Garden Club Gives Guidelines For Yule Lighting Contest

The Tahoka Garden Club this week gave guidelines for their annual Christmas lighting contest. There are three classifications for entries in the Christmas lighting contest. Residential has five categories: door, window, yard, outside tree, and overall (overall must include: front door and MARCH 1990 is still quite a distance in the future, but already the Census Bureau has begun its decennial dissemination of information.

That's government talk for "a snow job every ten years." Maybe I'm being unfair when I accuse them of that, but somehow, despite all their protestations of strict confidentiality, I still doubt their claims that nobody in or out of government will have access to the information we give them on the Census forms.

They swear that all the data is exempt from the Freedom of Information Act and from court subpoenas. The Lubbock manager says that "All Census takers will have a federal identification badge and are required to display these badges at all times." (Those badges really look neat pinned to your skin in the shower). They insist that every Census employee takes a lifetime oath and that if they tell anybody any of those things you reveal, they will be fined, clapped in irons and hung upside down on the federal building

Still, if the 1990 Census forms are anything like the 1980 ones, they are going to ask a lot of things which really are none of their business. Last time they wanted to know how many flush toilets you had in your house. I have not had access to the form we'll be getting in March, but it may include such questions as "How much money do you have hidden under the bed?" and "Have you cheated on your wife (or husband) in the last year? How many times? Would you do it again?" and "How much life insurance do you have" or "Do you burp at public functions" or "How much unreported income did you make last year?"

I don't mind being counted among the living, or even telling them how old I am. But some of the other things they may ask are really nobody else's business. And once you give an answer to those questions, they go into somebody's computer. And if they are in a computer somewhere, there's always a way to get the information out.

I would not be at all surprised to learn that every secret I revealed to the Census Bureau was, despite all their safeguards, immediately available to the IRS, CIA, P-TA, Readers Digest and 72 million mail-order salesmen of insurance and siding.

window decorations and Christmas *lights or other decorations on outside of house). Merchants will have one category as their display windows will present their lighting entry. Municipal displays will include city and county buildings and will be judged as one category.

As lighting is the main factor in presenting the decorated areas, it will count most in the judging of each entry. The entry must be clearly visible from the street, properly lighted or spot-lighted for after dark viewing. There will be three awards in each category and pictures of the best or first awards will be in the Christmas issue of the Lynn County News.

The time of judging will be announced at a later date, and all entries must be lighted for that time. To enter, call one of the following Garden Club members: Mrs. H.R. Tankersley, 998-4254, Mrs. L.O. Smith, 998-4470 or Mrs. Mildred Abbe, 998-4602.

SPS Files For Lower "Fuel-Cost"

Southwestern Public Service Company (SPS) filed to lower the "fuel-cost recovery factor" on electric bills beginning Jan. 1, 1990, for its Texas retail customers. This will have an overall effect of lowering electric rates 9.2% or $42 million, for these customers.

The filing was made with the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUCT), which regulates the fuelcost portion of electric rates.

"This reduction, on top of our 4.3% rate decreases completed earlier this year, will make our service area even more competitive in attracting new industry and jobs," said SPS President and Chief Operating Officer Bill Helton. "We are pleased to pass on these savings to our customers. This new decrease is possible because of lower fuel and purchased-power expenses."

The cost of fuel to operate SPS power plants, plus the cost of power purchased from other companies. makes up about half of SPS's overall costs to serve customers. Electric utilities are not permitted to earn a profit on the cost of fuel or purchased power. Changes in these costs are passed on to customers.

In Texas, the fuel-cost recovery factor may be adjusted periodically by filing with the PUCT. In New Mexico, Oklahoma and Kansas, SPS will pass on the savings through automatic fuel-cost adjustments.

"This decrease will make SPS one of the most competitive utilities in the state," said Helton, "SPS's average industrial rates already are lower than the averages for all regions of the country, using figures reported in 'Energy Users News.' this decrease will make our service area even more attractive to current and prospective industries."

The amount of decrease will vary according to usage and rates applicable to different types of customers. Texas residential customers using 1,000 kilowatt hours a month on SPS's standard rate would see their monthly electric bills decline by $4.87, from $69.67 to $64.80.

Blocking Sweaters Blocking knit sweaters gives them the special care they need. As soon as you buy or receive a sweater, take measurements or make a paper pattern to enable you to block the garment back to its original size. Keep in mind that blocking is not a safe method for finishing sweaters containing acrylic fibers.

If using the pattern method, lay the sweater on a piece of paper and draw an outline. The more popular method for getting the sweater's shape is to record several important measurements: shoulders, bust or chest, hips, waist, length of sleeves, and body.

After the sweater is dry, it may be blocked to the original size of a frame or rack. Working from shoulders to hem, use steam and your fingers to shape the fabric back to the measurements you recorded or the paper pattern. Use a hand pad to remove wrinkles while applying vacuum.

Repeat this procedure of applying steam, stretching or shrinking the fabric, and vacuuming until the garment is blocked to the original size.

BLOOD PRESSURE

It is known that hypertensives will live longer if their blood pressure is reduced to normal by diet and/or medicine - but reduced too far is also dangerous.

Researchers in the U.S., England, and Sweden agree that lowering the blood pressure below 85 mm of mercury (the lower, diastolic pressure) can lead to heart attack or fatal cardiac arrhythmia.

Pamela Warren teaches Chapter I Reading and Math at Tahoka Elementary School, and she believes that "learning lasts a lifetime." She has a son, Milah, age 8, who she says enjoys attending Mrs. Huffaker's third grade class. This is Pamela's first year to teach at Tahoka, and she lives in Lubbock. She enjoys reading and is a Sunday School teacher.

