Burglary Near Wilson Causes Major Loss

Photographic equipment, televisions, guns and tools were the major items missing from the home of Ronald Howard north of Wilson after a burglary during daylight hours last Saturday. Among items missing were Polaroid and Canon cameras and accessories, Zenith and Magnavox color television sets with remote controls, a VCR, mobile phone, several shot-guns, rifles and pistols, mostly Browning, Winchester and Stevens, tools, tripods, and other articles.

The owners were away from home most of the day Saturday and discovered the burglary when they returned that evening. Entry was gained by forcing a front door. Total value of the missing articles had not been determined early this week.

Tahoka Police Dept. investigated a theft from a motor vehicle in which Earlon Shirley of Tahoka reported three sets of silver spurs missing Friday. The brand names, on the spurs, were Kelly Bros., Ray Anderson and KP&B. Crime Line, 998-5145, is offering a $100 reward for information clearing the theft.

Dept. of Public Safety officers this week talked with two female juvenile runaways at O'Donnell and later they were taken to Lubbock where their parents were to pick them up.

In jail during the week were six persons, on the following charges:

Violation of drivers license restriction plus failure to appear, speeding and no drivers license plus failure to appear plus failure to identify to a peace officer, driving while intoxicated, DWI subsequent offense, forgery and DWI subsequent judgment and sentence.

Woodwork...

I AM SENDING this letter to all of you out there, having patterned it after a chain letter which we received in the mail last week. I would like for each of you to make 20 copies of it and send them to all your friends and associates (who no doubt will be delighted).

Hug someone when you get this letter (this could bring you really good luck, or possibly a clout in the snout). This letter is sent to you for good luck. The original copy is in a four-drawer file in my office, where nothing is ever found again. The letter has been around the world nine times (just like my luggage, when we took a flight to Boston). You will receive good luck in four days after you mail out the copies, sending them to people you think need good luck. Don't send money with the letters (send it all to me).

Do not keep this letter. It must leave your hands in 96 hours. An Air Force officer received $70,000. Ross Perot received three billion dollars. Joe Blitzkx received $40,000 and lost it because he broke the chain. Send out your copies and you will get a pleasant surprise.

Please send the copies even if you are not superstitious. Note that Constantin Dens broke the chain in 1990 and he immediately had scabies and his teeth fell out. Woody Allen broke the chain, and look what happened to him.

If you break the chain you probably will have leprosy within a week, and will be required to call out "Unclean!" before you enter any buildings. Also, any dogs or cats you have carried off recently, or your ex-wife or ex-husband, may return. Or your TV set may go on the Fritz and show nothing but Gilligan's Island on every channel.

In other words, you are in big trouble if you throw this stupid chain letter in the trash.

Don't Get Up Too Early Sunday

Daylight Time Ends at 2 a.m. Sunday, when Standard Time Resumes. Set your clock BACK one hour when you retire Saturday night. If you go to bed at 11 p.m., reset the clock for 10 p.m. and enjoy an extra hour of sleep. If you forget, you may get up an hour too early Sunday morning.

Museum Displays X-Ray Of Knife Blade Embedded Under Man's Eye

by KAREN McCAIN
Tech Journalism Student

Charlie Malone probably never felt the wound inflicted under his right eye during the fight that erupted following the Saturday night card game.

He wiped the blood from his face and gave the injury very little thought.

Ten days later, Malone found himself in the doctor's office with fever and flu-like symptoms.

Radiographs taken at the time of his visit revealed a four and a half inch long knife blade firmly lodged in the sinus cavity beneath Malone's right eye.

While this may sound like a typical Saturday night dispute, it actually occurred in Lynn County in 1934.

The original radiograph and the machine that made it are among numerous items on display at the Tahoka Pioneer Museum.

"This radiograph was one of the first ever made in Lynn County," said Mildred Abbe, acquisition chairperson for the museum. "When Charlie Malone went to the doctor in 1934, he was referred to Dr. Kenneth Durham for an X-Ray."

Durham was a young dentist and the only one in the county at that time with an X-Ray machine.

Both of the doctors involved with this case were surprised to find the embedded blade and they began questioning Malone about the events leading up to the fight.

Malone recounted the events to Dr. Durham.

"Charlie told me that if his assailant had found the knife, he probably would have killed him. No doctor to my knowledge could have placed that knife blade in that position without doing as little damage to the area as we found upon examination," says Dr. Durham.

