

New Bulldog Team Will Scrimmage DC Friday

The 1989 Tahoka Bulldogs, with a new head coach and with eight starters back from last season's 4-6 team, will struggle with outside competition for the first time Friday night as they scrimmage highly-regarded Denver City here.

Joe Paradis, who has been defensive coordinator for the Bulldogs the last two seasons, has moved into the head coaching job vacated by Ted Wiley, who now is defensive coordinator for Cooper High School, which will be here for the Bulldogs home opener on Sept. 15.

The Dogs will trot out a new offensive formation, a pro-set I, with two backs lined up in tandem behind the quarterback. This might suggest that the Bulldogs will be mostly a running team, but Coach Paradis says "we lean toward throwing the ball."

The man doing most of the throwing likely will be senior Paul Glisson, a receiver last year who has no experience at quarterback but who appears to be the leading candidate for the position handled ably by Ramiro Rodriguez, who graduated. Other quarterbacks who likely will see action at that position are Trey Nance and Tim Young. Young is a south-paw senior who was a starter at cornerback last season.

At tailback in the I formation probably will be Joey Stone, a defensive starter last season, while Young or Michael Isbell will be at fullback.

Up front along the offensive line are expected to be Trey Nance and Corey McCleskey at ends, Valentin DeLeon (225, Sr.) and Dallas Williams (Sr.) at tackles; Ricky Saldana and Gabe Lopez (205, Jr.) at guards, and Michael Tipton at center.

Saldana is one of the main defensive players expected to give good service at nose guard. He is 175, and a senior. McCleskey, a starting line-backer last season until he was injured, is expected to be tough again in that position. Senior tackles Mike Morin, who tops 250, and Abraham Vega, 205, are expected to see lots of work on both offense and defense.

Lettermen back from last year are Isbell, Glisson, Young, Stone, McCleskey, Vega, Saldana and DeLeon.

Paradis' assistants this season will be Kevin Grell, former head coach at Tucumcari, NM, as offensive coordinator; Hulen Kirkland, former head coach at Clarendon, as coach of the secondary and the offensive line; Charles Holland, who will work with offensive backs and defensive ends; and Greg Tabor, offensive line.

MORE AND MORE people are writing their congressmen these days, mostly because they don't like the way something or other is being handled. Texas congressman Martin Frost says that people concerned about ethics in government, upset by recent Supreme Court decisions and interested in dozens of other issues, are sending mail to Congress at a record pace.

He said that for several weeks this spring the crush of letters was so heavy that there was a 10-day backlog of unsorted mail at the House Post Office.

A lot of the mail received by congressmen is orchestrated by some special interest groups. For example, an organization will print up sample letters or cards and give them to all their members to sign or copy and send to their congressman. But a lot of mail comes from individuals and, according to Frost, these personal letters are given more consideration.

The best letters, says Frost, are those which are concise and to the point and which contain accurate information. Letters which threaten, use pressure, or rip into some other members of Congress are given less weight than those which reflect an understanding of the issue. Also congressmen are aware that mail is not always a good barometer of overall opinion, since people on one side have very intense feelings and are more strongly motivated to write than those on the other side.

It's too late for me to write Sens. Bentsen or Gramm or Charlie Stenholm and tell them what a lousy idea it is to use all taxpayers money ($1,000 from each of us, I understand) to bail out the savings and loans firms whose operators have made off with a bunch of the depositors' money.

Stenholm will be in town next week. He probably can explain to us why those savings and loan companies down in Houston or wherever need our thousand dollars worse than we do.

I HAVE BEEN BRIBED with one apple. Hi Plains Orchards near Idalou, which has 5000 acres of apples, 15 different kinds, mailed me an apple along with a story about their enterprise, hoping that I would give them a free plug in the newspaper. Obviously it worked, not so much because they sent me a very nice apple, but mainly because I never realized there was an apple orchard in this area where a person can go and pick his own apples.

The orchards are three miles east of Idalou off U.S. 82, and are open 7 days a week up to 7:30 p.m. The release said the picking period for red delicious apples starts about Aug. 28, and prime picking for golden delicious begins around Sept. 5. They also sell apple cider.

