amendments to the Texas constitution, the most controversial of which is No. 11, which would, if passed, allow the state to operate a lottery or to contract with other organizations to operate lotteries on behalf of the state.

Other amendments which have received considerable publicity are Proposition 13, regarding issuance

A summary of what each of the proposed amendments means has been prepared by the office of the secretary of state, John Hannah Jr., and is presented inside this edition of

I HAVE BEEN LOOKING AROUND for something to do which will make me famous, so that long after I am gone. people will say, "I remember him, he (did something remarkable, or was....). I would like to be remembered as something other than the shortest adult male who ever lived in the 2100-block of North 8th St. in Tahoka.

And now I think maybe I have it: I will rename the days of the week. After all, Julius Caesar messed with the calendar and it brought him a measure of fame, although he perhaps is best remembered because he wrote a play about Shakespeare ("Yon William has a mean and hungry look"). Okay, all you literary types, before you get hystorical, I really do know better.

Anyway, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and so forth don't make as much sense as the system I have in mind. I plan to get someone in Congress to introduce a bill to rename the days of the week. Monday would become Oneday, followed by Twoday, Threeday, Fourday, Fiveday, Sixday and Sunday, leaving, that one as it is, just so everyone would know when to go to church.

Of course, I might consider renaming Sunday "Someday", so that all those things people promise someday would have to be done within a week.

I may even include a rider to call the months Oneuary, Twouary, etc. The problem with that, though, is messing up all the love songs that rhyme June with moon.

"Just give me a June night, the moonlight and you," (from an oldies love song) would sound pretty silly as "Give . me a Sixuary night, the moonlight, etc." Of course, we might rename the moon as the lunarary or something, but somehow it just doesn't have the same ring to it.

So maybe I'll just leave the months alone and do the days of the week. That should be enough for me to be remembered long after I am gone, and perhaps my tombstone will have on just below my name something like "The man who renamed the days of the week in a logical fashion."

This would be a better epitaph than the one usually suggested by my acquaintances: "Here lies the editor... As usual."

System telephone number in the case of any type of emergency, beginning this week with cutover ceremonies held Tuesday, Oct. 29 at Poka Lambro Telephone Cooperative. Representatives of each city in Lynn County were on hand for the official 9-1-1 on-line cutover ceremony and heard a joint proclamation by the mayors and the county judge proclaiming Oct. 29, 1991 as "9-1-1 Day."

Judge George H. Hansard, 106th Judicial District, introduced dignitaries and guests at the ceremony and welcomed the crowd of about 75. people. Plaques were presented to Lynn County Judge J.F. Brandon and Tahoka Mayor Jim Solomon in appreciation for their efforts and assistance in bringing the 9-1-1 system to the county. They and New Home representative J.T. Miller, O'Donnell Mayor David M. Smith, and Wilson Mayor Jackie Bishop read proclamations proclaiming Oct. 29 as "9-1-1 Day"

9-1-1 service is now available in Pct. 2 - Wilson Museum (Green the cities of New Home, O'Donnell, Tahoka and Wilson as well as any unincorporated area within Lynn County. Anyone residing or visiting any of these areas has access to 9-1-1 service. Additionally, pay phone users can make 9-1-1 calls at no charge.

Citizens in Lynn County now have access to fire, EMS, and law enforcement service through their enhanced 9-1-1 system with the minimum level of service of automatic number identification. GTE customers in Tahoka and Wilson were asked to provide 9-1-1 information forms to the Lynn County Sheriff's Office, which is the Pct. 11-Lakeview Baptist Church primary answering point for the emergency system. Dept. at 998-4505 and give them the needed information over the telephone.

"We have 2,550 telephone numbers in the county which are entered into our 9-1-1 computer system," said Donna Whitley, dispatcher at the Sheriff's Dept. and 9-1-1 computer specialist. "We still have over 800 of those numbers which we don't have any information on. It is very important for those who have not provided that information to us to call us and give us addresses and locations and other pertinent information so that we may enter that into our files," she added.

