

Confession Clears 7 Burglaries In County

A Lubbock man charged with burglaries in at least three South Plains counties accompanied deputies to places in Lynn County where he admitted to burglaries in November and December, and he was to be charged in Lynn County Wednesday. Lynn County sheriff's department said seven burglaries in the county have been cleared by suspect's admissions.

Enrique Gonzales Barrera, 33, has been charged with burglary of a habitation, reportedly giving Lynn County officers details of how he burglarized the following homes in the county:

The residence of Mrs. C.A. Wied, Rt. 1, Wilson, on Nov. 3, 1990.

Chad Ford residence, two miles northeast of New Home, about Nov. 24.

John Jacobs home, FM 211 just west of U.S. 87, on Nov. 27.

Nancy Kohler home, two miles north of FM 211 and east of U.S. 87, on Dec. 1.

Mrs. Robert Nolte home, four miles north of New Home, on Dec. 3.

Thomas Hamman home, four miles northwest of New Home, Dec. 10.

Robert Harvick home, seven miles northeast of Tahoka on FM 400, Dec. 18 or 19.

A deputy said more Lynn County burglaries may be cleared before the investigation is finished. He also said five Hockley County burglaries had been cleared by the same suspect.

In other activity by law enforcement officers in the county during the week, two accidents were investigated and a farm house burglary near Wilson was reported.

Tommy Jack Taylor of Slaton reported the farm house 3.5 miles east of Wilson on FM 211 burglary

Tahoka police investigated an accident on Friday at 1800 Ave. N which involved a 1973 Oldsmobile driven by Loretta C. Jones of Tahoka and a parked 1983 Ford pickup owned by Hector Saldana of Tahoka. No injuries were reported in this accident or in a one-vehicle rollover investigated by Dept. of Public Safety officers about 7:15 a.m. Monday on U.S. 84 near Southland.

County Stock Show Begins

Steers and lambs will be judged this evening (Thursday) as the annual Lynn County Livestock Show gets into full swing after weighing of steers, lambs and barrows Wednesday and this morning. Show workers said 380 animals are to be judged in the annual show, plus judging of baked goods.

All activities will be at the Lynn County show barn in South Tahoka.

Judging of approximately 25 steers will begin at 6 p.m. today, with judging of the anticipated 100 lambs just inside Lynn County. According to the officer's report, a 1989 Chevrolet pickup driven by Jerry Earl Coplen, 20, of Aspermont, skidded on the icy road and rolled three times.

In jail during the week were two persons for terroristic threats and disorderly conduct and one each for driving while intoxicated, first offense, DWI second offense, and disorderly conduct.

to follow 30 minutes after the steer judging. Steers and lambs will be judged by John Kearney, Sterling City agriculture teacher.

Jim McManigal of Happy will be judge for the gigantic barrow show, expected to attract 260 entries, starting at 9 a.m. Friday. A Pee Wee barrow show for youngsters under third grade level and no older than 9 will follow the regular barrow show judging by a half hour.

Baked goods also will be judged Friday, starting at 9 a.m.

The annual barbecue and sale will be on Saturday. The barbecue will be served starting at 11:30 a.m. and will continue for more than an hour. The auction sale and presentation of awards to the winners will begin at 1 p.m.

Special awards will be presented to those showing grand and reserve grand champions, and there also will be showmanship awards.

The auction is a big event for the young exhibitors, and they really appreciate the interest shown in them by the people in the four communities in the county," said Joel Inklebarger, president of this year's show. "We would strongly urge everyone to come out to the show and demonstrate support for the youngsters."

Farm Program Meetings Set

Several meetings have been scheduled in the county to discuss the 1991 Farm Program. Jimmy Woodard from the local ASCS office and Jon Weddle from the local SCS office will be conducting the meetings. Examples and handouts will be available at each meeting. Questions from the producers are encouraged.

Meetings are set Monday, Jan. 28, at the O'Donnell School Cafeteria and Thursday, Jan. 31, at the New Home School Cafeteria. Both meetings will begin at 7 p.m.

Local Families Anxious About Military Relatives In Saudi Arabia

by JUANELL JONES

Lynn County residents have been monitoring closely the news of military action in the Persian Gulf with anxious and fearful hearts this week, with most conceding that President George Bush had no other options than to use military force in the liberation of Kuwait. Without exception, however, the parents of these military sons and daughters who are in Saudi Arabia are struggling to maintain a normal life as they hear the reports of bombings and fear for the lives of their loved ones.

The Lynn County News has no estimate of how many servicemen and women from Lynn County are involved in the war zone, but this week has spoken to several families who have children and grandchildren serving in the U.S. military forces in the Persian Gulf. Of the six families interviewed, only one has heard from their son since the war began on Jan. 16, and his phone call home was greeted with much relief and gratitude.

Malcolm Chancy, an Army infantry man and son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Chancy of Tahoka, called his parents Sunday, Jan. 20 from Saudi Arabia. "It had been about ten days before all this (the war) happened since we had heard from him," said his father. "We were very relieved to hear from him, and it made us feel a lot better," he added. Their son was deployed to Saudi Arabia on Dec. 27, 1990.