Dr. Durham assisted the attending physician by administering chloroform to Malone while the knife blade was being removed. Malone later made an uneventful recovery.

The bizarre circumstances surrounding this piece of Lynn County history make it one of the most visited exhibits in the museum.

"School children constantly ask if the radiograph is real," says Mrs. Abbe.

Other exhibits at the Tahoka Pioneer Museum include a miniature church scene complete with working organ.

"I wasn't here at the time, but I understand there was quite a concert on the organ soon after it was restored and delivered to the museum," said Mrs. Abbe.

Additional items of interest include depictions of an early-day blacksmith shop, a school house, a typical kitchen and bedroom circa 1900, and an antique appliance display on loan from Southwestern Public Service Company.

"This museum is unique in that it focuses entirely upon Lynn County history. You will not find any artifact in our collection unless it has some tie to Lynn County," says Mrs. Abbe.

The Tahoka Pioneer Museum is located at the intersection of Lockwood and Ave. J in Tahoka. Visiting hours are from 1-4 p.m. weekdays, and school or group tours may be arranged during other hours by calling Mrs. Madeline Hegi, or any other museum board member.

Members of the board of directors are Mrs. Hegi, Mrs. Abbe, Arlys Askew, Mary Louder, Bill Craig, Dr. Durham, Weesie Carroll, James Roberts, Eddie Lockaby, Lottie Jo Walker, Carl Reynolds, Jim Solomon, Betsy Pridmore, Frances Wells, Elmer Owens and honorary member Mel Leslie.

(Editor's Note: Mrs. McCain is a Texas Tech journalism student working with The Lynn County News, writing feature articles under the direction of The News staff.)

OUCH! - This x-ray, one of the first made in Lynn County in 1934, shows a 4-1/2" knife blade embedded under a man's eye from a wound inflicted in a Saturday night fight. Dr. Kenneth Durham, who made the X-Ray, said the embedded blade was found ten days after the fight, and that the man did not know the blade was embedded in his skull. The original X-Ray is displayed on the wall in the dental office display in the Tahoka Pioneer Museum, and is one of the most visited exhibits in the museum. (LYNN COUNTY NEWS PHOTO)

Out of the Woods

The wayward thoughts of Juanell (Wood) Jones

Let's say you're taking a commercial airliner to some destination. Like most passengers, you have some carry-on luggage which you store in the overhead compartment. And let's say, just as you open the door to shove it in, a large and extremely alive snake falls out of the overhead compartment and dangles in front of your now-screaming face.

No, it's not Aliens IV or some other sci-fi thriller... it's exactly what happened on board a passenger jet as it was leaving some South American country recently. Kind of gives you the willies, doesn't it?

But wait - it gets worse. The passengers notify the flight crew in very loud voices that they wish to get off the plane, immediately if not sooner, and the crew accommodates them in a speedy fashion. After all the humans get out of the plane, the airline sends in the "snakebusters" or whatever it is you call people who come in and take care of such problems. They, however, cannot locate the slimy stowaway, and come away empty-handed.

I heard this story on the radio one day this week, and the deejays came up with an interesting solution to the snake-plagued plane. "Just leave out some of the airline food, and that snake will be dead in a matter of days." Uh-huh. They said it, not me. I'm merely repeating the information, for those of you who may be major litigating airliner companies based in South America.

I took a plane trip the other day to Houston, which left Lubbock at 6:20 a.m. and arrived in Houston at 9:30 or thereabouts, and they fed us absolutely nothing. By the time we arrived in Houston, I and my other traveling companions (all school board members traveling to a convention) were so famished we were considering chomping down on those extremely boring magazines which they so thoughtfully provide on the back of the seat in front of you, which nobody ever reads. They're probably just about as tasty as airline food anyway.

At about 8:30 (keep in mind we all had to get up at about 4:30 to make it to the airport) we were fantasizing about the peanuts which the airline usually handed around in the evenings but which are no-shows in the morning hours. When we saw the crew giving first-class passengers baskets of steaming muffins, we seriously considered storming the front of the plane.

However, being the civic-minded, law-abiding nabby-pamby citizens that we are, we stayed in our seats and drooled. It was a truly disgusting sight.

