THREATENING WEATHER — George Dozier took this picture of funnel cloud activity between Lakeview and Petty, Saturday evening. Two-Car Accident Leaves O'Donnell Man In Hospital

Roel Ramirez, 24, of O'Donnell is listed in serious condition at Lubbock's University Medical Center with injuries he sustained in a two-car accident Monday afternoon near O'Donnell, a Department of Public Safety trooper said.

Ramirez's car was heading west on Loop 76 just outside O'Donnell when it collided with a northbound car on U.S. 87 at 12:45 p.m. Monday where the two highways meet. Trooper Gilbert Arredondo said.

Ramirez was thrown through the driver's-side door of the pickup truck he was driving, according to the trooper.

The driver of the northbound vehicle, a man named Cox from Lamesa, was not seriously injured in the accident, Arredondo said.

Ramirez was taken to the Lynn County Hospital with compound fractures and gashes to his head before being transported to UMC, according to the trooper.

Three other wrecks were investigated in the county during the week, all one-vehicle accidents with no injuries reported, and while investigating one incident near Petty Thursday evening, trooper Jay Druessedow's patrol car reportedly received about $2100 worth of hail damage.

Druessedow investigated two accidents Thursday evening, one involving a 15-year-old youth who rolled his vehicle on FM 1317, about two miles west of Petty, and an accident involving a woman from Reese AFB who reportedly ran her car off the road on Hwy. 87 about four miles north of Tahoka, hit the median and struck her head on the side. No serious injuries were reported.

Saturday evening about 9:45, a one-vehicle rollover occurred about 4.1 miles north of Tahoka on Hwy. 87 which Druessedow investigated. A family of six from Borger were traveling in a van, when the driver reportedly lost control of the vehicle, which rolled over and landed on the passenger side in about two feet of water in the median. The family was taken to Lynn County Hospital, where they were treated and released, and most of the damage to the van was water damage, according to the trooper.

All of these accidents were partially due to hazardous road conditions due to the excess rain during the week.

STORM DAMAGE — The burr house at the New Home Co-Op Gin was blown down during storm activity Saturday evening, several homes and businesses in New Home received broken windows and hail-damaged roofs, and at least one other structure, a barn behind John Edwards Shop, was flattened by the high winds. One New Home woman said that it hailed for about 45 minutes to an hour Saturday evening. (LYNN COUNTY NEWS PHOTO)

New THS Computer Labs Approved; Local Funds Added To Career Ladder

By JUANELL JONES

In a lengthy meeting held last Thursday, Tahoka Independent School District board of trustees approved two new computer labs for the junior/senior high school, opted to contribute local funds to fully fund the teacher career ladder at TISD, approved a slate of teachers for the junior/senior high school to fill several vacancies; and approved a four percent raise across the board for non-professional staff members.

At the end of school this year, six junior/senior high personnel resigned, including Tim Smith, teacher/coach; Charlie Mac Holland, teacher/coach; Alta Harvick, English teacher; Kim Rasmussen, Math teacher; Frank Stone, Math teacher; and Julie Cypert, Chapter 1 Reading. At the May board meeting, Cindy Gardner was hired for one of the teacher/coach positions, and in last week's session, a slate of six teaching personnel was approved by the board to hire on an as-needed basis to fill the positions.

The six approved were Jonathan Samuel Eoff, teacher/coach; Michael Shawn Sales, teacher/coach; Cody Clark Carroll, Math/Biology; Dan Hoots, Math/Chemistry; Mary Lund, Math/English; and Rebecca Kay Goswick, Math/English. The district may employ four or more from this slate of personnel, which the board approved unanimously.

Two new computer labs for the junior/senior high school were approved after a close 4-3 vote in favor of purchasing 25 Macintosh LC II computer stations, and 15 IBM PS/2 Model 25 computer stations, at a total cost of $137,736. The Macintosh lab will replace the 14-station Apple IIe lab currently in use, and the IBM lab will replace the present IBM wheelwriter typewriters and personal typing systems currently in use. The Apple IIe and older IBM typewriters will be redistributed for use in the typing, journalism and annual staff classes, according to Superintendent Dr. Duane Carter.

In another close vote, trustees voted 4-3 to supplement the Career Ladder fund with an additional $5,674 in local money in order to fully fund the Career Ladder for all qualified teachers. State funding available for Career Ladder is $60,369, and the additional $5,674 was needed from local coffers to fully fund the list of 35 teachers in the district at Levels I, II and III.

