NEW COUNTY CLERK - Lynn County Judge J.F. Brandon congratulates Mrs. Ima Robinson on her appointment as Lynn County Clerk, following the resignation of C.W. Roberts who held that position for 34 years. Mrs. Robinson has been employed in the County Clerk's office for 19 years, and was appointed to fill the clerk's position by unanimous consent of county commissioners. (LYNN COUNTY NEWS PHOTO)

County Clerk C.W. Roberts Resigns; Mrs. Ima Robinson Appointed Post

In a called session last Thursday afternoon, Lynn County Commissioners Court accepted the resignation of Lynn County Clerk C.W. Roberts, effective March 1, 1992, and appointed Mrs. Ima Robinson to fill that vacancy until the next regular election.

Roberts submitted a letter of resignation to the court, expressing regret for his decision but citing health problems as the impetus, saying that he believed "that this office requires the full time attention of the one who is serving as Clerk and (that I am) not able to perform my duties in the manner in which I would like to perform."

Roberts submitted a letter addressed to the citizens of Lynn County stating:

"It has been my honor and my privilege to have served Lynn County as its County Clerk since having been first elected to such office in the general election of 1958 until this time. "I believe strongly that the County

Clerk must devote his full time to the duties involved with that office and I have endeavored to do so during my 34 years in that office.

"As a result of my health condition, I have submitted my resignation to the Judge and Commissioners of Lynn County, Texas.

"I would like to take this opportunity to thank each and every one of the citizens of this County for allowing me to have served you and it is my sincere hope that I have filled this office with honor and integrity."

Mrs. Ima Robinson was appointed as County Clerk, effective March 1, 1992, and took the oath of office during the commissioners meeting. She has been employed in the Lynn County Clerk's office for 19 years, and commissioners unanimously approved her appointment as County Clerk.

All four county commissioners were present at the meeting, and several other county officials and guests.

Wilson School Special Election Set For April 18

A special election has been ordered to fill one spot on the Wilson School Board after the results of last year's regular school board election were challenged in district court by a candidate who came in third in the contest for two places on the board.

District Judge Gene Dulaney of Snyder heard the suit of Lowen Young Jr. against Keith Wied and Dan Cook, the winners in the election held May 4, 1991, and ruled Feb. 18 that the Wilson School District must have a new election to fill the spot which Cook has held since the election.

The court's ruling in effect voided the previous election for all candidates on the 1991 ballot except for Wied, who was declared elected. The judge decreed that "the election as to contestee Dan Cook is void."

It was ruled that a number of votes were cast improperly and that these votes were counted in determining the winners of the May 1991 election. The judgment of the court was that "the number of improperly cast votes are insufficient to affect the outcome of the first position. . . However, the number of improperly cast votes are sufficient to affect the outcome of the second position, and

... this court is unable to determine the outcome of the second position."

The election of Cook was declared void, and the school district was ordered to hold a new election for the second position on April 18, and that the ballot should include all candidates except Wied from the May 4, 1991 election unless a candidate withdraws his or her name.

There were seven candidates on the ballot of the 1991 election. The April 18 election to determine the 1991 winner will have no bearing on an upcoming school board election scheduled for May 2 for other positions on the board.

Absentee voting for the April 18 election will begin on April 6.

County Races To Be Settled On Tuesday

When Lynn County residents go to the polls Tuesday they mostly will vote in the Democratic Primary, since all those persons running for county offices are on the Democratic ballot.

Nomination to county offices in the Democratic Primary always has been the same as being elected, since no county candidates in memory have filed as Republicans, and interest is always highest in local races.

Rebekah Curry Wins County Spelling Bee

Tahoka fifth grader Rebekah Curry won the Lynn County Spelling Bee Tuesday night, March 3, in competition with 17 other contestants from Tahoka, Wilson and New Home. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Zane Curry of Tahoka.

She will represent Lynn County at the Regional Spelling Bee on Saturday, April 14 in Lubbock.

Miss Curry and Amanda Fuentes, another Tahoka fifth grader, were the top two contenders in the county bee, competing with each other from round five through round 16 in the event when Miss Curry spelled correctly the final word, "cranially."

Both Miss Curry and Miss Fuentes received a thesaurus for first and second place, and all contestants received a ribbon rosette, a certificate of participation, and a balloon.

Tying for third place in the county bee were five other contestants, who each lost in their fourth round of competition. They are Carolina Benavidez, Tahoka 6th grader; Kenny Follis, Wilson 6th grader; Wendy McNeely, New Home 5th grader; Rebecca Hudgens, Tahoka 5th grader; and Mandy Rodriguez, Tahoka 6th grader.

Other contestants included, from New Home, Cindy Caballero, Brooke Fillingim, Joseph Garcia and Misty Swartz; from Wilson, Billy Cavender, Jennifer Hernandez, Patricia Holder and Bryan Isham; and from Tahoka, April Braddock, Nichole Garcia and Myra Martinez.

The contest for sheriff between current Sheriff Jack Miller and former Sheriff Cliff Laws is one which has generated some heat, as each candidate has accused the other of various mishandling of the job. Miller is in the fourth year of office and Laws was sheriff in 1987-88.

Also on the Democratic ballot are these contested races:

For county tax assessor-collector: Sherry Pearce and Deloris Short. Longtime officeholder George McCracken chose not to seek reelection.

For county commissioner, Precinct 1 (northeast part of the county, including Wilson and part of Tahoka): Incumbent Gerald Gerner and new candidates Jacky Henry and Dan Curry.

For county commissioner, Precinct 3 (southeast part of the county, including O'Donnell and also part of Tahoka): Sandra Cox, who has been serving as commissioner since the death last year of her husband, elected commissioner Bobby Cox, and new candidates Oscar Calzada and Don Blair.

For justice of the peace, precinct 4, the unexpired term of the late Ben Morrison (south portion of the county, including part of Tahoka): Wayne Noland, Virginia Thompson and Alonzo Garcia.

