Burglaries, Theft Are Investigated

Two burglaries in the county and theft of gasoline from a convenience store in Tahoka were among incidents investigated by Tahoka Police Dept. and Lynn County Sheriff's Dept. during the last week.

Sheriff's officers also recovered in Lubbock a 24-inch television set which had been stolen in a burglary of the home of Modesta Vasquez of Wilson Rt. 1 about two weeks ago.

Cal Huffaker reported a burglary at his residence three miles east and a mile north of Tahoka on Nov. 1. Electronic items valued at a total of $2200 were stolen, including a Fisher VCR, Marantz stereo system and a Mitsubishi color TV.

John Guzman of Wilson reported a garage at his residence on FM 400 had been burglarized by prying the lock off a door. Stolen were a NAPA battery charger, floor jack and hand tools.

Police investigated the reported theft of $20 worth of regular gasoline

"I'LL TAKE 15 OF THESE" - Kandy Jay, right, vice president of the Tahoka Chamberettes, tells Steve Sanders, manager of Thriftway grocery store, that Chamberettes will need 15 turkeys to prepare for their annual Community Thanksgiving Dinner. The traditional turkey meal will be served in the Tahoka School Cafeteria from noon until 1:30 p.m. this Sunday.

County Voters Say No To 11 Proposals

Lynn County voters Tuesday gave support to 10 proposed amendments to the state constitution while saying no to 11 others on the ballot. This put the county's 544 voters out of step with most of those in the state, since only the two amendments related to legislative pay were defeated statewide, with one, No. 18 on agricultural bonds, too close to call in early counting, although 97 per cent of the state vote had been tabulated Tuesday night.

Lynn County's votes were turned in by the 544 who went to the polls, representing about 14 per cent of the county's approximately 4100 registered voters. The county voters said no to both amendments on legislative pay, and to water bonds, veterans tax exemptions, temporary tax exemptions, community development bonds, four-year terms for hospital board members, Fort Bend DA, charity raffles, agriculture bonds and local investments. Most of those passed statewide.

In Lynn County, the largest margin of all the propositions was given to No. 10, which would require judges to inform juries about how good conduct time and parole could shorten a convict's prison sentence. This one passed by 421 to 107 in Lynn.

Bulldogs Blanked By Lions

The Tahoka Bulldogs played most of the game in their own end of the field here Friday night as New Deal came to town for the Lions' first victory of the season, and it was a big one, 40-0.

This week the Bulldogs will close out the disappointing season at Seagraves. The Dogs will be playing the final game with about a dozen players who started the season no longer on the squad for various reasons. Junior varsity and freshmen players have been moved up, and Tahoka now has just four seniors on the squad. And sophomore tackle Gary Smith suffered a leg fracture just above the ankle last week. The previous week the team's leading tackler, senior Michael Isbell, broke his leg.

It was not turnovers which beat the Dogs last week, as Tahoka had no

Annual Turkey Dinner Slated Here Sunday

As has been a tradition in the past several years, Tahoka Chamberettes are once again providing a Community Thanksgiving Dinner this Sunday, Nov. 12 at the Tahoka School Cafeteria. The meal will be served from noon until 1:30 p.m. at a cost of $5 per plate for adults, and $2 per plate for children under 12 years of age.

The meal will consist of turkey, dressing, giblet gravy, green beans, sweet potatoes, fruit salad with whipping cream, cranberry sauce, homemade hot rolls and dessert. Carryout plates will be available.

Chamberettes appreciate the Lynn County Extension Homemakers who are in charge of the desserts this year. Cakes and various other desserts will be set up on a side table for patrons to serve themselves the dessert of their choice. The Tahoka 4-H Club will assist Chamberettes with carryouts and serving of iced tea and hot rolls.

Tahoka elementary school children are adding to the festivities by preparing table decorations and wall posters for the dinner. "We really appreciate the teachers and children who make decorations for this event," said Ann Roberts, president of Chamberettes. "We think the children enjoy having their artistic abilities displayed for the public. We also appreciate all the help from various supporters, including those who donate the turkeys, the Extension Homemakers, 4-H members, and the school cafeteria helpers. All of these supporters enable Chamberettes to make this annual event one of our biggest fundraisers," she added.