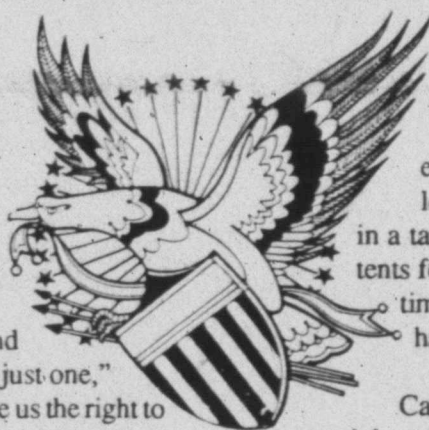

Chancy said his son reported that he was in a tent with about 60 telephones, all busy, with people standing around waiting their turn to call home. "All the boys in the service were issued an AT&T phone card, I guess by the Army, and the calls were free," said Chancy. "I think Malcolm is in the southern end of Saudi Arabia, based on what little information we've had. Of course, he can't say where he is, and he could be moved at any time."

Chancy and his wife, Frances, have been watching the television news coverage of the events since Pres. Bush's ultimatum deadline of Jan. 15, and have mixed emotions about American involvement in the Persian Gulf crisis. "I feel that giving Saddam Kuwait would be like giving Bonnie and Clyde a bank, and thinking they would be happy with just one," said Chancy. "I don't know who gave us the right to police this situation, but somebody had to stop him, or there would be no end to it."

Reno Riddle of Tahoka feels much the same. "Under the circumstances, I don't think we could have done anything else. I and my family back the president all the way," she said. "I'm glad they got a good start, but I think it's far from over," she added. She and her husband, Archie, have five grandchildren in the military, with one of them now in the war zone and the others on standby status. Daren Flippo is in an Army tank division in Saudi Arabia, and his grandparents are anxious for good news from him.

Claudia Flippin of Tahoka also has mixed emotions about U.S. involvement in the Persian Gulf crisis. Her son, Jim Cawman, is a sergeant in the Army with a tank crew in Saudi Arabia, and he feels he and his men are in a worthwhile endeavor. "I'm not so sure that I agree with what President Bush has done, but if they feel like they're doing the right thing, then I certainly am behind them," said Mrs. Flippin.

She reported that her son left for Saudi Arabia last September, and told her then that he would probably be gone for about a year and a half. "He told me that he didn't expect the war to last very long, but that military troops would be needed to patrol the borders and keep them open," explained Mrs. Flippin. "In his letters to me, he said that he slept in a tank for a while, before they had tents for living quarters. In their spare time, his division built a new mess hall for their group," she added.

"Don't worry about me," Sgt. Cawman told his mother. "I know my job and all of my men know their job," he said. His wife, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Green of Tahoka, lives in Ft. Hood. "I haven't heard from Jim since the war started, and I feel sure that if his wife had heard from him she would let me know," said Mrs. Flippin.

"I don't particularly like the TV news (of the war)," said Mrs. Flippin. "I like seeing the progress we are making, but I don't like to know they are bombing Saudi Arabia," she added, echoing the fears of all the mothers The News spoke to this week.

Mercy Tejada has a son in the Navy in the war zone, and she said, "The first night (of reports of war) we didn't even eat supper. We just sat in front of the TV and watched the reports." She and her husband Rudy live in Tahoka, and their son Tommy was a graduate of Tahoka High School. He is now a signal man in the Navy on the USS Mobile, which is currently involved in the military action in the Persian Gulf.

"The last time we heard from Tommy was on Dec. 20, when he was in the Philippines and said he was leaving for Saudi Arabia," said Mrs. Tejada. "He left on Dec. 3 to go to Saudi Arabia, and went by way of Hawaii and the Philippines. We don't know where he is or how he is doing," she added.

"I don't like to see all that on TV, but I'm afraid to see it and afraid not to. If I watch I might see him and see that he is okay," added the anxious mother. "He told me he had to go and that it was his job. He said it was better for him to go than these young kids (Tommy is 31). He said some of the boys on his ship did not want to go, but then he said, 'I'm going to go. I want you to be proud of your son,'" she explained.

"I'm trying to be brave. We are staying home a lot now so we will be here if he gets a chance to call," said his mother. "We've been sending letters and things, but the mail takes so long. I'm proud he's over there, and he's doing his job. I'm praying every day, not only for my son, but for everybody there," she said. "I'm hoping everything turns out for the best," she concluded.

In O'Donnell, the family of Air Force nurse Minerva Mecalco is anxious to hear from their 26-year-old daughter, who has been in Saudi Arabia since early August. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mecalco received a call from their daughter on Thanksgiving Day, and again about nine days before war began. "She was for it (the war)," said Mrs. Mecalco. "I'm a hundred percent behind President Bush, and I feel he knows what he's doing," she added, "but it's hard for us who have loved ones over there."

Mrs. Mecalco is having a hard time with her emotions since the war began. "I feel sick, and I can't stand it, watching the TV," she said. "I have headaches, am depressed, and can't sleep at night. Me and my husband stay up late and watch the news until we get tired, then toss and turn in bed," she said. "I would feel much better if I could just talk to her, see if she's afraid and how she is doing. I'm staying close to the phone and I don't want to go out, afraid I'll miss her," added the worried mother.

She said that her daughter has been in the Air Force for eight years, and that next month she had planned to get out and go to college. "This town has been real supportive to us," said Mrs. Mecalco. "It's a nice feeling you get when other people care," she added with gratitude. "Even the school kids in Tahoka wrote letters to her," she said. "Everyone has been so good to us, and that helps."

Another mother in Tahoka is also having a difficult time dealing with her emotions. Mrs. John (Janie) Antu says she is "going crazy with worry" but trying to be strong. Their 25-year-old son, Jimmy, is a sergeant in the Army with a tank division in Saudi Arabia. He has been in the Army for six years, and was deployed to the Gulf area last October.