Several pay raises for district personnel were discussed, with the non-professional staff (including secretaries, aides, and auxiliary personnel) given an across-the-board four percent raise. The board also approved an additional $700 raise for the business manager and superintendent's secretary. Dr. Carter was also given a four percent raise.

The 13 teachers currently on Step 10 pay scale in the district were given a $500 pay raise by trustees, who unanimously approved the pay hike. Step 10 is at the top of the scale for teachers in the district, and they are not eligible for the state-mandated $1140 annual raise which professional personnel below Step 10 receive.

Trustees discussed the rising costs of workers compensation insurance, noting that costs have doubled since 1990. Since 1984, Tahoka ISD has obtained workers compensation insurance through the TASB Workers Compensation Self-Insurance fund. The cost for that insurance has risen from $6,475 in 1984 to $40,562 in 1990, and to $94,378 for 1991.

Dr. Carter presented an option for the district's workers compensation through Hibbs, Hallmark & Company (HH&C) in Tyler, Tx. HH&C has been administering a small school, partially self-funded program for East Texas, and is putting together a program for North Texas school districts. Dr. Carter noted that the maximum cost to the district in joining this program would be $74,262, and trustees gave their approval to the superintendent to pursue this program.

Several district policies were approved by the board, and the Tahoka ISD Discipline Management Plan was submitted for a first reading. Business Manager Loretta Tekell reported an account balance in all funds of $1,403,262.84, at about a 94% collection rate, and said it was "reasonable to believe the district would get 95% collection this year" on the ad valorem taxes.

The board went into executive session from 7:53 p.m. until 12:07 a.m. to discuss a parent complaint and personnel. The board adjourned at 2 a.m. Present for the meeting were all board members and Dr. Carter, Mrs. Tekell, Assistant High School Principal Ronald Roberts, Elementary Principal Molly Helmlinger, Vivian McAfee, Lynn Lankford, and Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Barnes.

O'Donnell Team Wins Seiko Youth Challenge

An awards ceremony was held recently in the O'Donnell High School science lab to honor Brandi Barton, Ernie Cruz, Joe Sanchez and Gary Stidham as Central Regional winners in the Seiko Youth Challenge-Year II.

This program is an environmentally-oriented high school science competition in which students around the nation are invited to identify, analyze, research, and propose a solution to a local environmental problem. The Seiko Youth Challenge is sponsored by the SEIKO Corporation of America.

The O'Donnell team working under the direction of faculty advisor, Rubeth Griffing, prepared a project under the theme of "When the Dust Settles: The Environmental Impact of Wind Erosion on the South Plains."

Joe Williams, SEIKO representative for Texas, presented the students and Mrs. Griffing specially designed, limited edition Seiko watches and a personalized Certificate of Appreciation for their participation.

The students edited and filmed a 20 minute film including footage of a dust storm, interviews, and experiments. They also submitted a 20 page paper. The students proposed that "waste products such as pieces of scrap tires and paper can be mixed with the soil to decrease the amount of wind erosion."

The Seiko Youth Challenge Year III is scheduled to begin Sept. 1992 and conclude in May, 1993. Miss Barton and Sanchez are two year veterans on this team and will try out for the team next year. Stidham graduated valedictorian of his class. Cruz plans to continue his Seiko Challenge next year.

Wilson School Burglary Solved In Less Than Three Hours

A burglary of the bus barn at Wilson Schools was solved less than three hours after it was reported to Lynn County Sheriff's Office, according to reports from the investigating officer.

A break-in at the bus barn on the west end of school grounds was reported Tuesday morning at 8:30, and by 11:15 a suspect was questioned who allegedly admitted to burglarizing the barn and returned the items stolen.

The outer barn door and inner office door had been pried open with a screwdriver or similar object, and items missing included a lawnmower, a case of motor oil, a spreader, and a fan. Officers reportedly followed the lawn mower tracks to the suspect's residence. No charges had been filed on the suspect, as of press time Wednesday morning.

Tahoka Police Dept. reported one burglary of a vehicle during the week. Watson Spears of North 1st Street said a tool box containing tools was taken from behind the seat of his 1985 Nissan pickup while parked at his residence, sometime between 8 p.m. Sunday and 9 a.m. Monday. The stolen items were valued at $55.

