Commissioners Approve New Radio System

Lynn County Commissioners met in a special meeting Monday with Mike Dixon and Sheriff Jack Miller to discuss radio communications equipment for the Sheriff's Office. After much discussion, a motion was made by T.A. Stone and seconded by Judge J.F. Brandon that the county purchase a complete radio system, including five G.E. mobile radios for the automobiles in the Sheriff's Department, at a price of $21,854.15. All commissioners voted for approval of the purchase.

The court also met in executive session regarding the County Extension Service from 9 a.m. until 11:15 a.m., but took no official action.

TISD Trustees Discuss Accreditation Visit, Constitutional Amendment Propositions

by JUANELL JONES
"If Proposition One of the constitutional amendments does not pass (in the May 1 election) and the state cuts off our funds, Tahoka I.S.D. will have enough money in our reserve fund to see us through the summer... we may begin to see cash flow problems at the beginning of the next school year," Superintendent Dr. Duane Carter told T.I.S.D. trustees during a regular meeting of the school board last Thursday night.

The superintendent addressed this issue and discussed the implications of the three proposed constitutional amendments concerning public education during the meeting, as well as reporting on findings from the Peer Review Accreditation Team who visited the district last week.

In the May 1 Special Election, Proposition One (if passed) would validate the method of setting tax rates in county education districts. Dr. Carter told trustees that Tahoka's tax rate would probably increase to a minimum of $1.26 next year if this amendment is passed (the current rate is almost $1.02). The Supreme Court has set a June 1, 1993 deadline for the legislature to adopt a school finance plan, and if Texans vote against Proposition One and legislators do not come up with an alternative finance plan by that time, then school funds will be frozen.

The superintendent said that if the district was forced to use its reserve fund to continue operations throughout the summer, there would only be about $500,000 left in the reserve fund at the beginning of the 1993-94 school year.

"If the amendment does not pass, state legislators are threatening mass consolidation of school districts," said Dr. Carter. "I believe, however, that this does not mean physical campus consolidation, but rather consolidating taxing entities of school districts within counties so that all districts within one county would have the same tax rate. Local districts would probably then have the option, as they do now, of augmenting their budgets by setting additional local taxes, much the same as the County Education Districts work now but in smaller (local) county areas," he explained.

The superintendent told trustees he was opposed to all three proposed constitutional amendments, saying that he felt neither Proposition One or Two would benefit Tahoka I.S.D.,

Burglaries Cleared; Wrecks, Thefts Of Cattle Reported

A 23-year-old Lubbock man was in Lynn County jail this week, charged with six burglaries of residences in the county during March and April. Sheriff's deputies said Abel Ybarra admitted burglaries at the residences of Patsy Barnett, Brian Kiehl, Tom Hammonds, Tracy Smith, Ronald Howard and Ted Castillo. In five of the burglaries, entry was gained by using a sledge hammer on a door.

Sheriff's officers said some of the items stolen from each of the burglaries were recovered. "We recovered $2915 in stolen goods, leaving about $3000 in stolen goods not recovered," said a deputy. Ybarra also implicated a juvenile and an adult female, both of Lubbock, in some of the burglaries. Officers said Ybarra, on parole already, has been connected to about 25 burglaries in Lynn, Lubbock and Hockley counties.

Two Lynn County residents reported thefts of cattle in the last week. Tino DeLeon, just south of Tahoka, reported two 150-pound calves missing from a pasture south of the Tahoka cemetery. And Jimmy Williams, southeast of Tahoka, reported a 6-to-7-week-old heifer calf missing.

Two 15-gallon spot spray rigs, valued at $250 each, were stolen from a storage barn owned by Brad Hammonds about 3.5 miles northeast of Tahoka last weekend. The burglars pried a lock off the barn door.

Three one-vehicle accidents resulted in injuries to five persons in the county during the last week, ac-ording to reports by investigating Dept. of Public Safety officers.

On Friday a 1991 GMC pickup driven by Mike Deleon, 64, of Tahoka, rolled over on its side in the median of U.S. 87 while traveling south about a mile and a half north of Tahoka. Passengers Sara Deleon, 60, and Sally Yanez, 42, reported possible injuries.

