WHERE THE LIVING IS EASIER-This scene at the northern edge of Tahoka illustrates the tranquil quality of rural living as heralded by Pat Hamilton in the accompanying article. Hamilton, a professional singer/actor who has lived and performed in major cities for years, currently is living with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hamilton, near Wilson. He says (LYNN COUNTY NEWS PHOTO) that country life has many advantages over urban living.

THOSE OF YOU who really want to do something different can go join the celebration of National Nude Weekend July 13-14 at Live Oak Ranch, a "family nudist resort 80 miles northwest of Houston."

The guy who sent us the nudespaper, uh, newspaper story, said "This event is open to anyone who cherishes individual liberty and body freedom. . . We invite families to come on out and see what a nudist resort is really like. "

The story did say that nudity is not required to attend the event. That's good to know, because I had envisioned some big nekkid guy opening the gate and saying, "Welcome to the Live Oak Nude Ranch, folks. Today's activities have not yet started, but if you'll just bare with us. we'll get underway."

Those of us who are constructed sort of like Roseanne Barr and King Farouk are not much interested in joining nudist colonies. And probably most of those folks look about the same. Anyway, I'll never know, because I don't plan to attend the celebration, either as an onlooker or media representative, although much of what goes on during the event probably needs to be covered.

DOWN AT AUSTIN, most of the state's legislators apparently are sharpening their spears getting ready to jab the Texas taxpayers in as many different places as possible. The more liberal legislators and the special interest groups are talking loudly about the need for more and more taxes, especially a state income tax.

Kay Bailey Hutchinson, Texas' state treasurer, said in Lubbock recently that all the hollering for more taxes was a smokescreen, and that the state really doesn't need any more taxes. She said enough could be trimmed from budgets to run the state with no new taxes and still provide services at their present level.

Other legislators say much the same. The legislature reported is currently considering a $52 billion budget, and one official claims the state comptroller has certified that the state will have more than $52 billion in revenue to fund that budget. He also says the state doesn't need an income tax which will cost the average family in Texas another $750 a year in taxes. And he says that extra $750 won't buy a better education for the children, won't improve the quality of life and provide a better standard of living, and won't make the "typical family of four earning $40,000 a year and already paying about $6,000 a year in direct taxes feel any safer.

Most of us probably agree. If Texas can operate on what the state has coming in, why saddle the people with more taxes?

Clint Gardner will represent Tahoka ISD, Roy Isham will represent Wilson ISD, Leland Zant will represent New Home ISD, and Kenneth Eaker will represent O'Donnell ISD. They will serve on a 26-member board with other representatives who were nominated to serve from their respective local school boards. Each school district, no matter how large or small, will have only one representative on the CED board.

County Education Districts have the authority to levy taxes, collect taxes, and distribute funds back to the school districts under its jurisdiction. This allotment of funds will be based on the average daily attendance of students of each school district. The state is recommending a 72-cent tax rate for CEDs, with local school districts also levying a tax in order to keep their operating budget at normal levels.

For some school districts, the CED tax and local school tax will amount to about the same rate as taxpayers are now paying. In Tahoka, Superintendent Dr. Duane Carter feels that taxpayers will probably be paying about the same amount of taxes as last year.

Wilson ISD Superintendent David Williams feels, however, that their school district will not get any extra money from the County Education District. "Our ADA (average daily attendance) is down, so I feel like we will probably be raising our taxes here (in order to accommodate the budget as it is operating now)," he said. Wilson's current school tax rate is 85 cents.

Current tax rates for other schools in the county are 80 cents in Tahoka, 82 cents in O'Donnell, and $1.05 in New Home.

CED boards will be meeting throughout the state in the near future, with CED #6 board meeting July 1 in the administrative offices of Lubbock ISD. The tax rates set by these boards will be effective for the coming school year, which begins in mid-August.

Softball Meeting Planned Thursday

problem. The folks live in Grandaddy's old farmhouse near Wilson, about 25 miles south of Lubbock - pure clean air (mixed with some healthy sand) - not to mention the most mesmerizing sunsets on God's dirt-brown earth! Now, escaping New York City adds great impetus to this homeward odyssey. After 11 years of "culture", this old West Texas boy discovered an unquenched yearning to return to the fold.

This country can look most unpromising to its youngsters - but then the young anywhere have always had that inherent sense that the grass is greener over yonder - it's just easier to believe it in grass-starved West Texas. (Next time you do catch a place where the grass is greener ask the fellow how much he or she or they paid for water, fertilizer and upkeep.)

