MAN DIES IN FIRE—Lynn County officers and Tahoka firemen were called to the roadside park on U.S. 87 4 miles north of Tahoka Tuesday where this 1973 Volkswagen van was burning, with the charred body of a man inside. Officers said the van and victim apparently had been doused with gasoline.

Man Found Dead Inside Burning Van

The charred body of a man believed to be from Lubbock was found inside a van burning at the roadside park about four miles north of Tahoka on the west side of U.S. 87 early Tuesday afternoon.

Officers were notified shortly before 2 p.m. that a van was on fire at the park, and they went to the scene to find the entire vehicle in flames. Tahoka volunteer firemen were called to the scene but were unable to save the 1973 Volkswagen van or the person inside.

A drivers license on the victim's body indicated he was Edwardo Vidales, 35, of Lubbock, and the van also was registered to him. Officers found apparent suicide notes in a Bible and a small box left on a nearby bench at the park.

The man was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace H.W. Edwards, but no ruling on the cause of death was made, pending an autopsy ordered by Judge Edwards.

Officers said that the victim and the inside of the van apparently had been doused with gasoline before the fire was started.

Lynn County Sheriff's Dept. also investigated a report that the control building at the tower owned by Lamesa Radio Station KOSC, located 1.5 miles south of U.S. 380 on FM 2112 had been burglarized sometime in the last two weeks. Only item missing was a portable telephone.

Wayne Tekell of Tahoka reported a license plate stolen off his 1988 Chevrolet pickup while it was parked at his residence Sunday or Monday.

Deputies also were investigating a report of a forged check in the amount of $150 being passed at O'Donnell Oct. 20. A young male suspect was being sought.

Police were called to investigate vandalism to three pickups which were spray-painted on Tuesday night. The pickups are owned by J.C. Spruiell of 1912 N. 4th, J.T. Miller of 2530 N. 2nd, and E.W. Patterson, 1621 N. 3rd. Police arrested a juvenile suspect in the case, which was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Police investigated an assault on Friday reported by a 24-year-old Tahoka woman who said she was kicked in the ribs and slapped by a male acquaintance. No charges were filed.

Abelardo DeLeon, 2206 N. 4th, reported Saturday that someone had stolen a spare tire from under his pickup parked at St. Jude Catholic Church.

An accident last Thursday at Lockwood and Ave. K involved a 1984 Buick driven by Louise Anderson Smith of Tahoka and a 1989 Chevrolet truck driven by Minuard Reed of Rt. 3, Post. No injuries were listed.

Police investigated an accident Monday at S. 1st and Ave. K involving a 1983 Chevrolet driven by Mary Farias Valdez of Tahoka and a 1977 Chevrolet driven by Jean A. Freeman of Tahoka. Mrs. Valdez was taken to Lynn County Hospital for treatment of injuries and then released.

In jail during the week were two persons on charges of burglary, and one each for driving while intoxicated, issuing bad check, and application to revoke probation on DWI charges.

100TH BIRTHDAY PARTY—Mrs. Maude Shaw was honored with a special party, cake, balloons and program at Tahoka Care Center paying her tribute on her 100th birthday Tuesday. Members of the O'Donnell First Baptist Church Extension Dept. were in charge of the party honoring their oldest member, Mrs. John Shaw, who first moved to O'Donnell in 1923. Mrs. Shaw formerly taught school at Wells, O'Donnell and Draw.

Cotton Harvest Underway; County Yield To Be Lower

By JACQUI LOCKABY
Texas Tech
Journalism Student
It is still a little early to estimate exactly what this year's cotton crop is going to yield in Lynn County. But whatever the yield will be the harvest is underway.

Dry weather, late planting dates and an early freeze are factors contributing to expectations of lower cotton production than last year, Earlon Shirley, manager of Farmer's Cooperative Association in Tahoka, said.

The reduced number of acres in production due to government programs has also affected the amount of cotton produced this year, he said.

Currently there are 210,000 acres in cotton production in Lynn County, Jimmy Woodard, manager of Lynn County ASCS office, said.

Most farmers in the county have either started stripping small patches or will start full-scale stripping in the next few weeks.

The Farmer's Co-op started ginning on Oct. 19, and has ginned about 168 bales this year. The average yield on those 168 bales is 22.03 percent with some cotton running 24 percent, Shirley said.