"If someone calls in to 9-1-1 who has not provided any information to us, all we have is the phone number on our computer screen, and no other information. All we can do is call that number back if someone panics before giving us their address or name." she stressed.

The 9-1-1 cutover ceremony held Tuesday afternoon marked the climax of many months of hard work and local community support to bring 9-1-1 service to Lynn County.

The push for 9-1-1 service for the area began in early 1987. County government officials were enthusiastic about the idea of a centralized emergency network and overwhelmingly voted to bring the service to Lynn County. The New Home, O'Donnell, Tahoka, and Wilson City Councils and Lynn County Commissioners' Court entered an agreement in November, 1988 with the South Plains Association of Governments (SPAG) to implement the system county-wide.

Since that time, city and county governments of Lynn County and SPAG have worked diligently with telephone companies and emergency agencies to make the 9-1-1 service a reality. Detailed engineering, records coordination and outside plant preparation has been on-going for the past 20 months.

Lynn County 9-1-1 Plan was submitted to the Advisory Commission on State Emergency Communications for approval in September, 1989. Following review of the plan, the commission authorized GTE and Poka Lambro to begin collecting the 50-cent per month 9-1-1 fees in Lynn County in January of 1990. There is no additional fee assessed to callers of the 9-1-1 system.

Dispatchers at the Lynn County transferred or dispatched to the appropriate emergency response agency.

One of the dramatic features of the 9-1-1 system includes the ability to lock onto an incoming 9-1-1 call by automatic number identification. A database software called Emergency Assistance Response System by Quixx Corporation is being used with the system to give the telecommunicator the ability to access pertinent information associated with that phone number, for 9-1-1 use only.

Prank calls to 9-1-1 will be noted and appropriate action taken against the callers, according to Mrs. Whitley at the Sheriff's Dept. "People have to understand that this number is for emergencies only," she said. "We take each call very seriously. Every call that comes in to 9-1-1 is locked in, and we have that telephone number on our computer screen. We will call that number back immediately to determine if the call is a prank, and take the necessary action to insure that it does not happen again," she added.

With the installation of this system now complete, Lynn County residents are urged to "dial 9-1-1" for emergency assistance. For a period of about three weeks in late September and early October, the Sheriff's Dept. invited citizens to make "practice calls" to 9-1-1 to check the system and to teach young children how to make an emergency call.

"We had a large number of people calling these practice calls, and we really appreciated their interest," said Mrs. Whitley. "We also had four actual emergency calls before the official cutover date Tuesday, and these calls were dispatched to the proper authorities. Now, of course, with the official starting date of Tuesday, Oct. 29, we cannot take any practice calls. All calls coming in on 9-1-1 as of that date will be treated as an emergency call," she added.

Mary Boyd, Executive Director for the Advisory Commission on State Emergency Communications, and Shawn Raborn, a representative of SPAG, told visitors at the cutover ceremony of plans to educate the public on how to use the 9-1-1 system and what happens when that number is called. Raborn said there are plans in the making to present 9-1-1 information programs to schools to allow children the opportunity to learn how to handle an emergency situation.

Public Notice

On July 1, 1991, Southwestern Bell Telephone filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas that proposes to delete Paragraph 3.4(G) from Section 3 of Southwestern Bell's intrastate Access Service Tariff, which concerns credits where a customer uses Switched Access Service to furnish a service which has been defined to be an exchange service. The application was assigned Docket No. 10463.

Because Southwestern Bell is not aware of any customers who presently use switched access service to furnish an exchange service, Southwestern Bell does not believe its revenues will be affected. However, certain interexchange carrier customers of switched access service have made claims under the aforementioned tariff. Such customers, but only to the extent they provide an exchange service using switched access, would be affected by this application. Based on claims made for credits (assuming such credits were allowable), Southwestern Bell's revenues would be affected by no more than $1,168,962 annually, which is .037 percent of the Company's adjusted revenue for the 12-month period ending December 31, 1990. It is not possible to know how many interexchange carriers might believe themselves entitled to credits, but 189 carriers have registered with the Commission pursuant to PUC Substantive Rule 23.61.