Billy Don Clemons, 36, of Big Spring, was taken to Lynn County Hospital for treatment of what was described as "an incapacitating injury" after his 1990 Dodge rolled over on FM 400 3.8 miles northeast of Tahoka while traveling southwest around 2 a.m. Saturday.

On a county dirt road 3.5 miles north of Wilson about 9:30 p.m. Sunday a 1976 Lincoln driven by Steven Garza, 21, of Wilson struck an embankment. Garza and a passenger, 2-year-old Timothy Munoz, suffered apparent minor injuries, with Garza treated at South Park Hospital.

Tahoka Police Dept. investigated a burglary of the residence of Ray Curtis on S. 1st St. on Sunday. Nothing was reported missing.

Police also investigated a report of a family disturbance Saturday.

In jail during the last week were four persons, one for parole violation, one for driving while intoxicated plus driving while license suspended plus speeding and failure to appear, one for DWI first offense, and one for DWI third offense plus unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Fun/Food Festival Nets $13,000 For Hospital

Funds raised during the 13th Annual Lynn County Hospital Auxiliary Fun/Food Festival held Saturday netted almost $13,000 for the local hospital. At last report Wednesday morning, a total of $12,964.60 had been deposited at the bank, with some donations still expected.

This year's amount exceeds funds raised in the 12 previous years, except for last year's all-time record high amount of $13,947.

Hospital Auxiliary spokeswoman Betsy Pridmore said this year's funds are earmarked for physical therapy equipment and other needs of the hospital.

"We really appreciate everyone's help this year, and are continually amazed and grateful for the generosity of those who contribute to the festival, both as donors and buyers at the auction, and in the many other areas of booths, food, games, and setup and cleanup activities," said Mrs. Pridmore.

"Also, we'd like to thank Billy Miller, our auctioneer, and all those who helped run the auction," she added. "We can't do it without these volunteers."

A good crowd attended the festival at the showbarn, which ended at about 9:30 p.m.

The Lynn County Chapter of the American Cancer Society will be having their annual door-to-door community fundraiser on May 4 this year. Tahoka 4-H members and other local volunteers will be going door-to-door between 6:00-8:00 p.m. that evening to ask for donations.

All money collected will go to the American Cancer Society, which spends approximately 30% on research, 24% on public education, 20% on patient services, 12% on fundraising, 6% on professional education, 5% on community services, and 2% on management and general expenses.

Any person in the Lynn County area who is diagnosed with cancer has a variety of services available, including items on a free-loan basis, such as standard hospital beds, side rails, wheelchairs, shower seats, walkers, commode chairs and crutches. "Don't Bag It" Program Kicks Off On April 23

The "Don't Bag It" program, co-sponsored by the City of Tahoka, Clean City, Inc. and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, produces healthy, beautiful lawns with less watering and no bagging of grass clippings. Tahoka Mayor Jim Solomon has signed a proclamation making Friday, April 23, 1993 as Kick-Off Day for "Don't Bag It."

The City of Tahoka will be following guidelines provided by the program which contributes to keeping the environment clean and healthful, preserves natural resources and conserves landfill space.

The program consists of three management techniques involving fertilizing, watering and mowing. The "Don't Bag It" program is available to any participant who has a mulching blade on their mower and those who agree to follow a plan outlined by the Lynn County Extension office will receive two free bags of fertilizer.

Bartley Grain and Fertilizer of Tahoka has agreed to co-sponsor the program and will provide the free lawn fertilizer.

Step-by-step information concerning the program may be obtained at the Lynn County Extension Office or at Bartley Grain.

EVERYBODY (except Clinton and his supporters) knows that the government wastes a lot of money on "pork barrel" projects (things which only a few people benefit from, but everybody pays for). And we all have heard of ridiculous government spending for such things as toilet seats. But some things the federal government spends our money for defy any kind of logic.