We made it to Houston just in the nick of time, however, and you'll be glad to know none of your wonderful school trustees died of starvation before we attacked the nearest restaurant.

After we ate, you'll be interested to know we spent the ENTIRE REST OF THE TRIP learning important stuff about education, and spent VERY LITTLE TIME discussing the culinary delights of Houston restaurants.

The "House of Pies", however, probably sent out a search team when we didn't show up the third night in a row.

Did You Know You Are Paying 20% Less For Electricity Than You Did Nine Years Ago?

(94% of our customers didn't.)

Compare this to the average residential cost of electricity in the SPS service area. In 1983, you paid 7.59 cents per kilowatt-hour. Today that rate has been reduced to 6.08 cents. That is 20% less! And, when you adjust for inflation, the real cost has been reduced 42%!

Our heating rate has been significantly reduced, too. Today, you pay only 2.92 cents per kilowatt-hour to heat your home electrically. That is much less than the national average for electric home heating.

And, because industrial and commercial rates, as well as residential ones, have come down, the area as a whole benefits. SPS' low rates can help attract new industry and encourage local companies to stay in our area.

Gift items available include eggcrate mattresses, comfort pillows, micropore tape, room deodorant, sheepskins (2 per patient), ostomy supplies (6 month supply), larengectomy stoma bibs, bed pans, urinals, emesis basins, dressings and other materials related to rehabilitation programs.

For more information on these services and items, contact Dayton Parker at 998-5531. Parker is Patient Services Chairman of the Lynn County Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Beware Of "Look-Alike" Solicitations

Several local residents have recently received solicitations by mail for donations for cancer research from organizations which are not part of the American Cancer Society. These solicitations ask people to go door-to-door asking for donations.

The American Cancer Society would like to stress that they do not solicit for donations in Lynn County by mail. Their door-to-door Community Crusade is held during April and last year was a "lights on" campaign where those wishing to donate left porch lights on so that volunteers would know to come to their door.

People receiving solicitations for donations from any organization should always contact the Better Business Bureau before giving money. The American Cancer Society meets all standards suggested for nonprofit institutions by the national Charities Information Bureau and the Council of Better Business Bureaus and is not affiliated with any other cancer fund-raising appeal. The American Cancer Society is totally supported by public, voluntary contributions and receives no state or federal tax-funded support.

Expenditures by the American Cancer Society are allocated in Texas as follows: 2% Management & General; 5% Community Services; 6% Professional Education; 12% Fundraising; 16% Patient Services; 21% Public Education; and 38% Public Support Allocable to National Programs for research, medical grants and fellowships and other activities.

Other projects, besides the Community Crusade door-to-door event, sponsored by the American Cancer Society include The Great American Smokeout on November 19; a Christmas Craft Fair to be held in the Tahoka cafeteria on November 21; a local golf tournament usually held in May; and the "Cancer Freeze-Out" ice cream social held in July. Other donations are received through memorials. Mrs. Sue Tekell has recently been named Memorial Program Chairman of the Lynn County Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Lions Club Red Ribbon Campaign Set

Area Lions Clubs are participating in their annual Red Ribbon Campaign from Oct. 24 through Nov. 1, with "Pledge to be Drug-Free" as the slogan this year.

In Tahoka, Lions Club members Jerry Slover and Bill Chancy may be contacted for the red ribbons, which the club is urging area citizens to wear during the campaign week to promote drug awareness. Several businesses in town also have the ribbons available, including The Lynn County News.

The Red Ribbon Campaign is dedicated to the memory of officers who have died in the line of duty fighting drug dealers and has become a symbol of this nation's war against drugs. Wearing these red ribbons shows a caring attitude for the future as a drug-free society.

Lions International and the Lions of District 2-T2 are involved with numerous other groups to promote drug awareness through the campaign.

Happy Birthday Brother

Seagraves Claws Dogs, 42-8

René Luna of Tahoka ran back the opening kickoff of last Friday's game 94 yards for a Tahoka touchdown to give the Bulldogs a great start at Seagraves, but that was about the only good thing which happened for Tahoka in the game.

After the Tahoka score and 2-point run by Brian Moore, Seagraves answered with four touchdowns in the first quarter alone, and just about everything after that was bad news. The loss left Tahoka at 0-4 in district and 2-5 for the year.