Proceeds from this year's dinner will help cover expenses for the Christmas decorations fund which Chamberettes are sponsoring.

SOMEBODY in Oklahoma City is building a house which includes some kind of system that allows the owner to phone home and turn on the oven, switch lights on and off, adjust heating and air conditioning and turn on sprinklers, and maybe some other things.

This is called a "smart house," an understandable label. According to a monthly publication by Southwestern Bell, the house (and another one planned in Little Rock), homes in the future will have such systems and "a closed loop wiring system allows each house to have its own power and communications network."

I don't understand exactly what all that means, but it certainly would be nice to be able to call home and tell the house to do those things you forgot to do when you left the house that morning, or to do things at the proper time, like turning on the oven.

I suppose you could just pick up your phone at the office or wherever you are and call home and the system would answer. Then you might say:

"Hello, house? Go to the refrigerator and get out a steak and put it in the oven and cook it medium well, to be ready about 5:30. And flush the commode in the main bathroom. And feed the dogs. And if a burglar comes in while we're gone, there's a shotgun in the closet to blow him away with."

It sounds like a really good invention. I don't know if the house in Okie City will do all those things yet, but apparently it can do some remarkable things.

NOSEBLEEDS, says Lubbock Methodist Hospital's office of public relations, usually are just a nuisance, but they can become a medical problem. Marlene Whitehead, R.N. says people need to understand why nosebleeds start, so they will know how to stop them, or avoid them.

Among children and young adults, nosebleeds start on the septum, just inside the nose. The septum, it was explained, is the partition separating the two sides of the nose. However, says Nurse Whitehead, in people at or beyond middle age, nosebleeds may sometimes start deeper in the nose, and are therefore harder to stop. Here are some of the other things she said about nosebleeds:

A head cold or allergy may damage the blood vessels and cause spontaneous bleeding. Breathing dry air (and presumably sand) can damage the the vessels, as can this area's low humidity combined with household heaters.

When your nose bleeds, you should sit or stand up, reducing the blood pressure in the veins. Pinch your nose and breath through your mouth for several seconds (this looks awful if you're in a meeting, especially if you are the main speaker). Vaseline helps prevent bleeding. Avoid dry air by using a humidifier. Don't blow your nose for awhile after bleeding (especially not into a microphone).

Last of all, to avoid nosebleed (and the nurse didn't even mention this), don't smart off to large, belligerent people.

County's Older Citizens List Housing Preferences

by JACQUI LOCKABY
Texas Tech
Journalism Student

Lynn County residents who are over the age of 60 do not want to mow lawns or climb stairs, especially when they get a few years older.

This opinion is evidenced in the results of a survey of older citizens in the county conducted during the last year by Zane Curry, a builder - designer and Lynn County resident of 14 years, who did his Masters Thesis on the design needs of the mature adult.

The thesis paper "Rural Housing Alternative Designed for Mature Adult Residents" is a study to design a facility based on what the older people want and need.

At this time Lynn County does not have a supportive environment for the mature adults in the area. The two alternatives are to live in the only nursing home in the county or to live at home alone, he said.

The people who participated in the survey were a random sample of registered voters over the age of 60, Curry said.

The response was good and although the survey was designed to have the participants remain anonymous, many people wrote letters suggesting improvements on the current living standards of the mature adult.

Curry said most of the people who responded to the survey like where they currently live, but foresee that there will be a change needed in the future.

The main problems the mature adults have with where they currently live are security, loneliness and maintenance expenses, he said.

The goal of the facility would be to focus not only on the independent living of its residents but also to have assistance available when necessary. Some of the main suggestions for a supportive environment is that it be placed near a hospital and in a residential neighborhood, he said.

The facility Curry would like to see built is unique in that the people of the community provided information about how they would like it to be built as opposed to one designed solely by a professional. For example the respondents of the survey all wanted a one story building and most wanted a security and emergency call system available.