Three persons were incarcerated this week in the county jail, one for grand jury indictment, DWI subsequent offense; one for public intoxication; and one for application to revoke probation, DWI and reckless conduct.

Out of the Woods

The wayward thoughts of Juanell (Wood) Jones

I am doing something this week that I have wanted to do for years ... I'm hiding my face and acting stupid. Usually, I just act stupid where everybody can see me.

Actually, I'm involved in a puppet show, and my character is a rather dim-witted, slow, but lovable character named Waldo. Waldo the spider. Just fits, doesn't it? I'm having the time of my life, squatting down behind the stage and waving my hand in the air with an eight-legged black furry spider on it, and saying whatever comes to mind (like I usually do anyway).

My children, who up until this point thought that maybe Mom was weird, are now quite sure that Mom is, indeed, very strange. I find myself talking in my guttural "stage" voice at odd moments of the day, and may surprise myself by answering my business phone in that voice. Wouldn't that be a kicker? "Uh ... uh ... Lynn County News here ... uh, yep, I'm Waldo - what can I do for ya?"

Unfortunately, I have a very distinctive Texan drawl that everyone recognizes after I utter one syllable, and I doubt that even Waldo's accent would disguise my voice from most people. Even people I don't call very often know immediately that I'm on the other end of the phone because of my disgustingly twangy accent.

Don't get me wrong - I love Texas. I just can't stand to hear myself speak. Technically I'm not really, actually a Texan, but only because my parents had bad timing by living in Indiana at the time of my birth. I've been a Texan since the age of six months, so I figure that makes me a true Texan if I want it that way. And I do.

My husband is an actual true Texan, although his mother is English. From England, even. She's from Liverpool, where the Beatles come from, although she says she didn't actually know the Beatles personally. What's the point of living in Liverpool, if you didn't know the Beatles?

She's lived in Texas for over 35 years, but still has that wonderful English accent. My husband says he didn't realize she had an accent until he moved away from home and wasn't around to hear her talking. (My husband is usually very alert. Really.)

She has two sisters who still live in England who come with their families to visit occasionally, and we enjoy listening to them when we see them. I said we enjoy listening to them - I didn't say we understand them. They clip their vowels and are very precise with their consonants, as you know if you've ever watched any James Bond movies, and it's very hard for Texans to keep up with what an Englishman (or woman) says.

Whenever I'm talking to one of them, I find myself "cleaning up" my speech patterns, trying not to drag out my vowels so unbearably long, and spitting out T's and P's in a precise drill-sergeant type manner. I'm quite sure I sound like an utter fool, but they're always very charming and polite to me.

I would love for them to hear me as the Waldo puppet character. They probably wouldn't understand a single word of that guttural drawl, but at the end they would nod and smile, and say, "That was quite lovely. Thank you."

I think I'll send them the video of the puppet show. Maybe they'll invite me over to England to do it in person. I guess my husband can come, too, since they're his relatives.

Summertime Suggestions Given For Children At Home

by Denise J. Lewis
Extension Intern

1. Provide for the physical development of your child: Ensure your children have a good balance of exercise, playtime, nutrition and sleep each day.
2. Provide reading experiences for your child each day: Older children should read silently for at least 15 minutes. Time should be set aside to read to younger children.
3. Provide your child with frequent writing experiences: For example: shopping lists, a diary, a vacation journal, letters and movie summaries.
4. Provide learning opportunities for your child each day: Teach your children how to cook, read a thermometer, understand a map, pitch a tent, change a tire, plant seeds, run various appliances and any number of household tasks.

5. Limit your child's use of television: Set the length of TV viewing and monitor programs being watched. The amount of time children spent in front of the tube, the less active and creative they become.
6. Model good learning habits and be fine examples: Show an interest in reading, politics, art, music and religion. Raise your children to be curious with an array of knowledge and growing experiences. Parents who are happy with their lives and in love with one another give their children the best upbringing.
7. Talk daily with your child and share important ideas together: Daily conversations about anything from a house built from legos to a story about adolescent responsibilities, can help form close relationships with your children.

8. Teach your child good moral judgements and positive behaviors: Washing hands before meals and saying grace before eating is one of the simplest ways of setting rituals. Church attendance should be a family affair.
9. Realize that your child needs patience and guidance: Children develop by loving leadership and need to grow into their adult status over the years so give them time to become adults.
10. Use encouragement when addressing your child: Mistakes are inevitable so teach your children that new challenges await them.