The tariff, after suspension, is proposed to be effective May 1, 1992.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible, but no later than November 15, 1991. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256. Chief's Comments By JERRY WEBSTER are some safety tips I received from the National Child Safety Council: 1. Keep costumes simple. Long and fancy ones could cause children to trip. Costumes should also be fireproof. Here is a recipe to fireproof your child's costume: Mix 9 ounces boric acid, four ounces of Borax and a quart of hot water. Saturate fabric. and allow to dry. Washing will remove fireproofing, but process may be repeated after washing.

2. Costumes should be made of white or Jight-colored material. Also, reflectorized patches or strips can be added to the costume.

3. Regular street shoes should be worn, as opposed to fancy clown or pirate shoes, etc.

4. Props, such as guns or swords, should be made of styrofoam or plastic.

5. If jack-o-lanterns are carried, a flashlight should be inside, instead of a candle.

6. At least one person in the group should carry a flashlight.

7. Instead of wearing masks, paint faces with makeup.

8. Apply a thin coat of cold cream before applying the makeup, so the makeup will come off easier.

9. NEVER eat anything until after you are home, and the treats have been examined. .

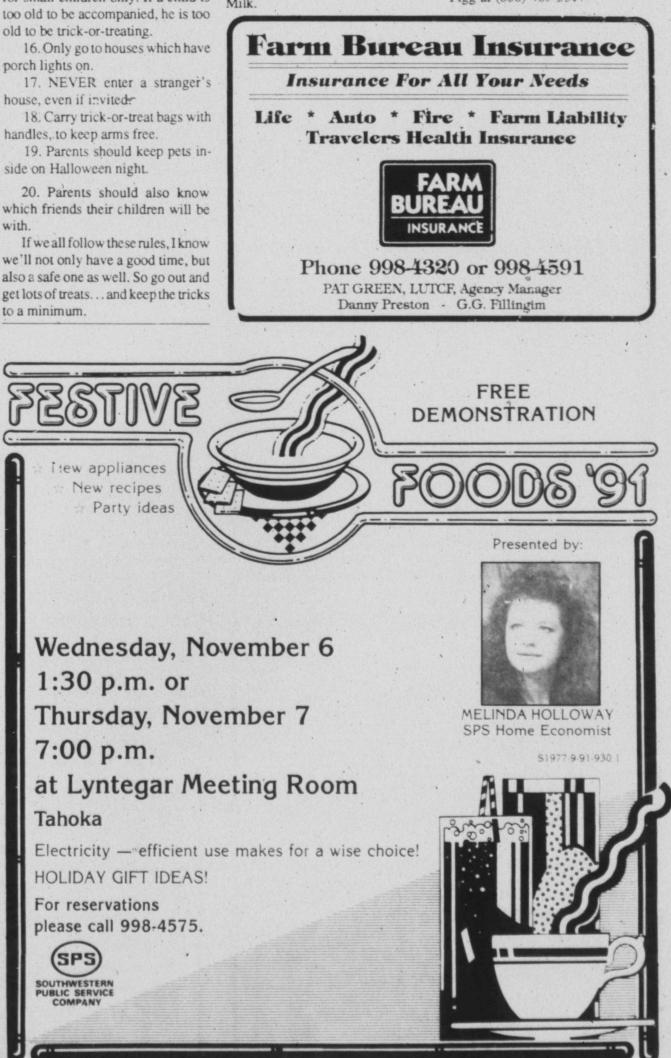

10. Cut and wash fruit before eat-

11. Throw away anything un wrapped.

items are found. 14. A responsible adult or teen should accompany each group. 15. Trick-or-treating should be for small children only. If a child is Milk.