The survey was designed to find out the type of living quarters the mature adult would want. The respondents were able to dictate the size and number of bedrooms, the number of units in the facility and even the colors they most desired in the units, he said.

"The facility would insure the mature adults' opportunity to pursue an independent lifestyle that would enhance self worth, dignity and the quality of life they are use to," Curry said.

Curry said the reason more emphasis is being placed on the mature adult is because the population of people over the age of 65 has tripled between 1900 and 1980. Around the year 2030 - 2050 the retirement age population will reach its peak nationwide.

Turkey Walk Slated Nov. 11

Saturday, Nov. 11, the Lynn County Heart Association will have its annual Turkey Walk.

The turkey walk will begin at 10 a.m. at the T.H.S. football stadium. Everyone collecting $15 or more will win a T-shirt and everyone collecting $75 or more will win a turkey. Anyone interested may pick up an entry form at Tahoka Daisy.

Veterans Asked To Meet To Form VFW Chapter

All World War I, II, Korea and Viet Nam veterans who wish to start a VFW Charter in Tahoka are asked to meet at the Community Center at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 9.

"We need twenty-five members to start a charter," said a spokesman for the organization, "and we have 17 signed up, so please come and bring a copy of your discharge to prove qualifications."

FACILITY FOR OLDER PERSONS—Architect and researcher Zane Curry of Tahoka looks at a drawing of a proposed facility for older persons which he designed and would like to see someone build in Lynn County. For his masters thesis at Texas Tech, Curry conducted a survey of county residents over 60 to determine what they would like to see incorporated into such a facility.

Christmas Project Underway For Tahoka Chamberettes

The Tahoka Chamberettes have received good response from area citizens in their request for donations to complete the nativity set for the Lynn County Courthouse lawn. Several donations have been received, enabling Chamberettes to complete the nativity scene.

In addition to the pieces donated last year by Mrs. Nora Autry (Mary, Joseph, Baby Jesus and the three Wise Men), donations have been made for the Shepherd with two lambs, donated by Lynn County EMS; the lighted Star of Bethlehem and a donkey, donated by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Pridmore in honor of their grandchildren La'Shea, Josh and Jerid Pridmore and Courtney and Brennan Harston; and a cow, donated by Dr. and Mrs. Duane Carter. One other piece, a camel, will complete the nativity set and if no donations are received for that piece the Chamberettes will purchase it to complete the set.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lankford donated a generous amount to Chamberettes for Christmas decorations in memory of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Lankford. This donation has been used to purchase several four-foot decorated wreaths and ribbon decorations for the outside of the courthouse. Also, Chamberettes have had several wall decorations made of greenery, trumpets and ribbon for inside the courthouse.

Jimmy Huckabey, manager of Higginbotham-Bardett Lumber Co. in Tahoka, has donated lumber to build a stable for the nativity scene, which Chamberettes will build.

Chamberettes have purchased Christmas lights to decorate the large tree at the north entrance to the courthouse, and also to add to the lights on the living Christmas tree on the lawn. The "Merry Christmas" lights which are annually placed on the north side of the courthouse have been repaired.

In addition to the nativity set, Chamberettes would like to have funds donated to purchase two sets of Christmas carolers to be placed on the balconies on the east and west sides of the courthouse. These sets cost about $30 each. Memoriums and contributions will be gladly accepted by the Chamberettes.

"We will have all these decorations placed and ready by Friday, Dec. 1 for the annual Moonlight Madness Sale," said Juanell Jones, Christmas committee spokesman for Chamberettes. "We appreciate all the generous donations made thus far, which have enabled us to virtually complete Phase I of our three-year plan for the courthouse and area. There are some expenses that still must be met, but Chamberettes feel this is a way for us to use our funds so that the most people may benefit."

Ann Roberts, president of Chamberettes, added, "By adding to the Christmas decorations, we feel this is another way that we can show we're Tahoka Proud by honoring our Savior's birth."

