40 Football Prospects Greet New THS Coach

New Tahoka head football coach Tim Smith welcomed 40 young men as candidates for the Tahoka High School team as two-a-day workouts began Monday morning at the practice field south of the high school building.

Coach Smith commented that the practices Monday "were pretty ragged," but this is normal for a first practice, especially when a new coach is just starting to learn his players and they are starting to learn his system of doing things.

The players will put on pads for the first time Friday, the first day pads and serious contact work are permitted by the University Interscholastic League.

First scrimmage for the Bulldogs will be against Whiteface, which will come to Tahoka for a scrimmage beginning at 6 p.m. Friday, Aug. 23. Smith said a second scrimmage is After just one day of workouts, Coach Smith said he knew very little about his personnel, but stated that the team will continue to run the split back veer offense which they ran in the past. He did say that other formations and styles of attack will be added by the beginning of the regular season, which opens at Spur at 8 p.m. Sept. 6.

First home game for the Bulldogs is against Friona the following Friday, also at 8 p.m.

Confusing Ballots Draw Few Voters

Few Lynn County residents bothered to go vote last Saturday on two constitutional amendments and three other proposals within the newly created County Educational District (CED), as most people apparently were so confused by the ballot wording and reasons for the voting that they just decided to skip the whole thing.

Even after the ballots were counted, there remains confusion about just what was decided. It is known, however, that two of the three propositions on the CED ballot passed, and one failed. And statewide as well as locally, the first proposed amendment passed and the second one, related to issuing bonds to provide student loans, failed.

In all of Lynn County, just 269 persons cast ballots, with about 4,500 registered voters in the county. Lynn voters approved amendment 1 by 147 for, 113 against. This amendment was to allow voters of a CED to adopt homestead exemptions to property taxes and to provide for taxation of personal property such as autos.

Lynn voters turned down the student loan amendment by 152-106.

In the Tahoka school district, voters also followed the County Educational District 6 trend, turning down the first proposition which called for taxation of all tangible personal property, and approving the next two, which provided exemptions for homesteads, and persons disabled or over

School Board Trustees Ponder CED Dilemma

by JUANELL JONES

Tahoka I.S.D. Board of Trustees met in regular session last Thursday night, Aug. 8, from 7:30 p.m. until 12:30 a.m. to discuss a variety of information and business, but for the most part discussed the County Educational District (CED) impact on school budget planning and coming to a confusing conclusion that Tahoka will probably lose money in the deal.

Superintendent Dr. Duane Carter provided a table of figures to trustees which showed how he thought Tahoka would lose about $82,802 in tax revenue to the CED if the CED set its tax rate at 72-cents, which is the figure being considered. The CED has not yet set a tax rate, and school districts throughout Texas are caught in the same dilemma of wondering how much of the district's taxes will be sent to CEDs and how much will remain in the local district.

"I have figured that, no matter what the CED sets its tax rate at, the amount of money which Tahoka will get back from the CED will be $531,114," said the superintendent. "If the CED sets a 72-cent tax rate, then Tahoka will send approximately $613,916 to the CED (based on 95% collection of taxes), of which only $513,114 will be sent back to us. That's a difference of $82,802 of our local tax money which we won't get to keep," he explained.

State aid to school districts is partially based on how much revenue is raised locally, so Tahoka I.S.D. may not only lose money to the CED, but may lose some state aid funding if the local tax rate doesn't collect very much revenue. "It's a catch-22 situation," said one trustee. "We're going to lose money to the CED, and then if we keep our tax rate at 8-cents so as not to raise taxes, we'll also be getting less state money to run our school with. Any way you look at it, Tahoka is going to have less money to operate on."

The tax table which Dr. Carter worked up on his own computer, showed the taxable value of property in Tahoka I.S.D. and how much revenue was collected through last year's 80-cent tax rate, and then, based on a 72-cent CED tax rate collection, showed how much money Tahoka ISD would collect, beginning with an 8-cent local tax rate which would be equal in total taxes to last year's 80-cents (72¢ CED + 8¢ Local = 80¢ total tax rate).