Someone handed me a copy of a chapter from a book, detailing some of the pork barrel legislation passed by Congress. Martin L. Gross, whoever he is, wrote the book, The Government Racket, published in 1992. Mr. Gross doesn't say whether the list is a current one included in the currently-debated budget, or just things which have been done in the past. Anyway, if this information is true, some really weird spending has been (or will be) done by the government. Here are some of the examples cited:

- $13 million to repair a privately owned dam in South Carolina.
- $107,000 to study the sex life of the Japanese quail.
- $84,000 to find out why people fall in love.
- $1 million to study why people don't ride bicycles to work.
- $19 million to examine gas emissions from cow flatulence. (Really, that's what it said).
- $219,000 to teach college students how to watch television.
- $144,000 to see if pigeons follow human economic laws.
- $57,000 spent by the executive branch for gold-embossed playing cards on Air Force Two.
- $100,000 to study how to avoid falling spacecraft. (I'm not making this up).
- $10,000 to study the effect of naval communications on a bull's potency.

I didn't make that last one up, either, but surely it can't be for real. Certainly it is a fascinating subject, and I just wish the government had sent me that $10,000. I would get right on the project, going out to the pastures and (cautiously) interviewing all the bulls I could find, especially those with obviously amorous feelings. I would fit them with headphones connected directly to NavCom, or whatever Naval communications I could tie into. Then I would observe them long enough to determine if they have more or less potency while listening to these Naval communications.

Actually, I didn't even know that bulls have navels.

KNOTHOLES in the Woodwork: A company called Database America is seeking to sell to businesses complete lists of people who buy things, so those businesses can send junk mail to everybody. This is a lousy deal; we all get way too much junk already. Yes, you can get your name removed from company lists, but probably not from the master list. I hate people who give my name and address to a bunch of jerks who are trying to sell me something I don't need or want. ... T. Boone Pickens, the Dallas oilman best known for efforts to take over one oil company or another, has mailed out a letter explaining why he thinks Texans should vote against the "Robin Hood" school financing bill, which he says is poor fiscal policy and does not address the real problem in our schools—declining standards. He says "property taxes are skyrocketing even without 'Robin Hood'," and that although the plan is expected to raise and redistribute new taxes, "on whom and by how much remains a guarded secret". ... We have finally reached that time of year when the temperature around here is about the same as the wind velocity.

TISD Trustees Discuss Visit ...

and that Proposition Three was merely an attempt to set up funding to get a loan from the state rather than lending organizations for financing school facilities.

"Proposition Two, which would exempt schools from complying with unfunded state educational mandates, sounds great, if they would hold to that," said Dr. Carter. "However, 'fully funded' from the state really means only about 40 percent is paid out of Austin, and the other 50 percent would have to come from local funds," he said, explaining that currently public education in Texas is financed approximately 40% by state funds, 50% by local ad valorem taxes, and 10% from federal funds. "Fully funded means that we'll get that entire 40 percent from the state," he added.

In other business, campus reports from the Peer Review Accreditation Team were discussed, with Dr. Carter noting that the final district report could be expected in about a month from Texas Education Agency. When that final report is issued, it will be discussed in the next open school board meeting.

Most of the criticism directed at the district involved disparity between test scores of economically disadvantaged and non-disadvantaged students and different aspects of student performance among the ethnic populations, which the accreditation team felt contributed to the disparity.

The campus reports are available for public inspection, as will the district report following review by the board of trustees.

Trustees approved monthly bills and heard a financial report from bookkeeper Loretta Tekell, who noted an account balance in all funds of $1,534,393.22. The board approved a Regional Media Services contract with Region 17 Education Service Center, and discussed a paraprofessional pay schedule but tabled the issue for further discussion.

The school calendar for 1993-94 was approved, with the first day of school set for Aug. 16, 1993 and graduation on May 27, 1994.

In the Superintendent's Report, Dr. Carter noted that two students were expelled recently, one for bring live ammunition and a sharpened Ninja throwing star to school, and another student for "causing constant problems" when at school.

He told trustees that Dr. Mark Turnbough, a redistricting specialist whom the district has hired, has preliminary plans on the trustee redistricting plan and which will be presented sometime in the near future to the district's ad-hoc redistricting committee.