Speakers included Vice President Dan Quayle, Miss America runner-up Jeanne Roberson, Editor of Working Woman Kate Rand Lloyd, and Dr. Marvin Cetron, a pioneer in corporate, industry and lifestyle forecasting and author of numerous books.

Another speaker of note was Indianapolis attorney J. Gregory Garrison who was hired by the Marion County prosecutor to try Indiana's biggest criminal case in the past century - the case against former heavyweight champion Mike Tyson who was charged with, and found guilty of, rape.

During the convention several awards were presented to clubs and states for outstanding achievements. Phebe K. Warner received a First Place Certificate in the Literature and Drama Division.

Following the convention Mrs. Green also attended a meeting of the 1992-94 Board of Directors of GFWC of which she is a member.

Top Telemarketing Scams Of 1992 Revealed

by DONNA M. PETERS

The Alliance Against Fraud in Telemarketing in Washington, D.C. gives consumers this rule of thumb about fraud in telemarketing - "Old Scams Never Die." Consumers are warned to protect themselves against the top four frauds that are being reported:

Uncle Scams- You receive a letter that appears to be from an attorney. It informs you about a large sum of unclaimed money waiting to be collected in a distant state. They offer to help collect the unclaimed money for a fee. All you get is a list of state agencies handling unclaimed property.

We've Got Your Number- Scam artists find ways to access people's drivers license, checking account, Social Security number, credit card or telephone calling card numbers. They sell the numbers to individuals who wish to call friends and family abroad. Long distance carriers, banks and enforcement authorities are taking steps to counter the problem, but consumers need to guard these numbers closely.

Job Offers- Victims respond to classified ads offering jobs. Inquiries are through a 900 number or an 800 number referring the caller to a 900 number "for more detailed information." Both calls are answered by recorded messages about job opportunities or employment agencies, or a live operator who agrees to work on getting the victim a job for an advance fee. You pay for the 900 phone call and still have no job or job leads.

Fund-raisers- Some fraudulent telemarketing firms get permission to use a legitimate non-profit organization's name to solicit donations in its name. It guarantees to generate a certain level of contributions for the organization. It generates substantially higher sums, but only pays the guaranteed amount to the charity. Avoid charitable solicitations asking that funds be sent to an address other than that of the intended organization.

Pre-Planning Can Make For Safer Vacations

It's vacation time and time to start thinking about our summer travels and those year long planned vacations. Major Vernon Cawthon, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety, says, "With some pre-planning on our parts, our summer travels can be made a lot easier and a whole lot safer."

Major Cawthon suggests that before you take to the road that you first check out yourself and other drivers in your group to ensure that everyone is well rested. Do not push yourself to the limit, ensure that you take proper breaks and spread the driving out over short distances. Ensure that all drivers feel good physically and emotionally and that no driver is taking medication or has had any alcoholic beverages to drink.

Make a check of the vehicle to include tires, brakes, belts, hoses, wipers, lighting and fluid levels and include spare parts for any minor repair that might unexpectedly come up. Remember to use your headlights to allow other drivers to see you in adverse conditions. At night, do not over-drive your headlights. Over 50% of all traffic deaths happen at night. Also, remember that at night, our eyes take 4 to 7 seconds to re-adjust to night conditions after facing bright lights.

Keep posted on weather conditions. Adverse weather can affect your ability to see and be seen. In bad weather, slow down and put on the low beam headlights. If conditions warrant, it is advisable to stop and take a break. Be alert to traffic conditions and if you are traveling at night, and especially on the weekends, be aware that a lot of drivers sharing the road with you are either fatigued or intoxicated. Alcohol impaired drivers cause at least 50% of all fatal accidents. One of your best defenses against the drunk driver is your safety belt, but it is only effective if you and all your occupants wear them.

Let's all work together to make this summer a safe one on our Texas highways. Drive friendly: it's the Texas way.

FREE BROCHURE GIVES SAFETY TIPS ON TIRES AND WHEELS

The earliest known wheeled vehicles were shown on tablets made in the Middle East over 5,000 years ago. They showed how the people built chariots to carry their armies. Wheels were also used on devices for irrigation.