The bottom line is, if Tahoka

65. According to the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal the 26 school districts in the CED, including Lubbock ISD, also turned down number one and approved the other two.

I.S.D. keeps the tax rate at its current 80-cent level, then there will be a loss of $94,048 of operating money less in comparison to last year's budget. "That means that we're going to have to cut the budget to the bone, and that means cutting programs and personnel, or raising our local taxes to compensate for the difference," the superintendent told a glum school board.

The tax table then showed how much the local school district would receive by adding 1-cent of tax rate, starting with 8-cents and going up to 20-cents. "The problem with the CED, as I see it," said Dr. Carter, "is that Tahoka I.S.D. is going to lose money to the CED, no matter what we set our local tax rate at. If the CED sets a tax rate higher than 72-cents, then we're in deep trouble," he added.

Board members, already confused by the fact that although Tahoka is not a "rich" school district, the district would probably lose money to the CED, voiced much concern over raising local taxes to compensate the difference. The tax chart showed, however, that the more money raised in local taxes, the more state funding is available to Tahoka.

"Speaking for myself and other farmers in the school district, I have a real problem with raising the local tax rate," said Board President Delbert McCleskey. "The money is just not there to give," he added.

"Of course, I don't want to pay any more taxes either," said trustee Greg Henley, "but I'm also not ready to cut back on programs such as band, junior high sports and other areas of our school. That's not fair to the students."

Other board members felt much the same, but the problem is not going to just go away. Trustees will meet tonight (Thursday) for a budget planning session, and will see just how much can be trimmed from the budget without cutting programs and personnel. A working budget for the 1991-92 school year must be set by August 31, and trustees will meet as often as necessary in order to work out the new budget. There will be public meeting on Aug. 26 before the final budget can be approved.

CED No. 6, which includes Lynn, Lubbock, Borden, Dawson, Gaines, Terry and Yoakum counties, must collect $102 million dollars worth of taxes. The board of directors of CED-6, which includes one person from each school board of the 26 school districts within the seven-county area, will set a tax rate which will ensure that amount will be collected.

Tahoka trustee Clint Gardner serves on the CED board, and he says he is pointing out to the other CED board members that most of the school districts within the CED have a higher property tax value than the state-based property tax value. "I don't see that there's a need to have a 72-cent tax rate to collect the amount we need. I think we could set a much lower rate and still get the $102 million the state says we have to collect," he said. "If we can set a tax rate lower than 72 cents for the CED, then that will help us here locally," he added.

In other business, trustees heard a financial report from bookkeeper Mrs. Loretta Tekell who noted there was a balance in all funds of $1,283,931.31, with a 96.37% tax collection of $664,025.66 to date. The superintendent told trustees the new floor has been installed in the high school gym, and board members also approved a substitute teacher list for the school district.

Trustees set a noon meeting Monday, Aug. 12 to canvass the votes from the Aug. 10 election, and were told that the CED board of directors

County Schools Set Different Starting Dates For Students

The four school districts in Lynn County have set three different starting dates for students to begin school, with the school boards of the districts setting their own school calendars to adjust to the new 180-day school year.

O'Donnell students will be the first in the county to begin school, with the first day set Monday, Aug. 19. Students will attend from 8:05 a.m. until 3:30 p.m., and will not receive a school holiday on Labor Day, Sept. 2.

Tahoka students will begin school Wednesday, Aug. 21, and students and school personnel will receive the Monday holiday on Labor Day. High school and junior high students will attend school from 8 a.m. until 3:30 p.m., and elementary students will attend from 8 a.m.-3 p.m.

New Home and Wilson students will begin school on Monday, Aug. 26, with Wilson students getting the Labor Day holiday, but New Home I.S.D. did not schedule the holiday for their students.

Wilson school hours are from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m., and New Home students attend school from 8:20 a.m. until 3:45 p.m.