The gin is not running at full capacity yet, but will probably start the middle of next week. "We are ginning about 30 bales a day as opposed to 350 - 400 every 24 hours when running at capacity," he said.

Shirley said the turn-out on the cotton ginned so far looks good but lower grades are expected as the ginning season progresses.

Last year Farmer's Co-op ginned 24,000 bales; this year, however, they will only gin about 11,000 bales, he said.

Wayne Huffaker, area cotton farmer, said that Lynn County will produce about 60 percent of what it did last year.

The United States Department of Agriculture predicted the 25 counties on the High Plains will produce between 1.6 to 1.7 million bales of cotton this year; however, producers will probably make better than that, Huffaker said.

There are 27,000 acres in the market pool to be ginned at Farmer's Co-op. This is the first year that 100 percent of the producers who gin at the Co-op are in the pool that is marketed by PCCA, Shirley said.

"We are looking for a strong market for the better grades," Huffaker said.

The 15 other gins in the county, both private and other cooperatives, have either started their ginning season or have their equipment ready to start.

TAKE HEART, all you dog-spoilers. If you feed your dog ice cream, it is even worse for them than it is for us humans. Dairy products such as ice cream mess up a pooch's digestive system and hastens his journey to that big boneyard in the sky. But now there is an ice cream for dogs, Frosty Paws, described as a "nutritious alternative to ice cream."

Claiming that 61 percent of all dog owners give their dogs ice cream as a treat, the Frosty Paws people say their product is fortified with the vitamins and minerals a dog needs to stay in top physical condition. It has no sugar or salt.

The animal nutritionist who invented the stuff had several comments to make about it, including the admission that dogs don't really need Frosty Paws in their diets, "just as people don't need ice cream or candy bars. But as surely as people are going to eat those snacks, people are going to want to give treats to their dogs. So why not at least give your dog a treat that's good for him?"

Frosty Paws is in some supermarket ice cream sections already. And one comment the manufacturer makes is that "while it is intended as treat for dogs, it is perfectly safe for human consumption."

That made me sit up and take notice (with both hands held up about shoulder level, palms outward). I'd consider it a really serious situation if someone tried to serve me dog ice cream instead of the real delicious, fattening thing. It's enough to give one paw.

VOTERS HERE and over the state will go to the polls next Tuesday to list their opinions on 21 proposed amendments to the Texas constitution. Many groups over the state have come out in favor of, or opposed to, various amendments, but what likely will happen is that the decisions on which ones pass and which ones fail will be made by just a few people, because it's very difficult to get people to turn out to vote on amendments.

In Lynn County, all 13 voting boxes will be open. Hopefully the people who oversee the polls will have a few people come by and cast ballots. People should vote on the amendments, because some of them are important and could have a definite impact on Texas taxpayers' pocketbooks, but voters generally don't go to polls until they have somebody to vote against.

Senior Citizens Center Makes Plans For Year

Directors of Lynn County Pioneers, Inc., met last week with Catherine Barham to plan for a new contract year for the Senior Citizens Center in Tahoka.

Members of the board later said they were "pleased to announce that Catherine Barham has reconsidered her decision to leave as director" of the center, and added that with the new budgetary restrictions from the National and State Depts. on Aging, she will have to restructure the program of the center.

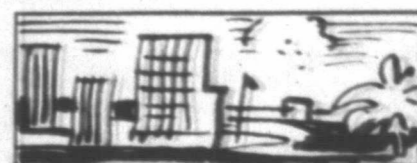

More of the funding for the center will have to come from the county and the participating cities, according to the board. Price for meals served to persons over age 60 will be $2, effective immediately.

"Mrs. Barham's efforts over the past nine years have been appreciated tremendously by the senior citizens throughout the county, and she is to be commended for her many endeavors," said a spokesman for the directors.

The program for older citizens is not a welfare program, it was pointed out. "It was the result of much planning in Washington and has been implemented in every state. Many program helps are available for maintaining a healthy, active and knowledgeable senior citizen."

Social programs and activities, health and medical information and keeping up with current changes through contact with the Silver Haired Legislature are all part of the program designed to help each older citizen be active and productive.

Jacksonville, Florida has the largest total area of any city in the U.S. It takes in 460 square miles.

