Downtown Cleanup Project Slated This Saturday

"Tahoka Cares" is a downtown cleanup project being sponsored by the Jaycees. The first cleanup day is scheduled for this Saturday, July 7 at 9 a.m. at the courthouse square. Helpers need to bring wheelbarrows, hoes, shovels, rakes, or any other lawn and garden equipment. The Jaycees hope to see a good turnout of people who are willing to help clean up the community to make it more attractive and appealing.

THE FOURTH of July holiday came at a bad time for most folks, right in the middle of the week. In fact, any holiday that comes in the middle of the week keeps workers from getting the extra day or two off on the weekend. The July Fourth holiday, Thanksgiving and Christmas are holidays which didn't come under the "Monday holiday" bill passed by Congress several years ago.

That bill moved to Monday several holidays which normally might come on some other day of the week. Memorial Day is a good example, and some others, including "Presidents' Day", a joint celebration of the birthdays of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. I wonder if Easter Sunday and Good Friday will ever be on Monday.

If July is as hot as June was (the hottest June on record in this area), the entire month of July should be a holiday. That way, we could all go to the nearest cool spot—Ruidoso or Cloudcroft.

Don't be surprised if next week's issue of the paper is mailed from New Mexico.

OF COURSE, we know a few people around here for whom holidays have no special meaning, since they are off every day of the year. This brings to mind the following story:

A woman tourist noticed an Indian standing around idly for hours in front of a store, and finally she went up to him and asked if he had a job, to which he grunted a negative. "You're a lazy person!" she said. "You need to get a job and work."

"Why work?" the Indian asked.

"So you can make money," she said.

"Why make money?" he asked.

"So you can buy things you need, and so you can save."

"Why save?" asked the Indian.

"Well," she said in exasperation, "so you can retire some day and not work."

"Not working now," the Indian commented, ending the conversation.

Tahoka Police Chief Prefers Small Towns

By BRIAN MAYES

Texas Tech Journalism Student

He carries a gun and wears the badge on his blue Tahoka police officer uniform with pride. He is friendly and personable but he also demands respect. He is Jerry Webster, Tahoka police chief and in March he celebrated his one year anniversary at the position, a job he received after having served on the force since November, 1987.

Webster has been a police officer for almost 17 years. He started serving the public after he completed four years in the Navy as an airplane electrician. His first job as a police officer came in Georgia where he had been stationed. It was his first job after leaving the service. Webster also served on the Lubbock police force for six and a half years.

Webster enjoys working in a smaller town as compared to Lubbock. "In Lubbock, there are a few things to be done all the time, but in Tahoka there is more time for public relations," says Webster. Another reason Webster enjoys Tahoka is he can become more involved in community matters such as dealing with children more frequently. "I'm not a big town kind of guy," says Webster, "I just like small towns."

As in many small towns, employment there can have its drawbacks, too. "There is more scrutiny," says Webster, "Everyone knows you and you know everyone." But this scrutiny, according to Webster is not the toughest part of working in a small city. "Trying to enforce all the laws in a small town is tough.

There is more leniency in a small town but you try to be fair," says Webster.

Webster says it is hard to arrest people in a small town because he knows everyone, but he has never had anyone get upset as a result of being arrested. He has, however, had a few people come back to him and apologize after being arrested.

The crime in Tahoka is not bad, according to Webster, but there was a time period where two to four burglaries would happen at one time. Webster arrested the culprits, however, and they went to the state penitentiary. Webster says since last December, only three burglaries have been reported.

Webster, 39, is in charge of three other officers on the Tahoka police force, in their mid to lower 20's. After becoming police chief, he began making changes in the force such as getting new supplies and equipment and even changing the uniforms to blue. Webster feels these changes have improved the morale within the department.

Webster says he enjoys working in Tahoka and has no plans to leave, but he would like to see Tahoka, which has a population near 3,200, grow to around 15,000 people. He doesn't want it getting any larger than that, however. "I just like small towns," says Webster.

Thefts, Accidents Investigated

Tahoka City Police investigated two thefts and two vehicle accidents during the last week.

H.B. McCord reported to police on Monday that during the weekend someone had stolen a license plate off a used Buick parked in the parking lot of McCord Motor Co., 1313 Lockwood.

Kim Ingle of Tahoka reported to police on Monday that someone had stolen a purse from her 1986 Ford while it was parked at 1901 N. 1st. Items reported missing included a brown billfold containing approximately $45 in cash, an AT&T calling card two sets of car keys.

Police investigated an accident on Friday at 2100 block of Main St. which involved a 1985 Buick driven by Mary Catherine Roberts of Tahoka and a 1985 Chevrolet driven by Amy Nicole Chandler of Tahoka. Miss Chandler and a passenger, Gabriel Joe Lopez of Tahoka, were treated at Lynn County Hospital for minor injuries and released.