Sundown Gives Dogs Long Night

Sundown brought on a long night for the Tahoka Bulldogs last Friday, as the visiting Dogs, playing mostly sophomores and juniors, were just too young to do much against the Roughnecks, who won 27-0 in only their second victory of the season.

, Tahoka's record for the season went to 1-7, with prospects not good for any more victories this season. Idalou comes to Tahoka this Friday night after losing a close 18-14 game to New Deal, which will be Tahoka's final opponent of the season.

, Tahoka's team is getting younger every week, but Coach Tim Smith is not overjoyed at finding the fountain of youth for his team. More and more junior varsity players have been moved up the varsity as half of the eight seniors who started the season with the Bulldogs are now gone, and one of the remaining seniors and a couple of juniors who had been key starters have been injured.

One Tahoka senior who is still playing and doing a good job is Daniel

Your Child's Unique Learning Style

by CHARLES CATE PRINCIPAL TAHOKA HIGH SCHOOL

One of the challenges facing educators is finding ways to accommodate the wide variety of learning styles among students.

What do we mean by learning style? Take a unit of study like the arrival of the Pilgrims on American shores in the early 17th century. Some students relate just fine to the material as it is presented in a textbook. For others, the material has more meaning if they can get their "hands on it" by drawing pictures of the Mayflower or participating in a skit about that first, harsh winter.

At home, some students will memorize the facts and dates they need to know about the colonization of America sitting at a table or desk, with a bright light overhead. Another student may learn better lying upside down on his bed, with music in the background and dim lighting. Still another may need to take frequent "breaks" to get drinks of water or stretch his legs.

There are over 20 different com-and individual learning "personality" or style. There is, therefore, no one best way for all people to study or learn, but only a correct way for each individual to learn best. Some students learn best with background music, others need golden silence. Some students can sit still for hours, others have to walk around or look out a window every now and then to keep focused.

At school, we try to be as flexible and responsive to each student's needs as possible. Of course, because we are dealing with large numbers of students, it is not always possible to be as fully flexible as we would like, but at home, it is easier for parents to adjust to their child's study needs... A word of caution: we are not talking about study skills here, which are behaviors that need to be learned by all students as they get older. Study skills represent a student's willingness to take the time to learn information and prepare for tests effectively and complete homework assignments in a timely fashion. Learning style is simply the way that a student learns.

However, there is no point insisting that your child sit up in a straight-

One of the components that makes his schoolbook. If you notice your up learning style is reaction to environmental elements, such as preference for room temperature, background noise and lighting. Other components arise from a student's level of curiosity, sense of time (past, useful. present or future orientation), need for mobility, memory style and need for structure (or lack of structure). Whether a student is a "morning" or "night" person will also affect his learning style as will what motivates him to achieve and whether he is cautious or a risk-taker. Cultural factors will also play a role in shaping a student's style of learning.

Taken together, these components and others make up a student's unique

MEDICATION COMPLIANCE

Up to 30% of hospital admissions of elderly patients are related to non-compliance in following doctors orders in taking prescription medication. Some of the confusion may be traced to unclear or incomplete instructions from the physician, or on the prescription container. The elderly patient, often handicapped by impaired vision, cognition, and memory, needs exceptionally clear instructions to assure an accurate dosage schedule. If ever there is a question about the correct way to take a prescription, we urge the patient to contact the physician or the pharmacist for clarification.

Sundown, who had put of a 6-0 lead with four minutes to go in the game, was at the 10 yard line. A touchdown saving tackle by Donnie Walton kept the Roughnecks out of the end zone.

After an interception, the Roughnecks took over again at the Bulldog's 35 yard line. Tahoka held and took over possession with two minutes and 30 seconds left.

The young Bulldogs drove 50 yards and scored to tie the game. Stephen Gwin scored from 4 yards out, and the extra point attempt failed.