Both Democrats and those who vote in the Republican Primary in Lynn County will mark their presidential preferences, with 11 candidates listed on the Democratic ballot, including Bill Clinton, Edmund G. Brown Jr., Paul Tsongas and Lyndon LaRouche Jr.

Republicans have six choices

Bill Sarpaulis of Amarillo is opposed in seeking the Democratic nomination for U.S. representative serving District 13, which he now serves, but which will be serving Lynn County also under new realignment which takes Lynn away from Charles Stenholm.

Four Republicans are vying for the GOP nomination for the same job, including former congressmen Beau Boulter and Bob Price. Price is the only one of the four who has campaigned in Lynn County.

With the deadline to file for candidacy just over two weeks away, filing is slow for places in the city and school elections in the four city councils and school districts in Lynn County.

Candidates may file until March 18 for the May 2 election for city and school boards.

Long-Term Weight Loss Requires Lifestyle Change

If you're on a diet—and have aspirations to quickly shed excess pounds—how can you avoid regaining the weight? Losing weight and keeping it off requires a life-long commitment, says Steve Silva, national director of fitness for Health Management Resources (HMR), a national healthcare company comprised of physicians, dietitians and behavioral health educators with more than 500 affiliated fitness programs across the U.S.

An estimated 23 million American adults are 20 percent or more over ideal body weight, putting them medically at risk for diabetes, stroke, heart disease and high blood pressure. Most who attempt a weight-loss program are repeatedly unsuccessful at losing weight and keeping it off.

"To lose weight gradually and safely requires making lifestyle changes necessary to manage weight over the course of a lifetime. In a nutshell, combining physical activity with a low-fat diet is the way to achieve true weight loss and should become a way of life," says Silva, an avid stairclimber, who has lost over 200 pounds and successfully kept it off for 13 years.

Helping many people find time to exercise is a company called Carolina Fitness Equipment, the nation's largest retailer of home and commercial fitness equipment. With 24 retail outlets throughout the U.S. and annual sales approaching $20 million, the company emphasizes a lifestyle approach to fitness. Its retail store managers are former exercise physiologists, trainers or athletes who provide personal consultation to customers to meet individual exercise needs.

To lose weight and keep it off, work fitness into a daily routine with home exercise equipment.

"Since exercise and healthy eating absolutely go hand-in-hand, many people are finding the best way to fit exercise into their busy schedules is to make it so convenient that they can't avoid it—right in their own home," says John Dorton, marketing director. "We encourage them to come into the store for a trial workout to learn what type of equipment works best for them."

The company features the most advanced home fitness equipment, with aerobic equipment designed to allow users to sustain their target heart rate over an extended period of time.

"Proper and regular use of any of our stairclimbers, skiers, treadmills and stationary bikes will reduce weight while strengthening the heart and lungs," says Dorton.

Small wonder many of those looking to lose weight are losing no time in making an investment in some quality home fitness equipment.

Woodwork...

One of our local candidates came into the office this week with an ad to run for the election coming up Tuesday, and I asked him if he planned to run something about the sex life of his opponents, especially if he could dig up something improper from their high school, or even grade school days.

He said he wasn't about to get into that kind of campaigning, and I don't blame him, but it seems to be the fashion in the last year or so to try to discredit every candidate for any office by dredging up something from years ago. Some of the dirt being uncovered about some of the candidates perhaps is relevant as to the character of the candidate, but some is just the national news media and/or another candidate just plain being tacky.

Some national candidates are running campaigns which say, in effect: I'm not much of a candidate, but I have successfully covered my lurid past. My opponent, on the other hand, is well known to have dropped pencils on the floor on purpose in the third grade so he could look up little girls' dresses. I have documented testimony from three of the girls whose entire lives and personalities were damaged by the experience. Also he is a racist pig who has been known to belittle minorities. And besides that, he is a Democrat (or Republican).

Very few of us could stand the kind of scrutiny now being given national candidates. This is why I have decided not to run for President of the United States.

BY FRIDAY, all of the IBM compatible computers may be sick. There is supposed to be a virus triggered on Friday that will wipe out a lot of valuable data on computers everywhere, but aimed primarily at IBM types, so we are told. A computer virus is like slashing tires, throwing rocks through windshields or watching wrestling on television: completely pointless. Setting up a virus to destroy someone's records or programs on a computer is plain criminal mischief, and in fact, carries criminal penalties. Hopefully enough computer users have been alerted to forestall the problems.

For most of us, our computers give us enough trouble without any viruses being tossed in.

Social Security Number for Dependents Age 1 or Older. If you can claim any person age 1 or older as a dependent, show that person's social security number on your tax return. If your dependent does not have a number, see your tax forms package for instructions.

More Benefit with the Earned Income Credit (EIC)—Use New Schedule EIC. You may be able to take this credit for 1991 if you earned less than $21,250 and a child lived with you. But you must file new Schedule EIC with Form 1040 or Form 1040A to do so. Read the instructions in the tax package to see if you can take this credit.

Increased Deduction for Exemptions. The deduction for each exemption—for you, your spouse, and dependents—is $2,150 for 1991. But your deduction may be limited if your adjusted gross income is more than $75,000. See further information in your tax package.

Limit on Itemized Deductions. If your adjusted gross income is more than $100,000 ($50,000 if married filing separately), you may not be able to deduct all of your itemized deductions. Read the Schedule A instructions in your tax forms package. Also, personal interest (such as interest you paid on car loans and credit card balances) is no longer deductible.

Maximum Tax Rate of 28 percent on Capital Gains. If you have a net capital gain, your tax may be less if you can use the tax computation on Schedule D (Form 1040) to figure your tax. See Part IV of Schedule D to see if this applies to you.

Alternative Minimum Tax Increased. The tax rate for individuals has increased to 24 percent.

Standard Deduction Increased. Because of the increase, it may be to your benefit to take the standard deduction this year even though you itemized deductions in the past. Use the Standard Deduction Chart in your tax package to figure the correct amount.