Phases II and III of the three-year decorations plan will include more wooden cutouts in addition to the Santa Claus, luminaries, and outlining the courthouse in lights at several levels.

After about one hour and much pleading, the cow did his "thing" and landed on Lonnie Paul Donald and Elmer Blankenship on their cow patty bingo squares that is earning them $250 each at the second annual arts and crafts fair held by the Wilson Junior Class. The fair was the second one held by the junior class. It was held to attract people and to raise money for the Junior/Senior Banquet in the spring. People came from all around to show off their "made with loving hands" items. Many people came not only for the fun, but to meet others and exchange ideas. Besides the cow patty bingo, the other main attraction of the day was the chili cookoff between the Wilson FHA and the Klondike FHA. Klondike won best tasting, while Wilson won most attractive booth and best salesmanship.

All of the elementary students heard these men and women share their experiences during "Say No To Drugs" week and parents are encouraged to attend this important program. The class with the most members attending the meeting will win an ice cream party.

Friday will be last day of the Book Fair held in the Wilson School library. Parents are invited to attend the Book Fair during school hours to shop for books and other items available for sale. Students should have brought home an order form during the week.

Tahoka Twirler One Of Six In Special Class

Broadway choreographer Mike Moore, former twirler for the University of Georgia and the University of Florida, was special instructor for a group of six of Bethany Tolley's twirling students last weekend, including Eden Williams of Tahoka.

Moore was the 1986 director of the Italian Twirling Team, and teaches throughout the United States and England. He is a Broadway choreographer who performed in and directed The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas. He also directs the world class twirling team "The Show Stoppers."

Mrs. Tolley brought him in Friday by plane to teach six of her students in a twirling "strut clinic" at Texas Tech recreation building. Each student received an hour private lesson. Four were from Paducah, one from Lubbock, and Miss Williams from Tahoka.

Eden, who already had won a first place award in strut competition, was also selected to be on an advanced dance twirl team with the other five girls. The team is called the "Texas Pink Ladies," and will attend NBTA regional and state contests in Dallas, with a chance to advance to nationals.

Bethany Evans Tolley was the former Miss College Majorette of America and a feature twirler at Texas Tech. She teaches a young group of girls in Tahoka at the band hall and in O'Donnell on Monday afternoons.

OSTEOPOROSIS

A combined approach of exercise, calcium replacement, and estrogen replacement is the prescription to reduce the incidence of osteoporosis, according to Dr. Wm. Peck, president of the National Osteoporosis Foundation. Increased consumption of calcium and regular weight bearing exercises should be practiced by everyone, starting in early childhood. Post menopausal women may best be benefited with replacement estrogen therapy.

WE LOVE OUR TEACHERS

Debbie Engle
Sixth Grade Teacher

"The day T.C. Spruiell put a mouse in my desk," is fondly recalled by Debbie Engle, sixth grade teacher for Tahoka I.S.D., as one of her worst moments at school. She has taught at Tahoka for 12 years and is married to Charlie Engle, a lineman at Lyntegar Electric Cooperative. They have two children, Britni, 4, and Christopher, 3, and live in Tahoka.

"I try to instill in each child the fact that they are important and they can succeed in life if they give it their best," she says. She was raised in Tahoka and graduated from Wayland Baptist University in 1972 with a B.A.

One of her fondest memories is "when the Luna children moved here and couldn't speak a word of English. We all worked so hard and we are still amazed at their progress."

She enjoys softball, volleyball and reading, and is a member of the First Baptist Church where she teaches the 3-year-old class.

Letter To Editor

DEAR MR. WOOD,

I wanted to notify you of the death of my niece, Ruthel Anderson Elmer of Amarillo, on Oct. 26. Her mother, Bessie Anderson, was my sister.

Also, I am concerned about the future of the Old Settlers Reunion. We were told at the last Old Settlers Reunion June 24 that next June would be the last meeting unless a lot more people show up. I believe the first one was in 1934 (anyway, I was there). I intend to be there next June, too. So, all of you real oldtimers like Truett, Waymon and lot more of you need to help keep it alive by being there next June and tell everyone else to attend. I'm going to be there and I have to drive 1,500 miles plus; it takes three days driving to make it. I will be 77 Dec. 15.

