Public Schools Week Local schools, students strive for excellence ...

"I appreciate the support the community does give; it is good. When we need something, they are there." However, Cate said that they could use more support.

Miss Helmlinger is also positive about the way things are going this year at her elementary campus. She said, "We've had a fantastic year so far. It is my third year as principal, and my students and staff are great. We have the same vision for excellence."

Miss Helmlinger said that she thinks it's great to have a theme for Texas Public Schools Week, however, she also wanted to point out that the elementary school has a theme all year. "The theme 'Bee Super' is saturated throughout the curriculum to let the children know that they are first," she said.

The theme is prevalent throughout the school: in the halls and in the classrooms. Super is an acronym in which the S is for self-esteem, U is for unity, P is for positive, E is for enthusiasm, and R is for respect. Miss Helmlinger described her school as a "safe haven" for children where much more than academics is taught. "Coping skills and survival skills are taught as well," she said.

Dr. Carter also had very positive things to say about the way the school year has progressed thus far. "We've had less discipline problems this year," he said. "My philosophy is that students will always expend a certain amount of energy. If the proper programs are provided, students become involved and expend their energy in a positive way." Thus, his goal is to provide as many activities as he can.

Since he is in his fifth year as superintendent, Dr. Carter has seen some changes in the Tahoka school system. Technology has played an important role in schools, with computer systems being added from Kindergarten through high school classes in recent years. Enrollment has been stable for the past seven years. This year there are 60 teachers in the school system: 28 in the high school and 32 in the elementary school, and currently there are 290 students in grades 7-12 and 411 students in grades K-6 enrolled at TISD.

Dr. Carter has an ultimate vision and goal for improving the education process in Tahoka. Eventually, he wants to do everything by committees composed of administrators, teachers, and parents. "In this way, everyone is involved in the planning process to make sure the schools represent what the community wants," he said. "It will take some time for the process to work because parents and teachers have not been asked to do this before," Dr. Carter added.

Since his ultimate goal is to improve education of the students, Dr. Carter feels the teachers need to have more training days. To illustrate his point, Dr. Carter used an example from his Navy days. He said, "In the Navy, when there was a new weapon system installed, the first experts were the teachers. They were trained very thoroughly so that they became experts, and then they could train the operational forces," he explained.

"It's an audio visual world, and this is the way children learn best. Therefore, we can't buy a new piece of technology and expect teachers to teach with it without having the proper training," Dr. Carter said.

Not only has teaching and learning changed throughout the years, but the school itself has changed. The first school in Tahoka was built in 1903, and it was a 16' x 20' building near downtown. The first addition was built in 1907, with a second addition added in 1908. In 1926, a new three-story high school was built in the present location for $100,000.

In 1936, the North Elementary School was completed (renamed Gardner Building in 1985 in honor of Clifton Gardner, who served as high school and elementary principal for 26 years and later served as superintendent for two years). South Elementary, built in 1951, was later renamed Tubb Elementary as a memorial to Floyd Tubb who was principal at the time of his death. In 1953, improvements were made to the high school and to North Elementary. In 1958, a new gymnasium was constructed and four classrooms were added to South Elementary. In 1963, South Elementary was renovated, and the cafeteria was enlarged. Just two years ago, a learning resources center and additional offices and classrooms were added in a new addition between the two elementary buildings, bringing the two elementary campuses together.

The first superintendent for Tahoka ISD was J.B. Walker, who served from 1905 through 1908. Since then, there have been 21 superintendents in 84 years, with the longest term held by Otis Spears, who held the position for 13 years, from 1951 until 1964.

WHEN ARE CHILDREN TOO SICK FOR SCHOOL?

Each child has his own pattern of illness. There should be no absolute rules, but the usually healthy child should stay home: 1) if feverish; 2) if symptoms such as headaches, drowsiness, runny nose, nausea, diarrhea are sufficiently severe to be disabling; 3) if he is likely to disturb others in the class; 4) if it is impossible, due to his ailment, for him to profit from school.

There is no reason, except for rare medical contraindications, for a child to be in school without immunological protection from the available vaccines.

