and Tom S. Milam, Attorney at Law, CRENSHAW, DUPREE & MILAM, First National Building, 1500 Broadway, Lubbock, Texas 79401, and A.W. Salyars, Attorney at Law, Suite 425, Republic Bank Building, 916 Main Street, Lubbock, Texas 79401, counsel for the defendants.

FURTHER TAKE NOTICE

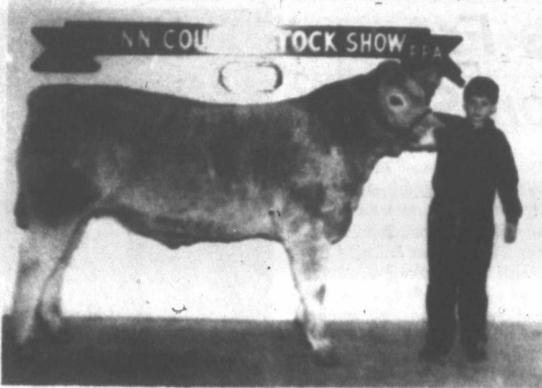

The law prohibits anyone from discriminating, threatening, blacklisting, or retaliating against you for taking part in this case.

The workers who have brought this lawsuit and the class of other workers are represented by Stephen C. McIntyre, TEXAS RURAL LEGAL AID, INC., FARM WORKER DIVISION, Post Office Box 1658, 114 E. 7th St., 2nd Floor, Plainview, Texas 79072, (806) 293-2625. Dated: December 9, 1988.

in Texas.
 The Secretary of Agriculture has concurred with the Texas State ASCS Committee determination that haying these acres would not cause an adverse economic effect in Texas.
 Mr. Terry Harman, State Executive Director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) State Office, said "The authorization was received to hay 1989 crop year ACR and CU for payment acreages. This includes the eight percent also. In order to allow beneficiaries to have a say in the decision, many farm, commodity, and livestock organizations were asked to comment on the recommendation. Of the 136 comments received, 133 encouraged haying. Most comments indicated that NOT haying these acres would cause an adverse economic impact in Texas."
 Mr. Harman also stated that "Haying or grazing of ACR and CU for payment acreage, including the eight percent, is not permitted during the consecutive five-month non-grazing period. This non-grazing period is established by the local county ASCS committees and could be different in all counties. Inquiries should be made by the local county ASCS office to determine what the non-grazing period is for the county."
 College Station, Feb. 2- The U.S. Department of Agriculture announced today that eligible upland cotton producers will receive final deficiency payments of $725 million for the 1988 crop in February.
 "Payments will be based on a rate of 19.40 cents per pound. Producers that participated in the 1988 Upland Cotton Program may have received an advance payment of 6.4 cents per pound leaving a balance of 13 cents per pound to be paid in cash. Producers who did not receive an advance will receive the entire payment at this time," according to Terry Harman, Texas State Executive Director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

 The 1988 deficiency payment rate is the difference between the national established target price of 75.9 cents per pound and the higher of the national average market price received by producers of upland cotton during the 1988 calendar year, or the loan rate for Strict Low Middling 1-1/16-inch cotton, micronaire 3.5-4.9; at average U.S. locations.
 The 1988 calendar year national average market price is $6.50 cents per pound. Since this is above the loan rate of 51.80 cents per pound, the deficiency payment rate is the difference between the target price and the 1988 calendar year national average market price.

County Gets Bingo Taxes For Quarter
 State Comptroller Bob Bullock Friday sent fourth quarter 1988 checks totaling $2.1 million to 69 counties and 108 cities that have legalized charity bingo and levy the two-percent local gross receipts tax on the game.
 Among the counties receiving Friday's payment, Dallas County received the largest check totaling $200,544.
 Lynn County received $2,611.23, compared to $2,454.97 received by this time the previous years.
 In 1988, bingo games in Texas generated $4.3 million in county taxes and $3.5 million in city taxes.
 The Comptroller's office collects the local tax along with the state tax. The local tax is returned each quarter to communities where local voters have legalized bingo and where local governments have decided to levy the tax.
 Bullock's office is also responsible for issuing bingo licenses in Texas and regulating charity bingo throughout the state.

Freddie and Charlene 6-1c

The family of Fabian Pena would like to thank everyone who visited our Father while he was in the hospital and for all the flowers, food, and prayers after the loss of our loved one.

A special thanks to Dr. Banerjee and all the nurses, to Father Howell and Deacon Brito for their words of condolence and to the Ladies Organization for the meal served after the funeral.

In The Mailbox

"Using a mailbox for target practice seems like harmless fun," says Tahoka Postmaster Leonard Dunn, "but it's really a serious federal offense."

"Mailboxes and mail are personal property, but they are protected by federal law. Anyone caught going through mailboxes and removing the mail or defacing the mailbox itself may be in for some stiff penalties," Dunn says.

The actual law reads: "Whoever willfully or maliciously injures, tears down or destroys any letter box or other receptacle intended or used for the receipt or delivery of mail route, or breaks open the same or willfully or maliciously injures, defaces or destroys any mail deposited therein," shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than 3 years."

"That's quite a price to pay for what may seem to be a harmless prank."

Postmaster Leonard Dunn asks Tahoka customers who observe anyone defacing a mailbox or tampering with another person's mail in a mailbox to call the post office and/or the police.

You may also contact the Postal Inspection Service at P.O. Box 1919, Lubbock, Texas 79408-1919, or by telephone at 806-762-7821. All information provided will be kept in strictest confidence, if requested.

"We at the Post Office are working to make your mail service as fast, reliable and secure as possible. Your cooperation in keeping the mail secure is greatly appreciated."