He also noted that beginning this year, baccalaureate services for graduating seniors will be hosted by the community's churches, instead of the school, with the churches doing the planning for the service. This year's service on Sunday, May 23 will be sponsored by First United Methodist Church of Tahoka, but the location for the service has not yet been designated.

Commencement exercises will be held May 28 in the high school gym.

High School Principal Charles Cate reported that the athletic banquet will be held May 6, and Texas Tech Women's Basketball Coach Marsha Sharp is expected to be guest speaker.

Trustees will meet at noon Monday, May 3 to canvass the May 1 school board election.

All seven trustees were present at the meeting, including Myrtle White, Juanel Jones, Greg Henley, Delbert McCleskey, Brad Hammonds, Dan Stone and Mike Huffaker; and Dr. Carter, Mrs. Tekell, and administrative personnel Ronald Roberts, Charles Cate and Molly Helmlinger. The meeting adjourned at 10:40 p.m.

"The Show-Off" To Begin May 14

The Garza Theatre announces their fourth production of the 1993 season, a delightful comedy for the whole family, "The Show-Off." The show will run for three consecutive weekends, May 14-16, 21-23, and 28-30. Friday and Saturday evening shows begin promptly at 7:45 p.m., and Sunday matinees begin at 2:30 p.m.

April Is Child Abuse Prevention Month: Child Abuse Investigator Has Tough Job

(Third In Series Submitted by Molly J. Helminger)
April is National Child Abuse Prevention Month. The following article was reprinted in "We" a publication for employees of the Texas Department of Human Services. After four years of working as a Child Protective Service Specialist for Garza and Lynn Counties I believe this article is the clearest explanation of what a Child Protective Specialist's job is and the emotions that go with it. The name of the article is "I'm Glad I Don't Have Your Job." Everyday several people remind me of this article by saying, "Man, I'm glad I don't have your job," but in truth my job has huge rewards for those who can cope with the emotional drain. If one child is saved, if one family changes, the cost is justified.

I'm not a detective, a podiatrist, an attorney, or an educator, but I work closely with them all and at times I wear their hats.

I'm on call every hour of the day and every day of the year. I visit both the mansions of the wealthy and the hovels of the poor. I am charged by the state to check out allegations of child maltreatment, entrusted with one of the most important responsibilities society can confer. Yet it is generally assumed that whatever decisions I make will be the wrong ones; that I will leave defenseless babies in the care of monsters while tearing hysterical children from the loving arms of their innocent parents.

As a result, I'm constantly being called on to defend what I do, not only in the homes of my clients and the offices of my superiors, but also in the courts of law. Whenever I go I'm feared and resented, but of who I work for and because of what I do.

I'm the Simon Legree of social work, the orge with a clipboard. I'm the Child Abuse Investigator, and people always think I'm going to take their kids away. Because, in dire circumstances, I can.

I've been trained to judge a situation quickly, to assess the degree of risk a child faces. I must determine the quality of a lifetime of parenting in an hour or less. I've learned to trust my own judgement, especially when it seems no one around me does, but I must find credible evidence to back up my contentions. I need to be authoritative without compromising compassion, purposeful without losing sympathy. I must wade through dozens of unfounded accusations, but stay alert for those which bear substance.

I must be mindful of the rights of parents while enforcing the rights of children. And no matter how emotional a situation I've dealt with, once I'm back in my car I must put it all behind me and be ready to dive into the next case.

If a child is hurt, I should have been there sooner, if there are no marks or bruises, I'm overreacting. I work with a system created for noble purposes that allows itself to be manipulated by people with less-than-noble motives. And the only ones who understand are other CPS workers — when I can find time I seek one out before going on to my next case. And there's always a next case waiting.

Now and then a case rears up that I can't stop thinking about, biting like a boa and coiling itself around me until I stagger. For these, especially, I go the extra mile, sacrifice that which is not required, because I see the potential for positive change in my hands and know that I can make a difference that may still be echoing long after I'm gone.