What children do on a day-to-day basis at school often determines how they feel about themselves in general. If children feel good about what they can do, they are more able to learn and will attempt new adventures. Developing effective study skills will help children be more successful. Helping your child learn appropriate study skills can often be the difference between success and failure in school. Study skills are taught in the classroom during the regular school day and need to be applied to after-school tasks such as homework.

Homework is an important part of a child's education. There are three main reasons why homework is given by the teacher: (1) to help supplement classwork; (2) to serve as a way of disciplining a child who does not complete his/her work in the classroom; and (3) to give the students the experience of having homework so that they will be prepared for studying on their own. When related directly to the daily curriculum, homework can be beneficial by providing practice of skills and processes taught in the classroom. It can aid in the development of responsibility on the part of the students, and in the development of self-discipline and work habits. Homework is an extension of the classroom and provides every student with the opportunity for enhanced learning.

The following suggestions can be used to help make study time and homework more effective:

(1) Provide a quiet study area with good lighting. Make sure adequate supplies are on hand—paper, pencils, textbooks, etc. Insist that the TV and/or radio be turned off. Explain to other members of the family the importance of being quiet during study time. Study time is not a time to relax and daydream.

(2) Set aside a specific amount of time for study. Help your child to establish a study habit. However, be flexible. Other activities will, on occasion, interfere with the routine.

(3) Check with your child each day for each assignment, or have your child read them to you. This will prevent frustration on the part of the student, and get him or her off to a efficient start.

(4) Go over specific directions for each assignment, or have your child read them to you. This will prevent frustration on the part of the student, and get him or her off to a efficient start.

(5) Periodically check to see if your child is having difficulty and if the assignment is being completed properly. Help your child if he/she is having difficulty. Help your child if he/she is having difficulty, but never do the assignment yourself.

(6) Make sure your child checks over the work once the assignment is complete. Then you check the work. Make notations of any errors so that your child can redo the work where necessary.

(7) Check with the child's teacher with any questions or concerns regarding assigned homework.

The above suggestions will initially take concentrated effort and time. As time passes, however, the student will learn to set aside the time necessary for homework comple-

In addition to the co-editors, the staff has three section editors. They are Connie Parker, sports editor; Lana Tekell, student life editor; and Lanae Monk, junior high editor.

Helping Connie in sports are Corey McCleskey, Candice Bailey and Brandon Cate. These students cover all high school sports events throughout the year.

Working with Lana in the student-life section are Aaron Miller, Paul Harper, Rhonda Harris, Tiffany Huffaker, Jennie Wells and Jay Jay Wiseman. Student-life includes all high school organizations. Lanae is assisted by Roger Aleman, Chasity Hood, Jodi Williams in the junior high section. These students cover junior high sports and organizations. Mrs. Leah Taylor has been sponsor of this organization for 15 years. This year's Kennel/Growl staff is one of the largest that THS has had in the past years. Seven seniors, eight juniors and two sophomores make up the 17 members who also must pass the essential elements of scholastic journalism in addition to their duties of producing the two publications.

tion, will allocate time more efficiently, and will rely less upon parents for detailed help. If your child does not yet have any homework, you can still help prepare him/her by talking about school work. This will encourage the child to think about school when at home and homework will seem natural when the time comes. By following these suggestions, you will have contributed significantly to the success of your child in the educational process.

APPENDICITIS IS STILL A KILLER

Despite all our wonder drugs, a neglected acute appendicitis is as deadly as it was fifty years ago. The average hospital admits 19 appendicitis cases a month. They are difficult for even a physician to diagnose. Symptoms are similar to acute indigestion. Vomiting and diarrhea may occur. Pain may become unbearable. If you ever have such symptoms which do not soon go away, never take a laxative which can cause the appendix to burst, throwing its poison into the system. Instead, call your physician. We will rush any needed medicine.

Shallowater Ground Game Beats Bulldogs

Shallowater used a relentless running attack to send the Tahoka Bulldogs down to their seventh defeat of the year, scoring seven times on short runs ranging from 1 to 14 yards and once on a 43-yard run by Nick Powell to blank the beleaguered Dogs 54-0. Timmy Taylor scored four of the Mustang touchdowns.

Tahoka managed just five first downs and 35 yards rushing. The Bulldogs completed two passes, one of which was caught by Cody Bailey for a 22-yard gain.

Tahoka's leading tackler, linebacker and defensive end Michael Isbell, broke his leg just above the ankle early in the game, and had surgery on the leg Monday, ending the high school football career of the senior team leader.