Private Lands Program Planned For Playa Lakes

A private lands program is being initiated by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service for areas containing playa lakes. The program will promote management, restoration, and enhancement of wildlife habitat in and around playa lakes. As a part of the North American Waterfowl Management Plan, the program will focus on improving habitat for waterfowl. However, improving habitat for ducks and geese will benefit many other types of wildlife. The emphasis of the program will be to provide financial and technical assistance to private landowners looking to improve their playas for wildlife.

David Haukos, a biologist for the program, says that the program will be designed to meet the needs of private landowners. "By providing money and guidance we should be able to achieve any wildlife goals landowners have for their playas and surrounding upland habitats," says Haukos.

For more information on the program and details on how to enroll contact: David Haukos, Natural Resources Specialist, Buffalo Lake NWR, P.O. Box 179, Umbarger, TX, 79091 or call (806) 499-3382 office, (806) 797-2012 home.

Farmers Face Contract Changes

Farmers on the South Plains are again facing changes in government program regulations in 1992.

The new regulations coming from Washington show a change in windstrips that will effect persons with Highly Erodeable Land (HEL). Windstrips for 1992 must be a minimum width of ten 40' Rows to qualify for ACR or CU for pay.

If your conservation plan with the Soil Conservation Service requires windstrips to be four 40' Rows, you are probably out of compliance.

SCS Now Offering Trees For Sale

The Lynn County Soil and Water Conservation District will have windbreak and Hardwood trees for sale starting Thursday March 5, 1992 at the Soil Conservation Service Office. The windbreak trees consisting of Afghanistan Pines and Redcedars sell for $1.50 and $2 each. The Hardwoods consisting of Red Oak, Russian Olive, Sandcherry, Cottonwood, Desert Willows, Native Plum, Naking Cherry, Catalpa and Pecans will sell for $1 each.

Come by the SCS Office at 1650 Ave. J and take a look at these nice trees, or for more information call Helen Saldana at 998-4622.

Chemical Use Granted To Combat Root Rot

A crisis exemption permitting use of the fungicide Baytan 30 on cottonseed to control black root rot has been granted by the Texas Department of Agriculture. The exemption applies to 36 West Texas counties, including Lynn County.

The exemption, under Section 18 of the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA), had been actively pursued by Plains Cotton Growers, with support of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas Agricultural Extension Service and others. It was effective February 25 and is good for 15 days, but will be extended while an application for emergency registration is being reviewed by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Seed treated during this period can be planted this spring, said Dr. James Supak, cotton agronomist with the Extension Service.

Black root rot is caused by the fungus Thielaviopsis basicola in the soil. The disease has been verified in several counties of the Texas South Plains and Trans Pecos, and additional counties in these regions are expected to be added to the list this season.

Baytan 30 is labeled as a seed treatment on wheat and has been shown effective on controlling black root rot on cotton.

Commercial cotton seed treaters must follow all directions, restrictions and precautions on the EPA-registered label of the chemical. Commercial seed treaters who don't have instructions on the use of Baytan 30 can obtain them by calling Dr. Harold Kaufman at the Texas A&M Agricultural Research and Extension Center, (806) 746-6101.

Businessman Director To Be Elected To Plains Cotton Growers

Lynn County cotton producers and agribusinessmen will elect a Businessman Director to Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. at a 7 p.m. meeting, Tuesday, March 10. The meeting will be held at the First National Bank, Tahoka.

Announcement of the election comes from Wayne Huffaker of Tahoka, Lynn County Producer Director to the 25-county cotton organization, and Joe D. Unfred of New Home, current Businessman Director.

Each of the counties in PCG territory has two directors, one a businessman and the other a cotton producer. They are elected on alternate years for two-year terms. Each is eligible for re-election every second year.

All producers and businessmen are invited to the meeting. However, under PCG By-Laws, only current dues-paying members of PCG will be eligible to be elected a director or to vote in the election. This provision of the by-laws will be fully explained at the meeting.

A PCG representative will conduct the election, review and answer questions about recent and planned PCG activities.

The 1985 Farm Bill required contracts that farmers must sign and follow to be eligible for program benefits, but year to year the National ASCS changes these contracts.

Farmers have considerable time and expense in establishing windstrips, whether they be permanent grass or some other cover crop without having to change them annually. If you do not agree with the 1992 changes contact your Congressman.

Economic Injury Disaster Loans Available From SBA

Walter Fronstin, district director of the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) in Lubbock announced today that SBA is accepting applications for Economic Injury Disaster Loans (EIDL) from eligible small business concerns and small agricultural cooperatives located in several West Texas counties serviced by the Lubbock office.

Fronstin said the counties affected are Andrews, Borden, Cottle, Crosby, Dawson, Dickens, Ector, Floyd, Gaines, Garza, Hale, Howard, Kent, King, Lubbock, Lynn, Martin, Midland, Motley, Stonewall, Terry and Winkler.

Applicants must have sustained substantial economic injury because of their dependence upon farmers and ranchers who suffered agriculture damages caused by hailstorms or drought which occurred between January 1 and July 19, 1991. To qualify for the EIDL loans, applicants must be considered small by SBA size standards.

The deadline for filing applications under this designation is August 31, 1992.

Eligible victims seeking information and loan applications may call toll-free, 1-800-473-0477.

Exemption from Withholding

VOTE CLIFF LAWS FOR SHERIFF OF LYNN COUNTY

Last week Jack Miller stated that figures don't lie, but sometimes they can be conveniently modified to hide the truth.

The truth is, that on August 20, 1990, a Default Judgement for back COUNTY, SCHOOL CITY & HOSPITAL TAXES was served on SHERIFF Jack Miller, Case #1823 in District Court. The amount of the taxes, interest and court costs totalled $7,876.53. Court records also showed that he still owed an additional $224.60 court costs from a previous Default Judgement on back TAXES, Case #1314. Case #1823 shows taxes owed as far back as 1980 and up to 1990.