Still, it comes back to that first shock at my first knock. I remove children from their families only as a last resort, yet everyone assumes that's why I'm at their door. They tell me they couldn't do my job, while inside they're hoping I won't have to.

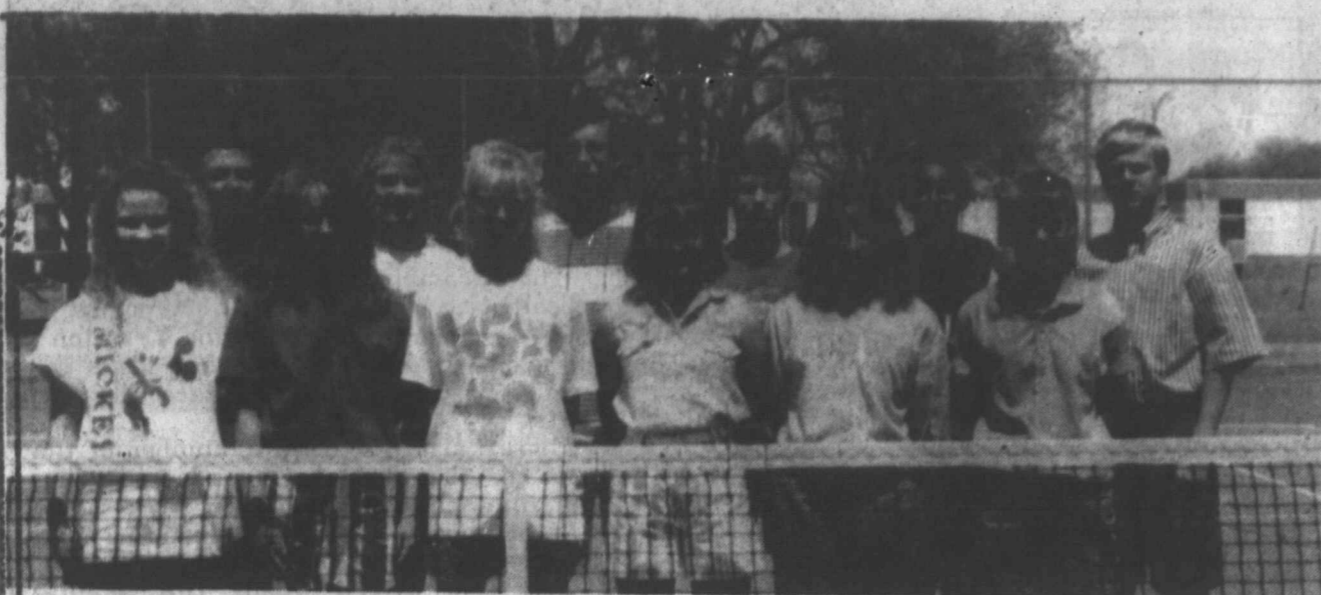

I'm a Child Abuse Investigator, and people always think I'm going to take their kids away.

(This excerpt is from "Tender Mercies by Keith Richards, co-published by the Child Welfare League of America (CWLA), Washington D.C., and Nobel Press of Chicago. It is reprinted with permission from the CWLA magazine, "Children's Voice, Vol. 1 No.2.)

The Wilson News

St. John Lutheran Church youth and other members have begun a fundraiser for youth camp scholarships. The youth camp will be in August and several of the youth in the congregation have expressed a desire to go.

The fundraiser will continue until Saturday, May 22 when an ice cream social will be held. Homemade ice cream will be sold, and homemade baked goods will be auctioned off.

Congregational matching funds (up to $450) will be applied for through a program offered by Lutheran Brotherhood Insurance and the local Staked Plains Branch #8824.

The Wilson Little Dribblers played four games Monday, April 19, against Meadow. The Meadow teams were just too strong for Wilson, winning three out of four games. The only Wilson winners were the Wilson minor boys blue team which won 15-14. The minor girls lost 8-16, major boys white team lost 21-22 and major boys blue lost 27-50. There will be four more games against Meadow there Friday, April 23. The regular season will end the following week with four more games at Meadow.

The minor tournament will be Friday, April 30 and Saturday, May 1 at New Home and the major tournament will be the following weekend at Meadow.