Sincerely,
ORSON RAYMOND GRIFFIN

Dear Editor

Mr. Wood, enclosed is check for my paper. I moved to Colorado last May. For several years, the Joe and Nedra Young and family have given me the paper for Xmas. Since we won't be together anymore at Xmas, I wanted to take care of it myself so you can advise them. I enjoy the paper more than ever, helps me keep up with the happenings. I even like your "writings". I am living next door to a niece who sees after me.

Best Wishes,

Resident Recalls Snow Storm Of '38

By: MABEL GURLEY
 Memories emerging of past days are usually pleasant, or perhaps we are prone to gloss over those that are not. There were hazardous periods, however, that cannot be erased.

It was just an ordinary cold winter day that Friday morning—children went to school, men went to work, and life in Tahoka proceeded as usual. Then, without any threatening forecast or warning, a snow and windstorm which was truly a weather phenomenon for the South Plains hit around noon. The frigid temperature, high winds, and swirling snow might best be described as a tornadic snow blizzard. Within an unbelievably short time, snow had drifted in mountainous piles.

Teachers began calling parents of students who lived in town to come after their children. A frantic call came from our sister, asking us to meet her two grade school girls on their way to our house two blocks away. As we met them, Dorothy Lee, the older of the two, had Cody by the hand, leading over a fence stacked with a high mound of snow. Frances E. Dunagan, then a third grade teacher, tells of having pupils line up to board the school bus. She and her husband, Deck, then proceeded home in their car, until confronted by an impassable snow drift, and then almost froze walking the remaining two blocks home.

The buses didn't get far. As one bus loaded with students entered the highway, it went down in a snow drift as if it were a sponge. Men carried students one by one to a commercial truck that deposited them at the courthouse. The Lonnie Howells, then living a few miles east of town, had two young girls who rode the bus, and failed to arrive at home. Mr. Howell and a helper started to town searching for the girls, but not only as far as a lake area, surmised the car in snow, and had to trudge back home. Having no telephone, the parents spent a sleepless night. On Saturday morning a neighbor, Mr. Tippitt, managed to reach the Howells and assure them that the girls were safe. He had received a telephone message that they were in the courthouse along with many other students. Mr. Simmons, manager of Jones Dry Goods located across from the courthouse, provided some of the children with dry clothes. Strong winds and snow persisted the next day, and snow was piled to the top of the high school building. On Sunday Mr. Howell and his helper rode to town on horses and retrieved his snow bound girls.

Enroute from Lubbock to Tahoka, thirty people were marooned in a two room house on the highway for the night. A Tahoka couple involved told of very close, inconvenient conditions that night.

Back to personal experience—when we got home safely with our nieces, our father, husband, and some friends, Ed and Lorene Edwards, had made their way from town to our house. They, along with our five-year-old son, made a total of eight people marooned in the household for the duration of the storm. As the food supply began to diminish, there was a feeling of total isolation. Gallons of potato soup were consumed, and luckily, there was that always present supply of fruit. In those days apples were bought by the bushel off New Mexico trucks. The seriousness of the situation was of little concern to the young; in fact, the close companionship became quite a party for them. When one went outside, eyelashes were soon frozen together if not constantly wiped with gloved hands. To us, Admirals Byrd and Peary, rather than heroes, became two very foolish men.

On Monday, Jess tied "tow sacks" around his feet and "mushed" down to West Side Grocery on the Brownfield highway to get food supplies. Cars were yet unable to travel through snow and mud-mired streets. The grocery store had stayed open, its owners unable to get home, but there was an uneasy period of waiting before Jess returned safely home. Numerous stories were told of the 1938 snow storm, and it is doubtful that any were exaggerated. Miraculously, no deaths were reported, but there were many frost-bitten ears and feet and emotional traumas. The storm of '38 left deep impressions that melted snow never erased.