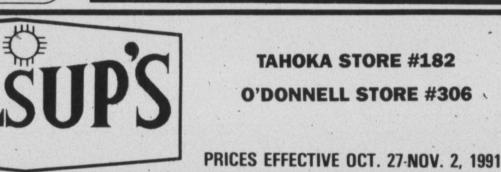

Leading tackler for the Bulldogs was Jesse Perez with 10, Micah Stone 7, Gerald Cantu 7, Michael Castillon 7, Michael Rodriguez 5, Walton 5, David Garvin 4, Clay Taylor 4 and Gwin 2.

Curtis Erickson turned in a good passing performance. His main target was Stephen Rodriquez, who had three catches for 31 yards.

"The guys-worked our game plan to perfection," said Coach Steve Qualls. "They were so excited, I couldn't help but get excited with them."

"We corrected our defensive mistakes from the Post game and the kids hung tough. Having a chance to win at the end made everyone a little nervous. Next time we get in that situation we'll be ready," said Coach Qualls.

> That afternoon all students attended a "mock" memorial service for the accident victims. Reverend Marvin Gregory, pastor of First United Methodist Church, eulogized each student and discussed what a tragic loss THS had experienced. A moving part of the ceremony was when a loved one or friend presented each accident victim with a flower." Then, Reverend Gregory pleaded with THS students to understand the reality of losses caused by drinking behavior and to refrain from this activity.

On Friday, students were treated to a multi-media three-screen production focused upon the war on drugs and alcohol.

SUMMARY OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS For the November 5, 1991, Election John Hannah, Jr., Secretary of State

This November, Texans will have the opportunity to vote on 13 proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution. To help you make informed decisions on these propositions, we present the following summaries of the proposed amendments. Below you will find the proposition as it will appear on the ballot followed by a brief description of the effect the proposition will have if it is passed.

Proposition 1:

"The constitutional amendment allowing home-rule cities with a population of 5,000 or less to amend their charters by popular vote."

Summary: A home-rule city is a city that is able to govern itself, generally through the actions of a city council or commission. To become a home-rule city, a city must have a population of at least 5,000, it must hold an election " to become a home-rule city, and the measure must pass by a majority vote. Once a city becomes a home-rule city. it may adopt a charter, and this charter may be amended through an election every two years. However, under current law, if the population of a home-rule city falls below 5,000, the city is no longer allowed to amend its charter. If passed, this amendment would allow homerule cities whose populations have fallen below 5,000 to continue to amend their charters through elections.

The purpose of this amendment is to encourage economic development in enterprise zones. Because some personal that the State does not currently have. Selling bonds is one property will not be taxed, it will be less costly to operate a business in an enterprise zone

Notes: An ad valorem tax is a tax imposed on the value of property. An enterprise zone is an area that has substantial poverty, unemployment, and economic distress. A qualified business is a business that is actively engaged in a new business in the enterprise zone or is expanding a business that is already active in the enterprise zone. "Enterprise zones" and "qualified businesses are designated by the Texas Department of Commerce.

way that State debt is created

Proposition 9:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the commissioner of the General Land Office to issue patents for certain public free school fund land held in good faith under color of title for at least 50 years.

Note: Creating a debt for the State means spending money

Summary: This amendment deals with lands that are technically owned by the state of Texas. In some cases, people have purchased or acquired this land from one other than the State. While the State still technically owns this land, some people who purchased or acquired the land did not know that the land was owned by the "The constitutional amendment creating the Texas Ethics state. From the time that these people purchased or. acquired this land, they have believed that they are the legal owners

Proposition 2:

"The constitutional amendment mandating the repayment to the Department of Transportation of monies expended to assist the Texas Turnpike Authority in the construction, maintenance, and operation of turnpikes, toll roads, and toll bridges.

Summary: If passed, this amendment will allow the legislature to authorize the Texas Department of Transportation to spend money on turnpikes, toll roads, or toll bridges of the Texas Turnpike Authority. The Department of Transportation may use any available money that it has for this purpose. However, if the Department of Transportation uses money from the state highway fund, this money must be replaced by money collected by the Texas Turnpike Authority from tolls and turnpike revenue. Currently, the state is not allowed to use any public money to build or maintain toll roads or turnpikes.