Apples are the among the few things I like which are not fattening, except when you put them into pies and use a lot of sugar. Eating an apple each day is supposed to keep the doctors away, only that old phrase no longer applies, since doctors don't come around anyway. Also, eating an apple has been known to give the eater knowledge of sinful things, but this no longer works, either. And I remember from my childhood that apple core rhymes with Baltimore, but I can't remember in what context we used that information.

SEVERAL OF the area newspapers had pictures of the moon eclipse which occurred recently. I didn't take any pictures of the moon, partly because when I went outside to look, it appeared as a dull red blob and wouldn't have made a good picture. Besides, I had to go back inside right away, as hair started growing on my hands and face and I was feeling this strong urge to howl.

start with the junior varsity teams at 5:30, followed by the varsity teams.

On the following Friday, Tahoka will go to Abernathy to scrimmage the Antelopes.

First game for the Bulldogs will be at Plains Friday night, Sept. 8. Tahoka has only four home games this season, and season tickets are on sale at the school business office.

Winery Failure Threatens Tahoka Grape Grower

Stockholders of Teysha Cellars winery south of Lubbock were scheduled to meet Wednesday to consider possible ways of salvaging the company after the year-old winery last week canceled plans to make wine from the current crop of grapes and notified about 30 growers that it could not honor contracts for hundreds of tons of grapes now being harvested.

Among the growers threatened with financial disaster is Tahoka physician Dr. Richard Wright, who had contracted the yield from his 100 acres of grapes near New Home. His wife, Katrina, had called a news conference of Lubbock media Monday to ask the public to come up with $500,000 to keep the winery operating, stressing the benefits to the entire area grape industry and to the overall economy of the area. But on the following day it was learned that the Securities and Exchange Commission prohibits such fund raising for the publicly held company, according to a story in Wednesday's Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

Teysha's chief executive officer, Dan Griffin, resigned last week after it was announced that a $1.7 million federally guaranteed loan had been denied by the Farmers Home Administration.

Wine made from grapes grown by Dr. and Mrs. Wright recently won high honors in statewide competition with other wines.

Rep. Stenholm To Pay Visit Next Tuesday

Congressman Charles Stenholm will be in Tahoka at 10:30 a.m. next Tuesday, Aug. 29, for an open meeting at Lyntegar Electric Cooperative. This is part of a swing through the western part of the 17th Congressional District. Public receptions will be held at 9:15 a.m. at Wayland Tractor Tractor in O'Donnell, in New Home at 11:35 a.m. at the Cooperative Gin, and at 12:35 p.m. at the Museum in Wilson.

"These meetings are important to me," Congressman Stenholm said.

"You can help me do a better job. Close contact with all of our elected officials is vital to our system of government," he concluded.

Now in his 11th year of service, the Congressman has important assignments on the House Agriculture Committee and the Veterans Affairs Committee. Working with the medical delivery system for veterans provides fresh ideas to help with rural health care problems common all across the nation.

The consumer who wants to improve the aesthetic quality of drinking water has a multitude of companies and products to choose from. Sifting through advertising claims and technical data to select the appropriate treatment method can be a trying experience.

Here are some questions consumers should ask a water treatment professional to determine the system needed.

1. What exactly does the analysis of the water done by the treatment professional show? Many companies include free in-home testing of water. Not all contaminants can be evaluated this way. For example, organics, which have been associated with serious health problems, must be analyzed in a lab with sophisticated equipment. Be wary of home analyses claiming to determine more than basic water quality constituents such as hardness pH, iron and sulfur.

2. How long has the company been in business? Is there a list of referrals that can be contacted?

3. Have the product and manufacturer been rated by the National Sanitation Foundation (NSF) or other third party organization? Was the product tested for the specific contaminant in question, over the advertised life of the treatment device, under household conditions (tap water, actual flow rates and pressures)? the NSF, whose function is similar to U.L., sets performance standards for water treatment devices.

4. Does the water quality problem require whole-house treatment, or will a single-tap device be adequate? Some contaminants are as hazardous when inhaled or absorbed through the skin as when ingested. Treatment of all water used in the house may be required.