Woodwork...

by Dalton

SOMEBODY asked me last weekend, right after we returned from a vacation which was mostly in Virginia and Indiana, if I had taken a lot of pictures, so I could show them to our friends and discuss our vacation.

I told him that I don't plan to have a showing of vacation pictures to our friends, because we want to keep what friends we have (We did take some pictures, but mainly for our own amazement).

Nobody wants to look at pictures of somebody else's vacation. There's nothing more boring than looking at all the beautiful places some other person got to visit while you were home working, or taking trips to Lubbock to fight the battle of the orange barrels on and around the loop.

Vacation pictures are received about like pictures of your grandchildren. Nobody really wants to look at pictures of someone else's grandchildren; they can hardly wait to drag out the photos of their own wonderful grandchildren ("those grandkids of yours look really dumb, but I'll brag on them, because as soon as you put those pictures away, I'm gonna show you what some really super grandchildren look like").

We did see some nice things on our trip. Virginia and the Blue Ridge Mountains are nice. The parkways are beautiful (but the speed limit is 35, even where you might be able to get up to 45, going around curves and over hills). The mountains of Virginia, Kentucky, West Virginia and Tennessee are not high enough to be cool in the summer. Most of the hired help at restaurants, service stations and motels are not very friendly, as compared to this part of the world.

In northern Virginia there are a lot of obscene bumper stickers reading "Go, Redskins." And there are more trucks on the Interstates than flies at a picnic.

We came home one day early, which is pretty normal for us, and for most people we know. It seems that no matter how great a vacation is, whenever you start home, you suddenly want to get there as quickly as possible, so you can sleep in your own bed, and unload all your dirty clothes along with all the stuff you bought while shopping at 137 factory outlets. We bought so many pairs of shoes you would have thought we were outfitting a giant pet centipede.

Anyway, it was fun, and certainly beat working. We won't bore you with more details. Photos shown only on request.

Notice of Effective Tax Rate

1991 Property Tax Rates in City of Wilson

This notice concerns 1991 property tax rates for City of Wilson. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. Compare it to the tax rate the taxing unit proposes for this year. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:
Last year's operating taxes	$ 55,044
+ Last year's debt taxes	$
= Last year's total taxes	$ 55,044
+ Last year's tax base	$ 6,255,020
= Last year's total tax rate	$.8800 / $100

This year's effective tax rate:
Last year's adjusted taxes	$ 55,044
(after subtracting value of lost property)
+ This year's adjusted tax base	$ 6,402,500
(after subtracting value of new property)
= This year's effective tax rate	$.85972 / $100
x 1.03
= Maximum rate unless unit publishes notices and holds hearings	$.8855 / $100

This year's rollback tax rate:
Last year's adjusted operating taxes	$ 55,044
(after subtracting taxes on lost property)
+ This year's adjusted tax base	$ 6,402,500
= This year's effective operating rate	$.85972 / $100
- .72 for school district (or zero)	$
x 1.08 (or add $.08 for schools)
= This year's maximum operating rate	$.92849 / $100
+ This year's debt rate	$ -0 / $100
= This year's rollback rate	$.92849 / $100

SCHEDULE A: Unencumbered Fund Balances

The following balances will probably be left in the unit's property tax accounts at the end of the fiscal year. These balances are not encumbered by a corresponding debt obligation.

Type of Property Tax Fund	Balance
Wilson City General Fund	$40,137.46

School Board

would meet Aug. 20 to canvass the CED propositions from the seven counties. The board agreed to sign an interlocal agreement between Tahoka I.S.D. and the CED to let Lubbock I.S.D. handle administrative duties of the CED, and another agreement allowing Lubbock Appraisal District to contract with other appraisal districts to assess and collect CED taxes. These agreements were only a formality between the school districts and the CED, as the CED board of directors had already decided to handle the administrative and taxing duties in this manner.

Finally, the board approved district policies concerning conflict of interest, bidding, insurance, term contracts nonrenewal, personnel job descriptions, student admissions and attendance, health requirements and immunizations, and student activities.