This week the Bulldogs play their final home game of the season, hosting New Deal, which has not won a game all year, but which played an inspired game last week against highly-favored Seagraves before going down 21-14. New Deal led Seagraves 7-6 at the end of the first half.

Wilson News

Last weekend was a lively one in Wilson with all the activities sponsored by the Junior Class, FHA, sixth grade, library and the drama class. Many attended the craft booths open on Friday and Saturday with a good variety of articles on display for sale. The juniors served a "Baked Potato Blitz" on Friday before the game. During halftime, the band surprised fans with a new halftime show that was well received. Then hundreds of red balloons were released in a coordinated effort between Wellman Student Council and Wilson FHA.

Craft booths were open again all day Saturday. At noon the Cow Patty Bingo began. A winner was not declared until almost 1:30, when the cow deposited the patty on a line and the $500 was split between Lonnie Paul Donald and Elmer Blankenship. Klondike and Wilson FHA sold chili all afternoon while entertainment was provided by the Levis and Laces Square Dance Club, the sixth

News From ...
Extension Agent
Brett Cypert
Lynn County Extension Office

Now that fall is officially at hand, frost will be hitting Lynn County before long. This could lead to prussic acid poisoning in livestock if the county has had enough moisture to produce certain pasture grasses and forage, according to Brett Cypert, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

While many plants contain the toxic material that causes poisoning, the greatest culprits are Johnson and Sudan grasses and sorghum or hybrids of these that cause the highest mortality if livestock graze them after a heavy frost.

"The most dangerous time for the grazing of these plants is following frost when the plant material begins to wilt," said Cypert.

Livestock should not be allowed access to the wilted material until it has dried completely following three or four days of good sunlight. New plant growth usually becomes non-toxic and can be grazed within 10 days to two weeks following a rain, Cypert said.

Prussic acid poison acts rapidly and can kill animals within minutes. In most acute cases, animals become affected within 10 to 15 minutes after eating toxic material and can die in two to three minutes.

Symptoms may include a brief period of stimulation followed by depression and paralysis. Signs of colic may be present. Stupor (loss of sensibility), difficult breathing and frequent convulsions may result. Death is caused by suffocation since oxygen remains in the blood and is not exchanged to the tissues, Cypert said.

The key to prevent prussic acid poisoning in livestock is to be aware of plant materials that may cause poisoning and then keep cattle from grazing such plants until a safe period of time has passed, said Cypert.

Precautions With Hay

With some Texas areas receiving good rains during recent hurricanes and storms, forage producers and purchasers need to be aware of the moisture content of hay at time of baling and storing.

Barn fires caused by unfavorable hay drying conditions and high humidity present real storage problems, said Cypert, county agent.

During the first four to six weeks, producers should keep a careful watch on hay stored in buildings. When the temperature of hay reaches 150 to 175 degrees F., bacteria and molds in the hay are killed, but oxidation continues and the hay may become extremely hot, said Cypert.

There is a serious danger that a barn fire will occur when the temperature goes above 160 degrees F. Fire pockets may occur in the hay when the temperatures reach 175 to 185 degrees F.

For best results, producers can check the temperature of hay by probing with a steel rod and inserting a thermometer attached to a wire. Use a dairy or similar type thermometer that will record a temperature of at least 200 degrees F.

If hay reaches a temperature of 140 degrees F., it should be checked daily. At 160 degrees F., hay should be checked hourly, and at 180 degrees, it should be removed from the barn.

Attention Cotton Farmers:

Hamby once put out a bumper sticker that read If You Eat, You Are Involved in Agriculture. No one quit eating.

I am a cotton producer and one who wears cotton (I buy at least 50-50 or more when available and wear all-cotton pants and shirts when working and at all other times except church).

To me it is so hypocritical, and makes me sick, to see a cotton farmer wearing polyester pants and shirt. Do we ever have our share in Tahoka! Jennings has cotton clothes, and Sears, Penneys, Montgomery Ward, Walmart and western stores in Lubbock have cotton garments. If a cotton grower can afford anything from polyester pants and shirts to anything synthetic, he can afford other clothing, and he does not deserve the benefits a cotton producer gets.

I say if a farmer is too good to wear what he produces, he deserves no government payments!