5. Will the unit produce enough water daily to accommodate household usage? If a filter or membrane is involved, how often must it be changed? How does the consumer know when to make that change?

6. What are the total purchase price and expected maintenance cost of the device? Will the company install and service it? Is there a fee for labor? Can the consumer perform maintenance tasks? Watch for hidden costs, such as installation fees, maintenance fees or rental fees. Additionally, disposing of waste materials, such as reject water, spent cartridges from activated carbon units, and used filters, can add to the cost of water treatment.

7. Is there an alarm or indicator light on the device to alert the consumer of a malfunction? Will the manufacturer include in the purchase price a retesting of the water after a month or two?

8. What is the expected life of the product? What is the length of the warranty period, and what does the warranty cover?

These are guidelines for selecting home water treatment systems based on having a potable water supply. Treatment can be for aesthetic as well as health factors. Contact the County Extension Office for publications on selecting water treatment units and on water problems.

MRS. JEFFREY CAMERON SLOAN
 (nee MELANIE GAYE TEKELL)

Couple Exchange Wedding Vows

Melanie Gaye Tekell of Tahoka and Jeffrey Cameron Sloan of San Saba exchanged wedding vows in a formal candlelight ceremony Saturday, Aug. 19, 1989. The double ring ceremony was officiated by Dr. John Davenport at 7 p.m. in the New Hope Presbyterian Church of Sloan Community, San Saba County.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Tekell of Tahoka. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sloan of San Saba. Grandparents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. O.O. Tekell of Tahoka and the late Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bartley of Tahoka. Grandparents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sloan and Mrs. Dougal Cameron and the late Dougal Cameron.

Guests were registered by Cindy Lawson, friend of the bride from Lubbock.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore an elegant gown of candlelight satin by the designers of Mary's Fashions. The gown featured a traditional neckline with a wedding band collar. The neck was accented with a small bow of pearls and sequins. The bodice of the gown was designed with a sheer yoke and a sweetheart look. Rich bead work of pearls and white iris sequins adorned the bodice and the long tapered sleeves. A basque waistline allowed the full ballgown skirt to fall gracefully to the floor and sweep romantically into full cathedral train. The front of the skirt was decorated with lace motifs richly adorned with pearls and sequins. The back of the gown and the train were accented with the same lace motifs, pearls and sequins. The hemline of the gown was edged in scalloped schiffli lace.

The bride selected a floral garland of candlelight silks and pearl sprays to compliment the bridal ensemble. A short pouff of ivory illusion floated from the headband.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of ivory roses, freesia and teal baby's breath entwined with lace, pearl and satin ribbons.

Cheri Vogeler of Amarillo served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Marylynne Richardson of Mountain View, California; Sherry Borah of Ruidoso, New Mexico; Amy Preston of Tahoka; Katie Hoffner of San Antonio; and Jennifer Shaw, cousin of the groom, of Austin. The attendants wore dresses of teal jacquard satin with a drop waistline, scoop back and three quarter length simple puffed sleeves. The dresses were tea length with full skirts. Each attendant carried a single long stem ivory rose.

Damon Sloan of San Saba, brother of the groom, served as best man.

Groomsmen were Troy Gilger and Marten Cromer, both of San Saba; Bryan Hector of Grapevine; Les Broyles of New Braunfels; and Devin Everett of Fredericksburg. Ushers were Doug Barham of Tahoka and Kevin Sutherland of Dallas. Jason Shaw of Austin, cousin of the groom, was candlelighter.

Brooke and Brandi Tekell of Tahoka, nieces of the bride, were flower girls. They wore matching dresses made of ivory taffeta with a bubble skirt.

Mrs. Josephine Mahan of San Saba accompanied John Cromer of Denton and Carolyn Weyertz, also of San Saba in their duet of "You and I".

