By Dalton

THE PROGRAM for the day at a meeting of a civic club I attended recently was about how to raise tomatoes, presented by Lynn County Agricultural Agent Brett Cypert.

A lot of those people at the meeting raise tomatoes and no doubt found the program enlightening and exciting, but I raise tomatoes just like I do all other kinds of edible things—from the plate to my mouth. Still, I have to admit, I learned some things from that program.

For example, he passed out a sheet on which it noted, among other things, that there are 12 different varieties of tomatoes suited to this region. This blew my mind, since I never had any idea there were more than two kinds; big ones and little ones. You know, the kind you can get into your mouth and the kind you have to bite into or slice up for hamburgers and steak sandwiches and other things that tend to be bad for you.

Anyway, he listed such things as red cherry, small fry, Tiny Tim (probably grown for the kind of fellows who tiptoe through tulips and tomato patches), presto, president, and some others, including celebrity, which he recommends. Some of those varieties on the list were followed by initials in parentheses, like "(VF)" and "(VFN)". Neither Cypert nor the sheet gave any clue about what those designations stand for; possibly "VF" means very fine, or vitamin-filled, or maybe "VFN" stands for Vegetables From the Neighbors, after a nighttime raid on nearby gardens.

He also said something about Nema Toads being in our gardens. There are some toads in my wife's garden, but I don't know any of their names. Cypert also said he strongly recommends cages for tomatoes; otherwise, I guess, they might run away at night and attack somebody.

Something else he mentioned was "side dressing," but he said he never bothers with that, so I guess you tomato growers can wear whatever you want to. And I'm glad that lots of folks like to putter around with tomatoes, because I really like to eat them. Only now I will be wondering what variety I am eating. I always figured tomatoes were like aspirin and gasoline, all the same so far as the average user can tell.

THS Athletes Place Third In State Events

Three Tahoka High School athletes who went to Austin last weekend for state competition came back with third place medals, acquitting themselves well in the rugged competition at state level.

LaDonna Tillman placed third in high jump, clearing 5-6, as the winner of the state title tied the record height for all classifications with a jump of 6-1.5.

Mark Vega and Ramiro Rodriguez, the first Tahoka tennis players ever to qualify for the state tournament at Austin, won their first round match before losing in the semifinals last Friday.

Rodriguez and Vega reached the semis by beating Matt McLemore and Chad Sanford of Archer City 6-4, 6-2. But they were unable to overcome an early lead by Bill Lehmborg and Bart Mahnken of Mason, losing 6-2 in the first set and then making a good comeback, but losing the second set and the match in a tiebreaker, 7-6.

Also at the state track meet, Jesse Perez of O'Donnell was fifth in the 200 meter run with 22.3 seconds and also was fifth in the 100 meters with 11.0. He also ran on O'Donnell's 400-meter relay team which placed sixth at state with 43.7.

O'Donnell Senior Takes Third Place

Ronnie Rios, a senior at O'Donnell High School just returned from the 40th International Science and Engineering Fair (ISEF) held May 7-13 in Pittsburgh, Penn. He and his teacher, Betty Stennett earned the trip when Ronnie was the top winner at the South Plains Science Fair held in March.

Seven hundred and forty-six senior division finalists from 47 states and 13 foreign countries competed for special and grand awards in thirteen categories. Each finalist won the right to attend the ISEF by winning their respective regional, state or national fair.

Ronnie's project, Fungal Growth Retardants, was entered in the microbiological division, along with 67 other finalists. Ronnie received a third place grand award and $200 cash in his division.

County Approves Pickup For Agent

Lynn County commissioners last Thursday met in called session to approve purchase of a new pickup for the county agent's office. The pickup of Brett Cypert recently was involved in a collision.

Rain Finally Comes, With Hail, High Wind

Lynn County finally got some rain Tuesday night, and most farmers and homeowners were determined to enjoy it, come hail or high water, both of which were by-products of the storms which struck at various spots in the county around midnight and then again with more force about 2:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Neither the wind nor hail apparently did much damage to homes and vehicles, although a lot of leaves were lost off trees. In daylight hours Wednesday morning, water was across three roads in the county. About 6 inches of water was across U.S. 87 three miles north of Tahoka; water was across the highway at the intersection of FM 211 and FM 2192 between 87 and Wilson, and about 14 inches of water closed FM 1317 just west of U.S. 87.