Making the rounds these days is news about wheels and the proper way to service them. Safety experts remind drivers: Never work on a truck tire unless you're properly trained and follow OSHA regulation Section 1910.177 and wheel manufacturer's literature. The Budd Co. offers free informative brochures to help people learn the proper procedures. For a copy, call 1-800-521-7770.

CAN YOU SPARE A DAY FOR DAD?

Too often, Dad gets lost in the shuffle of a great many important June activities. Of course, graduation is important and so is the end of school. And, June weddings are beautiful occasions; however, the guy that very often makes them all possible gets too little recognition.

Instead of our usual weekly health message we would like to dedicate this space to all the Fathers in our community and take a moment to wish them all a --

People home can foods for many reasons. Those often cited include to save money, to have healthier food, to know what's in the food, to can for special diets and for personal satisfaction. For those who also enjoy gardening or producing their own, it often becomes a way to relax and gives a sense of pride to enjoy or share with others the bounty of their efforts.

But does home canning really save money? A study done at Pennsylvania State University found that home canners could save half the cost of buying commercially canned foods only if they produced their own garden vegetables and fruits and discounted the value of their labor. If produce is bought at farmer's markets, roadside stands or pick-your-own operations, the home-canned items would cost about the same as similar canned items in the supermarket, particularly those on sale. And of course, the initial costs of purchasing necessary equipment must be considered by the "new" home canner. Basically, however, of the three major methods of preservation, canning is the least expensive followed by drying, then freezing.

Is home canning worth it? It depends. But it may be well to remember that produce in supermarkets, because of length of time from harvest to distribution to markets and increased handling, may not be as nutritious as home or commercially canned foods.

The greatest invention of the nineteenth century was the invention of the method of invention.

ables begin to lose vitamins immediately after harvest. As many as half of the vitamins may be lost within a few days unless produce is cooled or preserved. Even refrigerated produce lose many vitamins within a week or two.

To maintain maximum nutrient content, a good practice is to rush vegetables from "vine to jar," work only with quantities you can handle quickly and refrigerate what you can't preserve and use or can it as soon as possible. In commercial canning, produce is quickly canned to address this problem. The advantages of home canning may be lessened when poor quality foods are used. Canning does not improve the quality of foods. Also prolonged storage can decrease quality, flavor, texture, color and nutrients. For best quality retention, store in a cool, dark, dry place and use within a year.

The heating process during canning does destroy some of vitamins A, C, thiamin and riboflavin. Once canned, additional losses of these are from 5 percent to 20 percent a year.

Is home canning worth it? It depends. But it may be well to remember that produce in supermarkets, because of length of time from harvest to distribution to markets and increased handling, may not be as nutritious as home or commercially canned foods.

Shackelford. "But if bagworms were present on the plant last year and control measures weren't applied, chances are very good that an insecticide will be needed this spring."

Insecticides which can be used to control bagworms include Sevin, Dursban, Diazinon, Malathion, Dyltox and Orthene. The biological insecticide Bacillus Thuringiensis can also be used.

To obtain effective control, thorough coverage of the foliage is important. The addition of a small amount of liquid soap or surfactant to the spray solution will improve control because it helps the insecticide adhere to the treated trees and shrub. Always read and follow label instructions when applying insecticides, the county agent cautioned.

RC&D Committee Discusses Well Project For Lynn County Fire Departments

The Wes-Tex RC&D (Resource Conservation and Development) county committee met Tuesday morning at Lyntegar meeting room to discuss a project involving locating rural areas for dry hydrants for county fire departments.

"The fire departments in the county need places to load up with water when they are out fighting fires in the country, and we are going to push for funding for dry hydrant well locations throughout the area," said Jon Weddle of the Soil Conservation Service, a sponsor of the Wes-Tex RC&D.

The county committee will send a proposal for funding the well project after area fire departments are contacted and offer suggestions for locations of the wells, according to Greg Henley, a member of the Tahoka Volunteer Fire Dept. "We hope to talk with people throughout the county who can give suggestions for good locations for these dry hydrants, and then we'll figure what the cost for the project will be, and what adaptations to fire trucks must be considered," Henley said.

Under the auspices of the USDA, Resource Conservation and Development organizations are forming throughout Texas, designed to assist communities in obtaining government grants and private assistance for construction of recreational facilities, fire prevention and fighting resources, roadside erosion control, flood prevention, wildlife promotion and various other projects that would benefit the area as a whole.