MAYBE FIGURES DON'T LIE, BUT SOMETIMES THEY CAN BE CONVENIENTLY MODIFIED TO HIDE THE TRUTH

My opponent in the Sheriff's race last week listed figures on budgets and expenditures for the two years he was in office and for the last three years when I have been in office. The figures he listed for the three years I have been in office were essentially correct, but for his own two years in office, he conveniently subtracted from his expenditures $15,707 of unbudgeted capital outlay in 1988 and more than $18,000 officially charged to his budget and spent in 1987 on required jail remodeling. Using the same basis for comparing both Cliff Laws' and Jack Miller's terms in office (the official totals for budgets and expenses in the sheriff's department, communications and jail funds), Cliff Laws spent $20,101 over budget in 1987 and $20,598 over budget in 1988. Jack Miller's three-year average spending over budget was $20,498 per year, but there was this major difference:

Jack Miller's spending over budget was mainly because of the added expense of feeding and keeping federal prisoners, a program which I initiated in 1989 and which has put $246,390 into the county's bank account in three years. Under this profitable plan which has generated an average of more than $80,000 per year for the county, the expense has been charged to the sheriff's department budget, but the income has gone into the general fund rather than into the sheriff's operating funds.

Figures which I have obtained from the audit reports for 1987 and 1988 when Cliff Laws was sheriff indicate the following totals, rather than what he has presented:

Sheriff/Jail Cliff Laws
	ACTUAL	DIFFERENCE
1987 BUDGET
$258,455	$278,556	($20,101)
1988 BUDGET
$279,955	$300,553	($20,598)

(These figures and figures for 1989-91 are from audit reports for 1989-90 and unaudited records for 1991, all available and open to the public at the Lynn County courthouse)

I want to continue to serve Lynn County residents as sheriff and I hope to continue to operate in a way that will help the county financially while enforcing the laws fairly and impartially and doing my best to prevent crimes as well as working to arrest those who break the laws.

Teachers Lay Foundations For Learning

78 school year I started my first office education class in the vocational program, and began getting calculators for every student. In the 14 years since, we've had electric typewriters, then advanced to electronic typewriters and obtained the seven IBM computer systems we have now," she adds.

At the beginning of her vocational program, called Vocational Office Education (VOE) but later changed to Business Professionals of America (BPA), she encouraged her students to enter the regional competition held annually. That first year, she had one student place in the competition, though not high enough to advance to the state level. Since then, she has had at least one student advance to state every year, and this year has 12 students competing at the state level the first week of March.

She had 25 students place at the regional competition, but only first and second place winners advance to state.

"Many people don't realize that this regional competition is with 32 schools, including 5A schools like Plainview, Lubbock and Amarillo. In fact, 18 of those 32 schools are 5A schools," says the proud teacher. "It's a very tough competition every year, and students must be very capable to advance to the state level," she adds.

Only students who take her office education class may join the co-curricular BPA club and compete in the annual competitions, according to Mrs. Jaquess. In addition to the competitions, they earn points for community and fund-raising projects for an honor called the Torch Awards.

"There are national guidelines for the students to follow to earn points for the Torch Awards," says Mrs. Jaquess. "They can earn the Torch Award locally, regionally, or at the state level. This year, I have two who earned state Torch Awards, Lana Parker and Alicia Handley. Points can be accumulated for two years, and it usually takes a second-year student to earn a state Torch Award," she explains.

In May, her students spend a month on job placement skills such nearly always filled to the limit. "This is something I like to do, and I enjoy offering it to the community," she says.

Mrs. Jaquess was named Business Teacher of the Year by the Region 17 Education Service Center, and was also listed in Most Predominant Educators of Texas Yearbook in 1983. She is a member of several professional organizations, and has had many students win awards in the BPA competitions.

"I want my students to know that no matter where they are in life, that they can always be learners."

as interviewing and resumé.

In her office education class, she teaches office support systems such as office skills, typing, filing, telephone skills, etc. She teaches business computer applications, an advanced computer class where she teaches the nation's leading software programs such as Lotus and Word Perfect, and desktop publishing. She also teaches an accounting class.

"There are no textbooks in my advanced computer class," says Mrs. Jaquess. "I teach the software programs and write my own applications. Only junior and senior students may take the class," she adds.