Luna also played a good game on defense, and intercepted a pass. Jace Copeland was Tahoka's top rusher, with 62 yards in 20 carries.

In the second half, Tahoka drove once to the Seagraves 7, then missed a field goal, and also had another drive which died out at the Seagraves 16.

This week Tahoka will be underdogs again as unbeaten Idalou comes to town with a 7-0 record, after beating Crosbyton 28-6 last week.

After that, the remaining two games are against Sundown and Post, both of whom now have worse records than Tahoka.

Lynn County Commissioner's Court met in special session Friday, Oct. 16 to open bids for one or two maintainers for Precinct 3. Bids from West Texas Equipment and Yellowhouse Machinery Company were discussed.

After an executive session, commissioners voted unanimously to accept a bid from West Texas Equipment for one maintainer, with trade-in, at payments set at $20,742 annually.

A second bid for a Caterpillar with trade-in, from West Texas Equipment, at a difference of $31,196 (five payments of $7,507) was requested in a motion from Commissioner Sandy Cox, but was denied in a 3-2 vote by commissioners and County Judge J.F. Brandon. Commissioners Cox and Gemer voted in favor of the bid, with Commissioners J.T. Miller and T.A. Stone voting against, and Judge Brandon voting against the bid to break the tie-vote.

Growers Support Scientists - Combating Seedling Diseases

Survival of the fittest is a harsh rule of nature. The stage of development is irrelevant, as demonstrated by the early attack on crops by seedling diseases, which this year have cost South Plains cotton farmers dearly.

With financial support of area growers, scientists at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (TAES) in Lubbock are working to develop cotton plants more resistant to seedling disease and adverse weather.

Each year a small percentage of the cotton crop is lost to seedling diseases, said Dr. John Gannaway, associate professor of plant breeding at TAES in Lubbock. Seedling diseases are influenced by environmental factors, and the acreage loss resulting is usually in the thousands.

This year, the loss was exceptionally bad, he said. Wet weather blight, seedling diseases and the plant's lack of cold tolerance nearly destroyed the entire crop, he said. Cotton producers on the Texas High Plains intended to plant 3.2 million acres of cotton. About 90 percent, or 2.8 million acres, were planted when the influential environmental factors took effect. Only 1.4 million acres remain in cotton today. "Everything was almost ideal, and then everything turned sour," Gannaway said.

Nighttime temperatures below 40 degrees Fahrenheit proved to be very hard on the cotton crop. Along with the unusually low temperatures, wet weather prevented the cotton from normal development. A majority of this year's crop was lost to the cold, wet weather. The remaining crop is three to five weeks late.

The High Plains produces an average of about 2.2 million bales each year with the potential to generate revenue in excess of $600 million. If the High Plains experiences a good, warm, open fall, approximately one million bales will be produced this year bringing in only $300 million, Gannaway said. An early freeze could drop the production level to 600,000 or 700,000 bales. "The economic effect of that would be absolutely devastating," he said.

Producers can overcome seedling diseases in two ways: chemically treated seed and resistant breeding lines. Chemical seed treatments prove to be beneficial a majority of the time, Gannaway said. The chemicals, which usually last 21 to 28 days, were overpowered this year by the lengthy cold spell. "The chemically treated seed is worth the extra cost if it saves you a replant," he said.

Seedling diseases are also overcome through breeding programs. Lines that are genetically resistant to wet weather blight and seedling diseases and have good cold tolerance are being sought, Gannaway said. Of approximately 300 different cotton lines researched at TAES, 16 of them look promising under the 1992 field conditions. All 16 lines exhibit innate resistance as none have been treated chemically, he said.

The plants produced from those 16 seed lines will be self-pollinated for purification purposes. The seed produced will be sent to Mexico for the 1992-93 winter where it will again be self-pollinated to increase the volume of seed and continue the purification process. In the spring of 1993, these materials will be screened in fields and greenhouses. Based on quantity, producers' fields may be used for screening purposes, Gannaway said.

In an attempt to improve the acceptance of these materials, screening tests also will be conducted in the verticillium wilt and fiber quality nurseries. Based on the results, a decision will be made on whether the plants should be used as a parental line, re-selected for other characteristics, or improved for release, Gannaway said.

On the High Plains, acceptable seed should have verticillium wilt tolerance, an acceptable crop maturity level, enhanced fiber quality, good harvestability and good yield potential. "We absolutely have to have these characteristics," he said.