Sgt. Antu told his mother, "I'm not that scared, and I don't want you to worry. I'm doing this for my country and for my family." He has a wife and two children at Ft. Hood, and told them he was ready to come home, but didn't know when, and that he hoped to see them all soon.

"All my girls keep telling me not to watch the TV news, because I feel so bad," said Mrs. Antu. "But I want to know what is going on. They tell me, 'You have to be strong for when he comes home,'" she added. "I'm just praying that nothing will happen to him."

During a war, faith and fear seem to go hand in hand. For the people in Lynn County who are worried about their military family far from home, faith and hope and the support of friends here is what is sustaining them during these early days of the war. In the uncertainty of the days ahead, as America watches and waits for news of military action, these families will need much more support from their friends in Lynn County—and in the small communities of this county, there has been much evidence of that support.

President Bush has called for "a new world order" in this Gulf crisis. In Lynn County, perhaps this could be a beginning, as the communities bind together in faith and concern in support of their loved ones far from home.

(Note: After this story was written, Mr. and Mrs. Antu received a call from their son Jimmy on Tuesday, Jan. 22. He reported that he was fine, and had not seen any ground fighting yet.)

MONITORING THE GULF WAR - Pat Green and Danny Preston watch television news coverage of the Gulf War on Thursday, Jan. 16 at the Farm Bureau office. Many county residents carried television sets or radios to their place of business to monitor the early hours of military action in Iraq. Green has a son-in-law in the service in Saudi Arabia, and Preston has a cousin in the military.

Science Project Pays Off For O'Donnell Students

Five O'Donnell students learned Tuesday that their environmental project had made the team one of five finalists in a national science competition which will bring each student at least $1000 and could mean $10,000 each if they should win the national event.

The project, directed by science teacher Betty Stennett of Tahoka is "The Use of Polymers as a Possible Containment of Landfills," exploring the use of synthetic compounds as a way to combat groundwater contamination.

The students investigated the ability of two polymers to bond and solidify with fluids such as water or hydrocarbons to prevent contaminants from getting into groundwater.

The five students, who have worked on the project since September, are Jon Hogg, Kristy Russ, Joe Sanchez, Brandi Barton and Lea Bessire. Earlier in January, the project qualified the students as one of 25 regional finalists in competition sponsored by Seiko. About 1,200 high schools across the nation had applied.

The students and their teacher will fly to New York on Feb. 6, with Seiko paying the fare, and will stay at the New York Hilton Hotel. There will be an awards banquet and three-day tour of the city. Even if they don't win the national event, each student will get $1,000 and the school a like amount. If they win, the amounts will be $10,000 each.

Mrs. Stennett said the competition representative who called Tuesday was surprised that O'Donnell has only 118 students in school. The other schools remaining in the competition, all from the northeast U.S., have 3,000 to 5,000 students.

ANYWAY, IT WAS FUN—Some volunteer basketball players, mostly members of the sponsoring Lynn County Jaycees, tested the talented comedy team of Magicians in a game at Tahoka gymnasium last week. The man with the ball is famed Magician Marques Haynes. Tahoka players here include Steve Sanders and Cal Huffaker.

Saturday Morning Event To Honor Margie Jester

Margie Jester will be honored on her upcoming retirement from the staff of Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber Co. in Tahoka by a reception from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. Saturday at the lumber company.

Manager Jimmy Huckabey invited friends of Mrs. Jester to come by any time during those hours and have refreshments and help celebrate her retirement, which will be on Jan. 31.

Priority In Concert At First Baptist Sunday, Jan. 27

Priority, a Southern Baptist Gospel singing group, will be in concert at the First Baptist Church of Tahoka, Sunday, Jan. 27, at 7 p.m. The group will be leading in the morning worship service and then during the evening worship service, they will present a concert.

In 1989 Priority received a Dove Award nomination for having one of the best Southern Gospel recordings of the year. In 1989 the group received the Singing News' Fan Awards nomination as "Best New Group of the Year".

In April, 1990, Priority was hired as Southern Gospel group for Silver Dollar City, in Branson, Mo. Only the third full-time gospel group to be hired to minister through song in a secular theme park. Priority touches the lives of over a million and a half people a year, who otherwise would not be exposed to the Gospel of Good News.

One of the most rewarding aspects about Priority's ministry, is the opportunity to minister to churches and communities all across the nation, during the off-season. This fulfills the calling of Priority to minister, full-time, the kingdom of God.

Priority includes Brian Rose, singing bass, Scott Crawley, singing baritone, Dale Forbes, singing lead, Terry Edwards, singing tenor part and Brian Yandell on the piano.

In July, 1989, Priority led the music for a revival that was held at First Baptist Church.

Everyone is invited to attend.

Jennifer Ehlers - E.D. McClendon Jr. To Be Married In Tahoka March 2

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Ehlers of Tahoka announce the engagement of their daughter, Jennifer, to E.D. McClendon Jr., son of Mrs. Pat McClendon of Garland.

The couple will marry March 2, 1991 at 7 p.m. at First United Methodist Church in Tahoka.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Texas Tech University. The prospective bridegroom is a graduate of Sam Houston State University.

Friends and family are invited to attend the wedding and reception.

Youth Basketball Sign-Ups Set

Tahoka Youth Basketball will hold sign-ups Sunday, Feb. 3, from 2 to 4 p.m. and again on Thursday, Feb. 7 from 6 to 8 p.m. Both sign-ups will be held at the Lyntegar meeting room on the backside of Lyntegar Cooperative, 1807 Main.

All boys and girls who are eight years old by Sept. 1, 1991, and not older than 13 by Sept. 1, 1991, are eligible to play. At least one parent must accompany the child for sign-up and bring verification of date of birth. A fee of $10 will be required for each child playing.