Police also investigated an accident Saturday at the intersection of Main and N. 2nd involving a 1988

Ford pickup driven by Cruz Rivas III of Tahoka and a 1989 Chevrolet driven by Joe Clyde Hays of Tahoka. No injuries were reported.

In jail during the week one person for aggravated assault, and one charged with driving while intoxicated, no seat belt, no seat belt for child and speeding.

MILLER HONORED—J.T. Miller, left, was honored by the Tahoka Volunteer Fire Dept. Monday night, as he was presented a large plaque on which he can hang his helmet, and including a poem entitled "The Chief". The presentation was made by VFD President Tommy Botkin. Miller is leaving the department after 30 years of service, including 14 years as chief. (LYNN COUNTY NEWS PHOTO)

Miller Leaving Fire Dept. After 30 Years Of Service

His fellow members of Tahoka Volunteer Fire Dept. honored long-time Fire Chief J.T. Miller with a huge plaque presented to him at Monday evening's regular meeting of the firemen at Tahoka city hall.

Miller, who is a Lynn County commissioner and a farmer, gave up the job of fire chief about a year ago to his son, Steve—but remained on the department until the end of June. J.T. Miller has 30 years of service as a Tahoka volunteer fireman since joining the department in 1960, and he was chief for 14 years. His wife and other family members were present as the other members of the department applauded Miller for his record of service to the department and the community. Tommy Botkin, making the presentation, told Miller the department is retiring his number and giving Miller his helmet, which can hang on the plaque.

Referring to his 30 years on the department, Miller said "It's been good for me...I've learned a lot," and he added, "No two fires are ever alike."

He said he probably has answered about 3,000 fire calls during his time on the department. Asked about the most dangerous fire confronted, he mentioned a grain elevator fire several years ago in the northeast part of Tahoka. "There were some gasoline storage tanks—owned by Tom Cloe—just 17 feet away from the fire." He said firemen were painfully aware of the danger of a major explosion from the tanks as they fought the grain fire, but they stayed and fought the fire anyway. He said the truck was pulled so close to the fire that plastic covering on lights atop the truck melted.

Names of current members of the fire department were at the bottom of the plaque presented to Miller.

Former New Home Players In Star Basketball Game

In conjunction with Tarleton University, the City of Stephenville is sponsoring a 6-man Coaches Clinic and a 6-man All Star football game where 32 young men from all over the State will participate. In addition to the 6-man football game Saturday night, July 21, Stephenville will be the site of a boys and girls All Star basketball game that same weekend. The All Star basketball teams are from the schools which play 6-man football.

Joe Solorzano, son of Elpido and Lupe Solorzano of Wilson, and graduate of New Home high school, is one of only 22 basketball players from the state to be selected to participate in this All Star game. Joe made Honorable Mention All District his senior and junior years, was listed among Who's Who Among High School Students, was Student Council President his senior year, New Home Basketball King and F.H.A. Beau.

Also, Tobi Lane Timmons, daughter of Kenneth and Rhonda Timmons of New Home, is one of 22 girls basketball players from the state to be selected to participate in this All Star game. Tobi made Honorable Mention All District her first two years in high school and All District her junior and senior years. She had an average of 18 points per game.

The boys basketball game will be at 8 p.m. Friday night and the girls game will be at 3 p.m. on Saturday afternoon.

Several bogus yellow page directory companies are continuing to fool local businesses. One such company, American Telephone Directory Binder Company, doing business as Yellow Page Index has been ordered by a Kentucky District Court to Reimburse victims. Many of those victims are in Texas. Bogus yellow page companies send out solicitations for a listing in their directory that resembles an invoice. The "fingers do the walking" emblem and the term, "yellow pages" on the "invoices" cause people to believe that the mailing is from their local telephone yellow page company.

PASS UP FIREWORKS AT HOME

Everyone knows jumping out of windows can be dangerous and everyone keeps poisonous substances under lock and key (we hope). But what about fireworks? Many people ignore warnings and think they'll have some fun. Sometimes it's the last thing they ever do think.

If you want to celebrate the fourth in an explosive way, attend a public fireworks display rather than detonating your own. Fireworks aren't toys. Don't wait 'til it's too late to find this out. We value your health and do all we can to help you keep it. Please give us the chance.

Vintage John Deere Tractors To Be Exhibited July 23-26

More than 400 vintage John Deere two-cylinder tractors will be exhibited at the Waterloo, Iowa airport July 23-26 during Expo II, The World's Fair of John Deere Two-Cylinder Tractors and Equipment sponsored by Two-Cylinder Worldwide.