A seed ideal for the High Plains would include other characteristics such as resistance to the seedling disease complex and to the fusarium wilt-root knot nematode complex, Gannaway said. It would also exhibit increased water and nutrient use efficiency and yield potential while decreasing the propensity to have high levels of foreign matter in the lint.

To reduce the amount of trash in the lint, a plant conformation change would need to occur, he said. A slender, stove-pipe stalk would replace the bushy plant of today. The slender plant, which takes up less space horizontally, would be adaptable to various row spacing also, Gannaway said. Planting 30-inch rows would be possible using the slender stalk plant.

The aggressive breeding program maintained by TAES research is enhanced due to funding from the Plains Cotton Improvement Program and their cotton check-off, he said. Producers pay 10 cents a bale in the check-off program for the purpose of improving cotton quality in the area.

Each year, significant funding is used in research to develop and increase germplasm lines for release to commercial seed companies in the local area. The seed companies then incorporate these lines into their own breeding programs as they feel necessary.

The goal is to provide producers with cotton varieties that produce superior yields of high quality fiber that is in demand by the textile industry, Gannaway said.

In the future, TAES researchers hope to develop a stringent screening technique similar to this year's field conditions for use in a greenhouse. "We don't want to have to depend on the weather," Gannaway said. "We want a repetitive technique so we can get relatively quick results."

Hunters For Hungry Program Is Joint Effort

Hunters for the Hungry is a cooperative effort of state agencies, private groups and individuals who are concerned about the hunger problem in Texas. The program brings together deer hunters, processing plants and the End Hunger Network-Houston to provide low-fat meat to needy Texans.

Texas deer hunters who wish to participate in the program can bring the deer to a participating plant (call 1-800-992-9767 for a list of participating processing plants). A tax deductible processing fee of $15 per deer will be charged, and for an additional $10 the meat plant will cape out the deer for a trophy mount. The venison will be packaged and then distributed through a network of qualified agencies in cooperation with the End Hunger Network.

In Lynn County, Wilson Meat Processors participate in the Hunters for the Hungry program.

FARM BUREAU WINNERS - Trent Wellman (left) and Marla Rudd (right) are recent winners in Farm Bureau contests. Trent, son of Billy and Dean Wellman of Dickens County, won the talent contest, and Marla, daughter of Marlow and Barbara Rudd of Lynn County, was named District Queen. Both will advance to competition at Corpus Christi at the State Farm Bureau Convention. Leland White (center) represents Farm Bureau.

Captain Starnes Receives Medal For Meritorious Service

Captain Charles N. Starnes, Jr. has received the Meritorious Service Medal. He is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Newton Starnes, former pastor of the First United Methodist Church in Tahoka. The medal was presented by the President of the United States, for service as set forth in the following citation:

"For outstanding meritorious service from November 1989 to August 1992 as Assistant Deputy Chief of Staff for Strategic Warfare Systems and Nuclear Operations on the staff of Commander Submarine Force, U.S. Atlantic Fleet. Through his superb leadership, professional competence, and innovative planning, Captain Starnes continually made improvements to submarine force strategic forces in the areas of operational readiness, material condition, and training. His exceptionally skillful management of the initial Atlantic fleet deployment of the Trident II D5 Weapon System resulted in the effective introduction of this powerful system into the nation's strategic forces. He led the major modernization of nuclear-powered fleet ballistic missile submarine (SSBN) forces including the deployment of the Trident II and coordination of the stand-down of the Poseidon and Trident I weapons systems. This major force restructuring, which affected several thousand personnel manning the 24 SSBNs, three submarine squadrons, and three submarine tenders at three advanced deployment sites, was accomplished smoothly as a result of his meticulous planning, resulted in significant cost savings to the Navy.

It was signed for the President, by H.H. Mauz, Jr., Admiral, U.S. Navy.

NEVER UNDERESTIMATE THE DANGER OF AN ILLNESS

All around us are countless germs waiting for the opportunity to enter our bodies. A neglected scraping of the skin, a cut on your weakened, tired body can permit one to enter and live.

Each germ or virus has an unfailing instinct to reproduce and can multiply quickly. A fever is one of the first signs that they are becoming a danger. Take your temperature during any illness and call a physician if you have a fever. We can supply an accurate thermometer.