Present at the meeting were board members McCleskey, Henley, Gardner, Mike Huffaker, and Juanell Jones, and school personnel including Dr. Carter, Mrs. Tekell, Molly Helmlinger and Ronald Roberts.

School board members said they would encourage all citizens in the district to contact their state legislators, Rep. David Counts and Sen. John Montford, to voice their opinions, ask questions and/or comment on the new school funding law which established the County Educational District, especially in view of the fact that it appears Tahoka and other smaller and poorer districts in the CED will have to increase taxes so more money will go to the Lubbock district. Sen. Montford's address is Box 12068 Capitol Station, Austin 78711, Phone (512) 463-0128, and Rep. Counts may be contacted at House of Representatives, Box 2910, Austin TX 78769, or by phoning (512) 463-0480.

What about a Living Trust

A LIVING TRUST: THREE COMMON MISUNDERSTANDINGS

There are three misunderstandings about the Living Trust you need to be aware of. (If you are considering one.)

A "Living Trust" will cut your Estate Taxes.

A Living Trust is very similar to a will. It can be very helpful in controlling Estates but the formalities involved are basically the same as a will. REASON - You are the beneficiary and may right to REVOKE the trust in whole or part. The IRS (for tax purposes) does not consider the trust to exist. The irrevocable trust, on the other hand is opposite. It can have good Estate Tax help but once in place it can not be changed. You may be beneficiary but you are not normally trustee nor do you have the power to dissolve.

A "Living Trust" can stop and/or cut administration cost and probate fees. Not necessarily so. Each case is unique but if this is the only reason for a Living Trust, you may well be disappointed.

You can draft your own trust with a "Do it yourself" mail order kit. Preparation of a trust can be tricky and could put you in a more precarious position than you expected. There is no real "Boiler Plate" form for a Trust because trusts are very "Personal" and each needs to be designed to carry out the wish of a grantor (one also puts Funds into Trust).

Portability is the best issue for a trust. The State of settlement of a trust is where you want it. If you have property in multiple states then you eliminate Multiple Probates in your estate. Example: You live in Texas, your home is here, you have a cabin and other property in New Mexico, result is two probates. A trust can eliminate that totally. (No double probate fees)

A LIVING TRUST - WHAT ARE THE REASONS FOR USING THE LIVING TRUST

Where you foresee the probability that professional management of your assets will be needed. If you become disabled and/or incompetent, you can protect your assets and insure that who you want to manage your assets will do so by naming him/her as successor trustee.

Where you want privacy from public view as to who and what you left to others. The trust of a trust as "undisclosed trust" under probate can protect privacy of those who receive your property.

These are sound reasons for a Living Trust. Professional help by an attorney or financial planner would be the best time and money you can spend.

The Salvation Army Planned Giving Department will be happy to provide you with information to help you determine whether a Living Trust is in your best interest.

Local Sales Tax Rebates For Tahoka Show Increase

State Comptroller John Sharp sent checks totaling $151 million to 1,167 Texas cities and counties that collect local sales taxes, with the City of Tahoka showing an increase of 10.45 percent over last year's total rebates at this time.

"Even though some areas in Texas show only a slight increase, while others' rebates are down, overall the state's economy is strong and healthy," Sharp said.

Totals to date for Wilson and O'Donnell are down from the same period in 1990.

Tahoka's net payment this period is $8,341.42 compared to $8,224.38 for the same period last year which is an increase of 1.42 percent. The 1991 payments to date are $45,906.77 compared to last year's payment of $41,563.38.

Wilson received no payment this period compared to last year's $20.91. Their 1991 payments to date are $2,398.54 compared to $3,768.99 from the same period last year, a decrease of 36.36 percent.

O'Donnell's net payment this period was $1,706.00 compared to $2,108.82 for the same period last year. This year's payments to date are $8,819.85 compared to $9,030.26, down 2.33 percent from the same period last year.