With Sheriff Jack Miller being one of the highest elected officials in the county and his salary being paid by the taxpayers' taxes, how can he face the citizens of Lynn County?

There are a lot of people in Lynn County that are on fixed incomes and work for wages and manage to pay their local taxes to the county, school, city and hospital year-in and year-out. Why should it be any different for Sheriff Jack Miller not to pay his local taxes? We have all seen

In the past Lynn County NEWSPAPER where Sheriff Jack Miller has seized property from county residents and sold that property to satisfy back taxes. It seems that there might be a double standard for Sheriff Jack Miller than everyone else.

Four years ago when Jack Miller was running for Sheriff, he told and promised citizens of Lynn County that he had his personal business in order. With this tax suit pending, what else has he conveniently not told the citizens of Lynn County? What else has happened in the last three years while he was Sheriff that he HAS NOT told the citizens about???

As of this time, District Court records show no payment of any kind to satisfy this tax judgement. Records from the tax appraisal office show that only $161.00 has been paid to satisfy the tax judgement on Jack Miller. With interest and penalty since August 1990, the amount of money owed on Case #1823 is somewhat larger than the first amount of $7,876.53 mentioned above.

Can the taxpayers of Lynn County allow this type of mismanagement to happen by an ELECTED OFFICIAL? NO!!! It's time for a change!!!

TELECOT[®] Report

A WEEKLY SUMMARY OF COTTON MARKETING NEWS

For The Week Ending February 27

The continuing trend of dwindling supplies and producer resistance to prices made for a less than eventful week for sales of Texas/Oklahoma cotton on TELECOT, while the futures market absorbed developments such as the onset of the March notice period and the latest U.S. Cotton Consumption Report.

In the week ending February 27, a total of 43,176 bales changed hands on the electronic marketing system, just behind the 45,667 bales sold the previous week. Trading was most active on February 25, at 14,094 bales. On that day, the average price and gross premium also skyrocketed to 37.30 cents per pound and 1,158 points. Previously, on February 21, the average price and premium hit lows of 31.15 cents per pound and 940 points. This upswing in trading may have gone hand in hand with a powerful technical rally in New York cotton futures.

The March contract kicked off its delivery period on February 24 with a heavy 568 delivery notices issued and received. The trend carried over into February 25 with 547 delivery notices issued and received. After two days, the number of delivery notices issued eased somewhat, and by February 27 a total of 1,353 notices for delivery against the March contract had been issued, with all of them easily received. One industry source said the trade may be willing to readily dispose of certificated stocks because the bulk of carryover is heavily tenderable stock in the Mid-South. Much of this cotton is being held in the form of equities, and the futures market might be a desirable spot market for these equities.

Despite the bevy of delivery notices, March futures held fairly steady. This sent the bulls out on February 25, boosting nearby contracts to trade the 200-point limit higher. That same day, March cotton, now without a daily 200-point trading limit, traded at levels which exceeded gains of 200 points.

Reeling from the rally, futures finished the week with less than eventful trading. Selling interest following the gains resulted in slight losses the last two trading sessions. The January U.S. Cotton Consumption Report released by the U.S. Census Bureau before the market opened on February 27 may already have been factored into futures trading.

The bureau reported a January daily consumption rate of 35,323 bales. Although consumption exceeded the 33,324 bales per day rate in the previous report, the number fell on the low end of industry expectations. According to National Cotton Council figures, daily usage for January translates to an annual consumption rate of 9.55 million bales.

Another government report released on February 27 said overseas commitments for U.S. cotton in the week ended February 20 rose a net 83,500 bales. The figure showed a slight recovery from the two previous weeks, when net sales totaled 54,200 and 51,500 bales, respectively. In the latest export report, South Korea was the top customer, with purchases of 25,000 bales. Japan and Indonesia followed, buying 12,500 and 12,200 bales, respectively. Total commitments for 1992 now stand at 5.83 million bales, behind 7.09 million a year ago.

Actual shipment of 191,300 bales reported by USDA on February 27 was favorably perceived, and is said to put the industry well on track toward USDA's projection of 6.8 million bales for the year.

Export demand remains favorable for lower-priced Texas cotton, as last week Texas styles reportedly sold to Hong Kong and Taiwan for May-July delivery. Apparently, buyers in Hong Kong were resisting offers for Pakistani-origin growths.

But, a bearish tone continues to plague the global cotton market, as indicated by a statement last week from Willard Sparks, chairman of Sparks Companies, Inc. Sparks said further pressure on prices could result from developments in China. The commodity analyst said while China recently imported as many as two million bales annually, an expected crop of 23 to 24 million bales could cut imports there this year and make the country a net exporter next year.

For the third consecutive week, USDA set the Adjusted World Price (AWP) at 40.19 cents per pound. The resulting Producer Option Payment (POP) stands at 1,058 points.

Frozen Entrees Now Healthier Than Ever

Since Americans today have less time to spend on food preparation, they will reach for frozen convenience foods at their local supermarket. How do these foods fit into a healthy diet?

Delicious frozen entrees can help keep your spirits up while keeping your weight down.

Amy Barr, Director of the Good Housekeeping Institute, provides the facts about frozen foods. "Convenience foods such as frozen calorie controlled entrees do provide a healthy alternative for time-pressed individuals who are concerned about eating right. Manufacturers have responded to consumer desires for great-tasting, healthy foods."

For example, Weight Watchers has reformulated its extensive line of entrees by significantly reducing sodium, fat, cholesterol and calories. In fact, they have eliminated 106 tons of salt—enough to fill almost six trailer trucks—bringing the average sodium in the line down to just 478 mg. 273 tons of fat, weighing more than the Statue of Liberty, was removed, accounting for 2.2 billion calories. That's enough energy to light the city of Chicago for two weeks!