Expected to be the largest exhibition of two-cylinder tractors and vintage agricultural implements ever gathered, the world's fair also will feature new equipment exhibitions, appearances by Deere & Company chairman and chief executive officer,

Hans Becherer and local, state and national politicians. Two-cylinder club members from throughout the U.S. and world including Europe, Australia, and Canada will be in attendance.

In 1987, a similar event was held in Waterloo to commemorate John Deere's 150th anniversary. An estimated 100,000 visitors attended.

The John Deere two-cylinder tractor was manufactured by the company between 1918 and 1960. Often called "Johnny Poppers" or "Poppin' Johnnies" because of their distinguishable engine exhaust noise, the tractor was popular with farmers because of its unique horizontal two-cylinder engine design and low engine speed (as slow as 750 revolutions per minute).

Two-Cylinder Worldwide club was organized in 1984 by two former John Deere employees whose love of the two-cylinder tractor motivated them to contact other like-minded two-cylinder tractor fans around the country. Today, the club has more than 14,500 members in all 50 states and 20 countries.

The club is a non-profit organization offering its members a bi-monthly magazine, the privilege of placing free want ads, and special offers to purchase vintage Deere memorabilia. Also, for a small fee, the club undertakes intensive product research on two-cylinder tractors.

Those wanting to exhibit their two-cylinder tractors or antique equipment at the Expo and those wanting membership information should contact Two-Cylinder Worldwide, P.O. Box 2275, Waterloo, Iowa.

Wilson News

In a called meeting, the Wilson Board of Trustees visited with two candidates for the position of high school principle. The board voted to hire Jerry Massingill from Jueders. Massingill has 12 years experience as an administrator and will be moving to Wilson with his wife, Mary, and his two children. His daughter will be a senior and his son will be a freshman.

The Texas Education Agency recently notified Wilson School Superintendent David Williams that he had been selected as a member of the Texas School Improvement Initiative (TSII) Program for the 1990-91 school year.

The goal of the program is to improve the educational opportunities of every student in the state through the promotion of education standards of the highest quality at the campus and district levels.

Williams appointment as a TSII member completed a competitive application process. TEA stated that his involvement in the program would be an invaluable professional growth experience and that the Wilson students would benefit as well as a result of his successful participation.

The 1990 TSII summer training session for participants will be held on July 26-27 will include sessions on strategies for school improvement, planning and use of data, and parental and community involvement.

Crosby County Musical Drama Set For August

Tickets are now on sale for this year's performances of the original prairie drama - God's Country, a musical drama presented in Crosby County's Blanco Canyon Amphitheater.

On the evenings of August 2-4 and 9-11, the Blanco Canyon Amphitheater 45 miles east of Lubbock comes alive with the stories of its early history. From Indians to the cowboys, from newspapermen to the prairie children, their stories are told in this original prairie drama.

The Blanco Canyon Amphitheater is an outdoor theater designed, built and maintained by volunteers. There are 700-plus reserved seats on permanent benches. Ticket holders are welcome to bring stadium seats for additional comfort.

Groups are welcome but advance planning is required since seating is limited and performances are almost always sellouts. Special seating areas have also been set aside for handicapped visitors. Tickets are $6.50 each and may be purchased by mail. For more information call 806-675-2906 or write P.O. Box 386, Crosbyton, Texas 79322.

DAN'S PICKUP SALVAGE & ACCESSORIES

Larry Dillon, Manager

For the best in pickup parts and accessories we suggest you trade with Dan's Pickup Salvage & Accessories, located at FM 179 and Brownfield Hwy. in Wolforth, Phone 866-2039. Many do not realize the value of a wrecking concern to the community. They will pay the highest price for your old worn pickup or one that has been in a wreck. Let them take it to their place of business where they will start working on it. Bolts and rivets are cut; good parts such as fenders, engines in running order, etc., are segregated and the rest placed on a scrap heap to be sold for junk. Many dollars may be saved in parts if purchased at Dan's Pickup Salvage & Accessories. All their employees are familiar with pickup trucks and are courteous and accommodating. In compiling this 1990 Review we wish to take this opportunity to recommend this firm to the people of our area. See them for parts, or whenever you want to sell a pickup that is no longer in running condition.

Your HEALTH TIP

COLA vs MILK
The years of childhood and adolescence are the now-or-never years to build strong teeth and bones. Adequate calcium in the diet is an absolute necessity. Why is it then that so many youngsters are drinking colas (no calcium) rather than milk (the calcium food)? Osteoporosis (weak bones), poor teeth, and other body deficiencies may well be the result in later years of sodas replacing milk.

Steve Miller Follows Father As Tahoka Fire Chief

By BRIAN MAYES
Texas Tech Journalism Student

Many men follow in the footsteps of their fathers, and Steve Miller of Tahoka is no exception. Miller has been the fire chief of the Tahoka fire department for one year, a position his father, J.T. Miller held for 30 years.