August's checks include taxes collected on June sales and reported in July by businesses filing monthly sales tax returns with the state. This month's checks also include taxes collected in April, May and June and reported in July by businesses filing quarterly sales tax returns with the state. Businesses file either monthly, quarterly or annually depending on the amount of sales tax they collect.

Merchants collect the state's 6 1/4 percent sales tax and any local sales taxes levied in the area and send them to the Comptroller's Office with their tax returns. The state retains its share and returns to cities, counties and other taxing entities their local portion of the sales tax.

Copy Is Completed For Lynn County History Book

A sigh of relief was breathed Tuesday when final copy was submitted to the publisher. A committee member, Betty Green, personally delivered the copy to Craftsman Printers in Lubbock.

After many hours, days and months the efforts of the committee have finally succeeded. The history book represents the interest and pride of numerous people who have contributed their stories, providing comprehensive accounts of the lives and events of Lynn County.

Loretta Tekell, Chairman, would like to thank each person individually who has contributed to the content of the book, but that is impossible. She does extend a great big thanks to all who have made this project possible.

Although the copy has gone to the publisher, books are still available for $49.95 each plus $3.62 tax. Orders may be sent to Lynn County History Book, P.O. Box 296, Tahoka, Tx. 79373.

An order form is available in this issue of the Lynn County News. If a book is to be mailed, there is an additional charge of $3.95 for shipping and handling.

SMALL BUSINESS

Free Government Help For Small Business

(NU) - Most people do not realize that the federal government has millions of dollars of free help available to aid both existing small businesses and the individual entrepreneur thinking of beginning a small business.

And many of these grants, loans and other aids are never spent because the average small businessman simply doesn't know where and how to begin when he or she hits the maze of free departments and regulations.

But now, no small businessman should be reluctant to tap into federal government help to support a business venture if armed with a newly revised paperback book that tells how to do it.

The book's title telegraphs its message: "Free Help From Uncle Sam to Start Your Own Business (Or Expand the One You Have)" by William Alarid and Gustav Berle.

The book was selected "best of the best" by the Public Library Association for its graphic and down-to-earth approach to tapping Uncle Sam's considerable information and even financial support for good ideas.

Using examples from actual cases where the government helped, the book shows you how to break the bewildering maze of red tape, including names and phone numbers. Discover how to get started using federal assistance, find new products, new markets, use information sources, enter international trade, find financial aid and programs for minorities.

The book may be ordered from the publisher, Puma Publishing Co., 1670-U Coral Drive, Santa Maria, CA 93454. The book is $13.95 postpaid ($14.70 to California addresses). It may be ordered via credit card by calling toll free 1-800-255-5730, ext 110. It is also available at better bookstores such as Waldenbooks and Crown, and several hundred independent bookstores.

Public Notice

On July 22, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas for approval of two new optional services, Exchange Connection Service and Customer Alerting Enablement. Exchange Connection Service will permit a customer of the Telephone Company to provide voice messaging service, telephone answering service, or other services to itself or to patrons of the customer. Customer Alerting Enablement will permit residence and business lines to receive an alerting tone (intermittent dial tone) transmitted by an Exchange Connection Service customer. The proposed effective date for this offering is September 25, and will be available statewide where facilities permit.

The calling party's telephone number and other originating network call information will be delivered to the Exchange Connection Service customer when the calling number and the called number are served by the same switch. Additionally, the caller's telephone number and other originating network call information may be recorded and stored by the Exchange Connection Service customer. Customers may be able to identify the caller before the call is answered. All Exchange Connection Service customers will be required to sign a non-disclosure agreement prior to being provided service. In the agreement the customer agrees not to disclose the calling party's telephone number unless the customer has written permission from the calling party.

The Telephone Company estimates these new services will increase its annual revenues during the first year by approximately $1.2 million. Providers of voice messaging service and telephone answering services and their subscribers are the types of customers likely to be affected by approval of these services.