"Any project that could benefit the people in this county would be funded through this RC&D," said Weddle. Other RC&D organizations throughout the United States have funded projects such as new community centers, athletic facilities, fire department equipment updating, water treatment programs, and street and road repair.

The Wes-Tex RC&D is in the beginning organizational stages and needs sponsors. Currently there are about 16 sponsors in Lynn County, including businesses and organizations. Membership dues are $25 annually per sponsor. Individuals may also become sponsors.

Current sponsors are Lynn County SWCD, Lynn County Commissioner's Court, Lynn County Jaycees, City of Tahoka, Huffaker, Green & Huffaker, Poka-Lambro Rural Telephone Cooperative, Inc., Lyntegar Electric Co-Op, Lynn County News, Tahoka Rotary Club, First National Bank of O'Donnell, Brewer Fertilizer, Moore-Rains Insurance, City of O'Donnell, O'Donnell Volunteer

EMS, Inc., Wilson State Bank, and First National Bank of Tahoka.

The Wes-Tex RC&D is a 16-county organization. Cal Huffaker is the representative from Lynn County for the Wes-Tex board of directors.

Sponsors may send a representative to the county committee meetings, and will receive an informational newsletter. The next county meeting will be held Tuesday, July 21 at 8:30 a.m. in the Lyntegar meeting room. For more information about becoming a sponsor, contact the Soil Conservation Service at 998-4507.

SALT CONSTRICTS ARTERIES

We know that too much salt can increase blood pressure. Science News now reports that salt may also cause brain tissue damage. Too much salt in the diet tends to damage and narrow the artery walls, which then reduces the blood supply to the brain which could cause a stroke. A low-salt diet helps to maintain proper blood pressure and to avoid strokes.

LUBBOCK, Friday, June 12, 1992
By Shawn Wade
Pre-season expectations for the size of the 1992 Boll Weevil Diapause Control Program have changed dramatically according to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers. So far 1992 has gone from having the potential to be the largest in the 29-year history of the program to being relatively small.

The catalyst for the turn-around is the weather. The same rain and cool temperatures that devastated much of the High Plains in the last few weeks have also created an unwelcome scenario for overwintering boll weevils as they emerge from hibernation.

"What the rains have done is to create a situation similar to an enforced delayed uniform planting date," explains Roger Haldenby, PCG Boll Weevil Program Coordinator. "The reduction in cotton acreage, and the delayed start much of the crop will have, makes the climate very inhospitable for emerging boll weevils."

Haldenby notes that weather conditions which have so far devastated 700,000 to one million acres of cotton have also deprived boll weevils of a necessary food and reproductive source.

Boll weevils primary food sources are the fruiting squares and small bolls of young cotton. The late start of this year's crop means that the remaining cotton plants will not begin fruiting until later and weevils that have come out of overwintering will starve from the lack of food.

The boll weevil reproduces by laying its eggs in the developing boll, known as a third grown square. It is unlikely that many emerging weevils will be able to survive until cotton reaches this stage resulting in a suicidal emergence that will minimize the first generation of new weevils.

Suicidal emergence occurs when boll weevils come out of overwintering habitat too early and are not able to survive until they can find food and lay eggs that will start off next generation. The opposite situation is known as effective emergence, this occurs when weevils emerge late enough to survive until they can feed and lay eggs.

Haldenby notes that trap catches have increased dramatically in the last week indicating that we are know at, or approaching peak weevil emergence. He explained that all cotton in the PCG control zone, on the High Plains and in the Rolling Plains has been severely set back by adverse weather in the past two to three weeks.

"In almost all areas weevil emergence remains suicidal as the available cotton is not viable as either a food or reproductive source," says Haldenby.

He adds that the delays in getting this crop to a stand could also delay the mapping of cotton acres inside the control zone. Cotton acres inside the control zone are usually mapped beginning the first week of July when cotton fields are becoming easily identifiable.

CRP Sign-up Deadline Nears

The 12th sign-up for the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) which began Monday, June 15 will end Friday, June 26.

The CRP can help producers meet the conservation compliance requirements of the Food Security Act and also stay eligible for USDA benefits. CRP gives landowners an opportunity to retire their marginal land from crop production and still receive an income from this land for the next 10 years. Lynn County does not have 25% of its cropland enrolled in the CRP. Interested producers may submit bids to have all or part of eligible fields enrolled in CRP.