Proposition 3:

"The constitutional amendment to authorize the legislature to further implement and enhance the administration of the veterans' housing assistance and land programs and to expand the investment authority of the Veterans' Land Board.

Summary: If passed, this amendment would ease the restrictions on how the Veterans' Land Board can invest money from the Veterans' Land Fund and the Veterans' Housing Assistance Fund. The board may invest any money that is not to be used for the payment of principal and interest on bonds, the purchase of lands, or the payment of expenses. In addition, the board is no longer limited to investing this money in bonds or securities of the federal government.

Proposition 4:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance of up to $1.1 billion in general obligation bonds for acquiring, constructing, or equipping new prisons or other punishment facilities to confine criminals, mental health and mental retardation institutions, and youth corrections institutions, for major repair or renovation of existing facilities of the institutions, and for the acquisition of, major repair to, or renovation of other facilities for use as state prisons or other punishment facilities.

'Summary: If passed, this amendment will allow the state to issue up to $1.1 billion in general obligation bonds. The money from selling these bonds will be used to acquire. construct, or equip new prisons and substance abuse facilities, mental health and mental retardation institutions, and youth corrections institutions. This money will also be used to repair and renovate existing facilities. The bonds and interest on the bonds will be paid from the first money coming into the state treasury that is not set aside by the state constitution for other purposes.

Note: A general obligation bond is a bond that is repaid from the State's general revenue fund. Most of the money in this fund comes from state taxes and fees

Proposition 5:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the exemption for ad valorem taxes of certain property in an enterprise zone.

Summary: This amendment deals with property owned by an individual or organization that does business in an enterprise zone. If passed, this amendment would allow a county, a junior college district, or a municipality to exempt certain personal property from ad valorem taxation. To be exempt from this tax, the following conditions must be met: (1) the property must be acquired or brought into the state in an enterprise zone to be forwarded outside the state; (2) the property must be assembled, stored, repaired, maintained, manufactured, processed, or fabricated in the enterprise zone; (3) the property must be transported outside the state within 175 days after being acquired or brought into an enterprise zone; and (4) the person who acquired or brought the property into an enterprise zone is in a qualified business.

Proposition 6:

Commission and authorizing the commission to recommend the salary for members of the legislature and the lieutenant governor, subject to voter approval, and to set the per diem for those officials, subject to a limit."

Summary: If passed, this amendment will create a Texas Ethics Commission that is established by the Texas Constitution. The commission will consist of eight appointed members. These members will be selected by the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor, and the Speaker of the House from lists of names submitted by legislators from each major political party. This commission can recommend the salary of the members of the legislature. It can also recommend that the salary of the Speaker of the House and the Lieutenant Governor be higher than the 'salary of the other members. If the commission recommends a change in salary, the voters of the state will be able to accept or reject the salary change at the next general election for state and county officers. If the voters approve, the recommended salary, the salary will take effect on January 1st of the next odd-numbered year. If the voters reject the salary, the salaries would remain the same. In addition, the commission can set the per diem of the members of the legislature and of the Lieutenant Governor. This per diem could be raised or lowered every two years, as necessary. The commission will also have other powers and duties as provided by Senate Bill 1, 72nd Legislature, Regular Session (the ethics bill). Finally, this amendment provides that an increase in the Lieutenant Governor's salary will not disqualify a legislator from becoming Lieutenant Governor. If this amendment does not pass, there will still be a Texas

Ethics Commission that is established by statute. This commission could not set the per diem of the members of the legislature

Note: A commission that is established by the Texas Constitution can only be repealed by the voters. A commission that is created by statute can be repealed by the legislature

Proposition 7:

"The constitutional amendment to allow the board of trustees of a statewide public retirement system to invest the funds of the system in a manner that the board considers prudent. 4

Summary: If passed, this amendment will change the way in which the board of trustees of each statewide public retirement system can invest the system's funds. Currently, a board can only invest its retirement funds in securities (stocks, bonds, etc.). However, if this amendment passes, a board may invest its retirement funds in any way that it thinks is prudent.