The altar was flanked with fourteen ivory candles in two brass candelabra each intertwined with English ivy and accented with baby's breath. The aisle markers were adorned with teal and ivory satin bows with cascades of English ivy and baby's breath.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whitten of San Saba. Serving at the bride's table was Melinda Holloway and Andra McLaren, both of Lubbock and Rajecania Pittman of Hart. Serving at the groom's table was Kelly McHugh of Nashport, Ohio and Deanne Hardy of San Saba.

After a wedding trip to Nashville and Memphis, the couple will reside in San Saba.

EXERCISE - LONGEVITY

Exercise lengthens your life! A study of 17,000 Harvard alumni, over a 16-year period, suggests that for every hour of exercise, these graduates lived that hour over, plus one or two extra hours. Simply walking, stair climbing, and sports that used 2000 calories a week lowered death rates 1/4 to 1/3 below that of less active persons. Heavy exercise that consumes more than 3500 calories per week, appears to have a slightly detrimental effect.

By MISS MOLLY HELMLINGER
TAHOKA ELEMENTARY PRINCIPAL

In this complex world, it takes more than a good school to educate children and it takes more than a good home. It takes both school and home cooperating together to educate children. Every parent and school person wants children who are capable, responsible and cooperative. They want children who are self-confident, self-disciplined, and have good judgment. Obviously, this is no small order to accomplish. I believe that the educational battles of tomorrow are being won and lost not only in our classrooms but also in our homes. It is in these homes that the first seeds of love of learning and respect for education are sown.

I am talking about not simply making sure children attend school, but also to encourage such attitudes as responsibility, perseverance, and commitment to learning. I believe that if children bring these attitudes with them to school, excellence, in every aspect of their lives, is possible.

Our theme for the school year is "Color Us With Learning." The theme is a way to communicate what we are emphasizing at Tahoka Elementary School. This year it is learning. If you look at the logo I designed, there are several key words that are part of the theme. They are: Listen, Encourage, Attitude, Responsibility and New Rainbows. Putting together the first letter of each name of these key words spells "L-E-A-R-N."

If there is one attitude that we would like to encourage this year, it is that learning is a lifelong process. Learning is never finished. Learning opens doors and creates "new rainbows" (opportunities) for us to "color" (explore). We learn by exploring. When we explore, we build self-confidence and self-discipline. The "us" in our theme is not limited to children, but includes all of us: parents, community, teachers, support staff, and yours truly. I firmly believe that trying to educate children without the involvement of all of us is like trying to breathe without oxygen. We will achieve the educational results our children deserve only if we listen and cooperate together. So let us start to "color new rainbows" now. Let us lean on each other for mutual support, shared respect and look forward to a most rewarding school year.

On Monday at 1729 Lockwood a collision involved a 1975 Chevrolet pickup driven by Edward Rey Zavala of Tahoka and a 1988 Chevrolet driven by Nancy Janice Murphy of Tahoka.

City officers also investigated an incident Tuesday at a local residence where a 21-year-old Tahoka woman reportedly struck a man with a baseball bat and he struck her, causing her to fall through a wall. No charges were filed.

Allsup's reported to police Sunday that someone in a late model Ford pickup had driven off without paying for $10 worth of gasoline, and on Monday, Ince Oil reported to police that someone in a 1977 Chevrolet had driven away without paying for $14.07 worth of gasoline.

Billy Terry told police Sunday that someone had stolen several items from a residence at 2200 N. 5th, including one 2.5-gallon water can, a hoe, a shovel and a pipe wrench. Total value of the stolen items was set at $78.

G.W. Grogan, Rt. 5, Tahoka, reported to the sheriff's office that two tires and wheels valued at $180 had been stolen from a barn about a mile northeast of New Moore recently. The tires were 670-15 Monarchs.

In jail during the week were two persons charged with harassment, and one each for burglary of a habitation, public intoxication, illegal sale of alcoholic beverages, no liability insurance plus failure to appear, and application to revoke probation on charges of DWI.

The town of Milford, situated in southwestern Ellis County, was named for a crossing on Mill Creek. Located in a fertile cotton producing area, the town had seven churches, two gins, and 30 businesses in the 1940's. Its population has remained stable since then and is boasted about in its clever town slogan: "The Home of 700 friendly people and three or four old grouchies."

