Trailer, Tools, Stereo Items And Dog Reported Stolen

A silver Lee 16-foot utility trailer owned by Bartley Grain was reported stolen from west of the company's main building last Sunday, and Crime Line, 998-5145, is offering a $500 reward for information clearing the theft. The trailer is silver, and has a bent tongue.

Tahoka Police Dept. received a report from a resident on S. 5th that his dog had been stolen by a woman resident of the city. He said the dog had been missing about three months and he saw it in the woman's possession last week. The woman told police she bought the dog in Lubbock.

Hand tools valued at about $100 were reported stolen from a 1981 Ford pickup owned by Lynn County Precinct 4 last weekend, while parked on N. 1st.

Mario Castillo, 1208 Ave. E. reported two equalizers valued at $75 each stolen from his home Monday. Entry was gained through a window.

In jail during the week were one person each for no liability insurance, failure to identify to a peace officer, application to revoke probation on charges of driving while intoxicated, second offense, and application to revoke probation on charges of DWI first offense.

ON SATURDAY the residents of Lubbock will vote on the proposed half-percent sales tax increase, an issue which is being heavily promoted in the Lubbock media as necessary for Lubbock to have "economic development."

Those of us living near Lubbock but not in the city have no vote on whether the tax will be passed, although we are the ones who will be paying most of it.

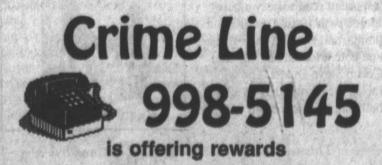

I would guess (and it's just a guess) that more than half of the retail sales in Lubbock come from people living outside the city, so what this means is that those who live in Lynn, Lamb, Crosby. Hale. Terry or any of the other nearby counties are going into Lubbock to buy products that have not only the 6 1/ 4 per cent state sales tax, but also a half per cent county and another one and a half percent city tax on top of that. We "outsiders" who buy things in Lubbock are paying an extra one per cent over what we would pay for the same thing at home, if we could find it at home.

And if you can find it at home, you ought to buy it at home.

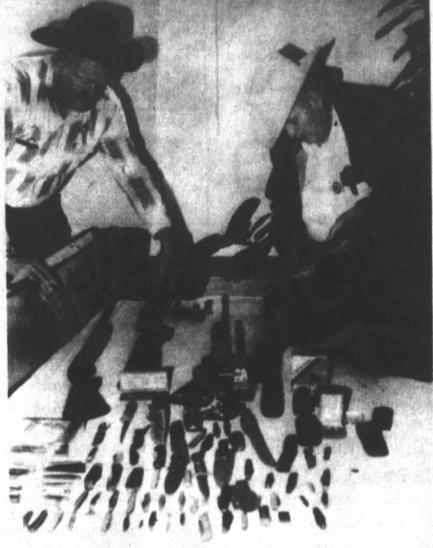

KNOTHOLES in the Woodwork: The Texas DPS has been bragging about a new laser speed detector they have that will outwit the radar detectors and catch more speeders. Of course, the radar detector makers say they will have an answer for that pretty soon. . . The state's law enforcement people need to spend less time and money catching speeders and more time trying to catch burglars and dope peddlers. . . Gib Lewis mailed to this newspaper 50 sheets of typewritten material on how great a job he did while he was speaker of the Texas House and the fact that he doesn't plan to run for the office again. Few editors will read all that stuff, the very volume of which indicates that he must be planning to run for something else, like governor, one of these days. . . We read somewhere the other day that while it's not so important to exercise regularly just to lose some weight, it is very important to keep exercising to remain at the desired weight. I don't doubt all this, but it is depressing to someone whose main regular exercise is walking to the car, plus exercising his right to vote a couple of times a VISITORS TO TEXAS in 1991 ranked shopping, historical tours and historical museums as the top three activities while in the state, and friendliness and scenery as things they enjoyed most. They also liked to take pictures of things.

The release which told me all of that later said the top attractions in the fall were San Antonio's River Walk and Alamo, Big Bend National Park and the State Capitol complex in Austin. The choices were kind of a surprise to me, especially that last one. I would have guessed that the average person entering the state would head for the nearest mall, for the mythical Southfork Ranch and maybe would go hunting for Willie Nelson or the Texas Schoolbook Depository and/or possibly Bubbles Cash.

At 8:30 p.m. trustees called for an executive session to discuss superintendent evaluation and personnel, and returned to regular session at 12:12 a.m. No action was taken at that point, and after a short superintendent's report the board adjourned at 12:20

ASCS Announces Disaster Payments

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service will administer a crop disaster assistance program to compensate eligible producers for crop losses caused by drought, flood, and other natural disasters in either 1990 or 1991.

"To be eligible, producers with crop insurance must have had losses greater than 35 percent," said ASCS official Jerry Harris, Chairman of the Texas State ASC Committee. "Producers without crop insurance must have had losses greater than 40 percent."

Program applications may be filed from February 3 through March 13.

The 1990-91 crop disaster program provides cash payments for production losses on participating program crops of wheat, feed grains, upland cotton, extra long staple cotton, and rice; nonparticipating program crops; peanuts, soybeans, sunflowers, sugar beets, sugarcane and tobacco; and all commercial nonprogram crops.

to file should begin to assemble their records now, so they will be ready when the program opens. He said that farmers will receive a special mailing with specific information on the program this month. "If a producer does not receive the disaster program information in the mail by February 3, he or she should call the county ASCS office."