Proposition 8:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the voters of this state to consider state debt questions in the form of ballot propositions that must clearly describe the amounts, purposes, and sources of payment of the debt only after approval of the propositions by a two-thirds vote of each house of the legislature."

Summary: This amendment deal with the way that voters will vote on legislative action that would create a debt for the State. Currently, all propositions that create state debt must be approved by two-thirds of each house of the legislature and by a majority of voters during a constitutional amendment election. When these propositions are passed, they actually become part of the state constitution

If passed, this proposition would still require propositions that create debt to be approved by a two-thirds vote of the legislature and a majority of the voters. However, when these propositions are passed, they will not become part of the state constitution. Instead, they will be enacted by statute. In addition, when the proposition is placed on the ballot, it must clearly describe the purpose of the debt, the cost of the debt, and how the debt will be repaid. The amount of the debt in the proposition can not be exceeded or renewed unless the proposition says that the debt can be exceeded or renewed.

If passed, this amendment will allow the Land Commissioner to give the legal title for this land (called public free school fund land) to certain people. A person is entitled to receive a legal title to this land if: (1) the land is surveyed public free school land; (2) the person could not gain the land's title under previous law; (3) when the person acquired the land, he or she did not know that the land was legally owned by the state and has believed that he or she has owned the land since January 1, 1941; (4) the person has a recorded deed on file in the county courthouse and has claimed the land for at least 50 years as of January 1. 1991; and (5) all taxes on the land, including any interest and penalties for late tax payments, have been paid for at least 50 years

Note: Public free school fund land is owned by the State. Any revenue that this land generates (through sale, rent, etc.) is placed in the Permanent School Fund.

Proposition 10:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to exempt from ad valorem taxes certain property of a nonprofit corporation that supplies water or provides wastewater service.

Summary: This amendment deals with property owned by a nonprofit corporation that supplies water or provides wastewater services. If passed, this amendment will allow the legislature to exempt property that is owned by these corporations from ad valorem taxes. In order for this property to be exempted, the nonprofit corporation must meet the following conditions: (1) the corporation's, bylaws must say that, if the corporation stops operating, any leftover assets must be transferred to an organization that provides water supply, wastewater service, or both: (2) the leftover assets must be property that can be used for water supply and wastewater services.

Note: An ad valorem tax is a tax imposed on the value of property.

Proposition 11:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing a state lottery.

Summary: If passed, this amendment will allow the State to operate lotteries. The State would also be able to contract with other organizations that would operate lotteries on the State's behalf.

Proposition 12:

"The constitutional amendment to increase from 20 percent to 50 percent the percentage of Texas water development bonds previously authorized by Texas voters that may be issued for economically distressed areas."

Summary: This amendment deals with reallocating a percentage of the $500 million of Texas water development bonds that were approved by Texas voters in 1989. These bonds were to be issued to fund water supply, water quality, and flood control projects. Currently, the board is limited to issuing 20% of the $500 million (or $100 million) of these bonds to provide water and wastewater facilities to economically distressed areas of the state. If passed, this amendment will allow the board to issue up to 50% of the $500 million (or $250 million) of these bonds for this purpose.

Proposition 13:

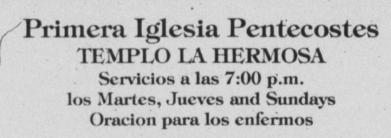

"The constitutional amendment providing for the issuance of general obligation bond's not to exceed $300,000,000 to continue existing programs to provide educational loans to students, with repayments of student loans applied toward retirement of the bonds."

Summary: If passed, this amendment will allow the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board to issue up to $300 million in general obligation bonds. The money from selling these bonds will be used to finance educational loans to students. In the past, all bonds in this program have been retired through repayments from student borrowers, not the taxpayer.