Lady Bulldogs Basketball Team Looking For Good Year

By: COREY McCLESKEY
Optimistic would be the best way to describe the 1989-90 varsity girls' basketball team. Head Coach Steve Qualls is excited about the upcoming season and with good reason. With eight letterman and three starters returning, the year could turn out quite good for the varsity Bulldogs.

Happy Birthday
Carlton

Coach Qualls feels that the biggest plus this year for his Lady Bulldogs is experience. This experience comes from the Summer League basketball games and basketball camps in which many of the girls participated. "It's just like another year of basketball. It really helped the girls improve," Coach Qualls.

The overall attitude of the team could also be a factor in the upcoming season. According to Coach Qualls the attitude of the team has never been better.

"All the girls are working hard this year," said Coach Qualls, "they're very dedicated to the team and they're really serious about a winning season."

Coach Qualls feels that his team's greatest competition will come from the Idalou Wildcats. The Wildcats are expected to be the team to beat this year with everyone else battling it out for second. Coach Qualls and his girls believe they can be competitive in this type of situation.

To be truly successful though, Coach Qualls will need someone to provide leadership on the court. That someone will be the Senior Lady Bulldogs. "I think good leadership can really help a team," said Connie Parker, "I think that I'm ready to take on that responsibility."

Coach Qualls concluded by saying, "I hope the community gets behind the basketball program. It really helps us when they come to the game. They support us just by being there."

The Lady Bulldogs will begin the season Nov. 6 when they travel to Amherst for their first scrimmage.

Seniors on the Lady Bulldog Varsity Basketball team are Connie Parker, Kim Ingle, Katrina Milton, Lanae Monk and Lydia Alvarado.

Juniors on the squad are Chasity Hood, Jennie Wells and Terri Solomon.

Rounding off the Varsity team are Sophomores Betsy Huffaker, Tasha Lawson and Lana Parker.

Eagles Soar Past Antelopes 35-7

O'Donnell capitalized on four Whiteface turnovers Friday night at Johnson Field to give the Eagles a 35-7 District 4-1A win over the Antelopes.

The Eagles drew first blood on a 28-yard TD catch by Chad Summers from quarterback Melvin Eaker. The PAT kick by Chad Vaughn made it 7-0.

Whiteface tied the game on a one-yard dive into the endzone by fullback Nathan Demel and a good PAT kick by Benjamin Ocanos. O'Donnell added another score in the second quarter on a one-yard run by Rene Hernandez to give the Eagles a 14-7 halftime lead.

The Eagles ground game proved to be too much for the Antelopes as Jacob Lowe scored on a 20-yard jaunt in the third quarter to go ahead 21-7. O'Donnell scored twice in the fourth quarter.

The Eagles improved to 4-0 in district and 6-0-2 overall and will play at Petersburg Friday at 7:30.

Leopards Hold On To 52-51 Win

The New Home Leopards had just enough firepower to outgun Whitharral 52-51 at home last Friday night in a District 3-A Six-man nail-biter.

New Home seemed to have the game wrapped up with a 52-38 lead with only 4:49 remaining in the game after Coby James scored on a 40-yard run and a good PAT. But the Panthers struck back on a 10-yard TD pass from quarterback Greg Amalla to Michael Cirilo. Amalla intercepted a Leopard pass and ran 70 yards for another score to bring Whitharral to within one point.

With the win, the Leopards improved to 3-0 in district and 7-0-1 overall. They will play at Smyer this Friday at 7:30 to take on the Bobcats.

Card Of Thanks

We deeply appreciate all the flowers, prayers, cards and food from Laura's friends and family. We gratefully acknowledge all the dear ladies who brought food and who served the food at the First United Methodist Church before the service of our loved one.

We would like to thank all the people at Lubbock Hospitality House who loved and took care of Laura. We would like to express our appreciation and thanks to Dr. Dale Little for his support and care for Laura during her lengthy illness. To Rev. Larry Ramsey and Rev. Gene Wisdom for their visits and prayers and their words of comfort during the service. To the ladies who sang the beautiful hymns.

To all friends and family members, because of health and distance, that were unable to visit with Laura in person during her illness. We especially express our appreciation and acknowledge your support, love, phone calls, cards, prayers and concern for Laura.

Our thanks to Ron Wyatt, Jeff Wyatt and Jay Usery for their service as pallbearers and the White Funeral Home.