Any adult interested in helping with coaching, refereeing, or score-keeping may sign up then or call Cheryl Krey at 998-5472.

Practices are scheduled to begin Feb. 18 with games being played the following week.

The Tahoka Garden Club met Jan. 15 at 9:30 a.m. in the home of Lavell Crain, Brownfield, with Betty Marett as co-hostess. The meeting was opened by the president, Clifford Tankersley, with the Pledge of Allegiance to the National and Texas flags, led by Lahruie Tippit. The Gardener's Prayer was given by Mildred Abbe.

Program was "Wings Over My Garden". Freddie Tatum introduced the speaker, Mr. Bill Cope of Brownfield, who gave an interesting resume on birds. He started by giving a test on birds which turned out to be very informative. Mr. Cope had been interested in birds since early childhood because his mother enjoyed birdwatching.

He told about many different kinds of birds and their migration habits. Birds also moved from one area to another for various reasons, example, when trees were cleared out birds moved on. It was interesting about the King birds in the eastern United States and western United States, although they have the same habits, they never change locations.

The study of birds and bird watching is very interesting and enjoyed by many people. Mr. Cope said gardening was the most important hobby in the United States today and bird watching was second in importance. To attract birds put out water and feed but he said water was most important. A good book to get for bird study is Birds of North America, Golden- by Simpson.

In the business meeting roll call was answered by telling "my favorite bird". There was a brief discussion about the bird feeder, it's location at the Tahoka Care Center, to be decided by the committee. We hope to get the wild flowers planted soon at the memorial garden. For the artistic display "Beauty of the Birds", Betty Marett made three beautiful arrangements. Meeting closed with seven members and one visitor present. The group enjoyed eating at the XYZ Club.

Broadcast Of 1990 Farm Bill Set Today

Agricultural producers from Lynn and Garza counties are invited to participate in a live, satellite broadcast detailing the 1990 Farm Bill today (Thursday) from 7 to 8 p.m. in the Lynn County Farm Bureau office. The program is sponsored by Texas Farm Bureau.

Charlie Cunningham and Brad Kareem, both of the USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, will explain provisions and options of the new cotton, wheat, feed grains and rice programs.

Agricultural producers and leaders will also have the opportunity to ask specific questions via a toll-free telephone number.

"This is the first time a state Farm Bureau has attempted such a broadcast," said Steve Pringle, TFB National Affairs Director. "It will give farmers and ranchers in Texas an opportunity to hear first-hand an overview of the new farm bill and how it applies to their own situation."

Senior Citizens Mexican Supper Is Successful

The Mexican food supper held Jan. 19 was a big success. There are too many to thank each one, but special thanks is given to Ruby Grogan, Cal Huffaker, the Merry Mixers, all the merchants who donated door prizes or money, the 4-H kids for selling tickets and the FHA girls for helping with the supper. A big thanks to all the volunteers.

There was no party Monday night because it was too cold to get out. On Friday afternoon, everyone is invited to come and play Bingo starting at 1 p.m.

Tuesday Bridge

In the Jan. 15th Duplicate Bridge game the winners were: North-South; 1st, Lottie Walker and Auda Norman; 2nd, Carol Maule and James McAllister; 3rd, Ruby Miller and Marge Maddox. East-West; 1st, Edie Norris and Bitsie Wells; 2nd, Al

Postar and Genny Cole; 3rd, Mac Edwards and Jeannie Morris.

Letters To Wife, Formerly Of Tahoka, Describe Military Life In Saudi Arabia

(The following letter was written by Vivian Short Bruns, Ludwigsburg, Germany, wife of Lt. Col. Larry D. Bruns, who was called to Saudi Arabia on Dec. 18. Vivian and their two sons stayed in Germany, as did most other overseas families, during the deployment of their service-related spouses. Vivian is the daughter of E.L. and Dink Short of Tahoka.)

(Being the battalion commander's wife makes Vivian the senior wife, with many duties and responsibilities as are detailed in her letter.)

Dear Ones,
I will try to write often enough to keep you abreast of Larry and his deployment as I know his time to write to all of us is limited. His battalion has moved out of the vulnerable port of Dhahran where they landed and picked up their equipment. They will be about 300 miles from Dhahran. He had to convoy a few vehicles and people at a time to the site.
He reports that the land is much like our sandy land but a little tighter. Right now, the temperatures are nice during the day but that they have to put on their sweaters by 4 p.m. He isn't sure what the difference will be when they get out in the desert. He wrote to the boys that the water in the gulf is deep blue and so clear that one can see the fish and marine life 8 to 10 feet down.
Try to remember that some information that I write is a combination of what he has written before the 30th of December and what I have been able to find out from the rear detachment people.

In his third letter, Larry described a sandstorm that he thought was directly from West Texas. He and his driver have each other to talk to on their tour of the area. They have certainly noticed the lack of females out and about. The culture allows little girls around 10 out to play, etc. The buses have separate compartments with blinds. The Saudis tend to be friendly and seem to understand why the U.S. and allies are there.
Now for a really neat story. Hopefully, Larry will relate more of these to us in the future. Larry, his driver, a Maj. and a female soldier went to recon the field site. They had to coordinate with the owner of the land (Mr. Ali). The driver always has to stay with the vehicle but the others were invited to tea. His house was a huge two-story sprawling mansion. However, after they entered the courtyard, were led to a tent. The tent was made of sheep's wool and looked like the ones in the movies.