"Trends indicate rising consumer demand for low calorie foods. With choices like those Weight Watchers offers, consumers can now indulge in convenience foods without the guilt," added Barr.

Out of the Woods

The wayward thoughts of Juanell (Wood) Jones

This week is Public Schools Week in Texas. For those of us who are no longer in school, it's a week to remember those good ol' days ... a time to fondly recall all the friends you had and the escapades that you got away with (and sometimes didn't), and a time to, perhaps, call up some of those former teachers and apologize for giving them such a hard time.

I may gripe and moan about how the state finances public education, but let me say this: I support my local school, and believe that teachers have one of the hardest jobs, in terms of attaining their goals, than a lot of us out here in the work world. They have to work with a very unpredictable factor that most of us don't deal with: students.

Now don't get me wrong - I like students just fine. As a matter of fact, I used to be one myself ... a mighty fine upstanding one if I do say so myself.

Why, I remember back in the old days when I had to walk clear across the street in order to attend first grade in good ol' Sudan Elementary School. I didn't go to Kindergarten because it wasn't offered there. That's probably why my brain is defective today - it didn't have that good Kindergarten training like kids get today.

I remember well my first three weeks of school. My mother remembers it well. My twin sister remembers it well. And I'm sure if my poor teacher is still alive, she remembers it well ... with a shudder and a grimace on her kind old face.

You see, I thought school was going to be fun. Everybody told me it would be fun, and that you got to do lots of new and exciting things. What they didn't tell me, however, was that I was going to have to do all these new and exciting things by myself - without my twin sister by my side.

I was devastated. We had done everything together up to that point in our lives and I just assumed that where I went, she went. But they didn't put twins in the same class, and that just killed my little soul. My sister, when she learned this fact, blithely told me goodbye and skipped off to her classroom.

I, on the other hand, was dragged into class and placed in a chair, where I promptly leaned over and hid my head in the desk under my seat (the kind that has an arm and your books go under your seat) and bawled for three weeks. I filled up the inside of that desk with tears for as long as I could hold my head upside down without losing consciousness, then I would sit up and look bleakly at my teacher until the blood drained back down to my feet, then poke my head back in my desk and cry. I was a pitiful sight. All the other children, who were having a great time, looked at me like I had the plague.

I bawled coming and going from school. I bawled all during class. They made my sister come and sit with me at lunch time so I would quit crying long enough to eat. My teacher had to buy Kleenex by the case. My mother would come up to school, lean her head on my teacher's shoulder (which was a good five inches shorter than my Mom's) and cry, too. It was ghastly.

I finally realized that they were going to keep me, no matter how long I put up a fight. Besides, I believe my sister told me she wasn't going to come sit with such a big baby anymore. She's always been mean to me that way ... tough as nails.

After that, I pretty much enjoyed my days in public school. I especially enjoyed junior high and high school when I discovered that it was a great place to get to know those mysterious creatures called boys, who were not at all like the obnoxious big brother I was forced to live with.

Eventually, I discovered that yes, they were too like my big brother ... I mean, no, eventually I decided to marry one of those sweet ol' boys.

He had no formal Kindergarten training either. I think that's what made us compatible.

What was my point here? Oh yeah ... school. Hang in there, teachers and students ... that's where I learned to rite so good, and look where it got me! You too, someday, can learn to write about things which nobody reads! It's fun! Really!

BACK TO BASICS COOKING

(DM)—What may look like a soft taco is really an easy version of Moo Shu Pork that we call "Oriental Pork Bundles." The filling takes only minutes to stir-fry and the savory "Plum Spread," which replaces the traditional hoisin sauce, is just as quickly made. As with all stir-frys, the sauce makes the difference. Here, to keep preparation a breeze, Kikkoman Stir-Fry Sauce, a blend of naturally brewed soy sauce, sherry, garlic, oyster extract and special spices, plays a dual role. First as the authentically flavored stir-fry sauce and second as the base for the delicious Plum Spread. Serve the filling with shredded lettuce and warm flour tortillas; then assemble and enjoy "bundles" of great dining!

- ORIENTAL PORK BUNDLES
|---------------------------------|--|
| Plum Spread* | 1 medium carrot, diced |
| 1/2 cup Kikkoman Stir-Fry Sauce | 1 small onion, diced |
| 1 clove garlic, pressed | 2 ounces fresh mushrooms, coarsely chopped |
| 1/2 pound boneless pork, diced | 6 (8-inch) flour tortillas, warmed |
| Vegetable oil | 3 cups finely shredded lettuce |
| 2 eggs, beaten | |
| 2 stalks celery, diced | |

Prepare Plum Spread; set aside. Combine stir-fry sauce and garlic; coat pork with 1 Tbsp. of mixture and let stand 10 minutes. Meanwhile, heat 1/2 teaspoon oil in hot wok or large skillet over medium-high heat. Pour in eggs and scramble; remove. Heat 1 Tbsp. oil in same pan. Add pork and stir-fry 3 minutes; remove. Heat 1 Tbsp. oil. Add next 4 ingredients; stir-fry 4 minutes. Return eggs, pork and stir-fry mixture; cook, stirring, until meat and vegetables are coated with sauce. Spread 1 Tbsp. Plum Spread on each tortilla; top with desired amount of lettuce and pork mixture and wrap to enclose. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

* Plum Spread: Combine 1/4 cup plum jam, 2 Tbsp. Kikkoman Stir-Fry Sauce and 1/2 teaspoon distilled white vinegar in small saucepan. Cook, stirring, over medium-high heat until mixture boils and is smooth.

WHY PRESCRIPTION DRUGS CANNOT BE RETURNED

Sometimes a medicine prescribed for you by your physician does not accomplish the desired result, or has a disturbing allergic effect on you which is not beneficial. Your physician will direct you to stop taking that medicine and will usually prescribe another.

Unlike other pharmacy products, which are guaranteed by their maker, prescription drugs cannot be returned for a refund. Pharmacists are responsible for the potency and purity of prescription drugs. Once they have left the pharmacy and are no longer under our supervision, we could not dispense them in a prescription for someone else. You would not want a medicine returned to us by a sick person.