The Jr. High and High School annual field trip will be Friday, April 23. Students will be travelling to the Lake Allen Henry site to view the geological and environmental aspects and effects of this project.

Several Wilson FFA members will be attending the state FFA judging contest this Saturday, at Texas Tech.

The Wilson elementary academic UIL teams will travel to Union next Tuesday and Thursday for the annual UIL literary meet. Students have been preparing for these events for several weeks.

The elementary/jr. high band, which includes students in 5th-8th grades, will be involved in the Hale Center Band Contest Saturday, May 1. Mr. Gregory will furnish students with travel times and other information next week.

The dog and cat clinic is still scheduled for Wednesday, April 28 at the Mercantile. The clinic will be from 1-5 p.m. and entrance will be at the back door of the city hall. Pet owners are reminded to have their pets on a leash.

April 27 is the last day to vote absentee for the May 1 election.

Earth Day is April 22 and a couple of school groups are planning events for this day. The elementary school will be planting a tree at the park and the high school students have raised funds to purchase a tree to plant either at the park or on the school campus.

Last Sunday, about 300 people attended a reception at the Wilson State Bank to honor and meet the new president of the bank. Vink Miller assumed his duties as the bank president on Monday, April 19. Miller was raised in Tahoka and graduated from Tahoka High School. He and his family live in Lubbock and will continue to do so, at least until school is out.

Dan Cook, who resigned his position as bank president, will remain involved in bank activities and continue in his position of Chief Executive Officer of the bank.

PEOPLE GROUP

The PEOPLE group of Wilson held their regular monthly meeting on Saturday, April 17.

The informational brochure for Wilson, done through Southwestern Public Service, is still in the accumulation stages.

The walking track has been put on hold until the new lighting system, approved by the city council, is installed in the park. The lighting project should delay the walking track a few weeks but the new lighting will make the track even more usable. It was brought to the attention of the group that students at the school will also be planting trees in the park. Such activity promotes pride in our young people and also beautifies the park.

An informal citizens patrol or neighborhood watch is being encouraged. The first item is for all citizens of the community to be aware of what's going on in the city. The group is asking everyone who comes home after dark or leaves to go somewhere after dark to take a minute or two to drive around town. The most important step in such an activity is to become aware — not to do anything — and this should help citizens, young and old, to be aware of various activities in town.

The PickUp*FixUp*CleanUp committee was represented by Helen Stephenson who reported several things they want to try in the city. One possibility is a specific day for such activities across the city. Watch for posters, flyers, and news articles for more developments. Signs advertising the 17 businesses within the city are being researched by Susan Wied. The idea is to possibly put one of the signs on each of the major highways coming into Wilson. This could bring in more traffic for our businesses. Those businesses, and the citizens who support them, brought in $10,993 to the city through sales tax in 1992 — up from $1,003 in 1991.

A community newsletter will debut within the month. Sharon Isham has volunteered to publish a newsletter to be distributed through the churches and businesses in the city. It will focus on the activities of the PEOPLE group but will also have other news pertinent to the community. Various businesses and individuals will be donating copier paper for the newsletter, so if you are interested in donating paper, please contact Sharon Isham.

Businesses represented at the meeting were Klaus Insurance, Nanny's Attic and Wilson State Bank. If you are interested in the improvement and development of the Wilson community please attend the next meeting on May 8 at 8 a.m. The time was changed to 8 a.m. at the request of several of the business owners within the city.

I'm Glad I Don't Have Your Job

by KENNETH LEBLANC

I hear it all the time. Trash collectors, morticians, nurses, air traffic controllers have told me they couldn't do it. It drains me emotionally. I'm always on the spot when something goes wrong, and although it took a long time to train me to do it properly, odds are I won't last much longer.

Even when I do it right, I can cause misery and trauma. I try to defuse emotional time bombs with every bit of delicacy that the bomb squad affords the mechanical kind. I never know what to expect when I knock on people's doors.