The floors were covered with thick rugs with a small cinderblock fire pit with two pieces of mesquite wood burning in it. There was also a long table down the middle. The Major, Larry and the female soldier were asked to enter very formally. Mr. Ali, his brother and several of their sons, (age 25 to 3) were in the tent. They drank a number of teas ranging from very bitter to very sweet. They were given fresh figs and dates to eat. The Saudis asked if they had sons and were impressed when Larry and the Major "only" had sons. Mr. Ali looks like an older Omar Sharif, with a quiet nature, and spoke excellent English. He engaged them in conversation about everything from the equipment to the differences between East and West Germany. After three hours the female soldier was essentially dismissed, with an invitation to see the house. After she left the tone of the conversation changed and they really got down to the business at hand. They had a few feathers to smooth as Larry's Col. Smith had upset the host on a few points. After a total of four hours, they were allowed to leave.

(Lt. Bruns' driver is Sgt. Charles Roberts, who is the nephew of Mrs. Junior Meeks of Tahoka. (The Shorts also have another son-in-law in the Middle East. Lt. Merle L. Kirkpatrick is stationed aboard the USS Vulcan in the war zone. Merle is the husband of Patti Short Kulpatrik, who lives with their two children in Virginia Beach, VA.)

The desert around their field site is different from the coast. It is flatter and objects are easily detected up to 15 miles away. Larry likens the numbers of camels to cattle in Texas as they are widespread over the countryside.

A curfew has been implemented here in Germany, as well as ID checks, car and school bus inspections on and around all the military housing areas and posts. The middle and high school kids are now required to carry two forms of ID on them.
The boys will be going skiing again in February and they would like to go during the spring break.
I have stayed so busy trying to put together an emergency and information telephone tree for the 137 plus spouses left here, that I've hardly done anything else. Finally, I think we have it done. We may have to add a few work phone numbers but that's it. I think the phone is going to grow to my ear. The problems that may have stem from being so dependent on their husbands for everything. Some of these women just don't know how to do for themselves.

I guess the biggest problem for many is dealing with the isolation of being alone in a foreign country. Medical, lack of transportation, and money are really easily solved problems because these are tangible things.
I really have no more for now. I appreciate all of you keeping in contact with the boys and me. We are really very safe and have all of the things we need. We have tightened up on where we go and other basic security precautions. Remember that our phone is most certainly tapped and so there will be things that you ask that I just can't talk about.
Love to all,
Vivian

Bulldogs Beat Rabbits, Eye New District Round

The Tahoka Bulldogs wound up the first half of district play with a 76-44 win over Ralls Tuesday night, giving the Dogs a record of 4-3 in the first half and giving them reason to look forward to the second half of district action starting Friday. One of Coach Hulon Kirkland's players, Brandon Cate, said after the Ralls game, "If we keep working together and playing well, we'll win the next round." After Tuesday night the Dogs are 13-9 for the season. Leading scoring against Ralls was Mike Burleson with 16; Bruce Burleson had 13, Joe Hays 12 and Aaron McCleskey 10. McCleskey led rebounds with 9; Hays had four assists and he and Bruce Burleson had 5 steals each.

Tahoka's varsity boys lost a tough game against the district's second place team, Crosbyton, 63-60 on Jan. 18.
"We played real well but we should have won," said Bruce Burleson. "They are no better than we are; we'll get them next time."
Burleson led scoring for the Bulldogs in that game with 34 big points. Mike Burleson was the only other player in double figures, with 18. Nance added 5, Aaron McCleskey 2 and Lee Elder 1. McCleskey led rebounding with 6 and also tied Joey Stone for the lead in steals with 4.
The Bulldogs had a big win against Post Jan. 15, coming out on top 81-49, as Mike Burleson led scoring with 23 points. Also in double figures were Bruce Burleson with 17 and Brandon Cate with 11. Nance, McCleskey and Billy Wilborn had 6 each; others scoring were Stone, Elder, Daniel Garvin and Chris Carter.
Leading rebounding was Nance with 12; Cate led assists with 5; and Mike Burleson had 6 steals.
Tahoka's varsity girls scored only 6 points in the first quarter against Ralls Tuesday night, and lost the game 51-41, although they scored well in the last two periods. Chasity Hood scored 27 points in the game.
The varsity girls lost Jan. 18 by a score of 72-45 to the Chiefettes, who are unbeaten in district play. Hood had 20 points and Lana Parker 12 in the losing effort.

The Lady Bulldogs also lost to Post here on Jan. 15, by a single point, 44-43. Hood had 16 points, and Tasha Lawson had five 3-point shots for 15 points. Betsy Huffaker scored 7, Jennie Wells 3 and Marla Wright and Jay Jay Wiseman 2 each.
The freshman girls team went to Post Jan. 21 and just fell short, 32-25.

"The freshmen played a great game," said Coach Steve Qualls. "They executed the offense and defense well. Again, the only thing keeping us from winning is our shots that aren't falling."
High point girl for Tahoka was Katy Copeland with 8. Renae Williams had 6, and also scoring were Miranda Martin, Cindy Ramirez and Jennifer Patterson.
The 8th grade boys doubled their win total and now are 2-9 after beating Post 25-21. High scorer for the Bullpups was Greg Smith with 11. Wesley Solomon had 8; Conner Krey 4 and Drew Stone 2.
The 8th grade girls toppled the Post Antelopes 24-19 on Jan. 21, as Katy Huffaker put 19 points through the hoop. Other scorers for Tahoka included Stephanie Stennett, Jamie Riojas and Susan Draper.
Post 7th grade girls beat Tahoka 16-9 on Jan. 21. Scoring for Tahoka were J'lyn Williams with 5 and Sara Prince with 4.
Tahoka's 7th grade boys also lost to Post, 22-17, leaving the young Bulldogs 0-9 for the season. Scoring for Tahoka were Shawn Brewer, David Garvin, Clay Taylor and Stephen Rodriguez.