"A GREAT MANY PEOPLE ENTRUST US with their prescriptions, health needs and other pharmacy products. We consider this trust a privilege and a duty."

Dr. Midkiff Presents Rotary Program

Rotarian David Midkiff, D.D.S., presented a program to Tahoka Rotary Club last Thursday. He spoke about some of the aspects of belonging to Rotary International and the local club, and the benefits of membership to the club.

"For me, it's a chance to see other members of the professional and business community," said Dr. Midkiff, who practices dentistry in Tahoka. "For some of us, our occupations prevent us from mixing much with other businessmen and women, unless they come into our offices. Rotary offers me the chance to associate with other people, many who are leaders of the community," he added.

He mentioned a few community projects which the Rotary Club sponsors, including scholarships, Camp Ryla, Polio Plus program, and support for the scouting program.

City Okays New Water Tower Controls, New Pickup For Water Department

Tahoka City Council members approved the purchase of new water tower controls, a new pickup for the Water Dept., and a four-way stop sign at the intersection of North 4th Street and Ave. P, in regular session Monday night at City Hall.

City Manager Barry Pittman told the council that the city's water tower controls are worn out and repair parts are obsolete for the 30-year old system. The group voted unanimously to purchase new controls at a cost of approximately $3,000 to update the water tower control system.

The group opened bids from McCord Motor Co. for a new pickup for the Water Dept., and council members approved the purchase of a 1992 Chevrolet 1/2 ton pickup at a cost of $11,895.

A four-way stop sign at the intersection of N. 4th and Ave. P was unanimously approved by the council. That corner is adjacent to the Tahoka High School gym parking lot, where currently there are stop signs on the north and south corners, but not on the east-west sides.

Mayor Jim Solomon ordered the city election for May 2, which will be held in conjunction with the Tahoka I.S.D. trustee election. Council members whose terms expire this year include Dayton Parker, Wayne Tekell, and Jimmy Huckabey, and all are two-year terms. Currently, there is no one filling the place of Huckabey, who resigned his post when he moved away from Tahoka.

In other business, the group discussed dilapidated buildings in the area, and it was reported that the property owners notified were, for the most part, making efforts to comply with the city's directives within the 30-day time limitation.

"The fire marshal has identified problem sites in the area, and the City is targeting specific property owners," said Solomon. "We realize there are many problem areas other than the property owners we have contacted, but we plan to address this as we can get to it," he added.

Ms. Janet Harvick spoke to council members on the disability act, urging the City to designate handicapped parking spaces and provide curbs cuts for wheelchair access in the downtown area. The group took no official action on this item, but city leaders said they were willing to comply with disability access, and will set up a survey and schedule to facilitate this compliance.

Council members approved a request from the City-County Library to help pay the monthly telephone expenses. This expense will be shared with the County.

Police Chief Jerry Webster reported 270 calls to the Tahoka Police Department for the month of February. Nine arrests were made, 17 traffic tickets were issued (nine for speeding), and 25 warning tickets were issued. No accidents were investigated during the month.

The council will meet next week on Tuesday, March 10 at 7 p.m. to discuss options on city garbage collection and to discuss the city seal coating project.

The group adjourned at 10 p.m. after a three-hour session. All council members were present, including Carl Reynolds, Mike Mensch, Wayne Tekell and Dayton Parker; City Manager Barry Pittman; Mayor Jim Solomon; and several guests attended.

Grain & the Environment

They Both Need a Market

Back in 1848 a group of 82 businessmen founded the Chicago Board of Trade (CBOT) for the sole purpose of hedging the risk associated with buying and selling grain. Never in their wildest imagination did they think the exchange they formed would snowball into the global operation it is today.

The CBOT has adapted these markets, once intended solely for agricultural products, to trade everything from U.S. Treasury bonds to fertilizer. In an innovative move, that will mark a new era of futures trading, the CBOT is now applying its market expertise to environmental issues.

"Air and water are simply no longer the 'free goods' that economists once assumed," says Richard L. Sandor, CBOT director and one of the creators of the U.S. Treasury bond futures contract. "They must be redefined as property rights so that they can be efficiently allocated."

The proposal for trading futures on emission allowances came as a response to the 1990 Clean Air Act which mandated establishing a market for emission allowances. The CBOT responded with its proposal to trade "clean air futures" and to conduct the EPA's auctions and direct sales, which are likely to begin in 1993.

"Our proposals represent an action by the CBOT to extend the CBOT's market expertise to the federal government's program to control environmental pollution," CBOT Chairman William F. O'Connor said. "While a small, but significant, step toward the ultimate creation of cash and futures market trading in emission allowances, this represents a larger step toward applying free-market techniques to address societal problems."

The major benefit of the Clean Air Act's plan to trade emission allowances is that by using the free-market system, total sulfur dioxide emissions into the atmosphere will be reduced at the lowest possible total cost. For example, suppose power plant A, because of better facilities or technology, is able to decrease its sulfur dioxide emissions at a lower cost than the market price of government are the stock-in-trade of the CBOT. Businesses and individuals who have a price risk inherent to their industry use futures markets to transfer that risk to investors who are willing to accept it.

"Futures markets also provide information that the world looks to as a benchmark in determining the value of a particular commodity or financial instrument at any given time," Coleman said. "The futures markets could provide a national price for sulfur pollution. Only by putting a price on the cost of pollution can we reduce it," Coleman added.

Plant A can install the necessary scrubbing equipment, and generate revenue by selling any excess sulfur dioxide allowances it holds above what it emits. Plant B, on the other hand, because it can purchase additional allowances at a lower cost than it can install scrubbing equipment, can buy A's excess allowances, thereby essentially buying more time to install necessary equipment in order to meet EPA standards without incurring costly fines. Ultimately, of course, all utilities will have to meet the standards by the EPA. Thus the goal of reducing total sulfur dioxide emissions is accomplished at the lowest possible cost to the ratepayer, with the greatest benefit to society.