If you are interested in bidding land into the CRP, or have any questions about CRP, please contact your local Soil Conservation Service at 998-4507, or come by the local office at 1647 Ave. J in Tahoka. Information is also available at the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service located at 1600 South 2nd in Tahoka, or call 998-4501.

Producers who had planned to bid land into CRP, are encouraged to contact the local ASCS immediately for an appointment. Appointments should be scheduled now to ensure all documentation can be completed. If a producer does wait until the last few days of the sign-up to schedule an appointment, it may not be possible to get all the documentation completed before the deadline.

Cotton Leader
Information for U.S. Cotton Leaders About Cotton Incorporated From The Cotton Board

Free Cottonseed Storage Fact Sheet Now Available...

For every bale of cotton ginned, approximately 850 pounds of seed must be handled from beneath the gin stands and placed in a temporary or long-term storage facility. For long-term storage, aeration is necessary to reduce seed temperature and moisture, as well as minimize mold growth and insect activity within the seed.

To assist ginners with the construction of new storage facilities and management of stored cottonseed, Cotton Incorporated and the USDA Extension Service have prepared a detailed fact sheet entitled Cottonseed Storage.

The paper describes structural and aeration requirements to maintain seed quality during storage. Free copies of the fact sheet are available from Cotton Incorporated, 4505 Creedmoor Rd., Raleigh, NC, 27612, (919) 782-6330.

Cotton Rolls Into Nonwovens...

Increasingly, more roll goods manufacturers are recognizing cotton as nature's workaholic fiber, says Glenn Morton, director of product and process research for Cotton Incorporated.

Cotton is absorbent, biodegradable, nonallergenic, durable and can be sterilized, which makes it ideal for use in nonwoven roll goods such as wipes, diapers and feminine hygiene products. According to Morton, roll goods manufacturers have been reluctant to use cotton because of concerns about quality and limitations of finishing processes.

To address these concerns, Cotton Incorporated spearheaded advancements along the cotton production pipeline which have helped create a new generation of fiber specifically for roll goods production.

"The greatest challenge in expanding cotton's use in this area was finding a way to provide an adequate supply of bleached cotton that processed as easily as synthetic fibers," says Morton. "We were able to meet this challenge by developing a continuous staple bleaching line which facilitated a shorter process time, decreased water usage and resulted in less waste."

Cotton Incorporated's researchers have made other steps to enhance cotton's use in nonwovens, including innovative finishes which retain cotton's natural attributes and improvements in fiber opening machinery, doubling production from 300 pounds/hour to 600 pounds/hour.

JC Penny Establishes "Cotton Shops"...

JC Penny, in cooperation with Cotton Incorporated, recently agreed to establish "Cotton Shops" in 25 metropolitan stores, establishing JC Penny as a natural headquarters for quality home products. The "Cotton Shops" will feature all-cotton and mostly-cotton home products displaying the Seal of Cotton.

Denim Is A Cornerstone Of Outerwear Market...

More good news for cotton comes in the form of new apparel product introductions in denim outerwear. According to the trade publication Daily News Record, the trend toward denim outerwear is picking up steam.

For example, S&K Famous Brands is testing a denim basketball jacket for back-to-school this fall and Members Only is introducing a six-to-eight piece denim outerwear collection for holiday 1992 and spring 1993.

"We think denim will surface bigger than it has in many, many years," says Edwin Wachtel, president of Members Only.

Cotton Briefs...

Cotton Incorporated's Fall-Winter 1993-94 forecast of color and fabric will begin next month. For more information, call (212) 586-1070, ext. 256.

John Sharp Sends June Tax Rebates

State Comptroller John Sharp recently sent a total of $105.6 million in June sales tax rebates to 934 Texas cities and 105 counties, a 7% increase over the payments of one year ago.

Another $142.5 million in quarterly payments went to six transit authorities in the State's largest cities.

Texas cities received $94.9 million, up to 7% over the $88.6 million they received last June. Counties received a total of $10.7 million in June rebates, a 9.8 percent increase over June, 1991, rebates totaling $9.7 million.

Lynn County's net payment this period was $4,309.54, up 21.29 percent from last year's $3,553.09 at this time last year. The 1992 payment to date is up only .15% from last year, at $41,831.94 compared to $41,770.49.