As damage from the Tuesday night storms was not heavy, the rains were welcome. In Tahoka, the official measurement was 1.8 inches, and similar amounts were reported in the Draw-Redwine area, which had been hit by damaging hail a few nights earlier and which had recorded about a half inch of rain at that time. The Wilson area got the most rain, with reports up to 3.5 inches.

Law enforcement personnel throughout the county, plus volunteer firemen and highway department employees, were out during the night watching for dangerous weather, as dispatchers kept track of the various reports and locations on a new map in the county sheriff's office, where pins and symbols were placed as reports came in, giving a good understanding of where the most activity was located. No funnel clouds were sighted by any of the watchers, although a Lubbock television station reported that a tornado had been sighted on the ground in the O'Donnell vicinity, and even advised Tahoka residents to go to shelters, although no sirens were sounded, as local watchers never saw a funnel cloud on or near the ground.

vicinity of the Draw community Sunday afternoon around 6 p.m., causing damage in the form of broken glass and battered roofs.

Hail described by one resident as up to 2.75 inches in diameter fell for about five or ten minutes. Unfortunately only about a half inch of rain accompanied the hail, according to Mrs. Steve Greer, whose home is located about 11 miles southeast of Tahoka. She said three windows were broken in the main house and that the roof was damaged.

Among the other homes reportedly damaged by hail was that of Mrs. Dolores Webb, about a mile west of the Greer residence.

STORM ZAPS CARPORT—Tuesday night's storm caused this aluminum-roof carport to collapse at the home of Gary Strickland in the 1900-block of N. 2nd in Tahoka. It was one of few reports of damage from the storms Tuesday.

HEADS UP!
Good posture, with the head held high, is one key to keeping a youthful body. A drooping head can deplete lung capacity by 30%, reducing oxygen needed to produce energy and nourish tissues. If your spine curves forward, your intestines sag to the pelvic floor, blocking good elimination. With head held back, you'll look taller, thinner, firmer; for women it can mean a 50% less sag in the bustline.

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of ten women will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as a result of breast cancer.

Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate. (The cost is only $55.00)

A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, even before it can be felt.

DOWNTOWN O'DONNELL

BY BEN B. BOOTHE

(Editor's Note: Ben Boothe is a Fort Worth banker who was born in West Texas, and has published several books. The following copyrighted story about O'Donnell was sent as a special release to the Lynn County News. The News does not vouch for the accuracy of all the material, nor does this newspaper necessarily support the expressed or implied viewpoints in the story.)

Downtown O'Donnell has a modern brick post office which seems strange and out of place. Beside it is an abandoned dry goods store. Across the wide street is a row of old brick store fronts - the glass dirty and windows covered with old circular advertising church meetings long since past. One housed the old post office, one a barber shop, one Blocker's grocery and there where a vacant corner lot stands, was Uncle J.P.'s variety store.

The street is dead, except for that modern post office which appears like an illegitimate son in a too-new car, freshly arrived from the city. The ghosts of memory still walk that street as their realities did 30 years ago. Then the street was a bustle of pick-ups tractors, wagons, Cadillacs, wet-backs, farm hands in coveralls and straw hats mingled with landowners newly rich from the abundant cotton crops wearing grey felt hats and tailored western shirts. The dry goods store had the best collection of men's suits, hats and boots for 60 miles around. It was stacked with hat boxes to the ceiling.

The old post office was constantly full of people and had metal windows. One could mail a letter to anyone in O'Donnell addressed to "General Delivery" and the postmaster who knew everyone would dutifully put the arrival in the right box. I remember my delight, as a child of the city, going in with Grandmother and her walking up to the window with a smile. The postmaster said, "Good morning Dola", and she said "Morning, did I get anything?" and he handed her a bundle of letters. It was so personal - like everyone in town mattered enough to get personalized attention.

Blocker's grocery was long and narrow. It had coke chests full of every color of bottled soda. Sausages and meats hung from the ceilings, along with spatulas, spoons, brooms and mops. The Blocker's son moved west to become a movie star. But Mr.

and Mrs. Blocker stayed and had a gentle friendly manner. They were too much a part of the town to leave.

Uncle J.P.'s store was a "5 & dime" which had a little of everything. From watches and a watch repair department to toys and guns, it was a grand place. Uncle J.P. was the watch repairman, gunsmith, store clerk, cashier and janitor. The store seemed huge then. J.P. has a ping pong table set up in the stock room and won many a bet at that table with his defensive game. He never slammed or put English on the ball. Just hit it back. Regardless of what his opponent did, he gently "ponged" it back. Everyone in O'Donnell who watched him play knew that they could beat him. He won many a dollar at that ping pong table. And the town began to die. The store burned, Ping Pong table and all, and J.P. moved on to greener pastures.