"In my accounting class, I teach in a story telling form. We create imaginary businesses and expand on it throughout the year, creating business and accounting problems, naming different managers, etc.," says the innovative teacher. "I believe that it not only makes the class more interesting, but students learn more with a hands-on type of experience," she explains.

She also teaches adult computer classes in the spring and fall, offering several different types of classes to the community in the evenings for continuing education, and limiting the class to allow for hands-on computer experience. These classes are

The thing she is most proud of, however, is not all the awards and recognitions she and her students have received. "I'm proud that my students can actually go out and do something in the working world. We keep up with the equipment and software so that they are prepared to go out in the real world and survive. They are actually using things they learned in my classroom," she says.

She has had many former students who have told her that they are using the skills they learned in her class. "I hear from a lot of former students. I've had several students who got their accounting start with me, and are now certified public accountants. I know of at least 15 former students who are now CPAs," she says with pride.

"I try to make each student feel like a special individual," she adds. "In class, it does not matter to me how much a student's neighbor knows - it's what each student is capable of learning that counts with me. I also try to set a good example in my classroom, with my language, conduct and way of dressing. I try to be a good role model for these kids," she explains.

Tahoka I.S.D. is fortunate to have Mrs. Jaquess on the teaching staff for the past 20 years, as well as many other educators whose individual teaching styles may vary but ultimately have one goal in mind: to educate the youth of Tahoka and create a basis from which individuals may continue to learn throughout a lifetime of change and challenges.

Newcomers to the district also bring new ideas and personalities to the school system. One of the newest teachers to the district is Mrs. Diane Gregory, who teaches fifth grade this year at Tahoka Elementary. Just two months after she began teaching at Tahoka, she was named KAMC Teacher of the Week, a feature on Channel 28 KAMC Lubbock television station.

THESE KIDS LOVE THEIR TEACHER - The students of Mrs. Diane Gregory were thrilled when she was named KAMC's Teacher of the Week this year, just two months after she began teaching with Tahoka I.S.D. Mrs. Gregory teaches fifth grade, and is shown with two of her students, Matt Chancy (left) and Eric Zavala. Student work will be displayed in elementary classrooms during Public Schools Week Open House next Thursday, March 5. (LYNN COUNTY NEWS PHOTO)

Teachers of the Week are chosen from letters of recommendation sent to KAMC by students, faculty or other community members. One of Mrs. Gregory's students, Kelly Flynn, wrote a letter recommending her teacher for the honor, and the teacher was surprised when the KAMC news team visited her classroom. She was featured on both the six o'clock and ten o'clock news.

Kelly described Mrs. Gregory as "sweet like an old friend" and the other students concurred with her judgment, claiming their teacher was "really special." Matt Chancy, another student in her class, said, "She helps us when we need it, and she is always there for us."

Mrs. Gregory was flattered by all the extra attention, but downplayed her role. "I really don't think I deserve it in a way because there are so many wonderful teachers right here in this school system. I'm the new kid on the block, and really feel humbled by it," she said.

She is proud of her students, and loves her job. "I want them to know that no matter where they are in life, that they can always be learners," Mrs. Gregory said. "I hope they always will be. It won't matter whether they are housewives, or working at jobs - they can always keep learning," she added.

She and her husband, Rev. Marvin Gregory, and their two daughters moved to Tahoka last summer from Anson, Tx., when her husband was named pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Tahoka. Their daughters, Carrie and Stephanie, attend school at Tahoka.

Lynn County Youth Compete In San Antonio

by Donna Peters

Thirty-three Lynn County Youth exhibited animals at the San Antonio Livestock Exposition (S.A.L.E.) last week. Even though dramatic sifts were implemented this year, Lynn County 4-H and FFA youth fared well.

From Tahoka, Katy Huffaker placed second with her Duroc. She finished with the highest ranking. Others who placed were: Betsy Huffaker, 12th medium wt Duroc; Curtis Erickson, 4th medium Spot; Jason Belew, 5th medium Cross; Brent Paris, 6th medium Hampshire; Lee Rash, 5th heavy Yorkshire; and Chad Swinford, 4th medium Berkshire.