THIS IS JAYCEE WEEK—Mayor Jim Solomon signs a proclamation designating Jan. 20-26 Jaycee Week in Tahoka, in keeping with the observance of National Junior Chamber of Commerce Week marking the founding of the organization in 1920, and urging "all citizens of our community to give full regard to the past and continuing service of the Lynn County Jaycees." The proclamation cited the "contribution of the Lynn County Jaycees to the betterment of this community through ... such programs as the Secret Santa program, Cowboy Christmas Gala, Tahoka Cares and Concert in the Park." Looking on as the mayor signed the proclamation are Jaycees members Carla Brown, Cal Huffaker and Joe Calvillo. (LYNN COUNTY NEWS PHOTO)

SENIORS WATCH NEWS OF WAR - The senior government class of Mrs. Julie Scarbrough at Tahoka High School have kept folders on the activities concerning Saudi Arabia since the beginning of school. The day after war began, the class watched television news coverage in the school library, and discussed military actions.

EVEN CHILDREN INTERESTED IN WAR - The second grade class of Miss Tracy McCracken were interested in the news coverage of the Gulf War, and listened to their teacher as she tried to explain what was going on. Students feared that bombs would be dropped on them in Tahoka, but she calmed their fears.

Tahoka Youth Support Pres. Bush, War Effort

By JUANELL JONES

"You have never had a war in your lifetime. Now you see what it's like when diplomacy fails." These were the words of Mrs. Julie Scarbrough to the students in her government class at Tahoka High School last Thursday, the day after war commenced in the Persian Gulf. Mrs. Scarbrough's class of about 20 senior students was gathered in the school library to watch television news coverage of the event, and to discuss the actions of the U.S. military and allied forces against Iraq.

The class was in total support of President George Bush and the American effort to liberate Kuwait. "My students have kept folders with information on the Saudi crisis since the beginning of school," said Mrs. Scarbrough. "They are all well aware of everything that is going on," she added. The students did, in fact, show great interest and concern about the Gulf War, and watched the news coverage intently during class, as many said they had done on the previous night at home.

Americans, and many other nations throughout the world, are monitoring the war closely, and this interest is not limited to the adults only. Students, from high school and down through the elementary classes, are showing great interest in the events of the past week. Teachers at Tahoka ISD have reported their students' immense interest in the Gulf War, and even elementary students have shown that they know what is going on.

"It amazes me that these kids know so much. They know where Iraq is, and who Saddam Hussein is, and that American air strikes are taking place. Even some of the kindergarten students are aware of what is going on," said Tracy McCracken, second grade teacher at Tahoka Elementary. She said her students asked lots of questions about the war, with many of them concerned that bombs would be dropped on them here in the United States. "I have tried to explain to them how very far away all of this is taking place," said Miss McCracken, "but television brings it so close to home. Also, some of these kids have family members involved (in the war) and that makes it more real to them."

The students in Mrs. Scarbrough's government class also asked their teacher if she thought this could turn into World War III, to which she replied a quick, decisive "no". Other students were concerned that Russia could become an ally to Iraq, and there were other intelligent concerns as well. Some of the male students in her class were already planning to join the military as soon as they graduated from high school this year, and several class members have family members in the armed forces in the Persian Gulf.

One student, who has signed up with the military, says he leaves for training two days after graduation. "I'm ready to go. If they want to send me to the Persian Gulf, then I'm ready. I think we are doing the right thing, and if I can help win the war, then I'll do anything I can."

Students in Mrs. Scarbrough's class have had the opportunity to listen to veterans of other wars, in particular those who had combat experience. "Every one of the speakers in our class had given their opinion on military strategy," said Mrs. Scarbrough. "All of them said, in effect, the same thing, that an air strike followed by other strategies would be the best offensive plan. It was just like being given a road map - it is exactly how this war is being conducted," she added.

Patriotism seldom has more meaning than during a time of war. In the senior government class, students were quick to say they all were in total support of President Bush. As part of their class assignment, Mrs. Scarbrough asked her students to write down some of their impressions and feelings about the war, and some of these are reprinted as follows.

"There hasn't been a war during my life, but I support this one 100%. I don't like the idea of war, but it may be the only way to keep the world safe." - Bryan Patterson

"We need not to forget, but support all of the brave men and women in the Gulf. Pray for them and support them, don't criticize them." - Gabe Lopez

"I'm very confident of our abilities to defend ourselves. Hopefully this advantage will enable us to end the war quicker." - Chasity Hood

"I'm in complete agreement with President Bush's decision to help our Kuwait. I'm behind our troops 100%, and I believe the only thing left to do is 'Keep Hope Alive!'" - Bruce Burleson

"I think that the U.S. did the right thing by invading. I just hope God is with our troops and that Saddam Hussein comes to his senses and that lives are spared." - anonymous

"American troops should go in there and just kill Saddam Hussein." - Veronica Tijerina

"I think we should take out Saddam and his main commanders and get this over with." - Ray Mulanax

"I believe if we can just catch hold of the faith and believe within our hearts that things will come together, God will bring peace." -