This month's sales tax payments include taxes collected on April sales and reported to the Comptroller in May by businesses filing monthly tax returns.

There will be a "recipe" bridal shower honoring Rachel Curry, bride-elect of Bruce Lehman, on June 28, from 3 p.m. until 4 p.m. The shower will be held at St. Paul Lutheran Church. Each guest is asked to bring their favorite recipe on a 3x5 recipe card.

Happy Pappy's Day to all Dads on June 21.

Wilson Lions Club will be sponsoring a blood drive Thursday, June 18, from 5-8 p.m. United Blood Services will have their van parked on the school parking lot for your convenience. All people who are eligible to give blood are urged to come by and make a withdrawal. The time you spend on the questionnaires and other testing will be worth it to the person who receives the blood products.

St. John Lutheran Church is accepting garage sale merchandise to be sold by the "75th Anniversary" committee at their next garage sale. The proceeds of this sale will be used to help defray costs involved with the 75th anniversary celebration of the congregation, which will be held in January 1993. To donate "stuff" call Robert Abbe at 628-6368.

The city of Wilson is involved in a project to build up all the alleys in the city. The alleys have all been washed out, and are full of deep ruts, due to recent rains. The city is putting in fill dirt and spreading it out to help fill the washes and ruts. With the additional rains coming before this dirt can be packed and smoothed people who are driving the alleys can find themselves stuck in this dirt. The alleys are being built up to help the waste disposal truck get through the alleys, so the city is asking that people refrain from driving the alleys, as much as possible, until this project is complete.

Please remember to help with the mosquito problem by checking to see that all places where water can collect are emptied and kept empty. This will help by doing away with breeding places and maybe the city can get a better coverage with their spraying machine.

Young At Heart will meet on Thursday, June 25, at noon at St. John Lutheran Church. This will be a special pot luck luncheon meeting with Bingo after the meal. Be sure to put this on your calendar and those who normally come out might try to bring a friend. The July meeting will be back at the regular time.

Just a reminder that the fire number for the Wilson Fire Dept. has been changed. To report a fire in the Wilson area, people will need to dial 911 and the 911 operator will alert the Fire Dept. members.

The city of Wilson is in the process of converting all of its bookkeeping to a new computer system. The new system will enable the city secretary to do a more efficient job of bookkeeping and will enable the council to receive financial and statistical information that they have not been able to receive in the past. The city secretary is in the process of learning the software and transferring the old records to the computer database.

Have you noticed the new ramp and sidewalk in front of the educational building at St. John Lutheran Church? The church brotherhood arranged for the work to be done, and several of the church members build the metal railing. The quilting ladies made a financial contribution to help with the cost and several supervisors were on hand to lend their expertise on how to do the work. This new walk and ramp will enable more access to and more useage of this building.

Wilson ISD board met in its regular meeting on June 11. The board opened the meeting by canvassing the election results of the June 6 special election. After the canvass was completed, Dan Cook was sworn in as the new board member.

The board had put off reorganization until after the special election and since that question has been resolved, the new board officers were elected. They are: John E. Fields, president; Keith Wied, vice-president; David Wied, secretary; Roy Isham, C.E.D. representative.

The board conducted a routine meeting. They discussed the monthly bills, the on-going summer maintenance program, and various other normal activities. The board also accepted the resignations of Stacey Mann and Lori Rezac. Stacey Mann had been the Elementary P.E. teacher and Lori Rezac had been the Elementary reading specialist. The administration has already begun the search to find replacements for these positions.

Wilson Lions Club is coordinating the annual 4th of July neighborhood party to be held in the city park on July 4th. Anyone, either Wilson residents or those from other communities who might like to have a food or craft or some other type of booth at this get-together is invited to contact Robert Abbe at 628-6368 or Ray Ehlers at 628-6223. The Lions Club is still selling tickets for their drawing to be held on that day. See any Lions Club member for your tickets.

ROTARY NEWS

Leland White, President of the Board of Directors for Lynn County Hospital District, gave the program at last week's meeting of the Tahoka Rotary Club.

He presented information about the hospital after being introduced by Hospital Administrator Louise Landers, who told Rotarians about how she came to be in Tahoka, moving here from Amherst.

This week's noon program will be about the Red Raider Club.