PAIN — YOUR BODY'S CRY FOR HELP

There has never been a generally satisfactory definition of pain or even a good method to measure it. Some rare individuals have an inborn immunity to pain which is called "Congenital Analgesia." Others are so sensitive that they feel pain at the slightest instance. But, pain is your body's personal alarm system and should not be ignored.

Once your physician has pinpointed the condition causing the pain symptom, he can act to give you quick relief. We stock the medicines he prescribes in our prescription laboratory. We have the modern pain killers and medicines that attack the cause of pain symptoms.

"A GREAT MANY PEOPLE ENTRUST US with their prescriptions, health needs and other pharmacy products. We consider this trust a privilege and a duty."

Program Set On Lowering Estate Taxes

Farmers and ranchers have been concerned for years about high taxes that erode their estates. To help take the bite out of their high estate taxes, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service is planning several educational programs.

A two-day seminar is planned May 20-21 in Lubbock which will help farmers and ranchers learn how to reduce taxable estates and learn new methods for passing their operations to the next generation without tax and administrative burdens.

The seminar will begin with a discussion on estate taxes, including deductions, expenses and tax rates.

Basic estate planning devices will be explained in depth. Among these are wills, by-pass trusts, gifts, disclaimers and property titles.

For more detailed information about the seminar, contact your local County Extension Agent.

Spring Season May Bring Tick Infestations

by TOMMY DOEDERLEIN
EA-Ento (PM)
Dawson/Lynn Counties

Residents of Texas, at one time or another and usually starting during the spring, will experience the aggravation of tick infestations. Most ticks are parasites of warm-blooded animals. In Texas, the American dog tick, the brown dog tick and the lone star tick are among the most common species.

Brown dog ticks are reddish brown. They feed almost exclusively on dogs, where they attach to the ears and between the toes. They are widely distributed in Texas and rarely attack man. Brown dog ticks become a problem in and around human habitation or dog kennels when ticks fall off infested dogs.

American dog ticks are chestnut brown with white spots or streaks on their backs. These ticks are widely distributed over the eastern two-thirds of Texas. Adults feed on dogs, cattle, other animals and humans.

Lone star ticks are various shades of brown or tan. Females have a single silvery-white spot on their back and males have scattered white spots. These ticks live in wooded and brushy areas of Texas and parasitize rodents, birds, wild animals and humans.

Ticks transmit many disorders and diseases including Rocky Mountain spotted fever and Lyme disease. The best way to deal with these is to take measures to avoid being bitten by ticks. This means wearing appropriate protective clothing outdoors, avoiding tick infested sites and using tick repellents.

When in wooded areas it is best to wear long pants with the cuffs tucked into the socks. Ticks typically hitch rides on humans from their perches on grass blades or low brush. Once picked up on a shoe, sock, or pants leg they climb upward until they find a suitable place to attach. Use of repellents with diethyl toluamide

Wayne Huffaker Re-Elected President

By Shawn Wade
Lynn county cotton producer Wayne Huffaker was unanimously re-elected President of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers (PCG) for 1993-94. The Board's action came after the organization's 36th Annual Meeting, April 15.

Also re-elected at the Board meeting were Vice President Frank Jones of Lamesa and Secretary-Treasurer Jackie Burreis of Wellman.

Prior to the election of the 1993-1994 officer team, approximately 200 cotton producers, ginners and other cotton industry people attended PCG's morning meeting. They were addressed by John Maguire, Vice President of the National Cotton Council in Washington, D.C.; Jesse Moore, Director of the USDA Agricultural Marketing Service Cotton Division from Washington, D.C.; and Wayne Bjorlie, Director of the USDA Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Fiber and Rice Analysis Division also based in Washington.

Audience members heard reports on current issues facing the cotton industry, the changes that will be made in classing system to implement the new Color and Leaf grading scale, and a discussion of the development of the 1993 Premium and Discount Schedule.

In his discussion of the 1993 Loan

Schedule, Bjorlie noted that he would be happy to see the Texas/Oklahoma region get a lesser discount for bark than has been received in the past. He also said the recommendation of a 200 point discount for Level One bark was under consideration and, if approved, would be an improvement over old system.