Harris said producers who intend

Harris explained that a producer may not file on one crop on a farm for one year and a different crop on the same farm for the other. "However, the producer may request benefits for 1990 on one farm and for 1991 on another farm."

The ASCS official said disaster payments would be computed according to the 1990 Farm Bill, and expects to begin issuing payments to farmers by April 16. Further details of the disaster payment program may be obtained from the local ASCS office.

The legislation first passed allowed producers to place eligible cotton under Commodity Credit Corporation loan and redeem the loan at the lower of Average World Price (AWP) or loan price plus interest. It was determined that producers could have the option to receive a direct payment and not be required to enter the loan. This payment would equal the gain that could have been received by entering the loan and redeeming the loan at the AWP. This would save the producers and the county office time with the producer receiving the same income.

The AWP is announced Thursday evening of each week and the county office is notified the following morning. This rate is used for loan redemption or payments made during that week. The AWP has been 44.07¢ per pound for the last few weeks. The payments have been 6.7¢ per pound (50.77 - 44.07 = 6.7).

Producers are encouraged to inquire about this payment before selling and delivering cotton. Information can be obtained at the local ASCS office or from the gin personnel for cotton ginned at Coop gins.

Jammin' January Challenges Students Here With Fun Learning Experiences

Jammin' January, a week full of fun and learning for Tahoka Junior High and High School students, ended with a program last Saturday in the high school auditorium and a dance in the school cafeteria.

Work accomplished by students in t-shirt painting, art, woodwork, mapping and drafting, welding, sewing and photography were on display for parents and visitors to view.

Patti Page Sisks, a model associated with Robert Spence, narrated a fashion show featuring the students who took make-up and modelling class during Jammin' January. The girls modelled clothes furnished by Peggy Jennings, owner of Jennings of Tahoka. Mrs. Jennings also led a class of students in Clothes Buying during the week.

Byron Norwood, who taught choir and learned. That is really what we were trying to accomplish — show students that learning can be fun.

"I would like to personally thank Glo Hays. She came up with the idea,

"I don't think anyone in Texas had such a fun time during high school as I did last week," said a new student at Tahoka High School.

Contemporary dancers, taught by junior Myra Williams, also performed a routine they had learned. Western dancers showed off what they learned in their class, taught by Leah Taylor and Stephen Morgan. Byron Norwood and Brett Cypert also helped teach western dance.

"I think that Jammin' January was a huge success," said Principal Charles Cate. "The students had fun

"I also appreciate all the hard work that the teachers put into this week," said Cate. "And, of course, the many other people from our community and other places who gave our stu-

Discussions in movie analysis were led each afternoon by English teacher Barbara Foster. Computer teacher Angie Ehlers worked with IBM and Texas Tech College of Education to help students learn more about computers.

Cosmetology was a special treat for students who were taken to Lamesa by Mrs. Altah Harvick, Tommye Sue Pebsworth and Mrs. Rebecca Ingle. Each student got a manicure and a facial by students supervised by Connie Edwards.

Local law enforcement officers Steve McKay and Jerry Webster and DPS officers Gilbert Arrendondo and Jay Drusedow helped students learn more about crime and drug education. Gay Lynn Jackson and Junior Vasquez of the Lubbock County Sheriff's department brought five convicted prisoners to speak to students in these classes. Woodworking skills were taught by David Hale. Students were given an opportunity to make something with wood and work in his shop. Wood for the class was donated by Curtis Ferguson and Higginbotham-Bartlett, who also sold gloves for students in rappelling at a reduced price.

Many students went one-on-one in assisting teachers in elementary classrooms. Others spent time touring KAMC, Channel 28 and KCBD, Channel 11. A few students got to spend an entire day watching news, weather and sports people. These stations welcome our students and many were treated to lunch by Channel 11 manager Bill deTournillon. Newsman Joe Conger, Becky Belew in the Public Service department and newswoman Karin McCay were some of the KCBD people students said were most helpful.

Mrs. Julia Gill volunteered her time to teach a calligraphy class. "Although we were unable to fit the class in this year, Mrs. Gill had set aside her time and was ready to teach the class," said Ronald Roberts, assistant principal.

"We hope everyone who helped make this week a success knows they have our thanks and appreciation," said Cate. "We hope we haven't failed to thank someone or give someone recognition for sharing their time and skills with our students. If we left you off, please let us know and be assured you have our thanks."

Student comments about Jammin'
January proved the week was successful. Senior Ramon Montemayor said, "It was a great time to explore many different areas of occupations and life. This week provided me an opportunity to learn as well as have fun. I loved getting to be a disc jockey. Jammin' January is one thing about school I'll never forget!"

One student, Raymond Moreno, who is new to THS, checked in school on the first day of Jammin' January. He said, "I don't think anyone in Texas had such a fun time during high school as I did last week. At the same time I learned much about careers. I learned about how to DJ and I experienced the thrill of really getting a dance started. I believe once you feel that feeling, you'll never forget it."

Greg Smith, a freshman at THS, took lifesaving water skills at Texas Tech. He said, "Lifesaving is an experience that I will never forget. I might even get a job later as a lifeguard."

Many other teachers and students had positive comments about the week, and the general consensus seemed to be that Jammin' January was a "terrific learning experience", and one that is worth repeating in future years.