O'Donnell was a busy, loud town of industrious pioneers, the men intent on getting cotton rich and the women of building a respectable town with paving, gutters, school, churches and nice homes. But the pioneers got rich, old and died. Their kids inherited their money and took it to big cities to spend it.

O'Donnell is a busy place now, mainly for memories. The empty wide street speaks of better times. The post office, so clean and modern, seems sterile. They insist on using box numbers and zip codes now. But every once in a while, some old timer writes a letter to "General Delivery", without a single number on it, and the postman perhaps a grandson of a postmaster of times since past, dutifully sees that the letter gets delivered. For in O'Donnell, it wouldn't be neighborly to do otherwise.

The handbell choir will play familiar songs of praise and favorite hymns. The thirteen ringers play a total of 51 handbells and 37 choirchimes.

Homemade Ice Cream Contest Set

The Southwest Homemade Ice Cream Contest is set for June 10 from 11:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Hopkins County Civic Center in Sulphur Springs.

"The contest is a part of the Hopkins County Dairy Day which includes a host of fun activities for the whole family," said Dr. Max Sudweeks, dairy specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"All counties are encouraged to hold ice cream contests and send their winners to the Southwest contest. This is not a requirement, however, as all entries will be accepted."

Rules for the contest require that all real dairy products be used in making the ice cream with the exception of such ingredients as flavoring, that the recipe be available for publication, and that the ice cream be served to the public after the contest. Judging is based on flavor, texture, body, melting quality and recipe, Sudweeks said.

Entries must be in place at the Civic Center by 11:30 a.m. Saturday, June 10. Cranks and dashers must be removed but the ice cream must be in the original freezer.

The contest has seven classes: vanilla, chocolate, fruit, nut, bisque (contains baked products), candy (contains candy products), and mixed (contains ingredients from more than one of the above classes).

Each class champion will receive $50 plus trophy while the overall champion will receive $500 plus a trophy. The participant that travels the farthest distance to compete in the contest receives $100, Sudweeks said.

More information about the contest is available from Sudweeks at (214) 834-6191.

City Sales Tax Take Increases

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Friday that May's statewide sales tax payments to cities and transit authorities continued to follow this year's steady upward trend.

Checks totaling $117.8 million were sent Friday to 1047 cities that impose local sales tax at either one or one and one-half percent, according to Bullock.

In O'Donnell, net payment was this period was $3,024.44; last year, $2,649.98; 1989 payments to date $6,956.93; 1988 payment to date, $6,657.97; in Tahoka, net payment was $8,719.97; last year, $8,565.05; 1989 payment to date $28,921.89; 1988 payment to date $27,170.65; in Wilson, net payment to date $874.81; last year, $635.08; 1989 payment to date $2,715.04; 1988 payment to date $2,952.02.

May's checks represent taxes collected in March by monthly filers and during the 1989 first quarter by quarterly filers. The deadline for both monthly and quarterly taxpayers to file sales tax reports with the Comptroller's office was April 20.

Notes From The Elementary Library

Parents' Role in Early Reading

Parents play a crucial role in children's early reading. These ABCs can help them develop informal learning activities in the home. Parents are the child's first teacher and they need practical ideas that can be implemented in the home. Children are ready for informal learning experiences at birth and the environment must be set for learning to take place. Parents do not need to focus on specific reading skills to perform their role as reading teachers, but they can provide informal learning experiences which can foster an interest in and love for reading books.

Assortment of Books:
Have an assortment of picture books, ABC books, poetry books, nursery rhymes and fairy tale collections within your child's reach.

Bookmaking:
Assist your child in creating his/her own books. Bookmaking helps the child to see talk being written down, and it is fun for children to read their own stories.

Cooking:
Kitchen experiences provide the child with an opportunity to meet new words. Try reading labels and recipes.

Drawing:
Ask your child to draw his/her own pictures to a story you have read.

Excursions:
Read when running errands-billboards, signs in stores, street signs, everything. If you see something interesting, find out more about it in a book.

Folklore:
Ask grandparents what stories they remember from childhood.

Gifts:
Remember to give books, not just for birthdays, but for the joy of giving and sharing something special.