If you believe you have been discriminated against, write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Law Prohibits Passing School Bus In Texas

Major Vernon Cawthon, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety, wants to remind everyone that the summer vacation will soon be over, and thousands of youngsters will be starting back to school, many of those for the first time.

So, once again, those big yellow school buses will be back on the street and highways. The Texas Department of Public Safety wants to remind everyone that Texas law prohibits the passing of a stopped school bus that is loading or unloading passengers when the lights are flashing. "If you are in doubt--stop--those few moments you lose may mean a lifetime to some youngster," said Cawthon. "None of us want to be responsible for the death of a young child, so remember to slow down in the school zones in the mornings and again in the afternoons."

Cawthon added, "Just because most of the children will be in school, we must not forget the preschooler who will still be playing in the residential areas. Remember, slow down as you are driving through school zones, playgrounds, and in and around school areas."

News From ...
Extension Agent
Brett Cypert
Lynn County Extension Office

Fall-planted bulbs are an easy way to colorful spring flowers.

These easy-to-grow flowers are inexpensive and require very little care, said Cypert, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Begin by ordering good quality, healthy bulbs. Order in September for the best selection of quality plants. These generally will produce flowers the first season and are free from disease.

A second point to remember is the bigger the bulb the bigger the bloom, said Cypert.

If you purchase bulbs early, before the October or November planting time, store them in a cool, dry, well-ventilated area until planting.

Before ordering your bulbs, make sure the variety you choose will produce well in the South. Daffodils, narcissus, tulips, Dutch hyacinths, French-Roman hyacinths, grape hyacinths, tritileia and Dutch iris are among the choices open to Texas growers.

LUBBOCK, Friday, August 18, 1989

Regulations that will reflect the ultimate interpretation of the 1989 Disaster Assistance Act won't be written until sometime in September. But already there's a budding effort on Capitol Hill, sparked by the protests of affected producers, to correct what appears to be a glaring inequity. And it's already known that at least some of the early information released on the law wasn't quite correct.

In error were statements, in this space and elsewhere, that producers with multi-peril crop insurance could substitute their insurance yield for their program yield in proving eligibility for payments and the amount of those payments. That option is in the law, but it's a discretionary authority given to the Secretary of Agriculture, not a mandate. And since substitution would increase the government's cost, it's most likely that all loss eligibility and payments will be based on established farm yields.

Another misconception has surfaced involving the $897 million widely quoted in news releases. Early on it was presumed by many that the figure was a dollar cap on total disaster expenditures. But PCG is now told that it is only a cost estimate agreed to by the Agriculture Committee and the Congressional Budget Office; that no dollar amount appears in the law, and that there's no provision for earned payments to be pro-rated as occurred under the 1986 disaster program.

The provision of the law under protest concerns producers who planted and will harvest alternative crops after the total loss of cotton or other primary crop.

A release from the House Agriculture Committee says the law "directs the Secretary to reduce disaster payments by an amount that reflects the value of any crop planted to replace the crop for which disaster payments are received." That release is said by the National Cotton Council and most others to mean the amount deducted from disaster payments will equal the replacement crop yield times the average market price.

And therein lies the inequity, says Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock. With no allowance made for the cost of producing and harvesting the alternative crop, he explains, farmers who followed cotton with soybeans, grain sorghum, sunflowers or other short-season crop will be severely penalized.

"They'll be out the early expense of trying to produce a cotton crop and all the production and harvest expense of an alternative crop, show only a meager profit or actually lose money when the alternative crop is sold, and for their trouble they'll be denied most or all their disaster payments."

That provision should never have been a part of the law, Johnson contends, "but since it's there the next best thing to do, and what the Secretary is being urged to do if the language of the law will permit, is for the Secretary to rule that only the value of alternative crops in excess of production and harvesting costs will be deducted from disaster payments."

The English chemist Joseph Priestley discovered in 1770 that material made from latex could be used to rub out pencil marks; he named the substance "rubber."

Representing New Home this year are: Misti Gasaway-Fr., Marla Rudd-Fr., Kary Turner-Fr., Teresa Caballero-So., Selma Armijo-Fr., Mascot-Michelle Shannon-Sr., and Jenni Gast-Sr. Their coach is Debbie Oglesby.