Thomas Coleman, vice president and director of the CBOT's Economic Analysis and Planning Department summed it up as follows, "Risk management and price discovery are critical to the success of the market-oriented pollution program, and those are the stock-in-trade of the CBOT. Businesses and individuals who have a price risk inherent to their industry use futures markets to transfer that risk to investors who are willing to accept it.

"Futures markets also provide information that the world looks to as a benchmark in determining the value of a particular commodity or financial instrument at any given time," Coleman said. "The futures markets could provide a national price for sulfur pollution. Only by putting a price on the cost of pollution can we reduce it," Coleman added.

WILSON SUPERINTENDENT - Mrs. Nancy Templeton, elementary principal at Wilson I.S.D., will assume the title of Superintendent on July 1 this year. (LYNN COUNTY NEWS PHOTO)

New Wilson Superintendent To Continue With School Improvement Program

by C. Hatchel
After David Williams resigned the position of Superintendent of the Wilson Independent School District in 1991, Dr. Michael Stevens of Lubbock was appointed to serve as an interim until another qualified superintendent could be found.
The district didn't have to look far to find a good candidate. Nancy Templeton, who has successfully managed serving as principal of Wilson Elementary School since 1990, found that the high school principal had resigned and she readily took on the responsibilities until Milton Wright was hired. She is now in training for the position of superintendent and will officially assume the title for the WISD on July 1, 1992.

Mrs. Templeton is well qualified to take over the head position for the district, holding a Master of Education degree and Bachelor of Science degree in Elementary Education, and several years of experience in the education field. She has completed additional graduate work to receive her Administrative Certification from Texas Tech University.

She worked in her hometown of Hereford in a bilingual program for four year old students, and taught school for three years. She was an Educational Diagnostician with the Menard Special Education Cooperative for six years, and for the Hereford ISD for three years. She has taught kindergarten at Junction ISD and fourth grade at Hereford, and served as the second appraiser for special education teachers in the Frenship school district.

Her duties as superintendent will be to oversee the management of the budget and implement policies of the school board. All rules and regulations have to meet Texas Education Agency requirements, and school policies must be upheld and delegated to principals and teachers by the administrator.

At Wilson ISD, Mrs. Templeton plans to continue a school improvement program, which was implemented this year under the direction of Dr. Stevens. Every Wednesday afternoon at 1 p.m., community members, school board trustees, and school staff meet for discussion on developing goals for more effective instruction. "We hope to implement any ideas which will develop a more effective learning atmosphere here at Wilson," says Mrs. Templeton.

Mrs. Templeton's husband, Tom, is the superintendent at New Home I.S.D., and the couple live in New Home. As husband and wife employed by different school districts, there are occasionally conflicts of schedule. "New Home's Spring Break is not the same week as we have in Wilson," she explains with a laugh. "I plan to get a lot of work done at home the week of our Spring Break, since he will be working that week."

They have three children, all residing in Texas. Bob, the oldest, is 27 and lives in Georgetown where he is Director of Transportation for Pflugerville I.S.D. Their daughter, Sheri, is married and lives in San Antonio where she works for USAA Insurance. Their youngest son, Bill, age 24, lives in Austin and works as an Architectural Engineer.

CLIFF LAWS

FOR SHERIFF, LYNN COUNTY

When Jack Miller ran for sheriff 4 years ago, he made promises:

1. That he would have resident deputies in O'Donnell, New Home and Wilson.
2. That he had his personal business in order.
3. That he would keep the Sheriff's Office expenses within the set budget.

It seems that the promises weren't kept. Jack Miller needs to answer the following questions to the citizens of Lynn County:

1. Resident deputies - O'Donnell has had a resident deputy; however, New Home and Wilson have never had a resident deputy. Within the last two months, Jack has had a person patrolling Wilson, but why has he waited until now? I will have resident deputies that live and work in O'Donnell, New Home and Wilson.
2. Why has Jack Miller accepted expensive gifts from federal prisoners families?
3. Why has Jack Miller turned prisoners loose from the county jail, that still have time to serve? Some of these prisoners have been re-arrested for more criminal offenses, while supposed to be locked up in the county jail. This places Lynn County in a great liability situation. What happens if one of these prisoners hurts or causes the death of someone? The taxpayers will have to pay!
4. Why was a stolen gold diamond ring, out of the Midland-Odessa area burglaries, taken off Jack Miller's finger by the Midland and Odessa detectives during an arrest of a local man? This was brought out in District Court during the man's trial.
5. Why is there missing funds in the prisoners money account?
6. Why was Jack Miller allowed to buy an expensive 98 Oldsmobile for his Sheriff's vehicle? Could a cheaper vehicle have served the same purpose?
7. Why hasn't Jack Miller been paying his COUNTY, SCHOOL, CITY AND HOSPITAL TAXES since 1980?
8. Why have federal prisoners been allowed to spend weekends with wives and girlfriends at the local motel?
9. Why were federal prisoners allowed to remodel and work on Jack's residence? Presently they are building a new carport on the west of Jack's residence!
10. What else does Jack Miller need to tell the citizens of LYNN COUNTY???

In closing, Jack Miller stated when he announced for re-election that he had made mistakes, but hoped he had profited by them. It sounds as if maybe he really did make a PROFIT. Is this really the kind of person we want as Sheriff?

Jack Miller is going to tell you that the Federal Marshal's Office sets the price for housing federal prisoners, by the amount of jailers and housing space and condition of the county jail. The Lynn County Jail is one of the more modern style jails in this area and has sufficient jailers to warrant getting $65.00 to $75.00 a prisoner per day. The Sheriff of the county still has the final say so.

RE-ELECT JACK MILLER SHERIFF OF LYNN COUNTY

I have enjoyed serving as your sheriff for the past 3 years. During that time I have done the best job I know how to do.