The Wilson PTO is the process of getting their booth for the Fall Festival finished. They will have games and other activities for the younger children.

The PTO wishes to thank everyone who took part in or participated in the spaghetti supper which was held just before the Southland game two weeks ago. "Due to you who participated, the supper went over very well."

Several groups from Wilson decided, several months ago, to sponsor a Fall Festival on Saturday, Oct. 31. This festival will be held at the school on Halloween and will replace the various activities which have been hosted by the different groups on an individual basis. The festival is scheduled to begin about 5 p.m. There will be a variety of booths sponsored by groups and individuals. There will be games, food, arts and crafts, a silent auction, and several others.

This festival is open to all people inside and out of the Wilson area. For further information on booths or others contact Rev. David Rohde.

If you are an artist or craft person and have some item that you would like to donate to the silent auction, call Elmer or Ty Blankenship, Roy Isham, or Keith Wied and they will be happy to pick it up. The proceeds from the auction will go to help various Lions Club Charities.

Wilson ISD students will not have school Monday, Oct. 26. This is a Staff Development day and meetings will begin in the school cafeteria at 8:30 a.m. and continue throughout the day.

Dr. Charles Reavis from the Texas Tech Education Faculty will speak on the subject "Overview of the Accelerated Schools Process." Dr. Herman Weller, also Tech faculty, will speak on the subject of "The Inquiry Process." There will be other activities and workshops for the teachers throughout the day.

The Wilson FHA would like to get a YES (Youth Exchange with Seniors) program started in the Wilson community. 31. There will be refreshments, Bingo, dominoes and more. This party will be held during the Fall Festival and since it is in the Home Ec building, the seniors can participate in this program as well as the other activities going on with the Fall Festival.

The Lions Club met in a regular meeting last Thursday following the quarterly blood drive, which netted 13 donors.

After the meal, the Lions were entertained and informed about some of the activities in the elementary building. Supt. Nancy Templeton gave a short address on the progress made as part of the professional development school program and then introduced Kindergarten teacher, Nancy Kohler, who explained how the "Literature Based Reading" program was being used in the Kindergarten. She brought in a book that the Kindergarten students had written in class and showed a video made while the class was writing the book.

Wilson High School juniors and seniors will be taking the TAAS tests Oct. 27-29. The Writing portion will be taken on the 27th, the Reading and English on the 28th, and the Math on the 29th. This is the test that will determine if the student is able to graduate.

Business Students Elect New Leaders For Year

During the first six weeks of the 1992-93 school year, the Tahoka High School chapter of Business Professionals of America has been busy encouraging membership, electing officers and establishing committees.

Students who are enrolled in Business Computer Applications, Office Support Systems and Accounting were given an overview of this curricular club. This overview included both the purposes and the benefits of being an active member of Business Professionals of America.

Ginger Malone was elected president by the second year computer students while Jill Jaquess was elected to lead the first year students.

Miss Malone will be assisted by Carrie Taylor, vice-president; Leah DeLeon, vice-president; Eden Williams, vice-president; Miranda Martin, secretary; Angel Strickland, secretary; and Kelly Wells, secretary.

The other officers assisting Miss Jaquess will be Dolores Luna, vice-president; Misti Norwood, vice-president; Lynnette Trevino, secretary; and JoAnna Cantu, secretary.

Business Professionals of America develops leadership qualities and encourages students to become active in both school and community projects. Juan Luna and Amy Wright are heading the Teacher Appreciation Committees while Marla Hughes is in charge of the School Spirit Committee. The Halloween Committees will be under the leadership of Carrie Taylor and Jennifer Patterson; the Thanksgiving Committees are chaired by Lupe Alvarez and Misti Norwood. Eden Williams and Sissy Puentes will provide guidance for the Christmas Committees.

Sponsor Barbara Jaquess said, "I am excited with the enthusiasm of the students as they begin planning their club work for the year. With lots of hard work and determination, we should have another outstanding year."

Disability Card Replacement Available

All persons who have permanent disabled cards should contact the Lynn County Tax Office not later than Dec. 31, 1992 in order to get their current cards replaced with the new Placards.

"Please have the original application that your doctor signed with you along with the card that you have now," said a spokesperson. Placards are used for parking privileges.