She is a member of A.T.P.E. She recalls one of her worst moments when she first came to Tahoka was when "I accidentally drove on the meridian where cars park in front of Parker's Pharmacy. I think it was part of the street. It looked like a repaired street." She says her fondest memory is when her high school class earned money enough for a senior trip to New York and Washington, D.C. She was raised in Santo, Texas and attended high school there. She graduated from Texas Tech University in 1965.

Flannel sheets are warm and comfortable— a reminder of grandmother's house. But they don't have to look like they came from her house. Printing technology is such that flannel sheets can be as fashionable as those made of percale. Solids and tiny prints are still available and will probably always be popular—a home spun decor goes hand in hand with flannel sheet comfort. The more sophisticated yarn-dyed woven and printed patterns are possible because of improved printed and napping techniques. Now anyone who wants to can sleep between flannel sheets in large scale floral or novelty designs. Matching comforters and coordinated accessories are also available.

Tips To Lower Your Auto Insurance

From The Independent Insurance Agents Of America

Taking these four steps can help you stay on the road to insurance premium savings:

A defensive driving course can cut your insurance costs.

1. Keep collision and comprehensive coverage deductibles high. Remove such coverage from older cars. 2. Elminate overlaps in personal injury protection coverage, accident or health insurance. Ask about good driver discounts; car pool or mass transit discounts: discounts for eliminating unnecessary driving; and those for certain types of cars. 4. Shop around. Rates can vary dramatically. Independent insurance agents can quote prices and sell policies from several different companies to help find the right coverage and the best price for you.

Lynn Residents Should Get Census Forms Next March

Residents of Lynn County should receive their 1990 Census forms sometime next March, according to Randell Warren, district office manager of the Lubbock Bureau of the Census, who listed many reasons why he considers it important that everyone answer all the questions on the forms.

In some counties the forms are to be mailed back to the Census Bureau, but in Lynn and some other counties, recipients are to fill in the information and hold the forms until a Census worker calls on the household.

According to Warren, information from the forms is used for such things as determining how much federal funds are returned to counties and local governments for developing social programs, programs for

Warren also said the Lubbock district office will be hiring persons for temporary work on the data collections, and insisted that information obtained in the Census will remain confidential.

"Your Social Security number is not on the Census questionnaire anywhere and the only reason your name is used is so the Bureau can be sure no one is counted more than once," he said. "All Census information is exempt from the Freedom of Information Act and court subpoenas. This same law that protects confidentiality also requires that all people living in America participate in the Census. Therefore, it is essential that truthful and accurate information be recorded in the Census."

He also said that all Census takers will have a federal identification badge and are required to display these badges at all times. "Do not divulge or release any information to anyone who does not first display this federal identification badge."

Guarding Against Bacterial Food-Borne Illness

Certain pathogens (disease-causing organisms) such as Salmonella or Listeria do not signal their presence through taste or smell. To reduce risks at home, practice basic food safety principles for avoiding any food-borne illness.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture recommends cooking met to an internal temperature of 160 degrees F. at the thickest part and poultry to 185 degrees F. The Food and Drug Administration currently has studied underway to ensure the adequacy of cooking instructions for seafood.

Disease caused by bacteria such as Listeria can be fatal for certain highrisk groups such as unborn infants, newborns, those with impaired immune systems, pregnant women and the elderly. Preventing the cutbreak of this disease is of major concern.

LEARN WHAT CHRISTMAS SAFETY'S ABOUT!

A CHRISTMAS SAFETY CHECK

- Before hanging strings of lights, spread them on the floor and check for frayed or bare wires, cracked insulation, loose connections, and damaged plugs or light sockets.
- Check extension cords for wear or damage and don't run them across walking areas.
- Test lights before putting them on the tree. Unplug them before making repairs or replacing bulbs.
- Overloading circuits with too many lights can cause fire. Follow manufacturer's instructions about the number of lights allowed on one circuit.
- Never string lights on a metallic tree.
- Choose a fresh, green tree, trim its base and keep it in plenty of water. If the needles are brown and break off easily, it could be a fire risk.
- If you buy an artificial tree, make sure it has been tested for flammability by Underwriters Laboratories (UL).
- Always turn off lights before leaving home or going to bed. You'll save money and be safer, too.
- Do not use inside lights on the outside. All outside lighting equipment, including lights, cords and plugs, should be waterproof and made for outdoor use. Also, hang sockets downward and don't leave a socket empty.
- When hanging lights on the rooftop or in tall trees outdoors, stay clear of

Card Of Thanks

We want to express our heartfelt love and appreciation to our dear friends and neighbors for the phone calls and visits during the tragic loss of our beloved little friend, April Pesina. Also to the devoted and caring Lynn County Hospital staff and to Lynn County Sheriff Jack Miller and his deputies for their kind-

We will never forget your love and support to us, our family, and especially to April's mother and daddy and sisters at this time of such sorrow. May God always keep you in His loving care.

Boyd and Fem Bames and family

A simple "Thank You" seems inadequate for the way we feel about your generosity. The foods, the calls, the cards and your prayers were all appreciated during my recent illness. Ann Roberts

We would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone for being so kind to us during the illness and death of our loved one, Janie Putnam. Thanks for the food, flowers, cards and prayers. A special thanks to Rev. Clifton Igo and the Sweet Street Baptist Church choir for the beautiful memorial service. May God bless each of you.

Our hours are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The cost will be $10 for all day, $5 for half a day and $7 for half day with lunch. If there are additional children in the family, it will cost an extra $3 per child.

The activities lined out for your child on those days are: (1) weather permitting- playing outside; (2) children's videos (3) naps if needed (4) learning cheers and jumps (5) games.

A lunch of sandwiches will be provided for the children who are staying all day and for the ones who pay for it.