Habits:
Teach by example. Readers raise readers; make reading a regular habit that the whole family enjoys.

Imagination:
Act out a book or create a new story.

Journey:
Use books to take you to other places in time and location. Pretend you are a visitor in a strange new place.

Kangaroo Pocket:
Carry books with you wherever you go. You never know when you'll have to wait.

Lap Technique:
Booksharing as you hold your child provides a sense of security for your child and helps the child associate reading with a pleasant, nonthreatening situation.

Mail:
Children love to receive mail. Subscribe to a magazine for your child.

Nursery Rhymes:
Children deserve to know about our rich literary heritage. Remember and repeat them often.

Opportunities for Booksharing:
Booksharing opportunities should become a part of the daily routine before your child's first birthday. Booksharing can develop a sense of curiosity and enthusiasm for books in just 15 minutes a day.

Questions:
Children will be inspired to ask questions through their time with books. Try to help your child think critically about the story.

Read Aloud Sessions:
Think about the atmosphere while reading to your child. Pick a comfortable place with minimal noise distractions. Follow reading with other activities, such as baking cookies after reading a version of The Gingerbread Man.

Sequels:
Turn any reading time into a "to be continued" by reading books in series or writing your own sequel to a story.

Television:
Help children to be selective about television and help me enjoy other things such as reading as an alternative leisure activity.

Unusual:
Look at different kinds of illustrations and print shapes. Discover how the illustrators influence how you experience the story.

Vocabulary:
Find and use all kinds of new and exciting words.

Wish List:
Pretend that you can grant wishes. What kind of gift would you give to your favorite character from a book?

eXtra Attention:
Your role in early reading requires you to devote extra attention to your child's needs and help with his/her first encounters with books.

Youth:
The time to begin to enjoy books is NOW.

Zoos:
Zoo trips, museums, amusement parks, and community parks are places that you can visit with your child. These experiences can be extended by using children's literature before and after the visits.

The Wilson News

By PAM WILLIAMS • (806) 628-6330

Meeting time for the Women of Wilson was changed from May 15 to Monday, May 22 at 7 p.m. in the Home Economics building. A representative from Youth for Foreign Understanding (YFU) will be present along with some of the foreign exchange students in this area. They will give information about their countries and the representative will explain how the YFU program works.

Wilson Little Dribblers Assn. elected new officers for the year at a meeting last Thursday at the gym. Nan Wied was elected president, Carol Yowell vice-president, and Lessie Clem secretary-treasurer. Ricky Yowell will be in charge of securing umpires for the games. The need for new uniforms was discussed, as well as the possibility of parents operating the concession stand. Another meeting on those matters is planned before the season starts. It also was voted to keep an account at the Wilson State Bank and to take out insurance with Wilson Independent Insurance Agency in the future.

The two minor boys Little Dribbler teams met Monday, May 8 for a party at Slaton Pizza Hut. Coach David Savell handed out awards as follows:

Best All-Around Players—Greg Savell and Jeremy Raley. Top defensive players—Bill Criswell and Gregory Castillo. Offensive players—Cody Donald and David Jones. Most improved players—Eric Arellano and Kenny Follis. Hustle awards—Abraham Garcia and Carlos Munoz. Fighting heart—Jace Moore and Michael Ancira. Team spirit—Josh Isham. David Savell was presented a certificate to have the team picture made into an "action" photo at the Mall.

Wilson school board met May 8 to canvass election result and elect new board officers as follows: Woody Follis, president; Surpy Benavidez, vice-president; Buster Abbe, secretary; Bobby Lee, Legislative Network member.

The board also appointed Supt.

David Williams as the district's representative to the Advisory Committee of the service center, approved transfers, replacing the hot water heater in the elementary building, repairing the computer in the high school office, purchasing a TV and VCR for the high school and repairing the pump on the well.

The board also approved summer conferences and workshops for principals, coaches, vocational teachers, gifted/talented teachers and the band director. Action on a pay scale for driving buses to extra-curricular events was tabled. A career ladder selection procedure recommended by Supt. Williams was approved, as was paying for the academic awards for the awards banquet. The board also approved paying substitutes who teach for 20 days or longer at a rate of $50 per day.

A school calendar for 1989-90 was adopted. School will begin for students on Aug. 28 and end of May 25. Teachers will begin on Aug. 23 and wind up May 26. In executive session the board discussed the maintenance/transportation person, and in open session appointed a committee to rewrite the job description for that position.