The previous one grade reduction typically cost producers about 300 points, or three cents per pound, on grade 41 cotton, and over 400 points, or over four cents per pound, on grade 42 cotton according to Bjorlie.

Bjorlie also discussed a number of the proposals that have been made regarding cuts in agriculture programs.

In addition to the changes resulting from the move to separate color and leaf grades, Moore also talked about the Module Averaging Pilot Project. The project is currently underway, on a voluntary basis, Beltwide. Moore expressed the opinion that module averaging can improve the "reproducibility" of HVI classing results.

One new PCG Director was elected during the recent round of PCG county elections. Bud Reding of Whitharal replaced R.H. Reaves of Levelland as Hockley County Producer Director. PCG Directors were certified by the membership at the annual meeting.

Annual reports were presented by President Huffaker and Executive Vice President Donald Johnson. Committee reports were given by Chairmen Steve Verett, Boll Weevil Steering Committee, and Myrl D. Mitchell, Plains Cotton Improvement Committee. Verett gave a rundown of 1992 program operations. Mitchell reported on the PCIC's activities and discussed the improvements in the quality of the area crop that continue to be made as a result of the program.

Ladies Golf Association Elects New Officers

The T-Bar Country Club Ladies Golf Association started off a new year with a new Board consisting of: Vivian McAfee, president; G.G. Fillingim, vice-president; Suetta Martin, secretary/treasurer; Cherry Gandy, reporter; LaJuana Ashcraft, Lynn Lankford, play-day committee; Ladies Association, tournament committee; and Joy Bragg and Lynda Martin, phone committee.

In the April 13 meeting they finalized last year's "play yourself playdays" and all year involvement with paying three places in cash prizes. The winners from last year were: Fran Green, 21 points, $200; Donna Smith, 20 points, $125; Dana Taylor, 19 points, $75.

The association has decided to keep this system for another year. There are currently 18 members in the association. The next meeting will be May 18 at 5:30 p.m. After the May meeting they will meet with a luncheon on the third Tuesday of each month. More ladies are encouraged to come out and join.

Smoker's Patch

Smokers trying to quit have several FDA approved patch options. U.S. News and World Report says that the devices which release nicotine into the blood through the skin reduce withdrawal symptoms. About 26% of the patch users are still off cigarettes 6 months after treatment. Users reported some serious side effects. The study also mentioned that smokers trying to quit for the first time should try "cold turkey" because 20% have no withdrawal problems.

BBB Report

Better Business Bureau

The Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) concluded a three-year undercover investigation into national criminal telemarketing fraud with the arrest of hundreds of scammers operating 123 illegal telemarketing operations across the U.S. in March. "Operation Disconnect" was conducted by approximately 800 FBI agents. Targeted, were those scammers that used mail offerings of a "free prize" and 900 telephone numbers that bilked millions of Americans out of billions of dollars. The scams basically involved offering free vacations or other prizes by direct telephone or through postcard mailings which the FBI said were elaborate schemes to separate consumers' money from their wallets. The common methods were: directly contacting the victims, promising a product or service, and asking the victim to pay for the product or service prior to receiving it. The BBB has been warning consumers about telemarketing fraud for months and applauds the FBI.

The Texas Department of Insurance and the Attorney General's office have obtained a court order stopping the sale of insurance by an unlicensed company that collected against Anchorage Fire & Casualty Insurance Co. that was incorporated in Antigua and operated out of offices in Houston. The state's lawsuit alleges that the company solicited insurance since 1991 without a state license and has collected about a half million dollars in premiums in Texas Tahoka Garden Club met April 20 with Madelyn Brown. Lura Mae Gaither was co-hostess as they served delicious refreshments to eight members.

After a short business meeting Louise Smith, club member, gave an interesting program on "Indoor Gardening." Kinds of containers, types of soil and temperature have a lot to do with the indoor gardening. All plants need light to grow and of course fertilization. Living plants in homes help to supply oxygen.

Plans were discussed for a trip to Lubbock to tour Virginia Hodges' yard and possible other places in May.

On May 19 the Garden Club will meet with Winona Orr.