- ✓ I have upgraded the jail to keep it in compliance with state jail standards.
- ✓ I have upgraded our fleet of cars.
- ✓ I have built the new sally port on the north side of the jail with the federal prisoners program.
- ✓ I received $35,000 worth of surplus food in December 91 thru the federal prisoners program, this will cut the food expense in half for the next 3 years.
- ✓ I have remodeled the office and revised the jail in order to get you the 9-1-1 emergency services.
- ✓ I have caused the U.S. Marshal service to pay in over $246,000 to the County General fund.
- ✓ I cut my salary $2,500 a year when I went in office because I did not feel that it was right the way the Sheriff's salary raise came about.
- ✓ I have housed 1,814 prisoners since I took office; I had two escape.

Today and during the last few weeks my opponent has made many attacks on me both professionally and personally. I have responded twice to show the inaccuracies of his statement. I do not wish to engage in this kind of politics anymore with Mr. Laws. I prefer to let my record and you the voters speak for me.

I will appreciate your support as we continue to keep Lynn County a safe place to live and your Sheriff office one that you can be proud of.

Sincerely yours,

Jack Miller

HINTS FOR HOMEOWNERS

Protect Your Home Against The Hidden Enemy

What causes more damage to your home annually than all tornadoes, hurricanes, hail, floods, and windstorms combined? Every home's potentially hidden enemy—termites. Today, no home is completely safe from their damage. Termites can be found in virtually every state and region of the country; once in, no area of your home is safe from infestation.

New foam treatment technology from Orkin Pest Control, the nation's leading termite & pest control company, can protect the home from termites for a fraction of the cost of repairing the damage they can cause.

The innovative foam treatment lessens the threat of termites by filling gaps and spaces that conventional termite treatments cannot reach. The result is a broader, more even distribution of termiticide in hard-to-reach areas especially vulnerable to termite infestation, such as around plumbing, chimneys, porches, expansion joints, and settlement cracks. In short, it creates the most complete barrier possible, keeping termites out of the house.

"Many homeowners think that if they don't see termites, they don't exist," says Judith Donner, Orkin consumer specialist. "The fact is, termites may be hidden but hard to work damaging more than two feet of wood each year. And they eat 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, non-stop." Signs termites have invaded a home may include pencil-size dirt tubes from the soil into the home, white wings (indicating termites have swarmed) or wood weakened by termite activity.

For more information on termites, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Orkin, Termite Facts, P.O. Box 647, Atlanta, Georgia, 30301.

THS Class To Make Clocks From Tree

The Environmental Science Class of Tahoka High School is presently involved in a study about the history of Lynn County through a tree that was located northeast of Tahoka on Bryan Wright's property. This tree was claimed to be the oldest tree in Lynn County. The last evidence of this tree being alive was in 1983. The students will study the tree rings in order to determine the age, seasonal rainfall, and any environmental occurrences that might appear within the tree.

The class is planning to sell clocks made from the smaller limbs of this tree for $35. This money will be used to offset expenses for a field trip in May to the Edwards Aquifer Research Center in San Marcos and an educational tour of Sea World in San Antonio.

If anyone has any information pertaining to this tree please contact Betty Stennett at the school. There will be a cross section of the main trunk hung in the school and in the Tahoka Pioneer Museum.

Anyone interested in buying one of these clocks to help this class should call the high school at 998-4538 during normal school hours.

OLDEST TREE IN COUNTY- This tree, claimed to be the oldest tree in Lynn County, will be studied by the Environmental Science Class of Tahoka High School. The tree is now dead and class members plan to make clocks from some of the smaller limbs of the tree. Shown below are THS students Annie Dunlap, Susan Draper, Shannon Garvin, Stephanie Stennett, Lana Parker, and (seated on ground) Drew Stone. Not pictured are Lisa Martin and Jason Belew.

The first photograph made in the United States was taken by Samuel F. B. Morse in 1839.

SCOTT ISBELL Isbell Awarded AF Achievement Medal For Service

Senior Airman Scott B. Isbell of Tahoka has been awarded the Air Force Achievement Medal for meritorious service for the period of June 14, 1990 to Dec. 24, 1991.

Isbell served in the Air Force from 1988-1992, stationed in San Antonio, Tx., Turkey, and Colorado before his recent discharge.

He received the Achievement Medal for meritorious service as a Law Enforcement Desk Sergeant while assigned to the 1003d Security Police Squadron, Peterson Air Force Base, Colorado. The certificate read, "He was selected to fill the critical position of Desk Sergeant which is normally held by a more experienced noncommissioned officer.

"He quickly grasped the knowledge and skill for this difficult job. He proved this with his error-free processing of police reports and outstanding command and control of patrol units during major incident responses. His experience, outstanding skill, leadership, and dedication ensured the Law Enforcement Operations Branch received an "excellent" rating during the August '91 UEL."

Isbell is currently enrolled at SPAG to obtain his certification to become a policeman, and expects to receive that certification in March, 1992.

He lives in Tahoka with his wife, Sarita, and 6-year-old daughter, Micha. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Isbell of Tahoka.

CLIFF LAWS

For Sheriff of Lynn County

During the first week of February, I was in the Lynn County Hospital and after that sent home for a 2-week recovery period for a blood clot in my right leg. This prevented me from getting out and campaigning door-to-door like I wanted to. With the help of Dr. Wright and his staff and of the Lynn County Hospital and staff, I have recovered from the blood clot.

It will be physically impossible for me to go door-to-door campaigning now, and I hope the citizens of Lynn County will understand why I could not get by and ask for your vote and support for the Democratic Primary, March 10, 1992.

I am now asking for your vote and support in the Democratic Primary, March 10, 1992.

It's time for a change in the Sheriff's election, we can't afford another four years of Jack Miller.

Thank You For Your Vote And Support

Your Vote Sincerely Appreciated - Democratic Primary - March 10, 1992