In the sheep barn, Cody Hale placed 27th and Jason Belew earned 26th with medium weight, medium wool sheep.

Other Lynn county youth who exhibited project animals were: Kassidi Andrews, Shawn Brewer, Casey Donald, Cody Donald, Brandi

Gicklhorn, Eva Gicklhorn, Amy Henry, Anna Henry, Jon Hogg, and Matt Hogg. Halce Hughes, Whitney Hughes, Troy Hurley, Klyssa Kelln, Krystin Kelln, and Brandi Kieth also participated. Lynn County rounded off with Jason Marshall, Robin Martin, Misty Nance, Brek Paris, La' Shea Pridmore, Lynna Rash, Gary Smith, Greg Smith, Carrie Taylor, Clay Taylor, and Brooke Tekell.

UNO TOURNAMENT- Eva Gicklhorn, Mable Morgan, Klyssa Kelln, Tennie Meeks, and Ina Slover play a game of Uno at the Y.E.S. Uno Tournament held here recently.

Seniors, Youth Participate In Uno Tournament

Youth Exchanging with Seniors (Y.E.S.) youth service providers and potential senior clients recently competed in an Uno tournament at the Senior Citizen's Center in Tahoka.

This tournament was an intergenerational activity uniting the 4-H and FFA youth trained to provide service to seniors in the Y.E.S. project. The goal of the Y.E.S. project is to promote positive intergenerational relationships between youth and seniors by providing assisted living services that enhance independent lifestyles of the elderly in rural communities.

The Y.E.S. project is still available to those senior clients who are interested. A call to the Lynn county extension office is all it takes to arrange a youth service provider. Requests are distributed through adult job coaches such as Nancy Monk, from Tahoka, and Sheri Gicklhorn of Wilson.

Those participating in the tournament included: Louise Smith, Ina Slover, Catherine Barham, Mable Morgan, Teenie Meeks, Pete Todd, and Donna Peters, CEA-He. Y.E.S. youth included: Eva Gicklhorn, Jason Marshall, Krystin Kelln, Jason Belew, and Klyssa Kelln. Prizes were furnished by Uno.

County Commissioners Okay Hiring Of New County Agricultural Agent

Lynn County Commissioners met in regular session Monday morning and unanimously approved offering a contract to Wade Shackelford for Lynn County Agricultural Extension Agent, a position formerly held by Brett Cypert, who resigned here recently. Commissioners also approved an agreement with Waste Management of Lubbock for the county landfill operation, and okayed the purchase of an automobile for the Lynn County Sheriff's Department.

Wade Shackelford was born and raised in Glen Rose, Texas and is currently assistant county agent at Hereford. Commissioners expect Shackelford's contract to be effective April 1, 1992.

Commissioners gave County Judge J.F. Brandon approval to begin working with Waste Management of Lubbock, a company specializing in solid waste disposal, to install waste bins at the county landfill to collect waste material, to comply with federally mandated regulations. Dumping in the ground at the county landfill will be prohibited beginning sometime in March, but county residents will be able to dump their waste materials in large open-top disposal bins provided at the dumpground.

City dumpster collection waste disposal will not be provided for by the county landfill, and city officials are currently working on several options to solve this problem.

The four county commissioners also voted unanimously to approve the purchase of a 1991 Buick Century program car, for $9,950, for the Sheriff's Dept. It was not stated what the purpose of the car was for.

In other business, Judge Brandon told commissioners that the City/County Library is asking for funds to pay for their monthly telephone fees, which had previously been paid by the Red Cross, but beginning next month will fall back under the jurisdiction of the Library. Judge Brandon said the City of Tahoka and the County may share responsibility of paying the phone bill, but no action was taken on this item.

Commissioners approved advertising for insurance bids, reportedly for insuring the courthouse building and liability insurance. The group approved the paying of bills, and okayed financing a portion of the cost of furnishing the district attorney's office with a law library, which other counties in the district are reportedly also approving. The total cost of the law book library was reported to be approximately $6,000, with Lynn County footing $1284 of that bill.