Petersburg Tops O'Donnell 28-6

The Petersburg Buffaloes handed O'Donnell a 28-6 district loss last Friday at O'Donnell, the first district game for the Eagles, now 1-5 for the year.

The Eagles did not score until the fourth period, when Ernie Cruz ran 4 yards over the goal line. Cruz gained 107 yards in 21 carries for the home team.

O'Donnell Sets Homecoming, Harvest Festival

O'Donnell Homecoming and Cotton Festival activities are slated for this weekend, beginning with the homecoming football game Friday night.

The OHS Eagles will take on Anton at 7:30 p.m. The Cotton Festival kicks off Saturday at 10 a.m. when food and craft booths open.

At 2 p.m., a Hot Wheels parade will be held and at 6 p.m. an Exes Banquet will be held with the honored classes being 1942 and 1967. Richard Mansell, KJTV sales manager, will be the speaker.

Lamesa's Lone Riders Band will play for the street dance beginning at 8 p.m. sponsored by the Lions Club.

7th Grade Dogs Bow To Seagraves

The seventh grade Bulldogs travelled to Seagraves for a battle of the undefeated last Thursday, Oct. 15, but it was the wrong team who finished undefeated this time. Seagraves seventh grade team bested the Tahoka Bulldogs 20-0.

"Every once in a while a team has a bad night," said Coach Steve

Qualls. "The seventh grade team had theirs against Seagraves."

This is the first loss of the season for the young Bulldogs. They face the Idalou Wildcats here tonight at 5 p.m.

"We put the ball on the ground too much," said the coach. "After a scoreless first half, I thought we would win the second half, but it didn't happen. The kids played a hard game," he added.

Trailer Tickets Still For Sale

The Tahoka Lions Club is still selling tickets for a chance to win a utility trailer, which is displayed at Fuzzy's Place on Ave. J. The tickets, at $2 each (which also get the ticket-holder a lottery ticket) are available from any Lions Club member.

The drawing for the trailer will be held during Moonlight Madness in December. Funds raised from this project will go for Lions Club projects, including the crippled children's camp and eye glasses for the needy.

Members of the local Lions Club are Jerry Slover, Bill Chancy, Pat Patterson, Leighton Knox, Jaybo Chancy, Jay Drucesdow and Bruce Spruiell.

PUMPING IRON

It is estimated that 5% of American women ages 12 to 50 years suffer from iron-deficiency anemia, and 25% probably are borderline anemic. Primary signs of these conditions are unexplained fatigue, unusual irritability, lack of concentration, and increased sensitivity to cold. Dietary sources rich in iron include beans, peas, dark leafy greens and iron supplements to be found at the vitamin counter, along with Vitamin C, which helps increase iron absorption.

USDA Announces Provisions For Disaster Aid Program

Producers applying for U.S. Department of Agriculture disaster payments under Phase II and Phase III of the Disaster Assistance Program will be able to receive payments in a more timely manner. President George Bush had the USDA extend the disaster sign-up and ensure that producers who qualify for benefits under Phase II and Phase III of the Disaster Assistance Program will receive a payment rate of 50.04 percent of the payments for crop losses approved for coverage.

U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm said "This streamlined approach will immediately provide funds for losses suffered in recent years. This will enable producers to meet current obligations and prepare for the new crop year. The continued stability of agriculture is important to every American."

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service is extending the period for producers to file for benefits under Phase II of the program to Feb. 12, 1993, for those crops planted in 1991 for harvest in 1992. The original deadline was Oct. 2. Payment of benefits up to 50.04 percent will be made to producers as soon as they have furnished the required documentation and the application is approved by their local ASCS Committee.

The extended sign-up period does not change the requirement for producers to purchase crop insurance on the same crop for 1993 if this year's crop loss was more than 65 percent, as required by the 1990 farm bill. The extension gives producers adequate time to file their claims under the disaster program.

Jerry D. Harris, Chairman of the Texas State ASC Committee, said "Today's announcement shows this Administration's desire to improve program delivery and help American agriculture. This will help eliminate hardships on family farms caused by 1992 crop losses and add stability of Texas agriculture."

The payment rate is the same used to determine disaster payments under USDA's 1990-91 disaster program announced April 13. Applications will be processed and checks mailed to qualifying producers as soon as possible.

Producers desiring more information of the Disaster Assistance Program should contact their local office of the ASCS.