Rhonda Harris

"When the word was out I was at home watching it, glued to the TV. I am glad that we went in and attacked ... I really think that it would be an adventure to be over there, to fight or even being a reporter during the war. For this reason I wouldn't care about being over there. The only thing there is to worry about is your life, and the enemy. No bills, school, personal problems to worry about, just your life, your country, and your family. People think that it is going to be an easy and simple war. I hope so, but I don't think that it is going to be a quicky. I do think that we did the right thing ... I think that it is going to last longer than people expect it to last, because I think that Saddam Hussein has something big up his sleeve, and it isn't going to be a button. Hussein is something that is crazy and mad that needs help." - Steve Rangel

"The war in Iraq is a prime example of how superior our country is to any other country in the world. We are not trying to prove to the world that we are the best, we are showing them. Our leadership will move the entire world into a peace mission that will never end. Peace will be what moves us all out of poverty and into the arms of loving neighbors." - anonymous

"Whether you believe in the war effort or not, you must support the President, and especially the military. If we do not support our military, another Vietnam will develop." - Todd Wright

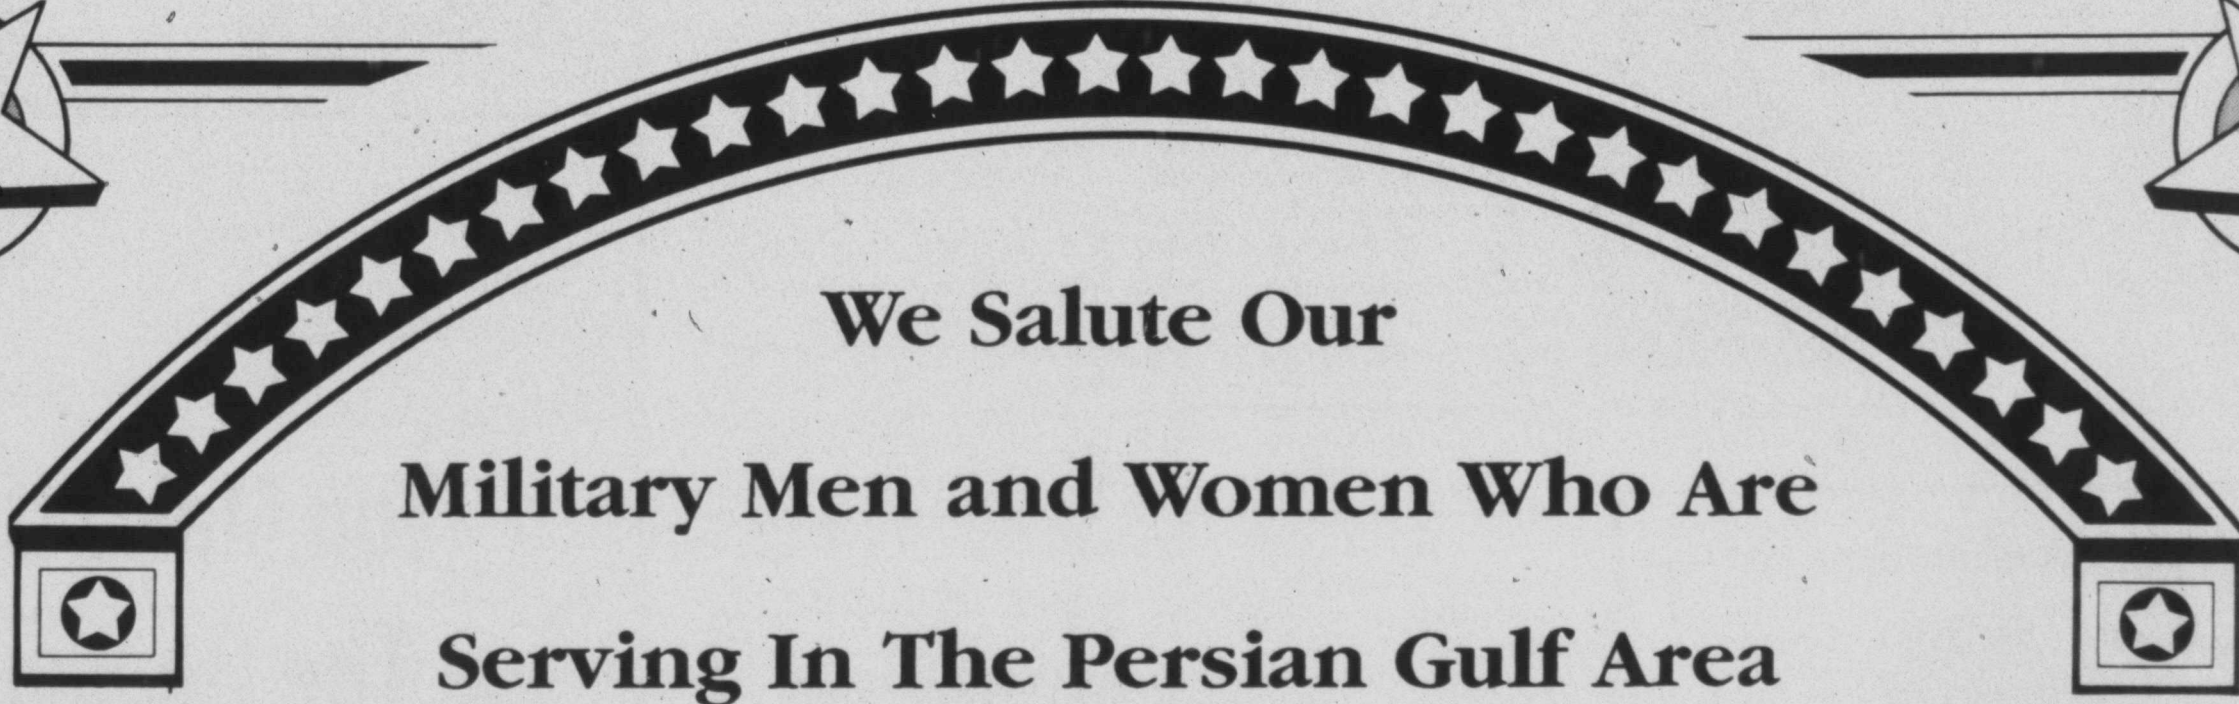

"I am glad it started. I wish they could get a hold of Saddam and kill him so that we can end this war, because he is the main person to get." - anonymous