Exchange Connection Service is provided to customers in two parts: Local Serving Arrangement, which provides access to the exchange network; and Optional Service Features. Soup in summer? You bet—especially when it's light and delicious. Made with a colorful bounty of fresh Italian plum tomatoes, green beans, elbow macaroni, kidney beans and tender beef, "Garden Soup Italiano" is ideal for those who want robust flavor, without spending hours in a hot kitchen. The secret is a skillful blend of culinary techniques, ingredients and seasonings. Stir-frying the beef reduces the overall cooking time, while naturally brewed Kikkoman Soy Sauce imparts a richness that couldn't be achieved using this short-cut cooking method. Complement the soup with plenty of crusty bread and enjoy a great taste of summer.

GARDEN SOUP ITALIANO

|---|--|
| 1/2 pound boneless tender beef | 1 1/2 pounds fresh Italian plum tomatoes, coarsely chopped |
| 4 tablespoons Kikkoman Soy Sauce, divided | 3/4 pound fresh green beans, trimmed and cut into 1-inch lengths |
| 1 teaspoon cornstarch | 1/2 cup uncooked elbow macaroni |
| 1 large clove garlic, minced | 1 can (8 oz.) kidney beans, rinsed and drained |
| 1 tablespoon vegetable oil | |
| 2 teaspoons chopped fresh oregano | |
| 3/4 teaspoon sugar | |

Cut beef into 1/2-inch cubes. Combine 1 Tbsp. soy sauce, cornstarch and garlic, stir in beef. Heat oil in Dutch oven or large saucepan over high heat. Add beef and stir-fry 1 minute; remove. Stir 2 cups water remaining soy sauce, oregano, sugar and tomatoes into same pan. Cover and simmer 15 minutes. Add green beans; simmer, covered 10 minutes. Stir in macaroni; simmer, covered 10 minutes longer. Add beef and kidney beans; cook, stirring, just until beans are heated through. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Encourage Healthy Eating Habits In Children

BY DONNA PETERS, CEA-HE

The summer months are an excellent time for parents to observe children's eating behavior and encourage healthy eating habits. Parents should have nutritious foods on hand and encourage children to eat them.

It's important for children to develop healthy eating habits, because childhood ways usually carry over into adult life. Studies indicate that the diet-related symptoms of some diseases are showing up in young children. Healthy eating and exercise habits developed in childhood may help prevent problems in later life.

Drinking milk is a very important habit because children need the calcium in milk to develop properly strong bones. Serving milk as a beverage with meals is an excellent way to meet the milk requirement.

Children usually prefer milk ice cold, so try serving it with ice cubes or crushed ice for a summer cooler. Snacks can also provide needed calcium if they are foods like ice cream, yogurt, cottage cheese and hard cheeses. Children can have fun learning to make nutritious milk drinks combining milk and fruit, or popsicles made with yogurt or pudding.

Grabbing a piece of fruit for a quick snack is another healthy habit parents can encourage. Children need a variety of fruits and vegetables. The summer offers a wide selection of fresh fruits and vegetables. Especially nutritious are strawberries, peaches, cantaloupes, watermelons and oranges.

Children's diets are generally lacking in vitamin A, which is found in deep yellow fruits and vegetables. Some parents have success with getting children to eat raw vegetable pieces like carrots, celery, broccoli and/or squash for snacks. While it may sometimes be difficult to get children to eat vegetables, remember that familiarity with a food often leads to acceptance, so try serving them more than once before giving up.

Since children like to snack and may need to do so to get enough food for growing bodies, teaching healthy snacking habits is especially important. Children need to learn the difference between snack foods with nutrients, which can be eaten anytime, and those composed mostly of calories and little nutritional value, which should be eaten occasionally.

While it is unrealistic to expect children never to consume such snack foods as soft drinks, cake, candy and chips they can be taught to eat these foods in moderation. Consuming too many of these snack foods, which are usually high in fat, sugar and sodium, can lead to health problems, even in children.

Having healthier snack choices available is an important part of this learning process. These might include fruit juices and drinks, cheese, peanut butter and crackers, fresh or dried fruits, cereal and milk, nuts, popcorn and other dairy snacks.