In other action, Judge Brandon read a petition for the courthouse to remain open on a Saturday and Sunday for the purpose of absentee voting in the upcoming Primary Elections. A petition signed by 20 residents was submitted to the county, and commissioners approved opening the courthouse on Saturday, Feb. 29, and Sunday, Mar. 1, for the purpose of absentee voting in the March 10 Primary Elections. Voter registration cards will be required for voting in the election.

Commissioners voted the court to share in expenses for a commemorative plaque as a memorial for Travis Graham, who was a court reporter in this district at the time of his death.

Present at the meeting were all four commissioners, T.A. Stone, Gerald Gerner, Sandy Cox, and J.T. Miller; County Judge J.F. Brandon; deputy clerk Ima Littlepage, and Susan Tipton of the County Treasurer's Office. One visitor spoke to the group, complaining about a ditch adjacent to his farm.

9-1-1 Program Presented At Rotary Club

Amy Preston, a new member of the Tahoka Rotary Club, was guest speaker at last week's noon meeting at T-Bar Country Club. She gave a presentation to club members on the 9-1-1 Emergency System in Lynn County, which was installed in October of 1991.

Mrs. Preston gave a brief factual presentation on how the 9-1-1 System was implemented in Lynn County, through the cooperative efforts of Poka-Lambro Telephone Cooperative, General Telephone, South Plains Association of Governments, and city and county officials, and mentioned an implementation cost of approximately $55,000.

There are still areas which have not implemented the emergency phone number system, but she said that by 1995 the 9-1-1 system is expected to be operational nationwide.

She also showed a brief video presentation, and answered questions from the group.

Mrs. Louise Landers, Hospital Administrator of Lynn County Hospital, told her fellow Rotarians of a new doctor who will be practicing at Lynn County Hospital beginning this summer, Dr. Donald Freitag. She mentioned that his wife's family lives in Wilson, and that the hospital is looking forward to his arrival.

Wilson News

by Loretta Abbe 628-6368

Sunday, March 8, there will be a Bridal Shower honoring Jana Wuensche, bride-elect of Jack Adams. The shower will be in the St. John Lutheran Educational Building from 3-4 p.m. Selections are at Hometown Hardware, Tahoka; Pauline's, Slaton; and Dillard's, Lubbock.

"Young at Heart" will meet Thurs., Feb. 27, at 1:30 p.m. at St. John. Come by for games and fellowship, bring a friend.

The Wilson Jr. Class is sponsoring a Dinner-Theater, March 12. The dinner will be held at 6 p.m. in the school cafeteria followed by the One-Act play at 8 p.m. More details as they become available.

Several Wilson residents are recovering from illnesses and recent hospital visits. We will no longer put people's names in the paper when they are hospitalized since we have heard of a recent incident where a possible burglary was averted when a family member discovered an out of town car and inhabitants prowling around a house. It had recently been mentioned that the homeowner was in a Lubbock Hospital. We regret this decision, but feel it is in the best interest of our local people.

Vandalism has once again struck Wilson. Sometime this past weekend, windows at the new and old city office were broken. Officials are taking the proper steps to help stop this from happening again.

City elections are coming up in May. March 3, is the first day to sign up to run for the offices up for election. Those positions up for election are Mayor, Jackie Bishop, and councilmen, David Cook, and Oscar Follis. For more information contact Shorty Moore at the city office.

Brandi Gicklhorn traveled to Houston for the Houston Stock Show and Rodeo. Brandi placed at Brenham last week and advanced to the sale at Houston. Gary, Shane, and Jace Moore traveled to Houston for the Houston Stock Show and Rodeo also.

Friday, Feb. 14, the third grade class had a pizza party. The third grade was awarded for having the highest TAAS test scores.

March 1st is the last day that people will be able to dispose of trash directly into the county landfill. There will be open-top bins available for use by county residents at the dumpground instead of dumping directly on the ground. City of Wilson dumpster collection will no longer be accepted at the Lynn County landfill; however city officials are currently working on several options for waste management collection.

Thursday, Feb. 27, there will be a dance at the Wilson little gym. This dance is to raise money for the Janessa Lee Foundation and entry is $2.50. Only kids in grades 6-9 will be admitted into the dance.