"I believe that President Bush made the right decision but I can't help feeling fear and nervous. I hope it is over quickly and the soldiers and their families are in my prayers. May God help them and return them home safely and soon." - Mary Roberts

"We are doing the right thing. I think we should keep it in the air for as long as possible and attack at night. If we do that it won't last long." - Joey Stone

"The president did the right thing to start the war. Saddam needed to be stopped before he does something else. I hope the war is going to be short, and fast so they can all come back home." - anonymous

"At this time my heart and mind are full of many emotions and ideas. War isn't good and I know lives are lost in times like these. Despite the losses we may suffer I believe that our world is a good place. I know that we are right and in the end good really wins over evil." - Jay Jay Wiseman

Letter To The Editor

The Senior Companion Program wishes to thank the community of Tahoka for making the Recognition Dinner for the companions so special this past December. Special thanks goes to the following people in the community: Perry Bros., Tahoka Family Florist, Hometown Hardware and Gifts, Tahoka Thriftway, Balloons and Flowers, Sweet Shop, Virginia's Beauty Shop, Dayton Parker Pharmacy, Mr. and Mrs. Binie White, and Walker and Solomon Agency.

The contributions made by this group enabled the companions to have the best recognition ever. Our heartfelt thanks goes to this group.

Sincerely, Patricia Hartin
Senior Companion Director

Dalton,
Isaiah 11:6 tells us: "and a little child will lead them."

Tuesday, Jan. 15, after the game, the doors of the Methodist Church were opened to a host of school kids and friends. At the request of two high school girls, a prayer service was held for our troops in Saudi. Coach Kirkland was asked to bring about a devotion.

Hats off to our youth - they led what turned out to be a very inspirational event... hopefully we all will follow their lead.

Retha Pittman

Boy Scouts Plan Court Of Honor

Boy Scout Troop 721 plans a Court of Honor, special recognition, for E.B. Gaither's 50 years of service in Scouting. All friends and former scouts are invited to attend on Feb. 10 at 2 p.m. at the Community Center in Tahoka.

If you can attend please contact Mike Quisenberry, 998-5482 or Tom Sullivan, 998-5121.

Drug Prevention Program Slated

St. Jude Catholic Church will sponsor a Drug Prevention and Protection Program Wednesday, Jan. 23, at 7 p.m. in the bingo hall.

Speakers will be Sgt. Randy Smith, Jay Druesdow, Gilbert Arredondo and Eldon Childress with the K-9 dog.

All area youth are invited to attend.

Wilson High Set For First UIL Baseball

Wilson High School is making plans for a 14-game baseball season, a program which will see the Mustangs competing with two other Class A teams south of this area in University Interscholastic League play.

First game for WHS will be at Tahoka, which started its program last season. This game will be on March 1, with other games against Tahoka scheduled March 5 and 8, with the March 5 game to be in Wilson.

Wilson Lions Club members will join in a work day in February to help get the Wilson city baseball park ready for high school baseball. The school has made arrangements with the city to use the city park.

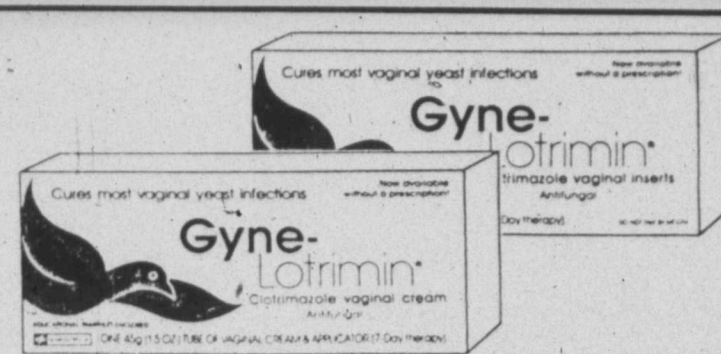

Coach Rex Bilby said the Mustangs would be in a district with Loraine and Westbrook, playing each school twice. In addition, the Mustangs have non-district games scheduled with Tahoka, Ralls, four games with Lubbock Christian High School, and two games with New Deal. Seven of the games are scheduled in Wilson. Other games may be added on what now are open dates in the Wilson schedule.

Wilson Students Do Well On TAAS Tests

Eighteen Wilson students received a notation on their recent TAAS test results that they had mastered 100 per cent of the objectives on tests in reading, with five also reaching the same high level in math.

In grades 7, 9 and 11, the students recognized were Christi Clark, Stephanie Martin, Michael Villarreal, Audra Young, Keith Massingill and Rachel Mendez, all in reading; and Mindy Thomas in both reading and math skills.

Recognized in grades 3 and 5 were Michael Ancira, Carrie Clark, Casey Donald, Monica Hernandez and Patricia Holder, all in reading; and in both reading and math, Jennifer Hernandez, Heath Talkmitt, Merett Whisner and Lexi Wied.