When in doubt about the value of a packaged snack food, reading the ingredient list on the label for sugar, salt and fat content can help you make wise decisions.

The summer months can offer opportunities for parents and children to learn to cook simple nutritious foods together.

Learning to fix their own nutritious lunches can be a fun and healthy learning experience, especially for children whose mothers work outside the home and who often have to fix their own lunches. Kitchen and food safety should be taught along with nutrition, especially if children are home alone.

Postal Pointers

Quick Quiz

by Ann McK. Robinson, Consumer Advocate, United States Postal Service

Q. If I need a letter or package delivered overnight, what's the best way to send it?

A. Express Mail Next Day Service. Your package will be delivered overnight to any location listed in the local Express Mail Next Day directory available at your post office. You can have your package delivered directly to the addressee's door by 3pm the next day. It's fast because it travels in distinctive orange and blue containers on dedicated airplanes and has first loading and unloading priority.

Q. How many letters and packages are handled by Express Mail each day?

A. According to the U.S. Postal Service, nearly 150,000 letters and packages are shipped daily between thousands of cities and towns in the United States. Express Mail Service now guarantees expanded next morning delivery to major business markets across the nation. It can also deliver letters and packages to over 100 countries.

Q. I need my mail to be delivered fast, but I don't need overnight mail. Any suggestions on what service I can use?

Questions about ways to send mail are answered by your postal service.

A. Here's one. If you don't need overnight delivery, experts at the post office say Priority Mail should be first on your list of choices. It's fast, economical and very convenient. Shipments can be mailed at any post office and delivery will be made in two days between major business centers and three days everywhere else. Priority mail can be used for any shipment weighing up to 70 pounds and having a combined length and girth of 108 inches.

WE ARE STILL STUDYING PHARMACY

When a pharmacist graduates from his College of Pharmacy he must pass a state examination to prove his knowledge, so that he can safely be trusted to compound and dispense drugs and prescriptions. At that time he is an expert on the storage, uses, safe dosage and the incompatibilities of every medicine.

The next day, an entirely new drug discovery may be released. To keep up to date with these frequent new products we carefully read our drug journals, medical publications and pharmaceutical supplier's literature. Often a physician will phone us to find out if we have a new product in our prescription laboratory. The odds are we do, or we can get it the same day.

Alzheimer's Disease Expected To Increase As Population Ages

A rapid increase in the number of elderly persons means more Alzheimer's disease cases than ever before.

In the year 2000, about two million Texans will be age 65 and older. Of these, more than 200,000 are expected to suffer from Alzheimer's disease.

Though more than 180,000 Texans now have this illness, many people don't know much about Alzheimer's disease. "It is a dementing disease, a thief of minds, a destroyer of personalities, wrecker of family finances, filler of nursing homes," said Morris H. Craig, director of TDH's Alzheimer's Disease Program. "It also is a leading cause of death, after heart disease, cancer and stroke, causing 150,000 deaths each year nationwide. At this time, there are no known cures for this disease, and even the causes of it are not clear, though research continues."

Alzheimer's disease begins almost imperceptibly as perhaps an inability to find the right word—especially nouns, the need to write many reminder notes or wearing the same clothes day after day. Personalities change to reflect less spontaneity, ambition and interest. At some point, the sufferer may become unable to write or speak coherently, to understand most spoken or written language, or recognize anyone, including himself in a mirror. The patient becomes unable to feed himself and in time, becomes bedridden and incontinent. Eventually, he or she loses consciousness and is unable to survive without total care.

An Alzheimer's patient is usually cared for at home in the beginning. As the patient's mental powers slip away, the caregiving family agonizes over and usually concludes that nursing home care is the best choice for a patient who must be cared for around the clock.

Choosing a nursing home can be bewildering since there are many different kinds of nursing homes including religiously affiliated, usually not-for-profit homes and homes run for a profit. There are homes in which a wide range of disabilities are represented and homes with designated Alzheimer's units. Some homes are run on a pay-as-you-go basis and others are life care facilities which require an up-front payment (sometimes the patient's life savings) and may then provide care for life even after the patient's funds are exhausted.