While attending camp the cheerleaders received three superior ribbons and two excellent ribbons. Michelle also earned a superior ribbon as mascot. The group was awarded the spirit stick two out of the three days and also brought it home. Jenni Gast was selected to compete as an individual for the All-American Award. This is one of the most prestigious cheerleading honors which placed Jenni among the top six girls at camp. The entire squad was also up for the Award of Excellence, they competed against four other outstanding squads, including Odessa High School and Dumas High School. The Award of Excellence went to Lubbock Christian J.V.

The cheerleaders are really looking forward to an exciting year and expressed appreciation to the businesses and individuals who donated to their cause this summer. The community of New Home has purchased candy, had their vehicle washed, donated cans and given cash. The money was used to buy a new mascot suit and eight cheerleading uniforms that will belong to the school.

Randy and Eddie Overman of New Home are proud to announce the birth of their son, Mark Mitchell. He was born Friday, Aug. 18, at 2:25 p.m. and weighed 7 lbs. 4 ozs. and was 20-3/4 inches long at Methodist Hospital.

Maggie Lae Eades was admitted in the hospital Thursday, of last week for observation. She'll be able to return home Monday or Tuesday.

When buying clothes, look inside the garment to see how it's made. Seams should be at least an inch wide and should be bound with stitching.

Bessie Strain Observes 95th Birthday

Family and friends gave Bessie Strain an enjoyable and memorable 95th birthday. Gathering for the celebration at the home of her daughter, Margaret Edwards, New Home were: Bea Morgan, a sister of Electra, Tx.; Sylvia McDonald of Sweetwater, Tx.; Larry, Mary and Christie Edwards of Abilene, Tx.; John, Cindy, Chris and Tom Chapman of Lake Villa, Ill.; Jim, Cheryl, Janie and Kevin Swafford of Borger, Tx.; her daughter, Ruth and Pat Chapman, also of Borger, Tx.

A lovely gladiolus flower arrangement was presented by the family in Bessie's honor at the New Home Methodist Church worship service.

Bessie and the family appreciate the many expressions of remembrance which brought pleasure to the special occasion.

AGRICULTURAL MILESTONES

"Eradication and control of noxious brush on rangelands offer excellent opportunities for improved forage and livestock production in Texas," said Bulletin 721, published in 1950 by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (TAES).

"A large proportion of the state's 93.5 million acres of rangeland is infested with undesirable woody plant species. Reduction in forage from this brush cover means an annual financial loss of many millions of dollars to ranchmen and industries which handle livestock and livestock products."

Not mentioned in this 1950 publication as a reason for controlling unwanted plants on rangeland, but of primary importance today, is prevention of use of water by such plants. Expanding industry and a growing population in Texas are exerting increasing pressures on our limited water supplies.

In 1984, adverse weather forced several major cities, including San Antonio, Austin and Corpus Christi, into water rationing. Rangeland watersheds provide water for most of the state's major metropolitan centers. Such major aquifers as the Trinity, Edwards-Trinity, Edwards, Carrizo-Wilcox and Gulf Coast are recharged by run-off from rangeland. About 60 percent of the surface flow in rivers comes from rangeland watersheds.

BRUSHLAND MANAGEMENT FOR WATER YIELD: PROSPECTS FOR TEXAS, published in May 1987 as TAES Bulletin 1569, concluded: "Reduction of brush and non-economic plants would not only reduce water consumption but might also increase agricultural productivity. This has raised the policy issue of whether brush can be beneficially shifted to other uses, reducing water scarcity and augmenting land productivity."

An earlier study in 1984 by Station scientists painted an optimistic picture. This preliminary estimate of the economic consequences of brush management for water production figured that 40 million acres of moderate and dense Texas brushland could be treated for a one-time cost of $800 million.

However, in many instances, cost of brush control exceeds gains of productivity for the landowner. Some say that a large part of future brush control costs, with resultant gains in water yields, will have to be borne by industry and metropolitan areas.