High school and Jr. high cheerleader tryouts are being planned. Tryouts for high school will be April 3, with practice starting March 23. Jr. high tryouts will be April 16, with practice starting April 6. For more information contact Mrs. Angie Crenshaw-Rogers at the school during business hours.

This week has been the end of the fourth six weeks and students in grades 7-12 have been busy taking tests.

There will be no school Friday, Feb. 28. This is a weather day for both students and teachers.

Kameron Livingston, a third grader at Wilson, was one of the 50 PIP (Players in Progress) players chosen to perform at Wayland Baptist in Plainview. They performed during the Flying Queen's game against Southern Illinois, Feb. 8. Kameron is the daughter of Kelly and Shelly Livingston. I am sorry for the delay in getting this in the news sooner.

The first Wilson High School baseball game will be Tuesday, March 3, at Morton. The game will start at 4 p.m. All who can go and support the team are encouraged to do so. This is Wilson's second year to have a baseball program.

Next Wednesday, March 4, will be another early dismissal day. School will be dismissed at 12:30 for grades K-12.

CLIFF LAWS

For Sheriff, Lynn County

Jack Miller is going to tell you that he has brought in $95,970.00 for housing federal prisoners this year. However, what he isn't going to tell you is:

1. He is housing these federal prisoners for $28.00 a prisoner per day, according to county financial records, while the going rate for housing federal prisoners in other county jails is $65.00 to $75.00 a prisoner per day. This is considerably less than what he is getting. The sheriff of the county where the prisoners are housed sets the price for a prisoner per day. What this calculates to for $65.00 a prisoner per day is $222,650.00 per year and at $75.00 a prisoner per day is $257,199.00 per year. If he were receiving the higher amounts he would be able to nearly subsidize his yearly budget without having to use county tax funds to run the Sheriff's Office.
2. He has had two federal prisoners escape, both being housed on federal drug charges. The first of these escaped in December 1989 while out cleaning, unsupervised, at the Senior Citizens building, and then stole a local vehicle parked at the Senior Citizens building. This particular federal prisoner has yet to be recaptured. The second federal prisoner escaped late one night in April 1990, while watching TV in the Sheriff's Office. The federal prisoner later stole a vehicle southeast of Tahoka, the vehicle was later recovered in Big Spring by Howard County Deputies. This federal prisoner is wanted for questioning of a double homicide of an elderly couple in Howard County, just three days after his escape from Lynn County Jail. This federal prisoner has not been recaptured either.
3. While housing these federal prisoners, Jack Miller has allowed convicted state and county prisoners to walk the streets of Lynn County free instead of being housed in the county jail. One prisoner was convicted for burglaries of county residences and given 40 years to serve in Texas Department of Corrections in April of 1991. This prisoner was allowed to stay in Lynn County and work on a local farm unsupervised. He was given a so-called weekend furlough in October 1991; during the furlough this prisoner led several county and state law enforcement officers through a three-county chase after attempting to steal hub caps at a car dealership in Lamesa. During the time this prisoner was convicted and finally sent to Texas Department of Corrections, he was allowed to do farm work out in the county, at which time Lynn County was having numerous residential burglaries out in the county.
4. Federal prisoners have been allowed to go to O'Donnell, Wilson, New Home and Tahoka to do various things, sometimes supervised, most of the time they were unsupervised. According to Federal Officials these prisoners shouldn't be allowed outside the jail area for any reason. Several times these federal prisoners were allowed to wear street clothes while out in the different Lynn County communities, allowing them free access to come and go as they wanted.

In closing I would like to say as your Sheriff: If Lynn County is going to continue housing federal prisoners, I will make sure Lynn County receives the highest dollar amount per day for housing federal prisoners. I will make sure that federal prisoners are kept behind bars and not put Lynn County citizens at risk from housing this type of person. These federal prisoners come from all parts of the United States for various federal crimes, why should we put so much trust in them and allow them to walk the streets of Lynn County? These federal prisoners should be locked up for a reason, to protect the citizens of Lynn County. Instead of the elderly couple in Howard County, it could have been an elderly couple in Lynn County. Is it really worth letting federal prisoners walk the streets of Lynn County? I feel it is time to change the Sheriff of Lynn County, before it's too late.

All these facts can be backed up by court documents or by newspaper accounts.