The four women canned 379 quarts of peas, beans, squash and tomatoes, besides eating a bunch of cantaloupe and watermelon.

With the win, New Home improved to a perfect 4-0 record in district play and will wrap up their regular season at home Friday at 7:30 against Wellman.

Control Fruit Tree Diseases

Sometimes fruit tree care is forgotten or neglected in the fall, but it's a critical time for controlling many peach and plum tree diseases to insure a good crop next year, said Cypert, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Cypert said that applying a copper fungicide now can stop or help reduce three of the major diseases that attack peach and plum trees in Texas. These are peach leaf curl, bacterial leaf spot and bacterial canker.

The puckered and distorted peach tree leaves that were either bright red or light green in diseased area last spring were the result of peach leaf curl fungus, Cypert said. The time to control this disease effectively is in the fall by use of a copper-containing fungicide.

Timing of the fall spray is critical for effective control and for avoiding tree damage. Unless applied correctly, copper, a metal, may cause severe defoliation.

Cypert said spraying should be done when 70 percent of the leaves have fallen. Spraying too early will cause leaf shed or cause the spray to be ineffective later.

Eagles Pound Buffaloes, 42-13

The O'Donnell Eagles moved one step closer to the playoffs with a 42-13 District 4-1A win over the Petersburg Buffaloes in Petersburg.

Jacob Lowe rushed for three Eagle TDs and gave O'Donnell an early 20-7 lead at the half. The Eagles have a perfect 5-0 district mark and improve to 7-0-2 overall.

O'Donnell will host the Plains Cowboys Friday at 7:30 in a key district game.

Have you ever stopped to think why you purchased a particular item?

Did you really want the item, or did you want to gain social approval? Did you think you were getting a good deal? Did you purchase the item because of pressure from the salesperson or were you persuaded by advertisements?

Although many consumers do not realize it, factors such as these do affect their buying behavior. Ask yourself the following questions when making a purchase decision.

Am I buying this product or service to gain social approval?

What people buy is influenced by society. Purchasing goods or services to gain social approval can be a problem when this behavior costs more than the person can afford. If you really can't afford it, don't buy it.

Am I purchasing this goods or service because it's a good deal?

When people purchase goods or services because they think they are getting a good deal, many times they are buying items they don't really need or want. Purchasing items you had not planned to buy can put a strain on your budget. You may end up not having money for necessary items. In addition, the purchase may not be such a good deal, but even if it is a good deal, you may never have use for it.

Did I purchase the item because the salesperson pressured me into it?

Many salesperson will try to make you feel bad if you do not purchase whatever item it is they are selling. Beware of such lines as "You wasted my time," or "How could you pass up such a good deal?" Remember, these are sales strategies, and you are not a bad person if you do not want or need the item being sold. Be assertive and say "no."

Did I buy the item as a result of watching or listening to advertisements?

Advertisements are designed to persuade people to purchase goods or services. If you have not planned to purchase whatever item is being advertised, you probably don't need it or want it. Take some time to think about it before acting.

Stop and analyze your buying behavior. If you have not planned a purchase, you may have been influenced by one or several of these factors. Remember, these factors may be preventing you from effectively managing your money.

Hance Named Lynn County Chairman

Republican gubernatorial candidate Kent Hance today selected David Midkiff as the Lynn County chairman of his campaign.

Hance, a former State Senator and U.S. Congressman currently serves as chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission. He announced his candidacy for governor on Aug. 15.

"David is one of the best grassroots leaders in our party," Hance said. "With strong support from people like David, I'm confident we will have the best organization of any campaign."

Hance has named county chairman in 150 of the state's counties and has compiled a list of more than 5,000 volunteers from across Texas.

"Voters are looking for an experienced candidate who is ready to lead on Day One," Hance said. I have the experience Texas needs as we enter the next decade.

"I have outlined a specific program for dealing with the challenges that face our state," Hance said. "As governor I will lead a serious battle against crime and drugs, improve our public schools and fight for our continued economic recovery."