The upsetting thing to discover is the rapidity with which the folk around here seem to want to abandon this unique landscape to set up shop in some metropolitan/suburban area where life takes on a uniform, plastic, non-descript, trend-following sameness.

Within a three mile radius of our home place, there must be 10 old farmhouses, left behind in the pilgrimage to the city, yet still standing as bulwarks to the rural testament of the value of hard work and the glories of the bucolic beauty of the farmscape - rotting windmills refusing to die but waiting to be rediscovered not only for their symbolic worth but for their practicality -60 year-old elm trees, like the pioneers, brought from somewhere else but able to take root in the rich dry soil — old stock pens still echoing with sounds of a cowhand tending herd — the faint noise of a distant tractor toiling away in the summer heat, albeit completely enclosed with air-conditioning and stereo (purity sometimes must give way to comfort) -and the little towns still with a semblance of the old town square, though the rush to the discount store in the city seems to have forced many local merchants into retirement.

Not wishing to be one of those "back-in-my-day" types, I don't look at these old ghost homes with nostalgia, but with a keen sense that they can be reclaimed - a true progress of sorts - as wonderful places to live, even for folks who have to work in the nearby metropolis of Lubbock. My folks restored this old place after the rapidly changing demographics of the flight to the city, where once settled, people dream of making enough money to return to the country. Well, why not just stay put in the first place? The quality of life in a rural area like Lynn County is far superior to any city, and I have lived most of my life in the largest and fourth largest cities in the country, New York and Houston.

I've even come to the conclusion. that Lubbock is too big - the malls and fast food chain shops and discount houses are destroying the fabric of the western uniqueness that once characterized old Lubbock. 50th Street looks like any street in any suburb of any major city - sameness.

Yet, these old farmhouses out here are a cry to get back to the basics. In the East, these properties would be 'cause we've already got it, and for a lot less expense! Hang on to your heritage - not a mortgage on a tract home.

Listening to the birds every morning as the gentle cool morning air blows the sheer curtains into the room like the spirits of our ancestors is far more enlightening than the sound of garbage trucks at 4 a.m. and their accompanying odors wafting through the burglar bars covering the windows. The advantages of this life out here are too numerous to mentionand we are probably all aware of them-but it never hurts to be reminded, especially by someone who has experienced both worlds.

So, the next time you get to thinking that the grass is always greener somewhere else, take a look at your own grass-pretty good stuff.

Plans Being Finalized For July 4th Activities

Tahoka Chamberettes are finalizing plans this week for the "Fantastic. Fourth" July 4th celebration to be held next Thursday from 7-10 p.m at the Tahoka Mini-Park. Entertainment, games for children, homemade ice cream, cake and concession items will be part of the evening's activities

Children can prepare for the fourth activities by participating in a July 4th Coloring Contest, sponsored by the Chamberettes. Two pictures are available, one for each of two separate age groups, at the Lynn County News or at Thriftway. Children ages 3 to 5 years are in one category, and children ages 6-8 years are in the other. Pictures must be turned in to Thriftway or the Lynn County News by Wednesday, July 3.

The colored pictures will be judged and then displayed at the July 4th celebration, with prizes being given for first, second and third places in both categories. Children may have their pictures back after the celebration, if they pick them up that night at the park.

There will also be prizes given in several children's games throughout the evening, and Chamberettes will be giving away balloons to children at the park. There will a schedule of activities listed in next week's edition of The Lynn County News, and posted at the park that evening.

An ice-cream freeze-off is being sponsored again by Chamberettes, with area residents invited to bring a freezer of homemade ice cream to the park by 7 p.m. for judging, and then donated to the Chamberettes to sell by the cup during the evening.

A section in the park will be roped off for an Old Settlers Reunion, where visitors may visit with one another and watch the Fourth activities.

Entertainment for the evening will include special musical selections by Myrtle White and family, and Byron Norwood. The Tahoka High School twirlers and cheerleaders will also perform routines.

There will be a special ribboncutting ceremony designating the removing of the red, white and blue ribbons and yellow ribbons throughout the area which welcomed the American troops home from the Persian Gulf War. Lynn County VFW Post 4336 will participate in the ceremony, and a local Persian Gulf veteran will also participate.

'John and Mary Bess Edwards of New Home will bring two carriages and horses to give rides during the evening. Children under the age of 12 must be accompanied by a parent to ride in the carriages.

A finale of the evening will include a large Fantastic Fourth cake served to all who attend the activities at the park.