Calendar for the coming school year 1989-90:
 Aug. 23—in-service begins.
 Aug. 28—first day of school.
 Sept. 4—Labor Day holiday.
 Nov. 22-24—Thanksgiving holidays.
 Dec. 21-Jan. 1—Christmas holidays.
 Jan. 15—teacher workday.
 Jan. 26—weather day.
 March 19-23—Spring break.
 April 13—weather day.
 May 26—graduation, workday for teachers.

Pupils in Mrs. Sue Clayton's third grade class presented a play Friday, May 5 in observance of Cinco de Mayo. Events of the Battle of Pueblo were depicted, and traditional Mexican folkdances by the class members entertained parents, visitors and the elementary grades. The play featured all members of the class, including Kenny Follis, Cassie Short, Jessica Mankins, Shannon Jones, Jennifer Hernandez, Randi Pewitt, Eric Arellano, Michele Perez, Patricia Holder, Yvonne Jaime, Artemio Gomez, Will Barwood, Michael Ancira, Adam Jaime, Fernando Garces. The Theatre arts class for Wilson High School assisted with music, lights and prompting.

Mrs. Jane Graham's sixth grade class treated their mothers to a special Mothers Day tea on Thursday, May 11 in their classroom. Students brought homemade cookies and punch and tables were decorated.

The Daisies, Brownies and Girl Scouts had their end of year awards ceremony at the park Friday, May 12. About 80 parents, brothers, sisters and scouts attended the hamburger supper, with each troop responsible for feeding its own families. Leaders brought homemade ice cream.

The scouts received all the badges and pins they had earned this spring. They also were given the prizes they won from the cookie sales. A swim party is being planned in June, and some scouts plan to attend Camp Rio Blanco in June.

Mrs. David Williams will present her piano students in recital at 3 p.m. Sunday at First Baptist Church. Awards and recognitions will be made following the recital in Fellowship Hall. All parents and friends are invited. Participating in the recital will be Nicole Nettles, Kameron Livingston, Casey Donald, Dusty Follis, Amber Fields, Heather Nelson, Jeremy Raley, Eric Arellano, Daniel Ancira, Jamie Raley and Jessica Criswell. The following day nine of these will participate in Guild in Lubbock.

IN APPRECIATION...
 All the Little Dribbler parents would like to express our sincere appreciation to Terry and Lowen Young for their many years of hard work and dedication in keeping the program going and providing those children with the opportunity for such a positive experience. Their work has helped so many and has not gone unnoticed.

Mobile Breast Cancer Unit Gets Accreditation

The Mobile Breast Cancer Detection Unit of Odessa, which services Tahoka, has received the certification of the American College of Radiology Mammography Accreditation Program.

Mammography is an x-ray examination of the breast, which the American Cancer Society and other medical experts see as the best means for the early detection of breast cancer.

The program is voluntary and is designed to insure that women receive optimum quality mammographic examinations. The process is done through a peer review evaluation of the facility's staff qualifications, equipment, quality control and quality assurance programs, image quality, and breast dose. The accreditation must be renewed every three years.

The accreditation program was instituted because of the concerns of radiologists, other national medical organizations, and the public that qualified personnel perform and interpret mammograms and that dedicated mammographic equipment be used.

Breast cancer will strike one in 10 American women. The American Cancer Society predicts that about 41,000 women will die of breast cancer this year. As there is no way to prevent this disease, early detection and treatment offer the greatest hope for survival.

The American Cancer Society recommends that women do monthly breast self-exams and have regular physical breast exams by a doctor. It further recommends mammography on the following schedule:

The Breast Cancer Detection Unit will be in Tahoka on Friday, June 2. Anyone interested may call 998-4533 for an appointment.

Diane Lynne Andrews
 4th Grade Teacher

Diane Lynn Andrews teaches fourth grade at Tahoka Elementary School. She lives in Lubbock with her husband Richard Andrews, who is in his senior year in Electrical Engineering Technology at Texas Tech. This is Diane's first year with Tahoka school system, and she says "Everyone here - faculty and parents - have been so friendly and helpful." She says she hasn't had any worst moments at Tahoka school, and hopes not!

Her teaching philosophy is "to give students as many learning experiences as I can and teach them that it is up to them to try as hard as they can to do good, and take the responsibility in what they do."

Diane's hobbies include reading and singing, and during the summers she manages a swimming pool in Lubbock. She was raised in Midland and graduated from Texas Tech in 1986 with a B.S. in Education.