In selecting a nursing home, families of Alzheimer's disease victims are advised to visit several to give some basis for comparison. "Visit when you can spend enough time to thoroughly check the facilities for everything from licensing to availability of snacks," advised Craig. "Visit at different times of the day and on different days before making a decision. Keep in mind that often there are waiting lists, so it's necessary to begin the selection process before placement becomes necessary."

Craig also warns family members to keep in mind that nursing home care is expensive, currently averaging more than $2,000 a month. Medicare, Medicaid, private insurance, Veterans Administration System and Social Security Disability are areas of possible financial support for Alzheimer's victims. However, Alzheimer's caregivers often find these channels lacking and must pursue these benefits aggressively.

To provide support for Alzheimer's caregivers, TDH runs a toll-free hotline, 1-800-242-3399, as part of its Alzheimer's Disease Program. TDH staff provide specialized information, resources, research information and information regarding support groups.

"The good news is that Alzheimer's disease does not affect some 91 percent of those over age 65," said Craig. "And research is continuing so that in time, we may be able to prevent and even cure Alzheimer's."

HEARTBURN
"Sucking on a hard candy or chewing a piece of gum after eating may be good for you, if you suffer from heartburn," says Dr. Wylie Dodds, Univ. of Wisconsin. "Candy or gum can increase the saliva flow 8 to 9 times normal in the esophagus and lower stomach to reduce the damage and pain caused by stomach acids." Your doctor may advise antacids for excess stomach acidity.

CHARLES RAY MASON JR.
Charles Mason Jr.
Appointed As SWCD Director

Charles Ray Mason Jr., of Rt. 3, Post, has been appointed to the Lynn County Soil and Water Conservation District Board of Directors. He will fill the unexpired term of the late T.B. Mason and will represent Zone 2 of the district where he is actively involved with his farming and ranching operations. He is a graduate of Post High School and he and his wife Celia have a son, Wes, 2.

The purpose of the Lynn County SWCD, headquartered in Tahoka, is to promote sound soil and water conservation programs on farm and ranch land within the district and to serve as a voice for farmers and ranchers in conservation matters. The board coordinates the conservation efforts of various local, state and federal agencies and other organizations and has authority to enter into working agreements with these governmental agencies and private concerns to carry out its purpose.

As one of five persons serving on the district board of directors, Mason will be responsible for district policies and procedures for carrying out the district program within the framework of the Texas soil conservation district laws.

In Texas there are 201 soil and water conservation districts. Unlike most legal subdivisions of state government, SWCD's do not have the power of taxation or eminent domain.

Public Notice

On April 9, 1991, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas to request that the optional feature "Call Transfer Disconnect" be available to all PLEXAR I customers by including the feature in Southwestern Bell's PLEXAR I tariff. Currently, this optional feature is available only on a customer requested basis.

Call Transfer Disconnect (CTD) is an optional feature that allows PLEXAR I customers the ability to transfer a call to another telephone number within or outside their PLEXAR I system, hang up, and permit the two remaining parties to continue with the call. The PLEXAR I user is then free to place or accept another call. CTD is not intended to be used to avoid toll charges. Therefore, CTD will not be available to PLEXAR I customers subscribing to optional Extended Metropolitan Service or Extended Area Calling Service.

If the company's application is approved, the monthly rate for CTD will be $4.00 for each PLEXAR I station line. Prior to the June 19, 1991, interim rate approval, Southwestern Bell was billing customers who receive the service $1.50 for each station line equipped with this feature. In addition, under Southwestern Bell's proposed tariff, every line within the PLEXAR I system must be equipped with this feature. The nonrecurring charge for the additional lines which must be equipped with CTD will be waived for existing CTD customers. The tariffed monthly rate will apply to all existing and future CTD customers.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0256, or (512) 458-0221, teletypewriter for the deaf.