Christie Parker - Melvin Eaker Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Ledbetter of O'Donnell and Randy Copeland of Crane announce the engagement of their daughter, Christie Renea, to Melvin Lewis Eaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Eaker of O'Donnell.

The couple plan a July 20 wedding at the First Baptist Church in O'Donnell.

They will live in O'Donnell and attend Texas Tech University this fall.

Malinda Isham Delegate To National FHA Meet

Malinda Isham, a senior at Wilson High School, will be one of the 400 Texas delegates attending the 1991 Future Homemakers of America National Leadership Meeting, July 7-10 in Washington, D.C.

Representing more than 38,000 members of the Texas Association, she will be among approximately 3,000 delegates throughout the nation attending the four-day conference.

The youth-developed meeting theme, "Aim for Action," will be carried out through workshops and sessions where members will discover ways they can become actively involved in national programs and issues facing today's youth. Delegates will attend sessions to help them reach goals in community service, in-depth programs and leadership roles.

Issues to be addressed at the meeting are peer pressure reversal, teen pregnancy, the environment, and coping with family stress.

Malinda Isham is the State Recording Secretary for Future Homemakers of America. Texas Association. She and her advisor, Ann Lowrie, will be the only two attending the meeting from Wilson.

Both have chosen to represent Texas as Student Body State Team Members.

Student Body is a teen peer education program based on the belief that teenagers can positively influence other teens to eat right, be fit and feel good about themselves. The goal of the program is to encourage youth to develop healthy habits and attitudes in the areas of self-awareness, nutrition and fitness.

Lt. Col. Knox To Command Air Support Unit In Alaska

Tahoka High School graduate Buddy Knox, son of Leighton and Helen Knox of Tahoka, has been promoted to lieutenant colonel in the Air Force and has been assigned to Fort Wainwright, Alaska, where he will be the commander of the 3rd Air Support Operations Squadron.

Lt. Col. Knox, who also is a graduate of Texas Tech with a bachelors degree in education, has been in the Air Force for 16 years, but because of the nature of his job, has been mostly assigned to Army bases. Knox has just finished an assignment at Fort Bragg, N.C. with the Joint Special Operations Command. He served in the Persian Gulf war, "but I can't say too much about that duty, except to say it involved air support of ground troops."

In his new command, Lt. Col. Knox, who'graduated from THS in 1970, also will be directing a squadron including paratroopers and other support for Army ground troops in the 6th Infantry Division. Knox has about 1500 hours of duty in F4 Phantom jets also.

He has two masters degrees, one in military arts and sciences from the Army Command and General Staff College in Leavenworth, KS, and another in education from Claymore College in California.

His wife, Susan, is a major in the Air Force Reserve. They have two children, Jennifer, age 5, and Jessica, 2. The family was visiting here last week prior to driving to Alaska for his new assignment.

accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas (Commission), hereby gives notice of the Company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas for residence Custom Calling Services, effective August 1, 1991, unless otherwise determined by the Commission. The Company has filed an application with the Commission to restructure and change the rates for certain residence Custom Calling Services.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (Company), in

The Custom Calling Services affected by the Company's application are optional telephone service arrangements that provide the following features: Call Waiting, Call Forwarding, Three Way Calling, Speed Calling 8 and Speed Calling 30.

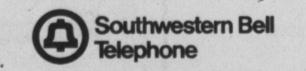

The Company's proposal would increase the monthly rate for the individual Call Waiting feature from $2.10 to $3.10 for residence customers. Also, the rates for certain combinations of Custom Calling Features (Call Waiting, Call Forwarding, Three-Way Calling and Speed Calling-8) would increase or decrease depending upon the combination of features. In addition, the company proposes to obsolete the optional Custom Calling Service feature Speed Calling 30 for residence customers except for existing customers at their existing locations. Following are the feature combinations and their current and proposed rates.

 Southwestern Bell's application proposes to obsolete residence Speed Calling 30 except for existing customers at their existing locations.

Most of the Company's residence customers in Texas who subscribe to one or more of the Custom Calling Service features will be affected by the proposed rate restructuring. It is expected that the proposed rate restructuring of Custom Calling Services will increase the Company's annual revenues by $15.9 million, which is an increase of approximately one half of 1 percent in the Company's adjusted revenue for the twelve-month period ending December 1990. The restructuring will result in an increase in the Custom Calling Services rates for approximately 2.5 million residence customers and rate decreases for approximately 15,000 residence customers. Also, the obsolesence of the optional feature Speed Calling 30 will affect approximately 156,000 residence customers.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.