Miller joined the fire department after he graduated from Tahoka High School 17 years ago. After working in the department for 10 years, Miller became the assistant fire chief, serving under his father. Miller received the fire chief position after he had served under his father for six years.

Miller, who is also a farmer in Tahoka, enjoys his work in the department because he says it is a job that needs to be done in the community. By serving in the department, Miller says this is his way of helping his fellow citizens.

The volunteer fire department, 20 members strong, meets the first and third Monday of the month to discuss the events of the last two weeks and what will be done during the next two. They also discuss how to improve their fire fighting skills.

Lester C. Irwin

Services for Lester Craft Irwin, 71, of Carlsbad, N.M., were held at 10 a.m. June 27th at West Funeral Home Chapel. He died at 9 a.m. on June 25 at Lakeview Christian Home-Northgate in Carlsbad.

He was born April 15, 1919 in Antlers, OK. He attended school in Texas. He drove a truck and retired in Sept. 1984 after a 36 year career with Salt Supply and United Salt.

He received a medal for saving three passengers from a burning car and was nominated for the Hobbs Knight of the Road Award. He attended the Fox and Walnut St. Church of God.

Survivors include his wife Lula Mae; one daughter, Dorothy Burns of Paris, Texas; three brothers, D.L. Irwin of Snyder, Texas, G.W. Irwin of Salt Lake City, Utah, V.R. Irwin of Oklahoma City; three sisters Mrs. Clyde (Eddie) Offutt of Sweethome, Ore., Mrs. Fletcher (Geneva) Smith of Carlsbad, and Mrs. Charles (Gertrude) Potts of Tahoka; three grandchildren and one great grandchild.

SELF-CARE PROGRAMS FOR SCHOOL AGE CHILDREN

Growing concern about the welfare of "latchkey" children, those children between the ages of 5 and 13 who are regularly left alone or in the care of an underage sibling when not in school, has led to an increase in programs designed to assist children in acquiring "self-care" skills. Self-care programs for children and parents typically focus on three broad issues: self-care knowledge, self-care behaviors, and emotional well-being.

Self-care knowledge programs generally address personal safety issues, such as safekeeping of the house key; handling encounters with strangers at the door; coping with fire, inclement weather, and other emergencies; preparing nutritious snacks; and basic first aid. Self-care programs may also provide information about time management, sibling care, nutrition, and dealing with loneliness, fear, and boredom.

Programs addressing self-care behaviors focus on teaching children how to handle specific problems or situations they might encounter. Since schoolage children learn best by being actively involved, programs which hope to assist children in acquiring safety skills and practices should involve "hands-on" or concrete experiences. Learning how and practicing how to unlock the door with the key, safe ways of answering the phone or the door, how to use the microwave, and how to reach emergency help are skills that latchkey children need.

All children need to acquire the necessary skills to be on their own, but this doesn't mean that children are ready for self-care on a regular, on-going basis. Before adopting self-care, parents should be sure their child is ready for this step. Information on how to assess the child's readiness for self-care, tips for parents in establishing house rules, and guidelines for making self-care a safe child care option can be obtained from the local county Extension office.

KEEPING IT IN FAMILY—J.T. Miller, left, stepped down from the job of Tahoka Fire Chief last year and handed the job over to his son, Steve, right. (LYNN COUNTY NEWS PHOTO)

Miller says the 20 members of the fire department are a diverse group of many occupations and ages. The youngest member serving is only 22. Many men in the Tahoka community have served in the department, and Miller says changes are occurring constantly. "Some of our members retire and their spot just gets replaced," says Miller.

Working in a small fire department such as Tahoka's is anything but monotonous as Miller says they might fight as many as three to four fires in one day, but there have also been times where they answer only one fire alarm in a week. According to Miller, the average number of fires in a year ranges from 80 to 100. During one busy year, they battled 120 fires.

The department's duties are not strictly limited to Tahoka. They fight fires in other Lynn County towns such as O'Donnell and New Home and outside city limits. On these occasions they are assisting other volunteer departments from these cities.

Miller recalls "a couple of winters ago" when a shopping center in O'Donnell caught fire and the volunteer fire departments from Lamesa, O'Donnell and Tahoka were called upon to help battle the blaze. Miller said it was the biggest fire he has had to battle, as the fire took three fire crews six hours to extinguish and it destroyed a half block of the city.

The Tahoka volunteer fire department doesn't rescue many cats from the tops of trees but it does help the smaller cities outside of the reach of the bigger cities.

Miller enjoys his work; and with his 17 years of experience, the people of Tahoka can sleep easily at night.
